In Memoriam

BURRELL V. KIMMEL
May 4, 1931 - July 25, 2010

Remembrance is a golden chain Death tries to break, but all in vain. To have, to love and then to part, is the great sorrow of one's heart. The years may wipe out many things, but some they wipe out never. Like memories of those happy times, when we were all together.

Greatly missed by wife, family and friends

CAMPERS OPERATE AREA FOOD DRIVE –Campers from the West Marva District of the Church of the Brethren at Camp Galilee in Terra Alta, W.Va., took part in a door-to-door food drive named "Knock for the Needy" on July 13 in Oakland. The effort was to benefit the Garrett County Community Action Food Resources Center. About 60 young people and their advisors canvassed the town for about 90 minutes, and then delivered the goods to the food resource warehouse the next morning. Camp director Craig Howard said he hopes to make this an annual part of the camping program. He said he wished to thank the people of Oakland for the politeness shown to the campers when they knocked on residents' doors seeking donations. "Many of the campers returned to camp talking about the kindness of the people and their willingness to help," Howard said. "A big part of our camping program is teaching youth about having a servant's heart. It is exciting to show them how much can be accomplished in a short time when they work together with each other, and with a willing community."

Adorable Adoptables

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Several years ago when health care reform was being debated, the Tea Party faction made an unwise choice to try to convince the American people that the man who was chosen by a majority of Americans to lead our nation was illegitimate, and in fact very similar to Hitler, or an anti-colonization, dangerous radical.

That might make good short-term political sense, but it unlocked a level of fear and hate into the national emotional condition.

Through some twisted thinking process, some on the Far Right decided it would be positive to call the president a secret Muslim extremist. That, too, might be good for a quick political advantage, but it was deeply destructive for our national health. So many believe that the brave, calm man now in the Oval Office is a dangerous threat, as dangerous as the "Terrorist in Chief" who was tracked down and killed under Obama's leadership.

Perhaps America can move in a constructive direction to heal our troubled relationship with the largest religious group in the world: the Muslims.

But when the primary goal of the Far Right is to divide our nation, they don't recognize the truth that "united we stand, divided we fall."

At this extremely challenging time in history, we are confronted with a very different world than we have ever seen before. There is a global-wide power structure, where there are no longer two super powers (then the U.S. and the Soviet Union). Many nations from every part of the world are starting to demand to be allowed to participate.

The power of America to dominate world events was one of the things that led to the Sept. 11 terrorist attack on our financial power center.

The message of the Tea Party is that we must shrink our government until it becomes powerless, by either extreme spending limits and/or starving it of necessary revenues. This is what all this nonsense is in the debt limit fight. It is used by the Tea Party folks who are so anti-federal government.

The current administration didn't build the large national debt alone. Most of it was inherited from the previous administration.

How could the Norwegian domestic terrorist kill so many young people so quickly? He bought 10 ammunition clips, each one containing 30 bullets, from an American mail order supply company, no questions asked. Even we hope to increase American exports. But that kind? Probably other potential terrorists in any part of the world can do the same thing. Perhaps eventually they will even be used here in the USA against Americans.

It's probably too late to prevent America's credit rating from getting a downgrade. All Americans who have any kind of debt are facing a raise of their interest rate.

Both Virginia and Maryland have a AAA credit rating, but since so many in these states are doing business with the federal government, which might not get paid for a good service provided, this probably will cut their labor forces. That is exactly what America doesn't need: more unemployed citizens.

I apologize to normal, mainstream Republicans who were offended by what I wrote about Republicans. What I really meant to criticize were the most extreme radical elements in the Tea Party.

I guess I should accept, and even expect, some ranting about the opinions I express in "Notes from Bittinger," because I often deal with such hot-button issues. Many, I believe, are misguided reactions to a scary world. But I am well-trained in critical thinking, and I rarely express an opinion without considerable thought about the subject. I try to always provide supportive evidence to support my opinion.

A letter to the editor accused me of reverse racism. What does that mean? I am a white American, like most Garrett County residents. My family lived here for many centuries, and my ancestors were descendants of immigrants from Switzerland. By hard toil they made a wilderness into many square miles of prime farm land.

I am perfectly aware of the hundreds of thousands of immigrants, and how hard they worked to contribute to America as we know it. But it is a special case how the natives of West Africa were rounded up like livestock and pushed into the dark, dirty hold of a slave ship, against their desires, and treated as personal property to buy and sell as their owners chose, and made to labor on large plantations in the deep South without earning anything for their hard work. Their labor was not able to create a new home for their descendants, but only contributed to the wealth of their owners. Their treatment showed the denying of their essential humanity.

Once slavery ended, then they went into a world that was inhabited by people who felt deep hostility toward them. Since they were forbidden to learn to read or write, the only way to make a living or support their family was to become a tenant farmer. That provided a dwelling, but every bit of work performed on those farms only provided products for the owner of the farm to sell and pocket all income.

This was different from immigrants, who were able to accumulate some wealth to pass on to their children and grandchildren. That was virtually impossible for former slaves, since slavery was based on the belief that the African slave was subhuman, and therefore had no usual human rights or opportunities. So slavery created an under class culture involved in deep poverty and very little opportunities.

The Ku Klux Klan was formed for one purpose: to create deep fear in the African-descent people, mostly the descendants of slaves. They wanted to keep them in their place: a place that had only poverty and was violently persecuted by the Klan and similar hate groups.

No one who studied American history can deny that the KKK was a real and dreadful institution after the Civil War ended its mission and through the entire 20th century; even now.

That kind of evil is still around. I don't know for sure, but the basic ideas are still very alive and well in some parts of Garrett County and in rural areas south of the Mason-Dixon Line. But most people are reluctant to acknowledge that ugly truth, and often times they see it inside themselves. They are reluctant to admit it because it does not fit well in the identity of being a good Christian.

I gained many insights, some painful, about racial relationships in the last couple of decades of the 20th century. That was while I was teaching at what was then Garrett Community College. Among the Garrett student body there is a fairly decent number of African-American students from all backgrounds, varying from very poor inner city to ordinary middle class families.

We had a set of three brothers at Garrett whose father was a cousin of the attorney general of Ohio. The various backgrounds caused in them varied expectations of how they would get treated. Those from the very poor inner city were from a very segregated black-only neighborhood, who never had a chance to interact positively with white people, simply because they were not around their world. If they occasionally ventured out of their ghetto, they were greeted with hostility. Perhaps if they went in a store, they would get questioned about what they were doing there, implying that they had criminal intent.

I have an idea what that is like. I was a regular customer in a used book store in Oakland and often attended meetings of the Arts Council with the proprietor. He once told me to please leave my large shoulder bag with him. Never in my life did I try to steal anything, especially not

COUNTRY EXPLORERS

The Country Explorers held their last meeting on July 8 at 4 p.m. at Mt. Storm Lake. The program was a family picnic, swimming, boating, and tubing.

Katelyn Gnegy, Levi Lantz, Madison Spurrier, Peter Tesar, and Faith Tichnell participated in the bicycle engineering event, and then Levi, Madison, Peter, and Mikail Perrine competed in the computer event on July 15 at the GEARS Center. Elizabeth Broadwater, Aaron and Levi Lantz, Mikail Perrine, Kaya and Kenya Rinker, and Gertrude, Peter, and Oliver Tesar participated in the Dove Center Walk-A-Thon on Saturday, July 23. Kayla Harris, Andrew and Jacob Hauser, Levi Lantz, Mikail Perrine, Lane Savage, and Gertrude and Peter Tesar attended the Garrett County 4-H Camp at Camp Algawa July 25–29. Upcoming events include the 4-H building improvements work day and the Garrett County Fair.

The Country Explorers' next meeting will be held this Saturday, Aug. 6, at 3 p.m. The group will meet at Red House Church to begin the farm tours, which will end at the Gnegy house, where a hot dog roast will be held around 6 p.m. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish.

old books that cost a dollar or so. And he earned my hostility. That was my only experience like that, but you can imagine how it would feel if you went into a store and were treated like a thief. It inevitably causes a bad attitude.

I worked for a short time in an upscale ski shop in Manhattan. It had a policy that the clerk stationed closest to the entrance must say "Timber" over the intercom if any African-Americans entered the store. That is how far it has gone. It can only cause prejudice of the worst kind.

Maybe I should have been struck with terror when a very tall African-American woman got into the elevator at the costume business where I worked in Manhattan. But I didn't think she was a threat. I realized that I was lucky enough to spend a few minutes with one of the greatest dancers in America, Judith Jamison.

A lifetime worth of those kind of experiences could possibly cause someone to develop "reverse racist" feelings. But why use the words "reverse racist?" A racist is someone who has an instant negative reaction to someone who belongs to another race.

Perhaps the writer of that letter was criticizing my writing when she used the term "reverse racist." Maybe she meant a preference for an individual of a different race. Or maybe she meant an instant dislike for a member of your own race. I have no idea exactly what I wrote that made her so angry at me, other than the fact that I frequently write something about the unfavorable quality of the relationship between two people of different races.

I don't know what has gone so wrong with the Pirates. Since they gained first place in their division, their game has virtually collapsed. Friday evening, everything got even worse, when the Phillies pounded the Bucs 10-3 while the Brewers won, so the Brewers are in first place, 2½ games above the Pirates. I guess it was purely wishful thinking that maybe this year they would be another team like the 1960 A-Team of Destiny.

It's tough to just create a major sport without very much of a background. I think that is what the X-Games are. I think they tried to appeal to the younger generation. It is just a bunch of young people on skateboards or various kinds of motor vehicles. They require some skills, but it doesn't appear that these guys are serious athletes.

It is sad how pro athletes in real sports – football and baseball – are moving around. The Pirates used to keep big stars for their whole career.

I was moved to hear what I heard from my daughter Caitlin on Sunday morning. She asked me for one of my paintings that she can give as a good-luck going-away present to one of her co-workers at Black Bear. She is headed to medical school! That is in spite of the fact that she comes from a Garrett County family that many would consider just "poor white trash."

But they are definitely not trash in any way. I was in the same class since first grade with one member of that family. Although he didn't perform the highest in academic subjects, I don't remember that he ever treated another student in a hateful or bitter way. I am out of my mind with joy to learn that a relative of his is going to medical school. That is the true meaning of American exceptionalism; that even someone from humble means can reach a higher standing, and often with valuable insight about not judging a person from their background, but instead, as Martin Luther King Jr said, rather basing it on "the content of their character." And it takes much character to go from back roads through a university and get accepted into medical school. I have no doubt that she will be successful.

No, I am not a "reverse racist." But it sometimes sickens me to see how the most privileged white people believe that they deserve more opportunity in America. Yes, I disliked them with all my heart, not because of their race, but the emptiness of their character, especially when they used their Christian religion to claim moral superiority, when their idea of what it means to be a follower of Christ is so far away from what Christ desires of his followers. They always turn their backs to real suffering in the world.

There are thousands of Americans who without any kind of pain could donate thousands of dollars to organizations like CARE and UNICEF to alleviate the dreadful suffering and mass death in the part of Africa that is now in serious drought and famine. How can they be so unfeeling? Is it because they never ever experienced any suffering or hardship?

Those people are not overly common in Garrett County, since we don't have many exceedingly wealthy people. But we do have many individuals with income over $100,000 per year, and most of them just happen to have the "right" Garrett County last name. That includes my maiden name, Glotfelty, which meant a great deal in our farming sector for many generations. It might have smoothed my way up the ladder of success, but it was not automatic. I had to perform well enough to deserve my advantages. It helped me to get a chance to take an advantage.

But it was meaningless at the state and national level. Often, my identity as a Garrett County native or resident resulted in an unfair low expectation of me. In graduate school, my professors stated disbelief that I was from Garrett County, because I did so well in their classes. And when my sister and I performed excellently at the Maryland State Fair 4-H Horse Show in the class over fences, the announcer said, incredulously, "This entry is from Garrett County!" We represented humble Garrett County very well, even if we arrived in a battered pickup truck instead of a horse trailer or a van.

I don't know why the reporter from the Baltimore Sun choose me to interview for his assignment of a feature story about the 4-H Horse Show at the State Fair. Maybe it was because I performed above expectations. But his questions did not probe that aspect. He asked me, "Why are you able to collect so many top prizes?" I was stupid to answer, "My horse, Little Joe, is a push-button horse." He didn't ask why that was, or what that meant. That implied a long-standing top performer that rich parents bought for their child's future of success in show rings.

I wish I had explained the true story of Joey and me. Many judges noted that Joey seemed to read my mind. And that was right. But why could he read my mind? Or why did we present so polished a presence at competitions? It was because almost as soon as I could think deeply and long-term, I discovered inside me an absolutely determined goal to be a big fish in a very big pool, equestrian competition.

It was the same as what Velvet Brown said in National Velvet. "I want to be one of the greatest riders in all of England."

I pursued that goal (not in England). I nagged endlessly for a pony. And finally, my father found a lovely young Pinto Shetland filly with very kind eyes, my Misty. She developed into an important treasure of my childhood's family. We eagerly awaited her foals, and she give birth to nearly half a dozen little baby ponies.

The first one was born on the first day of summer vacation from school, June 11, probably about 1967, more or less. The little spotted foal was the long-anticipated future mount for my little sister Carol. And about a decade later, they put in a perfect performance at the State Fair. One sadly missing item from my home is a lovely photograph of them jumping a fence at the State Fair and it showed perfect form, both in Flicka's jump and Carol's position. But most hunter judges were prejudiced against pinto color. Of course, the ideal breed type for hunter is thoroughbred, the breed that we see racing in the Triple Crown races and dominating our international equestrian team's mounts in the Olympics and that type of competition.

That writer of the letter to the editor spoke nonsense when she claimed that I know nothing about European immigrants in America. Can she produce a history of her family going back into the Colonial era? Or know exactly where her family came from in Europe, or visit that town? I did.

I also know from my mother's side about how racist those early settlers were. Another family from the Bittinger area adopted a Native American infant because they killed his parents. Yes, at least they did not leave him helpless to die. But that Shawnee baby was my grandfather Charlie Buckle.

I had a visitor on Monday. Meredith's friend Laren is needing to move out from her place in Accident back home to Mtn. Lake Park, so she hoped to find a new home for her blue tick hound, Jackson. He is a little shy with me, but they came back in the late evening after I had already gone to bed, and suddenly I noticed that someone had climbed into bed with me: Jackson.

After he went out at 6 a.m., he is now on the couch beside me. I think we will get along pretty well. I hope he doesn't want to run around. Anyway, it is very good to have a dog around the house, because Boo's death left a major void in my life. She liked to sleep with me until she was too old and weak to get up.

The annual Bittinger Parish picnic was held at the 4-H Center on Sunday. Members and guests gathered under the open pavilion for worship service led by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Dunkin, bishop of the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synod.

Lenny and Sally Poholsky moved Torrey to North Carolina last week, where he will be starting medical school shortly They then vacationed in South Carolina before returning home

Cindy Stanton returned from her daughter Lea Pochet's home in Beaver Creek, Ohio, where she was helping with the new baby, Drew.

Black Cohosh To Be Topic At Plant Meeting

The Western Mountains Chapter of the Maryland Native Plant Society will hold its regular meeting at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg on Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Amanda Vickers, graduate student, Department of Biology, Frostburg State University.

Vickers will give a presentation on the medicinal compounds in black cohosh, including current strategies for researching their production. Her program will begin immediately following a brief business meeting. The public is welcome to attend.

INSPECTING BLACK COHOSH ROOTS in the photo above is Amanda Vickers, a graduate student at Frostburg State University, who will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Western Mountains Chapter of the Maryland Native Plant Society, set for Aug. 16 at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg. Vickers will give a presentation on the medicinal compounds in black cohosh, including current strategies for researching their production. See story for details.

According to a spokesperson for the society, black cohosh (Actaea racemosa L.) is a perennial herb native to deciduous woodlands in eastern North America used traditionally as a specific remedy for musculoskeletal pain and to support uterine function. Today, extracts of black cohosh are marketed primarily for use in relieving hot flashes in women, with a majority of the raw material supplying this global market being harvested from naturally occurring wild populations in Appalachian woodlands.

In Maryland and throughout the Appalachians, a vegetatively similar but threatened species, American bugbane (A. podocarpa D.C.), is concurrent and may be accidentally collected because of confusion with black cohosh, the spokesperson said. Vickers' thesis research addresses a novel wild-harvesting technique: gathering only black cohosh with racemes (that part which can be used to distinguish from A. podocarpa).

The differences in medicinal compounds between reproductive (raceme-bearing) and non-reproduction black cohosh were assessed by Vickers using liquid chromatography. This discussion will include possible ecological and economic implications.

Vickers grew up in Morehead City, N.C., on the banks of Bogue Sound and attended Carteret County public schools until being selected to attend the North Carolina School of Science and Math in Durham for her junior and senior years of high school. From here, she enrolled in Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, where she studied science and art, earning a B.A. in biology in 2003.

Her field experience before returning to graduate school ranged from being a technician in a genetics lab to an assistant in herbal medicine research to the fine art of extracting roasted coffee beans. She says that her love of the mountains and plants, and an interest in herbal medicine led her to Frostburg State, where she is now pursuing a master's degree in applied ecology and conservation biology, with Dr. Sunshine Brosi and Dr. David Puthoff as her major advisors.

The Appalachian Lab is located along Braddock Road, just off I-68 exit 33. There is ample parking available.

The Maryland Native Plant Society uses education, research, and community service to increase awareness and appreciation of native plants and their habitats leading to their conservation and restoration. Membership is open to all who are interested in Maryland's native plants and their habitats. Preserving Maryland's natural heritage, increasing knowledge about native plants, and helping to further the society's mission are the goals. MNPS sponsors monthly meetings, workshops, field trips, and an annual fall conference. More information can be found online at www.mdflora.org.

The Western Mountains Chapter has formed to expand the efforts of MNPS on the Allegheny Plateau and ridge and valley physiographic provinces of the central Appalachians. Residents of western Maryland, nearby Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and anyone else interested in learning more about and conserving the native plants of this region are invited to join. For more information, persons are invited to contact Liz McDowell, chapter coordinator, at 301-895-3686 or lmcdnativeplants@hughes.net.

DNR Seeking Reserve Officers For Garrett Co.

During a recent meeting at the Discovery Center in Swanton, Jeffrey White, reserve officer coordinator of Maryland Natural Resources Police, communicated to his reserve officer staff that more individuals were needed to serve on a volunteer basis in Garrett County in order to assist with public relations assignments, patrol Deep Creek Lake, and assist DNR officers in state parks.

"The NRP program comprises volunteers from all walks of life, such as retired citizens, college students, and citizens who want to give something back to the public while assisting regular DNR police officers," noted White.

The reserve officers are utilized to perform non-law enforcement duties in order to relieve commissioned police officers.

"We work hard to protect what makes Maryland unique—from our Chesapeake Bay to our diverse landscapes in western Maryland—as well as our living and natural resources," stated Paul Dudak, 13-year veteran reserve officer and boating safety course instructor.

Reserve officers teach hunting and boater safety courses, and handle and file paperwork to support public safety. Over 5,000 novice hunters are trained each year in safe and responsible hunting practices by teams of dedicated volunteer instructors through Maryland's Hunter Education Program.

According to a spokesperson, the program is dedicated to continuing the hunting heritage and ensuring that first-time hunters have the knowledge, skill, and attitude to be safe and responsible in the field.

The Hunter Education Program is seeking new instructor teams to teach its courses. Instructors must have three years of hunting experience, the ability to work with youth, and the desire to provide quality training.

Prospective educators must complete an application, pass a background investigation, and attend an instructor training program.

Reserve officers also serve as public safety personnel with statewide conservation, boating and hunting safety, traffic control and public relations activities, as well as providing public assistance services for Maryland's state parks, state forests, and public lands owned and managed by the DNR.

Reserve officers will be given extensive training in many public service functions, such as traffic control, boater safety checks, and maritime and rural search and rescue activities.

All volunteers must have a good driving record and must be able to give 100 volunteer hours per year. Uniforms will be provided. The position of reserve officer is uncompensated.

Those interested in further information may contact Jeff White by telephone at 443-934-3159 or by mail: Maryland Natural Resources Police, NAWEOA Region 6 Director, 2011 Monument Road, Myersville, MD 21773.

Library To Host Bus Excursion To Book Festival

The Ruth Enlow Library has announced it is chartering a bus trip with Schrock Tour & Charter to the 11th annual National Book Festival, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 24, in Washington, D.C. The trip is open to the public at a cost of $50 person, or $30 with a student ID, payable in full at the time of registration and non-refundable.

The registration deadline is Saturday, Sept. 10. To register, persons may contact Georgie Dawson, administrative assistant at the Ruth Enlow Library, at 301-334-3996, ext. 106, and provide name, address, phone number, and number of reservations desired.

The chartered bus will depart the Oakland town parking lot at 6:30 a.m. the morning of Sept. 24 and make a pick-up stop at Delano's Furniture Store (old IGA) in Accident at 7 a.m. The bus will leave Washington that same day at 5:30 p.m. It will stop at Sideling Hill Rest Area en route to the festival, and at the Golden Corral in Frederick for dinner on the return trip. Restrooms, TV, and VCR are available on the bus. Glass containers are not permitted.

The National Book Festival is organized and sponsored by the Library of Congress and is free and open to the public. It will be held on the National Mall in Washington between 9th and 14th streets from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24, and from 1 to 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 25. The festival features award-winning authors, poets, and illustrators in several pavilions. More details about the festival are available on the following web site: www.loc.gov/bookfest.

"Our chartered bus trip affords the local public the opportunity of traveling to D. C. without the hassle of driving and parking, and enjoying not only the festival, but other attractions as well, such as the Smithsonian, the Lincoln Memorial, and the Washington Monument. Public transportation via the Metro is available at the Smithsonian Station," stated a Ruth Enlow spokesperson.

For information about services and programs at the Ruth Enlow Library, persons are invited to visit the web site www.relib.net.

MAMA AND BABIES – There's no harder job than rearing a family, and this mother robin is hard at work doing just that. The bird nest is on the property of Lonnie Rodeheaver, who has watched the little family grow. On July 15, he was able to get close enough to capture this shot. He said he was able to observe the entire process of the babies taking their first flights as well. Seems that these creatures are too fragile to make it, but life does march on, tenacious and constant.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

You don't have to be a genius to save money with smart power strips.

It's shocking. Almost all electronic devices continue to draw electricity even after they are turned off, costing U.S. households approximately $100 per year. But by using a smart power strip, you can completely disconnect the power to electronics that are not in use. The smart part is that you can pick one device to control all the others. So you're not wasting energy on things you're not using.

For easy steps to control the size of your electric bill, visit energysaveMD.com or call 1-877-928-8928.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

NUCLEAR SAFETY
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. I read a news item that the danger from a nuclear meltdown isn't as bad as previously estimated. What changed? How did reactors get safer?

A. What is going on here can be captured in a single word familiar from the GPS on your auto dashboard: "Recalculating..."

Nothing about the hardware has changed, it is simply that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), supported by scientists at Sandia National Laboratories, re-examined some of the assumptions that had been used in their calculations decades ago. More realistic estimates based on actual data replaced those inputs. The net result is that the fear of radiation being released from a meltdown has been greatly reduced.

A meltdown is a very rare event. The only one that ever happened in America was in 1979 at Three Mile Island, and the upshot was that several billion dollars went down the dram, but nobody got hurt. The Chernobyl disaster in the Soviet Union in 1986 was the result of a stupid blunder, coupled with a bad design. In 2011 at Fukushima, Japan, the tsunami caused such a catastrophe that three reactors melted down, and Tokyo Electric Power Co. subsequently wrote off a $15 billion loss. The long-term effects on people are not yet known.

Where nuclear safety is concerned, the customary way to express danger is via estimating the "additional deaths from cancer caused by excess radiation." First you estimate the amount of radioactive material likely to be released, then incorporate the number of people living nearby, then estimate the amount of radiation each will receive. One calculational step is to use the Linear No Threshold (LNT) hypothesis and say that if X amount of radiation is known to cause cancer in 50% of mice, then proportionately, Y amount of radiation will have some small numerical probability of causing human cancer. Multiply that small probability times the number of people exposed, and you've estimated the number of people who will get cancer.

The validity of the LNT hypothesis is subject to debate, and various studies have provided data that challenge it. However, that's not at issue here; the NRC continues to use that hypothesis, along with most workers in the field of "health physics." They may overestimate danger this way, but safety standards are tighter.

Inside the fuel rods of a nuclear reactor, there will be radioactive fission products (from the splitting of uranium), notably cesium, iodine, and strontium. With a half-life of 30 years, cesium 137 is of great concern. Nuclear reactors are designed to ensure that fission products don't escape. But when a meltdown occurs, if enough bad things happen, they might escape (recall the movie The China Syndrome). In the original method of estimating danger, it was presumed that during a meltdown, 60% of the Cs 137 would escape into the atmosphere and hence could get into humans. On that basis, the rest of a standard calculation led to the estimate of one extra incidence of cancer per 167 people living nearby.

In the 30+ years since Three Mile Island, actual data have been examined carefully and computer models have been updated, so that now the NRC estimates that in a melt-down, only about 1 or 2% of the Cs 137 might escape. The great majority just stays in the pool of stuff in the bottom of the reactor.

That change in the input to the models (about a factor of 25) reduces the amount of escaped radioactivity, which reduces the per-person danger, which in turn reduces the estimated number of additional cancers from 1-in-167 to 1-in-4348. All this applies only to the people living nearby.

This recalculation is based on a valid change in the input parameters, not merely the whim of some engineer. Actual real-life data are what made it possible for Sandia and NRC to refine the models and make a lower estimate of the radioactivity released.

This news will be very welcome in Japan, especially to those living near Fukushima. Their initial fears are reduced on the basis of sound scientific principles, wherein actual data are always preferred to erudite theories. It will disappoint those who want to shut down all nuclear power plants, and those media reporters who like to imagine a good scare story.

What continues to worry many people is this: In a nation so conscious of nuclear safety (Japan), a poor risk assessment (of maximum tsunami-height) resulted in a major disaster. It raises the question "What else has been missed?" It's a valid concern, but also one that alarmists will misuse.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Women Arrested On Disorderly Conduct Charges

Two women were arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies this weekend on disordering conduct and related charges. The following incidents are unrelated.

Deputies responded to an East Liberty Street, Oakland, residence at approximately 4:30 p.m. on Saturday for a report of a disorderly subject. Investigation led to the arrest of Betty Jean Schmidt, 57, Oakland. She was charged with obstructing and hindering, fourth-degree burglary, trespassing, disturbing the peace, and disorderly conduct. She was taken before a District Court commissioner for initial appearance and was released on personal recognizance.

In a separate incident, deputies responded to a Race Street, Kitzmiller, residence for a reported disturbance on Sunday. Investigation led to the arrest of Alicia Renee Willis, 22, Westernport. She was charged with disturbing the peace, disorderly conduct, and failure to obey a lawful order. She was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Deputies Arrest Driver On DUI, DWI Charges

A Bel Air man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges last Friday following a traffic stop.

Brian Biscoe, 56, was stopped in a 2006 Nissan truck on Garrett Highway at approximately 2:45 a.m. Investigation led to Biscoe being charged with driving under the influence, DUI per se, and driving while impaired. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

PATH's Art At Aurelia Slated For Aug. 6 & 7

Art at Aurelia will be held this weekend, Aug. 6 and 7, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. The two-day event offers arts, crafts, and music by the Participating Artists of the Turkeyfoot Highlands (PATH), and is co-sponsored by the Old Petersburg/Addison Historical Society.

The Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Kingwood, Pa., Post #502 will have encampment and scenarios set up throughout the day Friday. The Wildcat Regimental Band concert will begin at 6:30 p.m. that evening. Those attending are to bring their own seating.

A period Civil War church service will be offered at 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Addison, Pa., by the SUVCW. A book dedication, storytelling, and a cemetery tour will also be offered. Food will be available for purchase including Country Lane Lamb's burgers, ice cream, and sodas.

The event will be held at 7151 National Pike, Addison on Rt. 40 across the street from the Somewhere In Time antique shop. It is seven miles northwest of I-68 and Keyser's Ridge.

A child trusts her parents to protect her from harm — parents know the dangers out there. Her parents bring her to God's house each week. As a family, they learn of God's will for their lives, they bring peace and well-being to their home, and they introduce their child to God so she can grow up with His love and strength. What better source of protection is there? Play it safe and worship as a family.

The Word of God Is a Double-edged Sword

While we are reading and interpreting the Bible, the Bible is reading and interpreting us. As we read the moral counsels of the Bible, for instance, we may become "convicted" of not living up to Biblical ideals. As Paul tells us, "the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and spirit... and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart." (Hebrews 4:12) The Bible is a large and diverse collection of books, all of which require an understanding of their social and historical contexts in order to fully understand them. We should do our best to interpret God's word, and other holy books, in the most charitable way possible. The Bible is admittedly replete with violence and bloodshed while also containing a running theme of God's love for His creatures and an exhortation to us to share our love and kindness with others. Should we interpret the Bible as a love story between God and humanity, or as a bloody saga of violence and man's depravity? The charitable interpretation would be to interpret the Bible as the story of the continuing unfolding of God's love, despite our wayward ways. Perhaps this more charitable interpretation will reflect kindly on our own hearts and souls, allowing a more charitable interpretation of us.

For with the judgment you pronounce you will be judged, and the measure you give will be the measure you get.

Spitzer's ouster from CNN: Here's why

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Eliot Spitzer

Q: What is going on at CNN? First, John Roberts disappears from the morning show, and now Eliot Spitzer from "In the Arena." –Connie Marcinek, Boynton Beach, Fla.

A: Roberts reportedly left CNN of his own will to join Fox News Channel, which accommodated his desire to leave New York for Atlanta, where he could be closer to his fiancee, CNN anchor Kyra Phillips, who gave birth to twins by him earlier this year.

As for former New York governor Spitzer, his exit from CNN is part of a ratings-seeking revamp of the cable news network's prime-time lineup that should take full effect in September. "In the Arena" is being eliminated to give Anderson Cooper an earlier hour in the new schedule, which also will give a weeknight hour to former CNBC anchor-reporter Erin Burnett and move "John King, USA" to an earlier time as well.

Q: Is it really true that "Fear Factor" with Joe Rogan is coming back on? –Nancy Alman, Wind Lake, Wis.

A: It is. NBC has ordered a revival of the competition, with Rogan returning as host, but no premiere date had been set as of this writing.

Q: Some years ago, I watched the Mel Brooks movie "Young Frankenstein," and after the movie ended, there was an epilogue where the cast members discussed the movie. It was a fall-off-your-chair riot. I have seen the movie several times since and have never seen the epilogue shown again. Any chance? –Ed Belcher, Valley Grove, W.Va.

A: Without knowing exactly where you saw the movie when the epilogue was with it, we can only take a leap and guess it might have been the "Young Frankenstein" episode of the AMC series "Backstory" that delved behind the scenes of certain films from the 20th Century Fox library. That show still pops up on AMC from time to time. Also, there's a "making-of" documentary on the Blu-ray and special-edition DVD versions of the movie that might include some of the same material.

Q: I just read that we will have new episodes of "The Closer" through summer 2012. I also read that the cast, minus Kyra Sedgwick, would continue past that point. Are they? –Judy Cox, Centennial, Colo.

A: The plan is for most if not all of the supporting players to carry forth into "Major Crimes," the spinoff that TNT is planning to launch next summer. Mary McDonnell, who has become a "Closer" regular recently, also will be continuing into the new show.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was 20th-century novelist, literary critic and academic C.S. Lewis, best-known for his series "The Chronicles of Narnia," who made the following sage observation: "We all want progress, but if you're on the wrong road, progress means doing an about-turn and walking back to the right road; in that case, the man who turns back soonest is the most progressive."
• A year on the planet Neptune lasts about 165 of our Earth years.
• For reasons that aren't clear, lawmakers in the town of Devon, Conn., once saw fit to outlaw walking backward after sunset.
• You don't often associate museums with beverages, but it seems that they're fairly popular throughout the world. For instance, museums dedicated to coffee and/or tea can be found in London, Moscow, Paris, Sao Paolo, Zurich and Kyoto, as well as in China, South Korea, Colombia and Angola. Germany has three of them. Coffee and tea must be quite popular in the Netherlands, museums dedicated to the beverages can be found in five different cities there.
• You probably know that Bill Gates lives in a palatial house near Seattle, but you might not realize quite how hig it is. The sprawling home is a whopping 66,000 square feet; the property taxes alone are approximately $1 million per year. It's not unusual to have heated floors, but the Gates' estate has heated driveways. Beats shoveling snow, I suppose.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Aug. 14, 1751, Francis Blandy falls into a coma and dies in his home outside London, a victim of arsenic poisoning at the hand of his daughter, Mary, who wanted his fortune and the freedom to be with her married lover. Mary was hanged from the gallows after being found guilty of murder.
• On Aug. 10, 1776, news reaches London that the Americans had drafted the Declaration of Independence. Until the Declaration of Independence formally transformed the 13 British colonies into states, the conflict centered in Massachusetts was seen as a local uprising.
• On Aug. 13, 1899, Alfred Hitchcock is born in London. His innovative mastery of suspense made him one of the most popular and influential filmmakers of the 20th century. In 1925, he directed his first film, "The Pleasure Garden," a silent picture.
• On Aug. 11, 1934, a group of federal prisoners classified as "most dangerous" arrives at Alcatraz Island, a 22-acre rocky outcrop located 1 1/2 miles offshore in San Francisco Bay. Alcatraz was designed to hold prisoners with a penchant for escape attempts. Al Capone and George "Machine Gun" Kelly were among those housed on "the Rock."
• On Aug. 12, 1961, East Germany begins building the Berlin Wall to divide East and West Berlin. The completed concrete block wall included sentry towers and minefields. During the lifetime of the wall, nearly 80 people were killed trying to escape from East to West Berlin.
• On Aug. 9, 1974, Vice President Gerald Ford is sworn in as the 38th president of the United States after the resignation of Richard Nixon. After taking the oath of office, President Ford spoke to the nation in a television address, declaring, "My fellow Americans, our long national nightmare is over."
• On Aug. 8, 1988, the Chicago Cubs host the first night game in the history of Wrigley Field. Because of lack of lighting, for 74 seasons, the Cubs had played only day games at home. Today the Cubs are the only major-league team that still plays the majority of its home games during the day.

Q: I have four Little Golden Books from when I was a child. They are "Timothy Tiger's Terrible Toothache," "The Roadrunner with Mesa Marathon," "Rags" and "Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood: Henrietta Meets Something New." I have been offered $5 each and want to check with you before I make the deal. -- Bob, Julian, Calif.
A: I checked prices for your titles in one of my favorite references, Warman's Little Golden Books Identification and Price Guide by Steve Santi and published by Krause. Five dollars seems to be fair. Incidentally, your hooks were published in 1988, 1985, 1970 and 1974, in the order you listed them.

Q: I have a hand-painted vase that is marked as being a piece of Nippon. How can I determine its value? -- Martha, Sioux Falls, S.D.
A: Nippon generally refers to Japanese wares made between 1891 and 1921, but this isn't a hard and fast rule. The Nippon mark also appears on porcelains that were crafted much later. To find out approximate values, I recommend you secure a copy of Collector's Encyclopedia of Nippon Porcelain by Joan F. Van Patten. I found a copy for $17 at www.amazon.com.

Q: I have a duplicate of the holster and guns that the "Lone Ranger" wore in his films during the 1950s. I would like to know if there is someone who can authenticate them for me. -- Robert, Surprise, Ariz.
A: Tex Holland is manager of Circle C Enterprises, the Lone Ranger Fan Club. His addresses are P.O. Box 1253, Salisbury, MD 21802; and www.lonerangerfanclub.com.

Q: I have eight porcelain dolls and have no idea of how to determine their age or value. Can you help me? -- Rosemary, Fort Wingate, N.M.
A: There are several excellent references, including Blue Book: Dolls and Values by Jan Foulke (Hobby House Press), and 200 Years of Dolls: Identification and Price Guide by Dawn Herlocher (Krause). You also might want to contact the Doll Doctor, a business that repairs, sells and appraises both antique and modern dolls. The contact information in Albuquerque, N.M., is 505-346-2080.

Birding BITS

Rowdy Bunch
Play host to the larger bird crowd. Peanuts in the shell (unsalted) tossed on the ground will bring blue jays, grackles, American crows and many woodpeckers. Sure these birds can be a bit noisy, but they are just as entertaining and beautiful as smaller birds.

Free Workshops Set: "Living Well" With Chronic Conditions, Diabetes

Free workshops focused on "Living Well with Chronic Conditions" and "Living Well with Diabetes" will be offered throughout Garrett County by the Area Agency on Aging. An information session about each program is also scheduled for those who would like to learn more about the six-week workshops.

Participants will learn self-management skills to better handle their chronic conditions, such as diabetes, COPD, arthritis, heart disease, and depression. The following topics will be discussed: healthful eating and menu planning, knowing when to call for medical help, planning an appropriate exercise program, stress reduction and positive thinking, communication skills, and planning for the future.

This project promotes the Garrett County Community Action Committee strategy of assisting Garrett County residents to gain access to health care and support with life skills, thereby increasing the number of families and individuals able to live independently, a spokesperson said.

The schedule of the workshops is as follows:

Living Well with Diabetes

Meadows East Apartments, 607 N St., Mtn. Lake Park. Information session: Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 1 p.m.

The six-week workshop will take place on Wednesdays, 1-3 p.m., Aug. 24 and 31, and Sept. 7, 21, and 28, and Oct. 5. (No class on Sept. 14.)

Living Well with Chronic Conditions

St. Mark's Lutheran Church, 6 South Second Street, Oakland. Information session: Thursday, Sept. 1, at 1:00 p.m. The six-week workshop will take place on Thursdays, 1-3 p.m., Sept. 8, 15, 22, and 29, and Oct 6 and 13.

Living Well with Chronic Conditions

Grantsville Senior Center, 125 Durst Court, Grantsville. Information session: Monday, Sept. 19, at 1:30 p.m. The six-week workshop will take place on Mondays, 1:30-3:30 p.m., Sept. 26 and Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, and 31.

Living Well with Chronic Conditions

Flowery Vale Fitness Facility, 204 South Street, Accident. Information session: Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 1 p.m. The six-week workshop will take place on Wednesdays, 1-3 p.m., Oct. 12, 19, and 26, and Nov. 2, 9, and 16.

Living Well with Diabetes

Yough West Apartments, 400 Glades Square, Oakland. Information Session: Wednesday, Jan. 4, 2012, at 1 p.m. The six-week workshop will take place on Wednesdays, 1-3 p.m., Jan. 11, 18, and 25, and Feb. 1, 8, and 15.

To register for any of these workshops, persons should contact Living Well coordinator Suzanne Carley at 301-746-8232 or scarley@garrettcac.org. Persons who would like more information or to receive information through the mail may also contact Carley.

Persons who would like to host a Living Well workshop at a workplace or church may contact Carley as well.

Schedules are subject to change. Persons may be added to the mailing list in order to stay informed of changes and added workshops.

The Living Well Program is presented by the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, and made possible by funding under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 and with funds granted to the Maryland Department on Aging by the Federal Administration on Aging.

DRESSED IN MONGOLIAN ATTIRE, Byron Yoder welcomed 27 young "travelers" eager to be "off to Mongolia" at the Grantsville Summer Reading Club. "How are you?" He asked in Mongolian, and then proceeded to teach them the phrase. Yoder, who lived with his family in Mongolia for over three years, talked with the children about the country's customs and what it was like to live there. "We learned the language and built a dairy farm over there, and we helped the people improve their dairying," he explained. "Lots of people came to visit our farm and then copied it for themselves." He showed them pictures of the area where his family lived, pointing out the traditional yurts that serve as one-room homes for much of the population. "We lived in a tent like that when we went to Mongolia," Yoder told them. "That's Mom's kitchen right there." Yoder explained that the native people like to drink milk tea out of a bowl, and in the photo, he is demonstrating the proper way of presenting the bowl to someone. He also brought along bortsog for the children to sample, which is a type of Mongolian deep-fried bread. The program ended with finger-painting activities and play time for the youngest of the group. Summer Reading Clubs have concluded as of last Friday.

KITZMILLER SUMMER READING CLUB EXPERIENCES CHINA – Sixteen children waived Chinese fans to Chinese music during a recent session of the Summer Reading Club held at Kitzmiller Library. The group gathered around Diane Kisner, the library's branch manager, who invited the children to imagine a trip to the "Middle Kingdom" while she read Good Morning China and Liang and the Magic Paintbrush. Good Morning China, a work by Hu Yong Yi, depicts a community coming to life in early morning China, while the second book (by Deml), Liang and the Magic Paintbrush, tells the story of a boy who wants to be a painter and is given a magic brush that brings to life whatever he pictures. After reading the stories, Kisner gave each child a pair of chopsticks and showed a short video on how to hold the utensils. The children then played a relay game that required them to carry cotton balls 10 feet using chopsticks, drop the cotton into a bowl, and then pass the chopsticks to a teammate. The first team to transfer all of the cotton balls was deemed the winner. Following the game, the children made panda masks which they are displaying above. Pictured in the front row, left to right, are: Sofie Paugh, Holly Nelson, Amelia Bolden, and Isaac Browning. In the second row are: Elijah Guthrie, Zachary Schoch, Reece Reckart, Jocelyn Schoch, Mariah Bolden, and Gavin Piper. In the third row are: Jason Paugh, Heidi Nelson, and Jonas Paugh. In the back row are: Diane Kisner, Justin Hershberger, Bethany Hershberger, J.D. Nesselrodt, and Cheryl Nesselrodt.

Earn Degrees At Shepherd U.

Six hundred and fifty six students, including two from Garrett County, recently received degrees during Shepherd University's (W.Va.) 138th commencement. The two graduates from Garrett County were Elizabeth Michael of Oakland and Shayla Rodeheaver of Friendsville.

Giving the commencement address at the ceremony was Jim Lehrer, executive editor and anchor of the PBS News Hour.

Harvest Baptist Plans Giveaway

Harvest Baptist Outreach will hold a "Back to School Giveaway at the church on Saturday, Aug. 13, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The church is located at 751 Jennings Road in Grantsville.

Items available will depend upon the donations received prior to the date, but plans are to have clothing, toys, books, school supplies, and snack foods. The focus is on infants to young adults.

Drivers Neglecting Repairs Because Of Poor Economy

Just as Congress and the White House have struggled to agree on America's debt ceiling deal, many American motorists are struggling with a debt crisis of their own, according to the American Automobile Association (AAA). And with the glimmer of economic hope fading away for some of them, 25 percent of motorists admit that they could not pay for a car repair of $2,000 if faced with one today.

That's according to the results of a survey released this week by AAA. The survey also found one in eight would be unable to pay for a repair bill half that amount.

More than 50 percent of American drivers also said they are keeping their older vehicle because they do not want the financial burden of a new one. One quarter of drivers admitted to neglecting repairs and maintenance on their vehicles in the past 12 months because of the economic climate, which AAA automotive experts say can greatly increase the likelihood of their car needing a costly, major repair.

"The economy has taken a toll on many Americans, resulting in their neglecting their cars and leaving them at an increased risk for very expensive repair bills," said Ragina C. Averella, manager of public and government affairs for AAA Mid-Atlantic. "Many people rely on their cars for their livelihood, and losing access to them could be financially devastating during an already troubling economic time."

According to the survey, 38 percent of American drivers could pay for a $2,000 repair bill with funds in a savings account, while 20 percent would pay with their credit card. Eleven percent said they would have to borrow money from their friends, family, retirement, or home equity to pay the bill.

Slightly more drivers reported being able to pay for a $1,000 repair bill, with 46 percent saying they could use savings and 22 percent using a credit card. Fourteen percent would look to borrow the money.

The telephone survey was conducted among a sample of 1,009 adults, 18 years of age and older, living in the continental United States.

AAA automotive experts explain that a $1,000, $2,000, or higher repair bill can quickly appear – especially on older vehicles that have not been properly maintained. Repair costs can vary greatly by make, model, and type of repair. A transmission repair can range from $2,000 to $4,000, while an engine repair can exceed $5,000. Major brake repairs will cost between $350 and $1,000, and a new set of tires can run from $300 to more than $1,000.

"It's important for drivers to not only continue to maintain their vehicles, but also to have a financial emergency plan in place should they be faced with a sudden, unexpected auto repair bill," added Averella.

The following are things that drivers are advised to be aware of to help avoid having to make costly repairs:

•Fluids – The engine oil level should be checked at least once a month. Other fluids, including coolant, brake, transmission, and power steering fluid, should be checked at each oil change.

•Air Filter – For maximum performance and efficiency, inspect the air filter at every oil change and replace as needed.

•Belts – Inspect belts during every oil change and replace when you spot signs of wear such as cracking.

•Hoses – Check hoses at every oil change and repair or replace any that show signs of wear or leakage.

•Battery – Inspect battery cable connections during every oil change and clean as needed. Always wear eye protection and gloves.

Garrett Campus Hosts Second Annual Pinnacle Dance Camp

by Peggy Santamaria

Garrett College welcomed the Pinnacle Dance Camp on its McHenry campus for a week of learning, working hard, and enjoying the natural beauty of Mountain Maryland. The young dancers, who came from the Gaithersburg and Northern Virginia area, stayed on campus in Laker Hall, which is one of the college's two residence halls.

This was the second year that Garrett College hosted the Pinnacle Dance Camp, founded and directed by Patricia Kelbaugh of the Patricia Kelbaugh Dance Studio in Gaithersburg, and Barbara Sheppard, director of the Barbara Sheppard Academy of Dance in Fairfax Station, Va.

Pinnacle Dance Camp offers three levels of dance, including an intensive program for more advanced dancers.

The dance camp instructors included Samantha Brown, Hannah Engelke, and Wendy Huff. Brown is a recent graduate of the University of the Arts in Philadelphia, and is a former "Miss Dance" of Dance Masters of America, Chapter 17. She taught classes in lyrical, jazz, leaps and turns, ballet, and contemporary dance.

Engelke, also a former "Miss Dance" of DMA Chapter 17, is pursuing her college degree in dance. She taught tap, musical theatre, jazz, contemporary dance, and ballet.

Huff, a member of Dance Masters of America who has been teaching for over 20 years, taught tap and the intensive ballet sessions.

The dancers, ages 10 and up, were split into groups for their classes. For about five hours each day, the students moved from session to session, focusing on a variety of dance techniques.

"The talent here is definitely great," said Brown.

Engelke said she, too, was impressed with the students.

"They really work hard and they stay focused on what they are doing," she said.

Both Brown and Engelke agreed that dance camp provided a very positive experience for all involved.

"This college is a great place for the camp, and the area is awesome for other activities," Brown said.

MAINTAINING A CLEAR TRANSFER PATHWAY is the focus of an annual summer meeting for staff members who are directly involved with the student transfer process at Garrett College, Allegany College of Maryland, and Frostburg State University. They come together to share news about changes at their campuses and new academic programs in which students might be interested upon transfer. The benefit to all involved is the continued familiarity with transfer requirements to and from each institution. These connections are important, according t0 Judy Carbone, Garrett College director of advising, career, and transfer services. "We now can pick up the phone whenever there is a transfer issue and know the person on the other end well," she said. In the photo, from left, are: Patricia E. Gregory, director of admissions, Frostburg State University; Wray N. Blair, associate vice president for enrollment management, Frostburg State; Kim DeGiovanni, director of records and registration, Garrett College; Debra Hoover, coordinator of student and career services for the Pennsylvania campuses of Allegany College of Maryland; Bill Devlin, director of the student success center, Allegany College of Maryland; and Carbone.

Connie Meyers, program director for the college's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division, facilitated the camp program both years and said she "thoroughly enjoyed" working with this group.

"The dancers are delightful and the staff is great with them. You can see that the staff members really want good things for these students," she said.

Meyers made certain that the campers had ample opportunity to get out into the community and experience

"RUNNING FOR iT" in Davis, W.Va., next month will be Garrett College students, faculty, friends, and family members to raise money for the GC Foundation. The annual 2-kilometer/5-kilometer run/walk, slated for Saturday, Sept. 24, is part of the Tucker Community Foundation's Run For It challenge-grant program. Sponsor donations, half of the $10 entry fee, and any race-day grant awards won by team members will benefit the GC Foundation. Grants exceeding $33,000 are awarded at the conclusion of the race to the first to finish the 2-K walk, fastest finisher in the 5-K, and those demonstrating "best effort" to raise awareness and support for their cause. The TC Foundation sponsors scholarships and programs that benefit communities and residents throughout north-central West Virginia and Garrett County. More information on the Run For it program can be found online at www.tuckerfoundation.net. Pictured from left above are: Julie Yoder, GC dean of continuing education & workforce development; Josephine Gilman, dean of administration; Dr. George Breisford, dean of student life; and Ann Wellham, dean of marketing & enrollment management.

FIRST UNITED SUPPORTS GARRETT COLLEGE – First United Bank & Trust recently presented Garrett College with a donation to the President's Circle. The newly formed President's Circle is a select group of Garrett College supporters who make an annual gift of $1,000 or more. The membership supports the increasing need for scholarship resources. William B. Grant, president and chief executive officer of First United Bank & Trust, commented, "One of our top priorities has always been our commitment to supporting the community and the organizations that serve our community. It is a pleasure to provide a gift to an organization that is so critically important to the students of Garrett County." Richard L. MacLennan, president of Garrett College, expressed his gratitude. "The mission of creating hope and opportunity for all who would benefit from our programs and services is understood and enthusiastically embraced by our community," the president told Grant. "The impact of your support on helping students achieve their dreams will be direct and significant." Pictured, left to right, are Phil Rodeheaver, First United market president; Dr. Jeanne Neff, Garrett College Foundation board chair; and Fred K. Learey, Garrett College Foundation executive director.

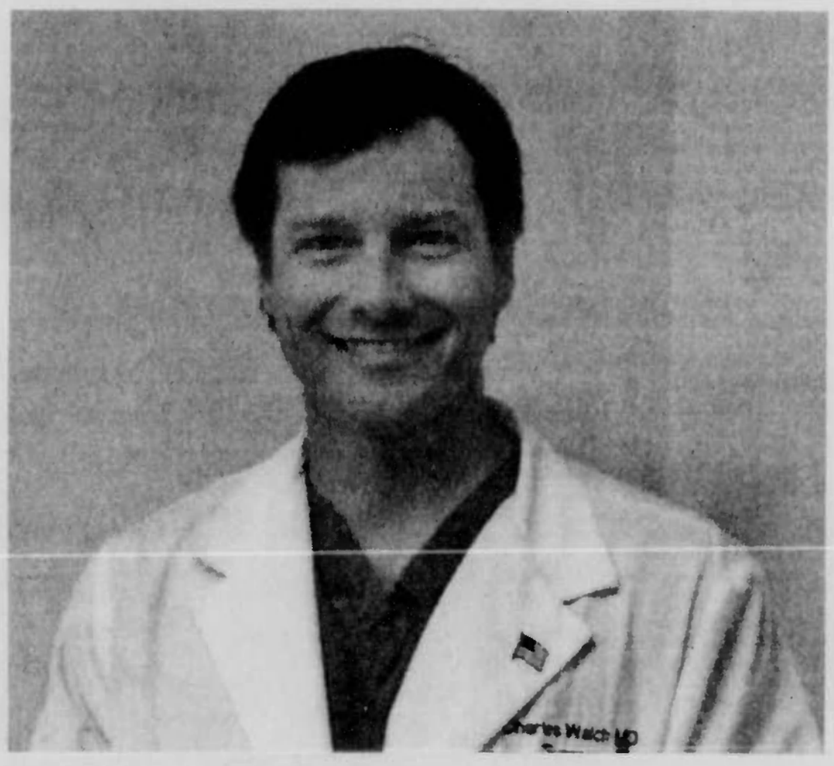
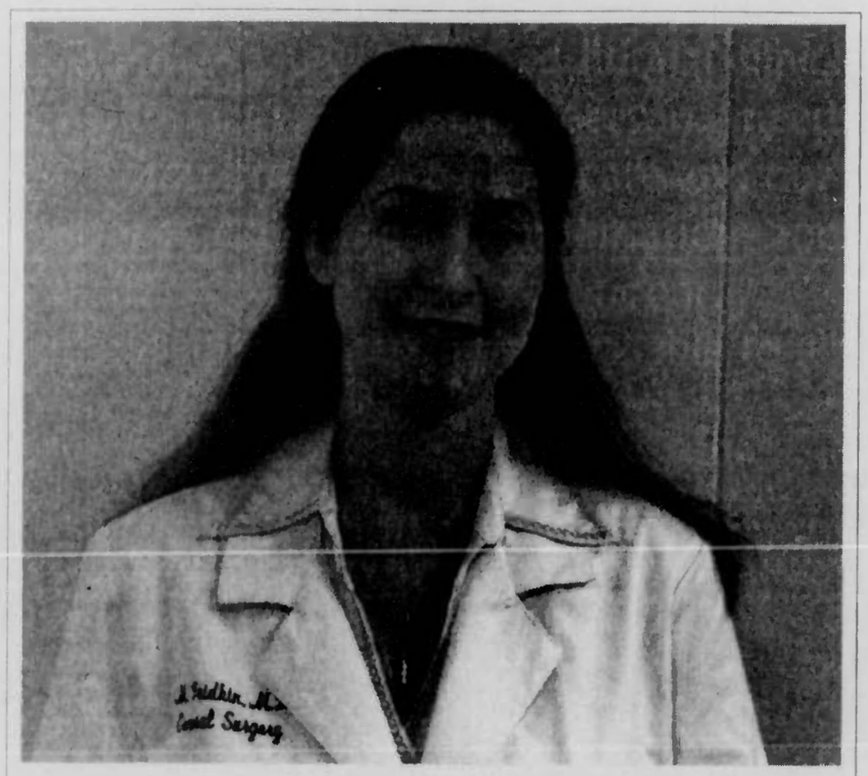
Answering the Call



Charles Walch, M.D., F.A.C.S.



Marjorie Fridkin, M.D., F.A.C.S.

The Board of Governors, employees, and volunteers of Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) would like to publically and profoundly thank our two dedicated general surgeons, Drs. Charles Walch and Marjorie Fridkin for voluntarily remaining on emergency surgical call 24/7 for the past eight months while the community recruited a third general surgeon, (Dr. Stephen Bayuk). This additional clinical burden was met by these two outstanding surgeons without regard to their personal needs and they should be admired and respected for their commitment to patient care and our entire community. All GCMH physicians take emergency call without compensation, and our entire region should recognize them for this exceptional effort and exceptional compassion. We are all indeed fortunate to have physicians of such caliber available to all of us always providing:

Extraordinary Care ••• Extraordinary Caring

We would be remiss if ALL physicians taking emergency call were not also recognized for their dedication and commitment as well. Each of these physicians place the needs of their patients ahead of their own and should be commended for their commitment to patient care as well: Drs. Dona Alvarez, Stephen Bayuk, James Benjamin, Daniel Buckingham, Kenneth Buczynski, Ik Cho, G. Michael Dwyer, Melvin Gonzaga, Robert Goralski, Thomas Johnson, Margaret Kaiser, H. Stanley Lambert, Charles Magal, P. Daniel Miller, Robert Miller, John Pappas, Patricia Gotsch, Richard Porter, Marcos Roffe, Sotiere Savopoulos, Karl Schwalm and David Tuel.

the natural beauty of Garrett County.

"We went out to Herrington Manor State Park for swimming and a picnic," she said. "We even had a birthday party while we were there. Another afternoon we went to Swallow Falls State Park to hike along the trails and have a campfire. And, of course, we went to Wisp so they could ride the mountain coaster," she said, adding, "I think we made it a memorable experience for them all."

Pinnacle Dance Camp's co-director Patricia Kelbaugh reflected on the success of this year's camp.

"It has been a delight to work with so many gracious people at Garrett College and talented dance teachers in our Pinnacle dance program," she said. "I am thrilled that our camp was such a success and am looking forward to our future growth as we continue to provide a top-notch positive experience for our dancers."

Dr. George Brelsford, dean of student life at Garrett College, said that he was also pleased with the success of the camp.

"It is part of our mission as a college to facilitate and encourage such high quality educational experiences. We have a very qualified staff at Garrett College who work with educators to create the appropriate learning environment," he said.

Organizations interested in learning more about creating an on-campus learning experience at Garrett College are invited to telephone Connie Meyers at 301-387-3084.

Retailers Prepare For State Sales Tax-Free Week

Hoping to build on the success of Maryland's Tax-Free Week last year, preparations are being made for this year's Tax-Free Week, scheduled for August 14-20. Most clothing and footwear priced up to $100 is free of Maryland's sales tax during the one week period.

"Tax-Free Week was a great success last year," said Maryland Retailers Association president Patrick Donoho. "It got consumers out shopping again after suffering hard economic times. This year, we hope more consumers will take advantage of the substantial savings offered by local retailers during this week. Times continue to be tough for families in Maryland as the economy slowly recovers. Tax Free Week provides some help to families as they shop for back-to-school clothes and shoes."

Donoho said he expects shoppers to see more special promotions and sales than last year, as retailers build on last year's success.

During Tax-Free Week, retailers are on a level playing field for a short period of time with competing retailers in Pennsylvania, Delaware, and the Internet that do not collect sales taxes on clothing and footwear year-round. Because of Tax-Free Week last year, retailers reported that they saw double-digit sales increases for the week.

Shoppers and travelers can expect good bargains on summer closeouts and new fall fashions for everyone in the family, Donoho said, adding that they will also find "great deals" on other merchandise as merchants take this opportunity to promote the sale of merchandise not exempted from the sales tax.

"Our hope is that consumers' pocket books will be helped," Donoho said.

USDA MAKES FUNDS AVAILABLE TO MEET URGENT CREDIT NEEDS OF PRODUCERS

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack has announced that a high demand for guaranteed farm ownership and direct farm operating funds has prompted USDA to transfer appropriated funds between programs as authorized by law, to meet the urgent credit needs of producers, including beginning and minority farmers and ranchers.

"Demand is strong for direct operating loans and guaranteed farm ownership loans, while demand for subsidized guaranteed operating loans has stabilized," said Vilsack. "With these funds, we can help thousands of producers establish and maintain their family farming operations and obtain long-term credit assistance through a commercial lender."

The transfer will make an additional $100 million in loan funds available for the direct operating loan program, providing 1,600 small, beginning, and minority farmers with resources to establish and maintain their family farming operations. In addition, $400 million in loan funds will be made available for the guaranteed farm ownership loan program, giving an additional 1,000 family farmers access to commercial lending backed by USDA. Both programs had run out of funds, resulting in a backlog of approved but unfunded loan applications.

This measure will allow all of the backlogged loans to be funded and provide sufficient funds to meet the needs of new loan applicants for these programs, while at the same time leaving sufficient funding for the subsidized guaranteed farm operating loans program to meet the expected demand for fiscal year 2011. Producers needing additional direct operating or longer term guaranteed farm ownership loans funds are encouraged to telephone farm loan manager Matt Briggs of the Farm Service Agency at 1-800-707-1298.

Oakland Resident Joins American Angus Association

Like the Weather, Hot Investment Can Cool Off

We're in the "Dog Days" of summer – traditionally the hottest, steamiest time of year. But in a few weeks, the temperatures will begin to cool down. Nature isn't alone in this heating-and-cooling pattern — you can also find evidence of it in the investment world. To be specific, today's "hot" investments can lose their sizzle quickly — which means that, as an investor, you'll need to take steps to avoid being left out in the cold.

An investment can become "hot" — that is, its price can shoot up — for any of a number of reasons. For example, a company that provides a well-known product or service may decide to "go public" by making its shares available to investors; when this happens, the stocks become "hot" for a while. An investment may also become hot if a favorable event occurs, as might be the case with a drug company that gains permission to sell a medicine that's much in demand. And some investments heat up because an "expert" is touting them in the media.

But although different investments may get hot for different reasons, they all share one thing in common: They will cool off. In fact, by the time you and many other investors hear about a hot stock, it may already be cooling off. If you buy into an investment that's been hot for a while, you should recognize that its "upside potential" may not be what you think.

To help achieve your financial goals, you may be better off by not chasing after hot stocks. Instead, consider these ideas:

• Increase share ownership. One key to building wealth is to increase the amount of shares you own in your investments. Hot stocks are often expensive stocks, so you may be limited in the number of shares you can purchase. As an alternative, look for quality investments that are trading at reasonable prices. You might also consider buying additional shares in quality companies you already own.

• Buy appropriate investments. Even if you can afford to buy some shares in hot stocks, should you? These stocks may not be suitable for your needs, for any number of reasons: too risky for your risk tolerance, too similar to other stocks you already own, and so on. You need to own investments that are appropriate for your individual needs. Of course, you also need to keep in mind that any investment in stocks — whether hot or not — will fluctuate with changes in market conditions and may be worth more or less than your original investment when you sell.

• Diversify your holdings. By continually pursuing hot investments, you might end up with an unbalanced, non-diversified portfolio. By diversifying your holdings, you can help reduce the impact of volatility on your portfolio. However, diversification, by itself, cannot guarantee a profit or protect against loss.

• Think long term. Chasing hot stock is strictly a short-term move. Successful investors adhere to long-term strategies that require discipline, patience and a constant focus on the future.

By following these suggestions, you're unlikely to experience the "thrill" of chasing after hot investments — but you will get the satisfaction of building a portfolio designed to help meet your important investment goals.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF IMPROVED REAL ESTATE
6.98 acres, more or less, Identified as
2049 Lower New Germany Rd., Frostburg, MD 21532

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a Deed of Trust dated June 2, 2000, and recorded in Liber No. 806, folio 621, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under its terms, I, Craig Ingram, Assignee, hereby give notice that I will on at the Alder Street entrance to the Garrett County Circuit Courthouse, offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder the following 6.98 acres, more or less, identified as 2049 Lower New Germany Rd., Frostburg, MD 21532. Believed to include a 17,920 square foot structure. Being the same property as was conveyed by deed dated June 2, 2000, and recorded in Liber No. 806, folio 618, among said Land Records.

Terms of Sale: Deposit of FIVE THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($5,900.00) will be required of Purchaser at the time and place of sale, such deposit to be cash, certified check or such other form as the Assignee may determine acceptable in his sole discretion. Balance to be payable by same method within fifteen (15) days after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court, with interest on said balance from the date of sale to the date of actual receipt of funds by the Assignee at 8.5% per annum. There shall be no abatement of interest for any reason. Deposit not required if mortgagee is purchaser. Assignee reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to extend the time of settlement at his discretion. Property is sold in "AS IS" condition. The Assignee makes no representations and/or warranty whatsoever regarding the title or any other matter with respect to the property, either express or implied, including but not limited to: the nature, condition, quality and quantity of the land, suitability of use and/or purpose, description of the property and/or improvements, if any. The Property will be sold subject to all easements, conditions, liens, restrictions, rights of redemption, covenants, encumberences and agreements of record affecting the same, and such state of facts that an accurate survey or physical inspection of the Property might disclose. The Property will be sold subject to all existing building, zoning, wetland, and environmental problems and or violations which may exist on or with respect to the Property if any. Purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss with respect to the Property as of the time of sale. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property. Taxes and similar public charges and assessments will be adjusted to the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for all unpaid and/or current sewer costs, including transfer fees. All costs of conveyance and settlement, including incidental settlement costs, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes, shall be paid by Purchaser. Time is of the essence as to Purchaser. In the event the Purchaser fails to settle as required, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available, Assignee may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of Purchaser. In such event, Purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney fees, and all other charges due. In the event that Assignee is unable to convey marketable title, or, in the event the Mortgagor entered into a repayment plan, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to sale, or if for any other reason Assignee did not have the right to sell the property, the sale is null and void and Purchaser is not entitled to any legal or equitable remedy, other than the return of the deposit, without interest, and any and all other claims of the Purchaser are hereby released. Other terms and conditions may be announced at the sale. The information contained herein is offered for informational purposes only. It is Purchaser's obligation to obtain an independent investigation of the Property. The Note Holder and Assignee do not make any representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information and Purchaser holds them harmless from same.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE DETERMINATION
General Permit for Discharges from Tanks, Pipes and Other Liquid Containment Structures at Facilities Other than Oil Terminals

General Discharge Permit No. 11HT (NPDES No. MDG67) applies to discharges from structures that contain or convey liquids at facilities other than oil terminals in the state of Maryland. The Department proposes to reissue State/NPDES (National Pollution Discharge Elimination System) General Permit for Discharges from Tanks, Pipes and Other Liquid Containment Structures at Facilities other than Oil Terminals with revisions to the previously issued permit (No. 06HT) as summarized below.

The benzene limit for treated tank bottom wastewater from petroleum storage tanks to surface water was updated to the current state water quality criteria of 22 µg/L.

For discharges associated with the disinfection of pipes, pipelines and tanks, the Department proposes to only authorize disinfection agents based on bromide or chloride.

The Department proposes to change the requirements for transfer of authorization under this permit from 'non-transferable to a person' to 'non-transferable to a change in location.' This ensures the Department is not authorizing a discharge at a new location without appropriate review through submission of a new application.

The required notice of intent (application) now requires more complete information relevant to the permit conditions. Also required is the addition of a site map illustrating discharge locations.

The permit requires development (or modification) of a Pollution Prevention Plan (PPP) prior to obtaining coverage under this permit. The previous permit required potable water systems to develop a PPP within 6 months of coverage under this permit.

Potable water systems who are adding any significant structural additions (i.e., distribution storage tanks) covered under this permit will notify the Department of such changes as well as notify any affected storm sewer system authority 30 days prior to the flushing seasons (typically Spring and Fall).

The permit includes a narrative condition prohibiting discharges containing visible oil sheen, floating solids or persistent foam.

The previous permit required temperature monitoring during July, August and September; this permit renewal expands the applicable months to include May, June and October.

The permit eliminates the requirement to monitor for any existing material (aslde from oil & grease) as the Department has never found need to require submission of such information and it could be misconstrued that residual material is acceptable in the discharge, which is not authorized.

The permit identifies specific requirements for discharges resulting in the draining or flushing of fire control systems, and untreated "water" in excess of 10,000 gallons per day as a monthly average from water storage or distribution systems. These requirements include prevention of erosion and eliminating temperature variation beyond ambient conditions after a mixing zone.

The permit requires potable water systems where mechanical cleaning occurs to meet a numeric discharge limit for total suspended solids (TSS) of 60 mg/L.

The permit requires quarteriy submission of Discharge Monitoring Reports (DMRs), a reduction in frequency from the previous permit which required monthly submissions.

The permit removes the eligible discharge of 'wastewater from pipeline infiltration' as no one had previously applied for this discharge nor is there a record of its intended purpose.

Finally the permit includes several clarifications on the types of eligible discharges authorized by the permit and updates various standard permit conditions. The updated standard permit conditions include, but are not limited to: requirements to obtain coverage under an individual permit, as necessary; termination of coverage under a permit; continuation of an expired general permit; the definitions for super chlorination, potable water, disinfectant, estimated flow, impaired water, and total maximum daily load (TMDL); notice of intent (application) requirements; submission of notifications once registered under the permit; reporting laboratory, performing analysis; facility operation and maintenance; and permit modification.

The Department will hold a public hearing concerning the tentative determination on Wednesday, August 31, 2011, at 10 a.m. in the Aqua Conference Room at MDE, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, MD 21230.

Any hearing impaired person may request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Tyrone Hill, Office of Fair Practices, at 410-537-3964 at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date. TTY users should contact the Maryland Relay Service at 1 800 201-7165.

The draft permit is available on MDE's website (www.mde.state.md.us) and can be found at the Wastewater Permits website http://www.mde.state.md.us/waterpermits under "Water Applications and Other Forms" then "Hydrostatic Testing of Tanks. ", or by searching "tanks.aspx" in the right hand corner search engine through the comment period. Any questions regarding this tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, should be directed to Shannon McDonald at the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, at smcdonald@mde.state.md.us. by telephone at 410-537-3323 between the hours from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Copies of the document may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will also be considered in the preparation of a final determination if received by Shannon McDonald at the above address, on or before Wednesday, September 6, 2011. 8/4 11(2)

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
AKA 18119 NATIONAL PIKE, FROSTBURG, MD 21532

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Robert Overstreet, dated April 4, 2007, and recorded in Liber 1302, Folio 51 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with an original principal balance of $125,670.30, and an original interest rate of 7.563%, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse door for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, on August 5, 2011, at 1:00 p.m.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $16,000.00 by certified funds only (no cash will be accepted) is required at the time of auction. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. The purchaser, other than the Holder of the Note, its assigns, or designees, shall pay interest on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of foreclosure auction to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of foreclosure auction. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, not otherwise divested by ratification of the sale, and whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser, unless the purchaser is the foreclosing lender or its designee. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay to the Sellers' attorney's a fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten (10) days of ratification of the sale, the Substitute Trustees may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser, in which case the purchaser agrees to pay attorneys fees of $1,250.00, plus costs, to the Trustees. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of foreclosure auction. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages, and any deficiency in the underiying secured debt. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Substitute Trustees cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

Terms of Sale: Deposit of TWENTY-wwNINE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($29,500.00) will be required of Purchaser at the time and place of sale, such deposit to be cash, certified check or such other form as the Assignee may determine acceptable in his sole discretion. Balance to be payable by same method within fifteen (15) days after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court, with interest on said balance from the date of sale to the date of actual receipt of funds by the Assignee at 8.5% per annum. There shall be no abatement of interest for any reason. Deposit not required if mortgagee is purchaser. Assignee reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to extend the time of settlement at his discretion. Property is sold in "AS IS" condition. The Assignee makes no representations and/or warranty whatsoever regarding the title or any other matter with respect to the property, either express or implied, including but not limited to: the nature, condition, quality and quantity of the land, suitability of use and/or purpose, description of the property and/or improvements, if any. The Property will be sold subject to all easements, conditions, liens, restrictions, rights of redemption, covenants, encumberences and agreements of record affecting the same, and such state of facts that an accurate survey or physical inspection of the Property might disclose. The Property will be sold subject to all existing building, zoning, wetland, and environmental problems and or violations which may exist on or with respect to the Property, if any. Purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss with respect to the Property as of the time of sale. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property. Taxes, and similar public charges and assessments will be adjusted to the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for all unpaid and/or current sewer costs, including transfer fees. All costs of conveyance and settlement, including incidental settlement costs, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes, shall be paid by Purchaser. Time is of the essence as to Purchaser. In the event the Purchaser fails to settle as required, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available, Assignee may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of Purchaser. In such event, Purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney fees, and all other charges due. In the event that Assignee is unable to convey marketable title, or, in the event the Mortgagor entered into a repayment plan, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to sale, or if for any other reason, Assignee did not have the right to sell the property, the sale is null and void and Purchaser is not entitled to any legal or equitable remedy, other than the return of the deposit, without interest and any and all other claims of the Purchaser are hereby released. Other terms and conditions may be announced at the sale. The information contained herein is offered for informational purposes only. It is Purchaser's obligation to obtain an independent investigation of the Property. The Note Holder and Assignee do not make any representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information and Purchaser holds them harmless from same.

PROGRAM POLICY
TITLE VI, CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital program has agreed to comply with the provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and all requirements imposed pursuant thereto, to the end that no person shall, on the basis of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination in the provisions of any care or services.

Specifically, the above includes (but is not limited to) the following characteristics:

1. Client care will be provided on a nondiscriminatory basis; all clients will be admitted and receive care without regard to race, color, or national origin.
2. All clients will be assigned to services without regard to race, color, or national origin.
3. When applicable, clients will not be asked if they are willing or desire to share a room with a person of another race.
4. Employees will be assigned to client services without regard to race, color, or national origin of either the client or employee.
5. Staff privileges will not be denied to professionally qualified personnel on the basis of race, color, or national origin of either the client or employee.
6. All facilities of this program will be utilized without regard to race, color, or national origin.
7. All staff, employees, and contractors will be informed of NONDISCRIMINATORY practices and individual responsibilities.

The nondiscriminatory policy of this facility applies to clients, physicians, contractors, and responsible facility employees. Under no circumstances will the application of the policy result in the segregation or re-segregation of buildings, wings, floors, or rooms for the reason of race, color, or national origin. 8/4-11(2)

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE
Ordinance No. 2011-05
AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWN OF KITZMILLER ACQUIRING CERTAIN REAL PROPERTY

WHEREAS the Federal Emergency Management Agency has required certain action be taken by the Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller, Maryland, for the purpose of continuing to provide flood insurance for parcels of land in the Town of Kitzmiller that are within a flood zone.

WHEREAS the requirements include control by easement or ownership of all land that is within fifteen (15) feet of the uphill (north) side of the base of the existing flood protection levy.

WHEREAS certain parcels located in Blaine, WV, will also be acquired.

WHEREAS the Levy and contiguous land has been surveyed for the purpose of determining which parcels of land or portions thereof must now be subject to the control of the Town.

WHEREAS such control as to land owned by 3rd parties will be obtained pursuant to the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act, as amended (herein URA).

WHEREAS, for the purposes of this Ordinance, abandoned property is defined as real property that is currently not being assessed to a landowner by the State Department of Assessments and Taxation and is believed to have not been continuously assessed during the past twenty (20) years.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF KITZMILLER:

SECTION 1

1. Pursuant to Article 26 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, and for the above stated purposes, the following land is hereby acquired by the Town of Kitzmiller, Maryland.

2. This Ordinance applies only to unopened streets and alleys and to parcels that are believed to have no owner and/or that have been abandoned by their owner.

3. This ordinance only applies to land that is within fifteen (15) feet of the uphill (north) side of the Kitzmiller Flood Protection Levy.

A copy of the entire Ordinance #2011-05 is available for inspection in the Town Hall, every Tuesday Wednesday or Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A public hearing will be held prior to the August town meeting on Monday, August 22, at 6:30 p.m. 8/4-11(2)

NHS CLASS OF 1961 MEETS – The Northern High School's class of 1961 recently met for its 50 year reunion at Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. The evening began with a social hour followed by a dinner buffet. Bonnie Vitez Cupp offered the prayer, and Ruby Margroff read the names of the 22 deceased class members. Each member gave a brief summary of what they are doing now. In the front row, from left, are Carol Hummel Ways, Carol Oester Miller, Gladys McKenzie Lashbaugh, Rita Glover Mangold, Karen Miller, Dorothy Hutzel Broadwater, and Betty Lou Savage Roberts. Second row: Joyce Haenftling Born, Margaret Beachy Hershberger, Gary Friend, Patrick Bittinger, Robert Niner, Fred Holliday, Jim Margroff, Karen Margraff Knight, Lovona Bittinger Miller, and Ruby Miller Margroff. Back row: Glenn Kolbfleisch, Jim Bowser, Darrell Winebrenner, Paul Bittinger, Esther Nedrow Stewart, Ruth Georg Kennedy, Cupp, Ruth Schmidt Gardner, and Kathy Younkin Margroff.

SHS CLASS OF 1961 REUNITES – Members of the Southern High School graduating class of 1981 gathered this past weekend for their 30th reunion. The group had an "ice-breaker" at Long Branch Saloon on Friday, July 29, and then gathered for the actual reunion at the Deer Park Sportsman's Club on Saturday, July 30. The class originally numbered 186, and approximately 10 have died. About 40 alumni attended at least one of the two get-togethers. The group was entertained by musician Floyd Cowger. A memorial display was set up for deceased classmates, as well as a pictorial display of the 1981 SHS yearbook senior photos. Tentative plans were made for the class members to reunite in five years. Pictured above, in the front row, from left, are Cary Walters Sponaugle, Mona Murphy, Susan Shockey Bone, Lisa Livengood Freeland, and Reba Denise Gerard. Second row, same order (seated): Judy Stover Tran, Mary Sincell McEwen, Barbara Rostosky Brygider, Christy Herring Yeiser, Diane Parsons Lechmanik, Jane Carroll Pritts, Janet Maffett Gregory, Michele Turney Messenger, and Patrick Riley. In the third row, standing, same order: Joe Estill, Steve Klier, Natalie Newhall, Duane Bernard, Fredolyn Wolf, Mark Powles, Mike Morrow, Cathy Hesen Vincent, Catie Ravenscroft James, Bryan Thayer, Michele Thomas Carl, Angela Kreyenbuhl-Conroy, and George Scheffel. In the back, same order: Wally Weeks, Mark Grimm, Vernon Leighton, Brian Fitzwater, Craig Lantz, Sam Bell, Matthew Pritts, John Ruff, David Sweitzer, Paul Cornish, and Michael Kulak. Not present for the photo but in attendance was Michael Headrick. Photo by John McEwen.

A SUMMERTIME PALETTE – These varying hues of pink, yellow, green, and purple are most pleasing to the human eye, at least most would agree, and the Mountaintop is nowhere lacking in such colors. August marks the time when plants mature, coming to their full potential, whether it be to please the eye or to feed a hungry mouth. Sweet corn on the cob is being sold across the county, as are tomatoes and melons and squash, among many other tasty and healthful foods. Also shown in this photo is Maryland's state flower, the black-eyed Susan, bobbing its bright head. The summer is short in Garrett County, but certainly does not lack the season's beauty. School Bus Route/Schedule Changes Announced By Board Of Education

The Garrett County Board of Education has announced route/time changes involving seven of its buses for the upcoming school year: bus numbers 4, 22, 28, 33, 34, 43, and 75. Most are minor, but some of the changes are major, noted Ed Wildesen, BOE director of transportation.

"The route changes are due to fleet consolidation," he explained.

A detailed list of the routes are listed in an advertisement in this week's issue of The Republican. A brief summary of the morning schedules is as follows:

BUS NUMBER 4

Stops previously made by Bus No. 75 in Mtn. Lake Park have been added to Bus No. 4's route this year, Wildesen noted.

For its first morning trip, Bus No. 4 will begin picking up students at 7:07 a.m. in Pleasant Valley and Mtn. Lake Park. Stops will be made along Smouse, Landon's Dam, Lynndale, Johi Miller, Paul Friend, Jasper Riley, and Pleasant Valley roads. The last pickup for the first trip will be made at 7:46 a.m. at 513 D Street in Mtn. Lake Park.

Bus No. 4's second morning route will begin at 8 a.m. in Mtn. Lake Park. Stops will be made in the following order: Deer Park Avenue, and G, D, B, Decatur, and A streets. The final pickup will be made at 8:17 a.m. at South 6th Street in Oakland.

BUS NUMBER 22

"Bus No. 22 replaces Bus No. 43; however, it is keeping the Memorial Drive, Fourth Street, and Garrett Highway route," Wildesen said.

For its first morning trip, Bus No. 22 will begin picking up students along Boiling Springs Road at 7 a.m., followed by stops at Fricks Crossing, Pysell Crosscut, Maryland Highway, Turkey Neck, Pysell Crosscut, King Reis Lane, Edgewood Drive, Main Street (Deer Park), Deer Park Hotel Road, and Hillcrest Drive. The two final stops of the first morning run will be made at 285 and 440 Deer Park Hotel Road at 7:48 and 7:49 a.m.

Bus No. 22's second morning trip will begin in the Oakland area at 8:05 a.m. along Memorial Drive. Pickups will then be made along 4th Street and Garrett Highway. The last stop take place at 1262 Garrett Highway at 8:20 a.m.

BUS NUMBER 28

Bus No. 28 will begin picking up students at 6:56 a.m. along Jacob's Run Road, then proceed to Aaron Run, Westernport Road, and the Bloomington fire hall (7:35 a.m.)

BUS NUMBER 33

Beginning at 7:08 a.m., Bus No. 33 will pick up passengers at 15742 Maryland Highway, followed by a stop on Virts Road and stops along Chestnut Grove Road. More stops will be made along Maryland Highway, with the last one scheduled for 7:51 a.m. at house number 15517 before students are dropped off at their schools.

BUS NUMBER 34

Wildesen noted that Bus No. 34 will pick up Bus No. 25's two stops in Deer Park this year.

For its morning route beginning at 6.50 a.m., Bus No. 34 will make five stops along Savage River Road. Stops will then be made at North Branch Avenue and Main Street (Deer Park). The last pick up will be at the Ashby Alley stop at 7:53 a.m.

BUS NUMBER 43

Bus No. 43 will replace Bus No. 14. The driver will contact parents about the route and schedule, Wildsen said.

BUS NUMBER 75

"Please note, Bus No. 75 replaces Bus No. 22 on Underwood Road," Wildesen stressed.

Bus No. 75 will begin picking up students at 6:50 a.m. at 4866 Cranesville Road. Following four more stops along that road, the driver will stop along Mellott, Swallow Falls, and Herrington Manor roads, before proceeding to Liberty Extension in Oakland. The last pickup of the morning will be made at 7:41 a.m. at the Mary Browning Center along Center Street.

Bus No. 74's second morning trip will begin at 8:05 a.m. at 2195 Underwood Road. After making three more stops on that road, the driver will pick up students along South Third Street. The last pick up will be made at 8:16 a.m. at the Water Street/Second Street stop.

"Because of overcrowding issues and other issues regarding student safety, students must rid their assigned bus for their assigned, unless a bus pass has been approved," Wildesen stressed.

66th Farm Queen To Be Crowned At Fair This Sunday

The 66th Garrett County Farm Queen will be crowned this Sunday, Aug. 14, at 8 p.m. in the new exhibit hall at the fairgrounds in McHenry. The event is part of the 55th annual Garrett County Agriculture Fair, set for Saturday Aug. 13, through Saturday, Aug. 20.

Those vying for the Farm Queen crown are Katelyn Gnegy and Annie Graham. Along with her parents, Daniel and Mary Gnegy, Katelyn lives on the 209-acre family farm in the Oakland area.

Katelyn is an active member of both 4-H and FFA, having taken a variety of projects and held a number of leadership roles throughout the years. She has been an active exhibitor at the Garrett County Fair during her 4-H and FFA years, exhibiting market livestock, produce, clothing, and crafts, and participating in engineering competitions.

Katelyn is also an active volunteer with several community organizations and has earned the Presidential Community Service Award for the past eight years. She also earned her Diamond Clover Award.

In her spare time, she enjoys reading, horseback riding, and hanging out with friends.

Katelyn is a 2011 graduate of Southern High School and plans to begin her college studies at Garrett College this fall in hopes of fulfilling her lifelong dream of becoming a large animal veterinarian.

Annie is the daughter of Chuck and Becky Graham of the Oakland area. Annie is a member of the Red House 4-H Club, where she has held a variety of offices and has been active in a variety of project areas, including market beef and lambs. She regularly participates in the volunteer and community service projects of the club, including outreach to seniors in the community, volunteering with the Garrett County Livestock Association, and fair clean-up.

Annie enjoys working alongside her grandfather and great-uncle in their farming operation. Her hobbies include participating in livestock shows, hunting, fishing, and sewing.

She will begin her college studies this fall at Garrett College in pursuit of a degree in animal nutrition and agriculture business. She plans to become an animal nutritionist and also raise and sell club calves and lambs in her own farming operation.

FireFly Farms Earns Blue Ribbon For Bleu Goat Cheese

Firefly Farms, producer of goat cheeses from Maryland's Allegheny Plateau, has earned a top honor at this year's American Cheese Society's annual conference, which was held in Montreal, Canada.

FireFly's aged goat cheese, Mountain Top Bleu, received the first place ribbon, beating out numerous other blue-veined goat cheeses. The ribbon marked the 14th individual honor received by Mountain Top Bleu, which has been recognized by Saveur Magazine as one of its 50 favorite American cheeses.

"This is the 44th individual award for our FireFly Farms product line," explained Matt Cedro, head cheese maker.

"It always feels great to have our work recognized on the national stage. We are very proud of all our cheeses and to receive this type of recognition is wonderful."

"It all began nearly 10 years ago with a first-place ribbon for Mountain Top Bleu at the ACS in 2002," added Mike Kock, FireFly Farms president.

"As we move our creamery to Accident and prepare to expand our business, it's greatly fulfilling that Mountain Top Bleu has remained America's best."

The 2011 competition received a record number of entries—1,676 cheeses and cultured milk products from hundreds of ACS members from the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

"The increase in this year's entries mirrors the fantastic growth we're seeing in the industry," stated Christine Hyatt, ACS president.

"As more people strive to make excellent cheese, they are turning to ACS for feedback about their products. The vision of our founders was not only to recognize the best cheeses in our industry, but also to offer feedback and guidance that will improve the quality of all cheeses produced in the Americas."

Board Of Education Accepts Bid And New Personnel Recommendations

The Garrett County Board of Education voted on Tuesday to accept the vehicle insurance bid of Cumberland-based CBIZ Insurance Services Inc., which will now insure the school system's bus fleet. The board also voted on changes to the unified sports program, which will now offer tennis in the fall season instead of the previously scheduled aquatics program.

CBIZ Insurance's winning bid totaled $44,952 and included a fee of $1,520 for terrorism coverage. The CBIZ bid came $3,917 under the bid made by Yoder-Hershberger Insurance LLC.

The change from aquatics to tennis in the unified sports program, which aims to provide students with disabilities the opportunity to participate in athletic programs, was considered by the board as a more affordable activity option. The switch to tennis is projected to eliminate nearly $4,000 in transportation expenses, as well as $2,500 in miscellaneous fees associated with aquatics facilities.

Sue Waggoner, interim superintendent of schools, also presented her recommendations for nine new faculty appointments, which

Gigi Graham Named Keynote Speaker For Salem Trust Event

Gigi Graham, the eldest daughter of Billy and Ruth Graham, has been named as keynote speaker for the Maryland Salem Children's Trust OutSpokin' For Kids Banquet and Silent Auction 2011. The event is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 24, at the Bittinger Mennonite Church Center, 10707 Bittinger Road.

Her experiences as daughter of the well-known evangelist, raising seven children, and traveling and living abroad, in both Europe and the Middle East, give her resources from which to draw for her speaking and writing ministry.

Graham has shared in conferences all over the United States, Canada, and in Europe. Her book titles include Currents of the Heart, For Women Only: Keeping Your Balance in a Changing World, Passing it On, and A Quiet Knowing.

She divides her time between central Florida and the mountains of North Carolina. She is married and the mother of seven grown children ranging in age from 42 to 22. She is also the grandmother of 18 so far.

Along with the dinner buffet, there will be musical entertainment and items available for bidding at the silent auction. Advance tickets are available for $35 for adults and $10 for children ages 6 to 11. Children 5 and under are free. No tickets will be sold at the door, and a limited number of tickets are available.

All proceeds go to Maryland Salem Children's Trust to continue in assisting those who have suffered from abuse and abandonment in making their lives whole once again.

For more information, persons may contact Donna Brenneman, development director, at donna@mdsalem.org or 301-689-8176, ext. 208.

Volunteers Sought For Cleanup Effort Near JRL

Volunteers are being sought for the second cleanup of Rt. 46 from the Robert W. Craig Campground to Elk Garden, W.Va., at Jennings Randolph Lake, which is situated between Garrett County and Mineral County, W.Va. The cleanup is scheduled to take place on Saturday, Aug. 13, beginning at 9 a.m.

Volunteers are to meet at the gazebo in the Howell Run Picnic Area. The group will start cleaning from both the campground and Elk Garden simultaneously, so everything will be downhill, according to Ranger Norm Dennis, coordinator of the project. He noted that as this is the second cleanup this summer along this same stretch of road, there should be far less trash then the first volunteers encountered.

"The cleanup will probably last about 2½ hours, depending on the number of volunteers we have willing to help give us a hand," Dennis said. "The Friends of Jennings Randolph Lake really need a good turnout to get the job completed in as little time as possible. Your help will be greatly appreciated by all of the local residents and visitors to the lake by projecting a positive image of the local area."

Beverages will be provided during the entire cleanup effort. At the end of the project, a barbecue will take place at the gazebo for all volunteers

LET THE FUN BEGIN – In addition to the rides and games of the midway, the 55th annual Garrett County Agriculture Fair will offer a wide range of fun activities for the whole family. Exhibits, musical entertainment, art displays, a magic show, and a wide variety of food and beverages are just some of the offerings that the $10 flat entrance fee will purchase. The event will take place from Aug. 13 to 20 at the fairgrounds in McHenry. For a complete schedule one may visit the web site www.garrettcountyfair.org.

Special Events

The births of three babies were announced this week, two girls and one boy.

A son, Drake Walter, was born to Michael and Julie (Lewis) Pifer, Aurora, W.Va., on July 14 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Blake Lee, was born to Daniel and Melissa (Elliott) Reckart, Oakland, on Aug. 4 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Violet Morgan, was born to Chad and Laurel (Wolf) Taylor, Accident, on Aug. 6 at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va. The maternal grandparents are Dr. Michael A. Wolf, Friendsville, and the late Linda A. Wolf. The paternal grandparents are Zachery and Linda Taylor, Beaufort, S.C.

Maryland Ranks 16th In Veteran-Owned Businesses

Maryland ranks among the top states for veteran-owned businesses, according to a recent survey published by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. The Maryland Survey of Business Activity placed the state 16th in the percentage of companies owned by veterans, and fourth among the states in the percentage of workforce employed by veteran-owned firms. Ten percent of Maryland businesses – more than 54,000 firms – are owned by veterans, compared to 9 percent of veteran-owned businesses in the nation as a whole.

"Our favorable business climate and dedicated resources encourage veterans to stay in Maryland once their tours of duty have ended," said Christian S. Johansson, secretary of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development. "Governor Martin O'Malley and Lieutenant Governor Anthony Brown have made supporting Maryland's veterans and veteran-owned businesses a priority, and it's paying off for both the state and for our veterans."

Veteran-owned firms in Maryland employ nearly 140,000 people, or 6% of the state's workforce, had sales of more than $26 million, and had a payroll of $5.2 billion, according to 2007 data. Nearly 7% of veteran-owned firms in the state are owned by women, tying Maryland with Virginia for second place behind Alaska in the percentage of women-owned veteran firms. Top industries for veteran-owned businesses are transportation (17%); professional, scientific, and technical services (13%), and construction (12.5%).

Maryland is one of just 18 states to have enacted legislation to help veteran-owned businesses succeed in the private sector and also access state government contracting opportunities, according to the National Veteran-Owned Business Association. The state has set a goal of awarding 0.5% of state agency procurement to small businesses owned and operated by veterans.

Governor O'Malley signed legislation in 2008 establishing Maryland's Procurement Preference Program for Veteran-Owned Small Businesses (VOSBs) and Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses (SDVOSBs). Under the law, certified VOSBs and SDVOSBs are eligible for percentage price preferences of up to 7% and 8% respectively in competing for contract awards with the state.

As a delegate in the Maryland General Assembly in 2006, Lt. Governor Brown sponsored a bill creating the Military Reservist and Service-Disabled Veterans No-Interest Loan Program. First funded in 2007, the program has provided 15 loans totaling nearly $700,000 for such companies.

The administration has also developed programs to assist transitioning service members from military service to careers in the private sector. In April, Lt. Governor Brown joined Maryland Labor Secretary Alexander M. Sanchez and Secretary of Veterans Affairs Ed Chow to launch the Mil2FedJobs Web portal, the first such portal in the nation to directly match service members with careers in the Federal Government.

The Department of Labor, Licensing & Regulation, the Department of Business & Economic Development, and other state agencies partnered through a $4 million U.S. Department of Labor Workforce ONE grant to strengthen Maryland's educated and skilled workforce. The administration also launched the Helmets to Hardhats program and the Warrior to Worker Initiative.

RECEIVE LIVENGOOD MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP – The Garrett County Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 99 has awarded the 2011 David G. Livengood Memorial Scholarship to local students Cody Sanders, Lisa Umbel, and Jerica Bennett. They received checks for $1,500, $1,000, and $500, respectively. Cody and Jerica are currently enrolled at Fostburg State University, and Lisa is enrolled at Garrett College. Each year the scholarship is awarded to honor Garrett County sheriff's deputy David G. Livengood who, along with his K-9 Sarge, was killed in the line of duty on Jan. 18, 1979, while answering a burglar alarm in Oakland. Left to right are Cody, Deputy Theresa Fischer, and Lisa.

Criminal Justice Dashboard Wins Innovations Award

Developed and maintained by the Maryland Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services' (DPSCS) Information Technology and Communications Division, the Criminal Justice Dashboard has proven to be a valuable tool for Maryland's criminal justice professionals. Under the Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention's (GOCCP) Maryland Security Integration Initiative, Dashboard was selected as this year's winner of the Council of State Government's (CSG) Innovations Award.

Since 2008, the Dashboard, a web-based application consolidating 100 databases from 22 agencies into a single platform, has become the clearinghouse of state criminal justice data and tools. The Dashboard works with the Maryland Offender Management System, which gives locations of state supervised offenders in local communities.

"This award is an honor, highlighting the work of our staff and the state of Maryland, while also showcasing the doors technology can open for collaboration between agencies," said Gary D. Maynard, secretary for DPSCS.

Ron Brothers, chief information officer for DPSCS, and Virginia Geckler, Policy Analyst for GOCCP, accepted the award at the CSG's 51st Annual Meeting of the Council of State Governments/Eastern Regional Conference in Halifax, Novia Scotia on Sunday, August 7.

CSG began presenting Innovations Awards in 1986 to bring greater visibility to exemplary state programs and to facilitate the transfer of those successful experiences to other states.

Dashboard is one of the inventive technological advancements DPSCS has developed and implemented under the current Administration. Other innovations include Livescan technology and supervision kiosks at parole and probation offices, the addition of domestic violence indicators on rap sheets, and a new offender case management system that will streamline offender records for the department.

Man Arrested On Second-Degree Assault Charge

A Prince Frederick man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on Saturday morning on an assault charge.

Deputies responded to a Gorman Street, Gorman, residence for a reported assault in progress. Investigation revealed that Ronald Bowie Jr., 21, was involved in a physical altercation with a family member. It was learned that Bowie was sought by Charles County officials for unrelated pending charges. He was transported to the Garrett County Jail on a second-degree assault charge. Gorman Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the 10 a.m. scene

HARD AT WORK, EVEN AS SHADOWS GROW LONG – Members of both the Southern (above) and Northern (at right) marching bands put in long hours last week as both groups completed band camp, a grueling five days by most standards, during which the students learn most of the show they will use in competition this fall. The groups will continue to rehearse and work hard as they go through the 2011 season, with Northern offering a tribute to rock and roll, and Southern staging an alien invasion. See story. SHS photo by Amy Friend; NHS photo by Duane Salisbury.

Successful Band Camps Completed By SHS, NHS; Season Begins Soon

The Southern and Northern Garrett High School marching bands have both completed their annual band camp sessions, with the Northern students spending last week at the Hickory Center, and Southern students having a day camp at their high school.

This is an annual activity for both groups, and has been for more than 30 years. The students learn the music and field show that they will perform throughout the competitive marching season, which will begin early next month.

Both groups have between 35 and 40 members, and will both be categorized as Group I bands, based on membership. They are both in Chapter 5, which designates their geographical region in western Maryland. The local marchers will compete against bands from across Maryland, as well as from Pennsylvania and West Virginia, from September through the end of October.

The theme of Northern Garrett's show this season is a rock and roll tribute, according to Duane Salisbury, director. Salisbury reported that last week's camp went very well.

"We had what I believe to be the best camp I have ever had a part of, and that goes all the way back to my freshman year in 1967," the director said.

He said the band will perform five tunes during this year's show. They are "You Shook Me All Night Long," "Frankenstein," Carry On Wayward Son," "Back in Black" and, as the finale, "I Love Rock 'n Roll."

The staff at Northern in addition to Salisbury is as follows: Zach George, assistant director; Caroline Stahl, brass and marching instructor; Hannah Walters, marching and choreography instructor; and Susan Bennett and Trisha Knox, color guard instructors.

Richard Clever, who was the longtime director at Southern, has helped with music at both Northern and Southern for the past several years.

The student leadership team at Northern is Shannon Miller, drum major; Elizabeth Green, assistant drum major, Jordan Brick, woodwind captain; Brandon Gloifelty, brass captain, Trace Livengood, student director; Garrett Yoder, percussion pit captain, Tyler Bittinger, drum line captain; Katie Dignan and Abby Andres, color guard captains; and Madi Sines and Jenna Duckworth, color guard assistant captains. The group is also supported by an active band boosters organization.

"Our students are excited to be coming up on a new marching band season," Salisbury said. "They are also very excited with our music and show package. We look forward to a productive year."

Joshua Elmlinger is the director of the Southern Garrett Marching Band, and also reported that his group had a successful band camp week. Elmlinger has composed the music for the band's show this year, as he did for last year's show.

This year's show theme is about aliens, and is titled "Invasion!" Elmlinger has written four songs for the show, and they are as follows: Overture: "Paranoia", Abduction: "Somnoloquy"; Interlude: "The Force Field", and Finale: "The Machine."

The music is difficult, Elmlinger said, involving a number of time signature changes and rhythms. The task is made more difficult by not having a drum major to give the beat. Elmlinger said this upgrades the difficulty assessment by the judges at shows.

"The kids are working very hard," Elmlinger said. "They are very talented and are tackling very tough music. The drill is coming together really nicely."

Assisting Elmlinger on the staff this season are Amy Friend, assistant band director and pit instructor; David Wall, brass instructor; Brent Furr, percussion instructor; and Twila Huerta and Jennifer Bishoff, color guard. As noted, Richard Clever is also assisting with music. Michael Lentz designed this year's drill.

Southern is also supported by an active band boosters organization, consisting mainly of parents and guardians of the students.

The member leadership at Southern is Michele Welch, guard captain; Catherine Baker and Kody Fike, drum line co-captains; Zach Finch, pit captain, and student leaders Elizabeth McClean, Alex McEwen, Jaxon Schwab, and Jen Shillingburg.

The competitive season will begin on Sept. 10. Reports on local marching bands will be published as information is received.

The Western Maryland Tournament of Bands will be held on Oct. 15 as part of the Autumn Glory Festival. While the show is hosted by the Southern Band Boosters, the effort will involve both local groups, a spokesperson said, as Northern will not be hosting a local show this fall.

"We love having both groups of these kids together to be celebrated with a local show, where they can show their hometowns how hard they work, and how talented they are," said Mary McEwen, coordinator for the local show. "We hope to see hundreds of local residents come out for the tournament, and we plan to formally invite Garrett County Board of Education members and their families to come out as well for what is always a fun evening of great entertainment."

Md. SHA Launches "Know Before You Go" Info Service

Maryland State Highway officials unveiled their new 511 traveler information system yesterday at SHA's Statewide Operations Center in Hanover. "Know Before You Go" is the theme of the Maryland 511 system, now available throughout the state.

"It provides key travel information to help guide drivers before heading out to major events, cross-state travel, and daily commutes," said an SHA spokeswoman about the system. "Calling 511 from any mobile or land line or logging onto www.MD511.org provides free one-stop shopping for travel information on state maintained roadways."

With 511, she added, motorists have 24 hours a day/seven day a week access to travel times, incident or work zone lane closures, weather reports, and connections to transit, airport, or tourism information. The system also features an option for individuals to register and customize trips.

An Investment Opportunity...

The annual Garrett County Fair, a "traditton" that goes back many decades, will open its gates this weekend, which for many of Garrett County's young people is the biggest event of their year. We refer specifically to those youngsters who have spent months and months preparing their various animals for entry into the fair, expending time, sweat, and effort not only in the care of their animals, but also in their own personal preparation on how to properly show them competitively.

Young people who are involved in agriculture typically do not have a lot of extra time to sit around in front of television and computer screens, playing video games and becoming obese because of a lack of physical activity. One cannot put a price on what is gained by children who grow up living on a farm. There are so many basic, but extremely important, life lessons that are learned in the agriculture environment and that essentially do not exist in most other households.

The number of farms, and thus the number of people farming, continues to dwindle every year, as so many in such a challenging line of work are finally forced to throw in the towel and pursue some other means of making a living. The state of the current economy is negatively affecting nearly every business, and given the fact that making ends meet in farming is a never-ending struggle even in the best of times means that the current negative effect is double or triple on those who grow and raise our food.

With these thoughts in mind, it is hoped that many will participate in the annual livestock auction that is the culminating event of the fair each year, scheduled for the evening of Saturday, Aug. 20. Bidding on and purchasing an animal is a great way to support and encourage Garrett County's young farmers, and also to help them expand their own horizons, be that in the form of a college education or in some other positive path that leads them to becoming a productive adult. Because of the aforementioned state of the economy, prices for these animals will likely be a bit lower. But if the bidder thinks in terms of a purchase being an investment in some of our finest young people instead of just the acquisitton of some meat for the freezer, perhaps these kids will fare well in next week's sale.

As an aside, the sale also once again offers the opportunity for local businesses to purchase an animal and then donate it to a worthy non-profit organization which can then use it for any number of fundraising projects. This is another means of making an investment that enhances the quality of life in our community.

To the Editor:

Emptiness and sorrow filled our nation's heart on Sept 11, 2001, a day that will forever be embedded in the minds of Americans. Woodmen of the World members organize annual Honor and Remembrance ceremonies, giving members, families, and friends a chance to grieve over the lives lost that tragic day and to pay respect to the heroes who responded.

Ceremonies are held every year on Sept. 11 and have evolved into a public forum to thank local firefighters, police officers, emergency medical technicians, and members of the military.

Please join Woodmen of the World on Sept. 11 at Friendsville Community Park at 6:30 p.m. in fulfilling our promise to never forget the tragedy and those who perished that day.

Ricky Howsare, an up-and-coming musical star, will perform. Come hear this talented and gifted 17-year-old sing patriotic music and hymns.

To the Editor:

While I have heard many local folks talk about the dangerous pedestrian walkways located near Uno Restaurant and Brenda's Pizzeria, I have not heard any indication from our state regarding whether they will do anything to prevent accidents from occurring there. We all suspected, however, it would only be a matter of time before someone got hurt.

Well, someone has been hurt. After working a late shift at his place of employment, my brother-in-law was walking across the walkway near Uno's last week. He saw a moving vehicle that was far away, and proceeded to cross the street. Noticing that the vehicle was not slowing down, he picked up his speed and was almost across the shoulder line when the car struck him, at an approximate speed of 45 mph.

We are very thankful that the worst he suffered was some awful bruising and scrapes. What happens when a more serious accident occurs? We've all seen the tire marks near these walkways, when drivers who don't know to slow down are suddenly confronted by stopped cars or vulnerable pedestrians in the roadway.

These areas are highly attractive for tourists and locals enjoying recreation at the lake. How difficult or expensive can it be to place two lights at each walkway? Pedestrians can push a button to make the light flash, clearly informing drivers that they need to slow down and give the right-of-way.

All local residents and tourists alike. We need to make some noise and encourage the proper state agencies to take some immediate action, before someone else is seriously injured or killed. We all know how dangerous these walkways are, for both pedestrians and drivers. Let's ensure that we can continue enjoying the local businesses and recreational opportunities available at Deep Creek Lake safely.

Sincerely,
Miriam Sincell Burton

To the Editor:

It is with deep sadness that I have resigned as area director of the Garrett County Special Olympics program because of Special Olympics of Maryland's recent executive decision to make me or the athletes, coaches, and volunteers responsible for the expense of 15-passenger van rentals used to transport athletes to the Dunk, Winter Games, and Summer Games.

Over the last decade, the Garrett County Special Olympics program has struggled with transportation issues and has been in need of a large van. The ability of our volunteers to transport athletes to and from practices, qualifiers, and state games is a weekly challenge which has added much frustration. Some of these issues were alleviated when we began contracting the services of Garrett Transit Service to transport athletes, but challenges remained as athletes' desire to compete outside the county began to rise and SOMD continued to deny our request to purchase a van.

Over the last 14 years that I have worked with the GCSO program as a volunteer, coach, and director, 15-passenger vans have been the method of transportation. About two years ago, area programs were informed that SOMD did not insure 15-passenger vans, and apparently this had been a long-standing rule. This rule created bigger challenges for our program because the only 12-passenger vans were at Enterprise and needed to be picked up and returned during business hours, which was not possible without taking more time off from work.

In order to continue to provide our athletes with opportunities to compete at the state games, I assumed the liability on my insurance, and the 15-passenger van rentals were always paid by SOMD until this year, when SOMD ignored check requests for payment of 15-passenger van rentals. SOMD responded to the request by stating it had never been its policy to pay for 15-passenger van rentals, and any payments made for these rentals in the past must have been an error. That's over a decade of errors!

I stressed concern that failure to pay outstanding bills in our community would not reflect well on the local program. In response, SOMD decided it would pay these bills, then deduct the amount from my stipend. The second option was to divide the cost among the athletes, volunteers, and coaches, issue a letter of misunderstanding, and ask them to reimburse SOMD. I don't believe this was the vision Eunice Shriver had when she created the Special Olympics program.

Matia Vanderbilt,
Former Area Director
Garrett County
Special Olympics

To the Editor:

This past Saturday, in the late hours, Garrett County lost a pillar of the community. Like all men, he had a circle of life, and much of it was a learning experience.

Richard Jordan was not a judge or political figure. He was a retired truck driver, who never completed high school, but went to Vietnam. He received a Purple Heart and a Bronze Star for his service there. He once told me that the worst day of his life was when he got off the plane in Washington, D.C., back from the conflict and was pelted with bottles and garbage, and called a "baby killer." In later years he became very active with the VFW, receiving his "white hat" for his efforts in making Deer Park Post 10077 what it is today.

What many people don't know is that Rich was an entrepreneur. Before he and I met 20 years ago, he helped many people get their "American dream" of home ownership. After we met and started working together, Rich helped over a dozen families get into homes when no one else would help. He did many kind deeds of giving help in may ways to those in need. He never missed a chance to buy a friend a cup of coffee.

We are so blessed in Garrett County to have men like Richard. Another two men that should be mentioned are the late Veryl Weimer and my father. They also gave to those less fortunate in many ways that are unknown to residents of the county. Men like these are truly Garrett County's Most Beautiful People."

Respectfully,
Pastor Sidney Nazelrod

To the Editor:

The McCain family would like to thank the people and businesses of Oakland for the kindness and hospitality we received last Saturday.

In spite of the rainy weather, the 33 family members who ran our "Amazing Race" had a fabulous time. Everyone was so impressed with the town and the residents who offered their help during the race. They were excited to experience many firsts here, including milking a cow, shucking corn, and even having a first milkshake! This will be a family reunion that we will all fondly remember for a long time!

Sincerely,
Joy (McCain) Ridenour

To the Editor:

You have effectively publicized over these past weeks the fine productions that Theatre on the Lake (TOTL) presented of Fiddler on the Roof, The Crucible and Mabel's Story. Our only regret is that you do not have a reviewer to cover these inspired productions.

We attended Fiddler and Mabel's Story. We were greatly impressed by the quality of the acting, the fine musicianship of the cast and supporting instrumentalists, and, most important, the enthusiasm of everyone involved.

We especially admire the hard work of artistic director Lynn Broderick and the dedication of her family and friends to this demanding enterprise. It is noteworthy, for example, that Leah Broderick not only composed and orchestrated the music for Mabel's Story, but also portrayed Mabel compassionately in a performance that clearly touched every member of the audience the night that we attended.

We hope that the producers of TOTL will continue to receive your and the community's support for this valuable addition to life on the lake, and that lake residents and visitors will be encouraged to attend next year's productions. Perhaps you can find members of the community who would be prepared next year to write reviews of TOTL's contribution to enhancing cultural opportunities on the lake.

To the Editor:

As a sign of the times, recent conversations about the lake and its health and future have centered on finances. Currently the public lake is run by our private funds.

The state of Maryland purchased the lake for $17 million, then turned around and sold "buy-down" parcels, netting $13 million. The real state cost is $4 million. There are houses on the lake which cost more than the state spent for all of DCL.

Lake management is paid by private funds – the dock permit fee. Roughly $900,000 is raised annually. The county gets 25% off the top – a transfer payment negotiated when the state bought the lake. These private monies go into the county general fund and are not targeted for watershed planning or improvements.

The DNR lake management office uses about $500,000 for office operations. There is a question about whether a portion of these funds is used outside DCL; e.g., the lake manager now manages all state parks in the county.

The state purchase gave it ownership of the lake bottom and the buffer strip which surrounds the lake. A reasonable expectation was that the state then invest public funds to protect the purchase.

Wrong. Lake property owners pay for improvements on the state-owned buffer strip, including the outrageous MDE fee of $1,500 for difficult shoreline protection areas. Shoreline protection only happens when property owners take the initiative. There is no lake management program to protect shorelines.

Property owners may remove intrusive submerged aquatic vegetation (SAV) by raking around their dock, which is a very difficult job that few undertake. Lake management does not open the SAV-clogged channels for public use, de facto writing off recreational uses for some as early as the first weeks of August.

This crazy financial structure which places the burden of lake management, protection, and restoration on private property owners has been in place since the state bought the lake and well before the economic downturn. The proposals floating around at the state today indicate that the situation is going to get a lot worse.

To the Editor:

I have been in the Maryland DNR Reserve Officer Program since 2003. I read the press release in last week's Republican, "DNR Seeking Reserve Officers for Garrett County," and wanted to respond to the need for more officers in our area.

I have enjoyed serving in western Maryland, where I have worked traffic control assignments for the Walk for Hospice, Art in the Park, the SavageMan Triathlon, and Mount Nebo bear checking, and I have worked at many public-relation events. This is a non-law enforcement, uniformed position to support commissioned DNR police officers.

I have completed over 100 boat safety checks at the Deep Creek Lake State Park boat launch area each year for the past eight years. I have patrolled DCL State Park here and at Rocky Gap State Park with regular DNR officers on foot and on the water.

I also offer the following response of a first-year reserve officer to this need of volunteers:

"In March 2011, I became interested in the Maryland Natural Resources Police volunteer program. I attended several events at which the officers worked, and I decided to join the DNR as a volunteer officer. I am a retired educator, but still work part-time at my local university.

"I went to my first DNR introductory meeting in March. The officers were most informative about all the services provided by the DNR reserve officers. I decided to train in the fields of Hunter Safety Education and the Search and Rescue program. Land navigation, GPS training, and many other skills are required for S&R. It is most rewarding, and I am continuing my training and will be certified for water S&R soon. My services have already been required in several searches and for public-relations events. I have volunteered 175 hours so far this year.

"The Reserve Officer Program has been most rewarding, and I highly recommend it to folks who are interested in giving back to our wonderful outdoor environment here in Maryland."

To the Editor:

One doesn't need have brain surgery to see what is happening to this country. The debt ceiling fight had nothing to do with fiscal responsibility or good governance. It has to do with a few representatives getting their way no matter what happens to the country.

Here's a quote from Tea Party leader Michele Bachman during the debt debate: "It isn't true that the government would default on its debt because, very simply, the treasury secretary can pay the interest on the debt first and then, from there, we have to just prioritize our spending... It is scare tactics..."

Here's her quote after the debt debate and credit downgrade: "It happened on your watch, Mr. President," drawing applause at an afternoon rally.

It has continually been my opinion the Republican Party has been hijacked by the Tea Party – acting as agents for the Koch brothers and their friends.

Now some information on the Koch brothers and their 400 friends. Their combined wealth is $1,270,000,000,000. (That's what a trillion looks like.) They are not all equal in wealth, but if you divide $1,270,000,000,000 by 400 this equals $3,175,000,000 wealth per person. (That's more than $3 billion each.)

By contrast, the bottom one-half of the U.S. population equals 155,974,957 people, and their combined wealth is $1,200,000,000,000. Again, they are not all equal, but if you divide $1,200,000,000,000 by 155,974,957, this averages $7,822 each.

To look at this at a local level, multiply the total population of Garrett County (30,096) times the per capita income of $24,068. That equals $724,350,528. This means all the men, women, and children of Garrett County would have to work four years to earn the wealth of one person on the list of 400.

I think we need to empathize with this persecuted group of 400, and we can surely understand the Tea Party demands not to raise their taxes. (After all, a billion really doesn't go as far as it used to.) And how dare their taxes be raised! Who would create the jobs? Makes sense to me!

My favorite Tea Party sign – "Get a brain, you Morons."

This is the group that went to Washington "and took our country back."

To the Editor:

As a lifelong Democrat, I was pleased with the deal President Obama signed to ensure our country did not default on its debt for the first time in history. President Obama stayed true to his principles and fought for what we believe in as Democrats.

I think it's important for Democrats to take heart that President Obama held strong on protecting Medicare and Social Security. And he has set the path for a balanced approach where everyone pays his/her fair share. As the president has reiterated many times, we cannot balance the budget solely on the backs of seniors and middle-class families. It's time for oil and gas companies, hedge fund managers, and private-jet owners to pay their fair share.

To the Editor:

To Barry Krewson on the subject of homosexuality, I found these verses for you:

Leviticus 18:22 – "Do not lie with a man as one lies with a woman. That is detestable."

Romans 1:24-27 – "Therefore (read preceding verses 18 to 23), God gave them over in the sinful desires of their heart to sexual impurity for the degrading of their bodies with one another. They exchanged the truth of God for a lie, and worshipped and served created things rather than the Creator, who is forever praised. Amen.

"Because of this, God gave them over to shameful lusts. Even their women exchanged natural relations for unnatural ones. In the same way the men also abandoned natural relations with women and were inflamed with lust for one another. Men committed indecent acts with other men, and received in themselves the due penalty for their perversion."

1 Corinthians 6:9-11 – "Do you not know that the wicked will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived. Neither the sexually immoral nor idolaters nor homosexual offenders nor thieves nor the greedy nor drunkards nor slanderers nor swindlers will inherit the kingdom of God."

These verses come from the NIV Bible.

To the Editor:

The retired carpenter misquotes the Bible.

Barry has some of the wording close; however, to respond to all of Barry's misquotes of the Bible would take much more space than our editor would allow.

Perhaps a Bible study would be the best place to find what the Bible says.

It is so sad that 1,000 Christians do not respond to his letter, because therein lies the problem of the deterioration of our once great country's moral standards. As Edmund Burke said, "The only thing for evil to prevail is for good men to say nothing."

Let's take one misquote: He says in Mark 12:18-27 "if a man dies childless, his widow is ordered by biblical law to have..."

Barry says Jesus said that. Incorrect. The Sadducees (who did not believe in the resurrection) said it. They came to Jesus and asked him some questions, and he responded, "Are you not therefore mistaken, because you do not know the Scriptures nor the power of God?"

It is so easy to either mindfully, or mistakenly, twist the words spoken by anyone, but the time comes when each man, individually, will stand before Jesus in judgment. As so stated in Revelation 21:8, "But the cowardly, unbelieving, abominable, murderers, sexually immoral, sorcerers, idolaters, and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burns with fire and brimstone, which is the second death."

There is so much more truth to read in the Bible. Christians and others, read God's Word. Therein you will find the truth!

To the Editor:

After reading Mr. Krewson's letter last week, I am moved to write. I do so with some reservation because anytime anyone moves to rebuke error, the writer should be doubly sure he or she is on par. Nonetheless, I will try.

As a student of the Scriptures for many years, I would caution Mr. Krewson to not "pick and choose" verses. Many folks do this and many denominations do this, and do so at their peril.

I study Scripture because it is the one document that is eternal. Jesus so stated.

I concur that Jesus never spoke about or against same-sex behavior. I hardly think that is an endorsement of same.

Actually, the Scriptures, in the 66 books of both testaments, are silent on a number of matters concerning human sexual behavior. But on same-sex behavior they are not.

Mr. Krewson cites Leviticus 18, but only one verse. I suggest he read the whole chapter and see that verse 22 speaks specifically to the issue at hand. The chapter ends with the warning of the outcomes. And there are other chapters and verses as well.

Jesus, in His short time here on Earth, was here on a mission, and from my readings of the Synoptic Gospels, as well as the Gospel of John, the one issue that seemed to pique his ire was hypocrisy. I confess that I, too, have been guilty of that from time to time.

But I can tell you that God loves you, Mr. Krewson, as He loves everyone. He simply hates sin. God loves us so much, in fact, that He sent Jesus to pay the price for our sins. Our salvation is by simple faith in Him alone. The apostle Paul tells us this in the second chapter of Ephesians. We, too, are called to love and serve and worship God, love and serve our fellow men and women, and simply hate sin and its effects on a dying world.

By the way, Moses, the law-giver, was indeed a prophet if you take what it says in Hebrew as the definition of a prophet: "a truth bearer." Judgment, in the end, is reserved unto God alone. However, we can inspect the "fruit" and call it for what it is: good or bad.

Charles E. Pariseau

To the Editor:

In response to my letter of 7/28, Mr. Krewson did what the left always does when taking up an indefensible position. They resort to name calling, because they have no moral compass upon which to base their position.

I did not mean to insinuate that LGBT lifestyles are worse than other deviations of lust and immorality, but it is more unnatural. Please read Romans 1:21-32, and especially verses 26 and 27. Or you may want to read the account of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah in Genesis 19. Hmm... I wonder why these scriptures weren't among those referenced by Mr. Krewson.

In regard to the quote from Mark 12:18-27, I would hope next time Mr. Krewson would give us a bit of context. Jesus was being asked by the Sadducees about an Old Testament law. To present it as New Testament teaching is disingenuous, to say the least.

Things changed in many ways from the Old Dispensation to the New, and many of the laws in the Old seem curious and sometimes hard for us to understand. But God's attitude toward sin has not changed. Only his way of dealing with it has. Instead of pronouncing instant judgement, He has given His son Jesus to die in our stead, so that by accepting this work

Don't miss the history chapters on the sorrowful treatment of the Native Americans, the fight for and against slavery, and the dehumanizing of both blacks and whites during "Reconstruction" of the South after the Civil War. Be sure to read about the "institutionalized racism" in the states during "Jim Crow" days.

I don't understand a fearsome, competitive God. I believe in a Christian God of compassion and love who cares about our nation. Surely such a God seeks our loving hearts and hands to help.

of redemption we can be free and forgiven.

Mention was made of God's LGBT children. Yes, we are all God's children, for He made us in His image. But as in any natural family, there are actions which we sometimes take which have consequences, and as our Heavenly Father, He knows what is best for us.

The Christian church is by its very definition and calling an exclusive community. It is not perfect, for it is made up of imperfect people, and imperfect people make mistakes. There is no room for hatred, or racism, or hypocrisy, but does it sometimes exist? Of course it does. It dare not discriminate on the basis of race, ethnicity, or origin. But it is called to and has every right to discriminate on the basis of lifestyles and behaviors which are incompatible with the Gospel. But this must all take place with a spirit of compassion. Otherwise, it is no longer a church, but merely a community organization.

One way – Jesus Christ!

To the Editor:

Another great letter from Krewson. Thanks. Lack of broad and true knowledge of United States history is another problem we have in this country.

I'm glad Joan Sussman's provocative letters often focus there. She's right; powerful land-owning white men wrote our constitution. Many of them were slave owners and defended it. It is also true that many coming to this country came as a result of oppression, but not all. Most early settlers were white. Maryland was founded by Roman Catholics escaping religious persecution in England, which is why it is called the "Free State." But, before long, religious intolerance grew here, one's right to vote dependent on religious affiliation. Sadly, our society has had a long history of oppression of others.

Wagon trains of white settlers moved west, taking over the land, with brutal oppression of Native Americans. Railroads were built by mistreated Chinese laborers whose bodies and bones were thrown into the railroad beds. Irish, Italians, and others dug coal to run the steam engines, suffering brutal oppression. Every wave of newcomers was vulnerable to mistreatment of every kind – horrid, demeaning words, poverty wages, tenement and worse housing, etc. They all built what we benefit from. And, so did the slaves, who were not seeking to come to this land of shameful oppression for them – no wages, stripped of their culture, treated like animals, no dignity.

Wake up, folks. Read some history. Look around you. Religious intolerance, racism and lifestyle intolerance, women as second-class citizens – all still with us. We're still the best, but we can do better. We have to do better. Our times are dangerous and serious. Recent reports about our own American security show that domestic terrorism is a much greater threat to our happiness and safety than the foreign brands. Sad but true.

Thank You

ARLIE R. ROUNDS SR.

Nov. 7, 1926 – July 21, 2011

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of our dad. Thank you for the cards, flowers, food, and prayers. Also, thank you to those who made donations in Dad's memory to the Mt. Beulah Restoration Association or Hospice of Garrett County.

A special thanks to Brent Siegrist, former pastor of Glade Mennonite Church, for the visits to Dad at the hospital and at home. You were a blessing to him and to the family. Many thanks to those from Hospice of Garrett County, who gave care to Dad, which allowed him to be at home with us. This was our first experience with hospice. What an excellent program! Also, thanks to the staff of Newman's Funeral Home for services rendered true professionalism. A big thank-you to Jonathan Martin for the heartfelt and inspirational service. No one could have done justice to Dad any better than you did. We also thank Roger and Susie Rounds for the vocal selections. Music certainly does soothe the soul. Thank you to the Grantsville American Legion, Post 214, for the graveside services. May we all be ever mindful of our veterans, living or dead. Thanks goes out to Johnny Goehringer for catering the meal after the service and the Bittinger Fire Department for allowing us to use its facility.

Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ. Philippians 1:2

Old Rowlesburg Railroad Tower At M&K Junction Reduced To Rubble

The last remaining active tower on the CSX Railroad's Mountain Subdivision came down in a cloud of dust at the old M&K Junction in Rowlesburg on July 27. The railroad has finished its multi-year upgrade of the rail line from Cumberland to Clarksburg, and the Rowlesburg Tower's demise has been eminent for some time.

The cut-in of the new system was completed on December 8, 2010, according to CSX officials, and the tower had been standing empty since then. Murphy Construction Inc. of Whitehouse, Ohio, razed the brick tower in one day. The owner of the company, Phil Boyer, grew up in Crellin, just outside Oakland.

M&K Junction originated in 1907 when the Morgantown and Kingwood Railroad established a connection with the B&O's main line near the confluence of Salt Lick Creek and the Cheat River. As part of the West End's conversion to mallet steam locomotives, M&K Junction became an important location on the St. Louis main line.

A new helper facility opened in 1913, replacing a previous helper base on the west side of the river at Rowlesburg. The 1913 locomotive repair shop remains standing. It was upgraded to service diesels in the late 1940s and then closed in 1956. Today the track crew uses the building

A large wooden tower was originally constructed at the M&K Junction to control its complex interlocking system. The tower required three or more men to work the 68 Armstrong switch levers inside. When this tower was opened in 1913, the original call letters were "MJ," but with the closing of R Tower across the Cheat River in Rowlesburg, the letter was transferred. R Tower remained "R" until 1954 when the more modernized brick tower was constructed and gained the call letters "MK." This designation lasted until the CSX Central Dispatching era began in the late 1980s with headquarters in Jacksonville, Fla. CSX then renamed the tower Rowlesburg.

The M&K Junction at Rowlesburg has long been a favorite place to visit by rail fans.

"When the yard was bustling and steam locomotives pushed coal and freight in both directions, the tower was the brain center for controlling the trains, helpers, switch engines, and work train," said resident Tim Weaver. "The callers dispatched the crews. The operators controlled the switches. All of that has been completely centralized as of the closing of "R" Tower in December. In its hey day, the Rowlesburg Tower controlled everything that moved between McMillian and Blazer. The switches of the old M&K now are controlled in Florida."

Paul Felton of Rowlesburg, a retired railroad operator, well remembers the old wooden tower that was replaced with the just-demolished brick tower. He confirmed that the old tower had 68 levers, which were connected to switches by a complex series of moving pipes that the levermen controlled from the tower. Each switch was opened and closed by hand from inside the tower. Each shift at the tower required four people a leverman, hill supervisor, operator, and caller who dispatched crews.

"It was a beehive of activity," Felton said.

The last leverman was Web Phillips, Felton recalls. He mentioned several other operators he had worked with over the years. Bill Welch, Donnie Welch, P.S. Hardesty, Pete Johnson, George Kirk, Bill Durr, Monroe Mayer, and Chippy Zinn. Don Shields of Rowlesburg retired only a few years ago.

Felton started his own railroading career in 1947 at the long-closed Rodemer Tower. He said in those days he had to go out outside and "line up" the switch by hand, no matter the weather.

When the brick tower opened in 1954, Felton said the B&O was so anxious to launch the newly electrified switching system that the operator and other tower personnel had to put down newspapers to walk over the tile cement that was oozing up around the tiles

Felton pointed out that the brick tower was built on the old grocery warehouse foundation at the M&K. The railroad purchased from private owners the land where the yard, shops, and tower were built in 1913. The grocery warehouse served merchants in Rowlesburg and surrounding areas, receiving bulk wholesale goods by rail, Felton reminisced, as he stood in front of the place where the brick tower stood just days ago.

The tower's switch panel may be seen on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Rowlesburg Depot Museum, operated by the Rowlesburg Area Historical Society. Curator Lucille Grimm may be reached at 304-454-9218 to arrange for visits by appointment

"RUN FOR IT" SUPPORT – The Tucker County Foundation, which sponsors scholarships and programs that benefit communities; charitable organizations, and individuals throughout north-central West Virginia and Garrett County, received a donation from Sincell Publishing Company/The Republican newspaper recently in support of the foundation's event called Run For It. The annual 2-kilometer/5-kilometer run/walk, slated for Saturday, Sept. 24, in Davis, is part of the foundation's Run For it challenge-grant program. Sponsor donations, half of the $10 entry fee, and various race-day grant awards can be won by participating teams. Grants exceeding $33,000 are awarded at the conclusion of the race to the first to finish the 2K walk, fastest finisher in the 5K, and those demonstrating "best effort" to raise awareness and support for their cause. The event is held in conjunction with the annual Leaf Peepers Festival, which also features food, live music, and craft vendors. More information on the Run For It program can be found online at www.tuckerfoundation.net. AURORA/EGLON

REUNIONS

The 102nd annual reunion of the Harsh family will take place on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Farmer's Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run. Descendants include those of Stephen and Maria (Porter) Harsh. Those attending are asked to bring a dish to share for the 1 p.m. meal. Entertainment will be provided by Chet Roth and Friends. Anyone with photos, stories, or memories to share are encouraged to do so. For more information, persons may call 304-735-6551 or 304-864-6356.

The descendants of William and Ethel Mullenax will meet for their annual reunion on Sunday, Aug. 14, at the Mt. Grove pavilion. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish to be shared at the 12:30 p.m. meal, as well as an item to be auctioned. Friends of the family are welcome as well.

The annual reunion of the Gnegy family will be held at the home of Dale and Mary June Gnegy, Gnegy Church Road, on Sunday, Aug. 28, at 1 p.m. A covered dish meal will be shared.

The Knotts family reunion will be held on Sunday, Aug. 14, at the Lantz Ridge Community Building beginning at 1 p.m. Friends and family are invited.

The Bachtel family will meet on Sunday, Aug. 21, at the Farmer's Wildlife Park for its annual reunion. The covered dish dinner will begin at 1 p.m., with meat and tableware provided.

CHET ROTH AND FRIEND

The last scheduled summer Saturdays with Chet Roth and Friends will be held on Aug. 13 at the Mt. Grove pavilion beginning at 10 a.m. Those attending are reminded to bring a comfortable chair and a covered dish to share.

RECYCLING SATURDAY

Recycling Saturday is set for this week, Aug. 13, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Aurora Elementary School. Magazines, newspapers, bottles and other plastics marked with a #1 or #2, steel and aluminum cans, and cardboard are all accepted.

BLOOD DRIVES

Several bloodmobiles are scheduled for this month. One will be held at Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Friday, Aug. 19, from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Another is set for Thursday, Aug. 25, at the Union Ambulance squad hall from 1 to 7 p.m. Type O blood seems to be the one most needed.

CLOTHING GIVEAWAY

Maple Spring Church of the Brethren will hold its third annual clothing giveaway on Saturday, Aug 20, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church. Free clothes and shoes will be offered as well as hot dogs, cookies, popsicles, and beverages. Cake walks, games, and face painting will also be held. Puppets will be there from 10 a.m. to noon. There will be drawings for gift certificates from Melanie's, Donna Jean's Restaurant, Deerwood, Intersection, Bruceton Farms, and Avon. The church is located on Rt. 24 south of Eglon.

PERSONAL

Phra Paugh, Eglon, is now recuperating at home from knee replacement and heart surgeries. His son and daughter-in-law, Phra Jr. "Chip" and Vicky, have been at their home in Eglon for a short rest between missionary trips for the Beacon of Truth Baptist Ministries.

Arthur and Janice Forman, Amboy, recently visited their daughter and family, Lora and Michael Shed and their twins Alexis and Alayna, in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Jerry Hauser has returned to his Cash Valley home after being hospitalized for a stomach ulcer.

The Joe Stemple family, Aurora, recently visited Ocean City, Md., for a summer vacation.

Bachtel Reunion Set For Sunday At Horse Shoe

The 29th annual Bachtel reunion will be held this Sunday, Aug. 14, at Farmer's Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va. A covered-dish meal will begin at 1 p.m

All descendants of Christian and Sarah Winters Bachtle and Elijah and Marian Hauser Bachtel families are welcome.

Elijah and Marion Bachtel were the parents of 10 children: Ada (husband William C. Martin), Harry, Grace (William Zitzelberger), Anna (Carl Martin), Mark, Mabel (Orin E. Vick), John, Paul, Carl, and Lester

The Bachtel family was established in Preston County and Garrett County, Md., more than 150 years ago by Christian Bachtle, an immigrant from Wurtemberg, Germany

"All first cousins, and second and third generations are invited to come out and enjoy the day," said a reunion spokesperson.

After the picnic-style luncheon, prizes will be awarded, games played, and historical update on the family information will be shared. Time will also be set aside for family and group pictures and introduction of family members in attendance. Recognition will be given to the family that has the most members present. ◆

Members of the Carl Bachtel family are in charge of this year's reunion. For additional information or questions, persons may contact Ann Serafin at 304-457-2415 or Grace DePollo at 304-636-4742.

Championship Bike Races Set In Rowlesburg

The Appalachian Bicycle Racing Association (ABRA) of Morgantown will sponsor the West Virginia State Championship bicycle race on Saturday, Aug. 20, in Rowlesburg, which will also be the site of an Appalachian Road Race Series time trial race on Sept. 10.

This 59-mile course, which starts and finishes alongside the Cheat River in Rowlesburg, will feature ridge-top views, back-country roads, big climbs, and gear-pounding flats, according to organizers.

Tanis Goff of Rowlesburg will be back to defend his Juniors State Championship title.

Spectators and families are welcome. The Szilagyi Center in downtown Rowlesburg will be open with its River City Café, grand WWII Museum, and antique bridge exhibits The center also now hosts an artist studio, emporium, and the newly opened Preston County Sports Museum. Rowlesburg Park will be open, where food and beverages will be available.

Bikers can pre-register for the races via Bikereg.com for $25. The race day registration fee will be $35, and registration will open at 9 a.m. in Rowlesburg Park. A USAC annual license is required for all riders except Men's Cat-5 and Woman's Cat-4. An annual license can be purchased on the day of the race. One-day licenses can be purchased at the event (by Cat-5 Men and Cat-4 Woman) for $10. Online registration will close Thursday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m.

Cash awards will be presented for the winners in various categories. Junior winners will receive medals.

The Arts

BUFFALO IN THE CASTLE TO PERFORM AT FSU FEST – Ireland-based Buffalo In the Castle will be featured at this year's Appalachian Festival held at Frostburg State University. The band will perform on Saturday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m. at the historic Palace Theatre, Frostburg. The concert will top off a full day of regional music, workshops, and activities featured as part of the annual festival. The group comprises (from left) clawhammer banjo player Lena Ullman, button accordion master Mairtin O'Connor, Frank Hall, a fiddler and clogger, and Desi Wilkinson on the Irish flute.

FSU Appalachian Festival To Feature Buffalo In The Castle

Frostburg State University's Appalachian Festival will explore the close connections of Irish traditional music and American old-time music with this year's capstone concert featuring the Ireland-based Buffalo in the Castle on Saturday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m. at the historic Palace Theatre in downtown Frostburg.

The concert will top off a full day of regional music, workshops, and activities featured as part of the annual FSU Appalachian Festival. The event celebrates the traditional artistry, history, culture, and environment of Mountain Maryland and the surrounding Appalachian region.

"Having released its self-titled CD in 2009, the band's configuration is new, but its members are all greatly respected musicians with a long history in their fields," said a spokesperson.

The group comprises button accordion master Mairtin O'Connor and Desi Wilkinson, Irish flute, Frank Hall, a fiddler and clogger, and clawhammer banjo player Lena Ullman.

O'Connor began playing the accordion at the age of 9, and during his career has been a member of many traditional music groups, including Midnight Well, De Dannan, the Boys of the Lough, and Skylark. He has also been a session musician for national and international musicians such as Rod Stewart, Elvis Costello, Mark Knopfler, Tanita Tikaram, Townes Van Zandt, the Chieftains, the Dubliners, Davy Spillane, Maire Brennan, and the Waterboys. O'Connor became the first recipient of the Allied Irish Banks, Traditional Musician of the Year, in 1995.

Wilkinson, a singer as well as flute player, has recorded four albums with Cran, his primary musical group, and two solo albums as well. Originally from Belfast, Wilkinson has worked and toured with most of the best-known musicians and groups on the traditional Irish music scene, such as De Dannan, Donal Lunny, Liam O'Flynn, Andy Irvine, and O'Connor. He has toured the U.S. as a guest star with De Dannan and has arranged and performed music for the theatre.

Hall learned to play old-time fiddle for square dancing in his home town of Bloomington, Ind. Branching out into performing bands, he has played with the Indiana Raincrows, Easy

Watercolor Class To Be Taught By Robert Yonke

The Garrett County Arts Council is now accepting reservations for a watercolor workshop to be held Tuesday through Thursday, Sept. 13 to 15. The Watercolor on Canvas and Gessoed Surfaces class will take place at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland each day from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Local painter Robert Yonke will instruct the class, which is geared toward painters with experience.

During the class, students will go from concept to subject to painting, and discussing the steps along the way. Also addressed will be what makes a successful painting and melding realism with abstraction.

"The method of how to loosen up and shake the chains of timidity will be covered," a spokesperson said.

Painting watercolor on canvas produces effects different from paper and encourages a loose, spontaneous style. Hanging is simplified as glass is not needed to protect the surface of the final image.

Yonke works out of his two home studios, one in Pittsburgh, Pa., and the other in Garrett County. His watercolors reflect his love of music, the mountains, and the outdoors, the spokesperson said. He is a member of the Participating Artists of the Turkeyfoot Highlands, the Pittsburgh Watercolor Society, and the Garrett County Arts Council. His work can be viewed at http://appalachianstudio.com.

Perspective students may register by stopping by the Arts Council office at 206 E. Alder Street, Oakland or by calling 301-334-6580. Class size is limited. The fee for the three-day session is $75. Materials are required. The registration deadline is Aug. 30.

The Garrett County Arts Council is supported in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council. Persons may visit www.garrettarts.com for more information.

Lais Pottery On Exhibit At Gallery Shop

The Garrett County Arts Council has announced the opening of the latest special exhibit at the Gallery Shop in Oakland. The pottery of local artist Lynn Lais is currently on display in his first one-man exhibit.

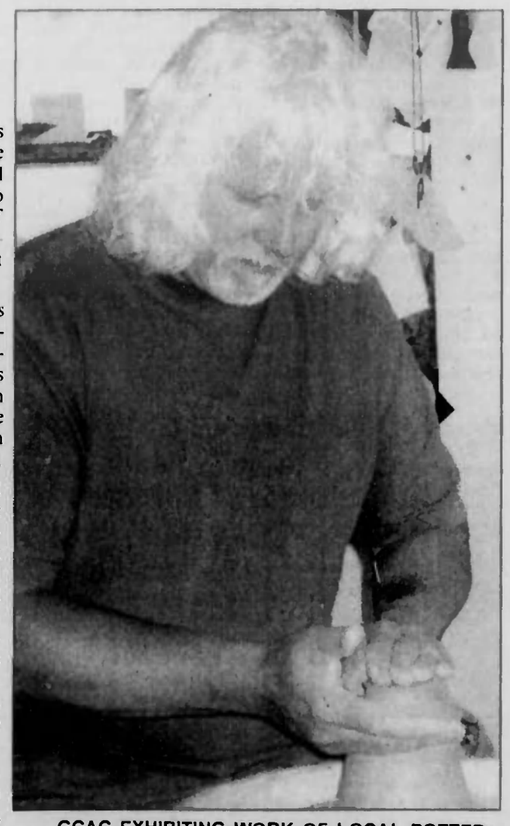
For the last 29 years, Lais has been an artist-in-residence at Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville. His full-time studio is located in one of the cabins at the village where visitors may watch him at work at his potter's wheel.

After college, Lais studied for three years with ceramic artists in Belgium and Switzerland. Much of his work is embellished with special brush techniques influenced by the cultures of northern Europe and Japan, he explained. While he produces functional and utilitarian pieces on a regular basis, this exhibit showcases his extreme attention to detail and design.

Lais is married with two children. He is a soccer coach in northern Garrett County, and currently serves as the treasurer of Spruce Forest.

The pottery will be on display and for sale at the Gallery Shop, 206 E. Alder Street, now through Sept. 16 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. For more information, persons may visit www.garrettarts.com or call 301-334-6580.

The Garrett County Arts Council is supported by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, which is an agency of the Department of Business and Economic Development. MSAC provides financial support and technical assistance to non-profit organizations, colleges and universities for arts activities.



GCAC EXHIBITING WORK OF LOCAL POTTER – The Garrett County Arts Council will host the first one-man show for local potter Lynn Lais, shown here at his potter's wheel. A sample of his work is also pictured. Lais has been a featured artist at the Spruce Forest Artisan Village for 29 years, and serves as the treasurer for that organization. He is also a coach at Northern High School. See story.

Children's Play Auditions Set At Our Town

The first play for this season at Our Town Theatre will be a children's play, written by Jane Avery, and titled Stuff.

"The play examines the ideas of wants and needs and concerns the idea that many of us have too much 'stuff,'" Avery said.

In order to explain what the play is about so that the potential actors can choose the part(s) for which they wish to audition, there will be a play-reading of Stuff on Monday, Aug. 15, at the theatre from 7 to 9 p.m.

Auditions will be held on Saturday, Aug. 20, from 9 a.m. until noon, and Sunday, Aug. 21, from 1 to 3 p.m. Some auditions may also be arranged by appointment.

The play is to be staged on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 and 2. Avery expects to cast children from ages 5 to 14 who have the time to commit to the production and performance.

"If there's a huge number of auditioners, I will try to double-cast the production to give more kids a chance to have bigger roles," Avery said.

Rehearsals will be held after school or in the early evening, depending on the schedules of the cast.

"There are numerous parts for children who do not want to have speaking parts, or who can't read or memorize lines," Avery said.

Questions about the play reading or auditions should be addressed to Avery at 301-334-5640, ext. 3.

Highland Arts Unlimited To Launch Season

Highland Arts Unlimited will open its 2011-12 season with an outdoor concert by the Potomac Concert Band of Cumberland on Wednesday, Aug. 17, 6:30 p.m. on the plaza at the Church-McKee Arts Center in Keyser. This is a free concert. Audience members are encouraged to bring chairs.

If the weather is inclement, the concert will be held in the Church-McKee auditorium.

The Potomac Concert Band, directed by D. Lynn Zeller, involves about 55 players who come from 14 different communities in Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. The director estimates that well over 1,000 miles are traveled when the musicians come to a rehearsal or a concert. The band rehearses weekly beginning in May each spring, and plays 12 to 14 concerts per year at Constitution Park, downtown Cumberland, nursing homes, and other venues.

"This continues a cultural tradition of community wind bands in the area dating back more than a century," a spokesperson said.

The styles of music played include marches, show tunes, patriotic music, jazz and rock and pop. The Keyser concert will feature an original march by Dr. Charles Whitehill and a trumpet solo by Jon Bush.

"The mission of the Potomac Concert Band is to provide quality challenging musical experiences for its members and to educate and entertain family audiences in the tri-state area of western Maryland," the spokesperson said. "We hope that residents will come out and help sustain this important kind of community musical celebration."

Those who wish to join Highland Arts on the night of this concert will receive a 10% discount.

For additional information about this concert or Highland Arts Unlimited Inc., persons may call 304-788-3066.

Daleen Berry To Conduct Reading And Book Signing

Award-winning journalist Daleen Berry, who was the winner of the Appalachian Theme catetory in the West Virginia Writers' Competition, will be reading from her inspirational memoir Sister of Silence this Friday, Aug. 12, at 7 p.m. at the Preston Community Arts Center, 123 S. Price Street, Kingwood, W.Va.

"Berry, who grew up in Independence in Preston County, captures her personal journey from pain and bewilderment as a victim of acquaintance rape and spousal abuse to resilience and peace as the incredible woman she has become," stated one critic.

Now a resident of Morgantown, Berry will hold a book signing session following the reading.

MPA Presenting "We the People" For Next Concert

Music at Penn Alps will present David Malmberg, a ventriloquist, guitarist, singer/songwriter and composer, on Saturday, Aug. 13, at the Great Hall in Grantsville.

He will present a "broad palette" of American music, including songs about young love ("Shenandoah"), early American hymns ("Simple Gifts"), circuit riders ("Reverend Mr. Black"), the Civil War ("Follow the Drinking Gourd"), riverboat travel (Mark Twain), and contemporary offerings such as Bob Dylan's "Don't Think Twice" and "Mr. Bojangles."

"Though much of the music could be defined as folk, Malmberg uses his unique musical experience to make the program rich, intricate and historical," a spokesperson said.

"My primary intention is to remember our rich American heritage through song, story, and humor," Malmberg said.

Accompanying the featured performer will be bassist Ian Allison, who holds a bachelor of arts degree from Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn., and currently heads up the bass department at North Central University in Minneapolis, Minn.

After the concert, all are invited for refreshments and an opportunity to meet the artists. Ticket prices are $12 for adults. Students and children under 19 years of age are admitted free of charge. As seating is limited, it is recommended that guests arrive no later than 7:20 p.m.

Music at Penn Alps is supported in part by grants from the Naylor Family Trust, administered by the Community Trust Foundation of Western Maryland. This performance is being sponsored by R.H. Lapp, Mechanical Contractors.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Accident has become the newest home of a branch of First Peoples Community Federal Credit Union at 106 North Main Street, under the direction of branch manager Codi Powell and assistant manager Stephanie Beitzel.

The branch began operations on Monday and is open on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, except holidays, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. A grand opening celebration is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 23.

"I'm just excited," Powell said about new office. "I'm looking forward to getting to know the [Credit Union] members from Accident and becoming involved in the community."

She was promoted to the position of branch manager for Accident after working with the credit union for 4½ years. A native of the Georges' Creek area of Allegany County and a 2003 graduate of Westmar High School, Powell began her career with

STEPHANIE BEITZEL

First Peoples at the Lonaconing branch before transferring to the Grantsville location.

Powell said the favorite part of her job over the past four years with First Peoples was forming the personal relationships with the members who would visit the branches where she worked.

"I really did get to know people in town just because they would come into the branch on a regular basis," she said. "It was great to be able to talk to them about what was new with them and what was going on in town. That's what's so great about working with a company like First Peoples, we're very in tune with the communities we serve, and at both the Coney branch and the Grantsville branch I felt like I really belonged there."

She noted that the move to the Accident branch enables her, Beitzel, and their staff to meet a lot of new people and learn about a new town.

Beitzel is a Garrett County native and a graduate of Northern Garrett High School. The assistant manager said she has developed strong ties to Garrett County and is looking forward to taking advantage of her new position to become even more involved in the local community.

"I like helping people achieve their goals, whether it's a new car, a great vacation or a mortgage to help build their dream home," Beitzel said. "I'm looking forward to working with members to help make their dreams come true."

Recently employed by First Peoples to join the new branch, Beitzel said she is anxious to get the new branch open and begin working after an extensive – and intensive – period of training.

Both Beitzel and Powell rotated among the credit union branches as they prepared to open the new location. They agree that an Accident location will be advantageous for both the credit union as well as the residents of the town.

"As the only financial institution in Accident, it will be convenient for the people of Accident to do their banking right on Main Street," Powell said. "It's going to be great. We are anxiously anticipating serving the community and their financial needs."

The Accident location is the 10th branch of the credit union, adding a second Garrett County location to a list that includes Grantsville, Cumberland, LaVale, Frostburg, Cresaptown, and Lonaconing, as well as Short Gap and Keyser in Mineral County, W.Va., and Meyersdale in Somerset County, Pa.

First Peoples Community Federal Credit Union is a member-owned financial cooperative. Membership is available to businesses and individuals who live, work, attend school, worship, or participate in associations or volunteer services in Garrett and Allegany counties in Maryland, Mineral County in West Virginia and Somerset County in Pennsylvania and their immediate family members.

First Peoples offers a complete line of banking and financial services including savings, checking, club accounts, commercial accounts, business loans, payroll direct deposit, mortgage lending, IRAs, savings certificates, debit, and credit cards, wealth management services, online banking, online bill-pay, and online statements, among other services.

LOOKING FOR HOMES this week at the Garrett County Animal Shelter are a Jack Russell mix (above left) who was picked up in Mtn. Lake Park; Bearlness (above right), a 6-month-old sweet, happy beagle mix who was given up by her owner; a small male white longhaired mixed breed canine (below left) who was left at the shelter overnight; and a white/tabby female cat who was picked up in McHenry as a stray. "She is already declawed, so she must belong to someone," said a GC Humane Society spokesperson. "Do you know her owner?" Also housed at the shelter is Bo Bo, a nice male cat, who has already been "vetted," but needs a home because his owner had to move to a nursing home. "These and many other dogs and cats are available," the spokesperson said. "Last week's beagle was adopted, and HART took nine dogs to rescue, making much needed room. Now more dogs have been brought in, so if you are looking for a new pet, please adopt from a shelter or rescue. In addition, if you are missing a pet, please contact the shelter, put a lost pet announcement on the radio, and post posters in your area. Most importantly, put ID tags on your pets." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the county-operated facility is open Monday through Friday. Street Stringband, Rhythm in Shoes, and the Monks. He has recorded five albums, including one with Moonshine, based in Ireland. His career has included American forms of step-dancing and square dance calling, as well as an academic study of competitive Irish dancing.

Ullman was introduced to the five-string banjo and American old-time music as a teenager in Sweden. Living in Ireland since the late '70s, she played clawhammer style with the Higglers, an old-time stringband that performed throughout Ireland and Europe. Later she applied the clawhammer banjo style to traditional Irish music and began to compose original music on the instrument. She now sings and plays in Moonshine, with Johnny Moynihan and Hall, and is producing a CD of her original music.

"Though several American groups have recently examined connections between bluegrass and Irish music, the efforts of Buffalo in the Castle stand unique," said the spokesperson. "Not only do they provide a well nuanced investigation of old-time music rather than bluegrass, but many tunes and styles their music is steeped in have origins in Northern Ireland."

A 2009 review in the Irish Times described Buffalo in the Castle's music as infectious. "It's an Aladdin's cave of mischievousness that propels it skyward, from the opening trio of tunes melding Antrim and Sliabh Luachra with the fiddle music of Kentucky."

While the band's focus is largely instrumental, they add to their performance several songs that combine and alternate between vocals and instrumentals.

THE MINDSET LISTS OF AMERICAN HISTORY

by Tom McBride and Ron Nief

C. 2011, John Wiley & Sons, $19.95; 261 Pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Last week, something happened that hasn't happened in you-don't-know-how-long ago.

You got a letter. Hand-written on paper. Brought to your house in an envelope with a stamp. And it wasn't asking for money, giving you doctor's results, or telling you that garbage pick-up day got changed. It was from someone who was "thinking of you."

These days, a letter in the mail is something so rare that it makes you really notice. But in your mother's day, sending letters was common and easier than making a phone call. In the new book The Mindset Lists of American History by Tom McBride and Ron Nief, you'll read about those and other generational markers.

Sometimes, when you look at the state of the world today, you almost wish for a vacation back in time. But be careful what you ask for...

As an 18-year-old in 1898, Great-Great-Grandma had already seen many of her peers leave school before puberty. The lucky few who attended college became doctors, perhaps, in order to cure deadly diseases not yet identified, but overall, higher education was unlikely.

Instead, people went to work. Unmarried women might find office employment, and the new QWERTY typewriter. They could type, but they couldn't vote.

Fast forward.

Great-Grandpa, born in 1900, might have skipped high school to work 12-hour days, seven days a week in a factory. After four days, he'd have enough to buy a few groceries, but times were improving. Politicians had long been lobbying for national health care, and automobiles were becoming a means of real transportation rather than just a hobby.

Fast forward.

By the time Dad was born in 1939, he could count on zippers to keep his coat on and radio drama to make his heart pound. Upon graduation from high school, he'd seen scrap drives, victory gardens, and the invention of ballpoint pens, and though his parents complained about tax withholding from their paychecks, they got a deal on his college tuition: It cost them a whopping $2,000 for four years' matriculation.

Fast forward.

This year's college freshmen have probably never dialed a telephone. Computers have always been portable, TVs have always been flat, and "friend" is both verb and noun. For them, there's always been Disneyland, MTV, and HIV.

Fast forward – again? Nobody knows, but the authors take a guess...

Okay, so maybe you don't want that time machine after all. The Mindset Lists of American History is probably more affordable anyhow. It's surely more fun.

Authors McBride and Nief have consolidated just about everything you'd find fascinating about pop culture in the past 113 years, they've done it with lists and short narratives, and they've done it in one lively book. This is a jaw-dropping, yet lighthearted, read that puts plenty of things into perspective, and I couldn't put it down.

If you're a trivia fan, a historian, Boomer, or lover of unique knowledge, I think you'll enjoy it, too. In fact, you'll want to give The Mindset Lists of American History one thing: the letter "A."

Oakland Drops Two Straight; Loses Championship Series To Tri-State

The Oakland Oaks were swept in the Pen-Mar League championship on Sunday in two straight games with the Tri-State Titans, losing two straight by scores of 6-5 and 9-8.

Tri-State, which has won the title eight times in its 11 years of existence, outlasted Oakland over 15 innings in the first game then needed three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning of the second game to take the series. Josh Barrett provided the final run in the Titans' seventh-inning rally to close eight hours of baseball.

In the opener, Tri-State led 4-3 after scoring a run in the top of the first and three in the seventh, but the Oaks managed to tie the game after a fielder's choice off the bat of Corey Helbig brought home Justin Anderson. Anderson had reached on a base hit and was advanced by a Billy Reams' single.

Earlier in the game, Oakland had taken a 2-1 lead with a two-run third inning and increased it to 3-1 with a run in the fifth.

Tri-State retook the lead with a three-run seventh inning after RBI singles by Justin Jenkins and Drew O'Neal and a sacrifice fly from Jim Barrett.

The game remained tied at four runs apiece until the top of inning number 15 when Jenkins swatted a two-run double.

Oakland rallied again and pulled to within one run after Jason Ashby hit a two-out RBI single. He and a teammate were left stranded, however, when winning pitcher Brian Powell got his batter to ground out to the second baseman.

O'Neal was Tri-State's leading hitter with five singles and three RBI. Powell had four hits including a triple and Jenkins had two doubles, a single, and three RBI.

Anderson had three hits with two doubles to lead Oakland. Tommie Reams had three base hits and Billy Reams, two.

In the second outing, Sean Collette's two-run base hit in the bottom of the seventh inning tied the game at eight apiece and set up Barrett's walk-off base hit.

The Oaks, who finish the season with an overall record of 19-9, held a 6-4 lead with a four-run fourth inning highlighted by Anderson's three-run home run. Oakland would retake the lead again, 8-6, in the top of the seventh after Pat Livingston nailed a two-run double.

The Titans led 2-1 after the first inning, 4-2 after three, and tied it 6-6 with two runs in the sixth in the back-and-forth scoring battle that was game two.

Corey Flickenger led Oakland with four hits that included a double.

Jenkins scored three times for the Titans and got three hits for three RBI. O'Neal finished with two base hits.

GOLF CLUB PRESENTS CHECK – The Oakland Ladies Golf Association recently hosted its annual Invitational Tournament. Proceeds from the event benefited the group's charity, "It's In the Bag." Fundraising activities at the tournament included a putting contest, silent auction, Chinese auction, and 50/50 raffle. Pictured are Greg Stoner, "It's In the Bag" representative from St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, and club vice president Julia Hoffman presenting a check for $1,650. "It's In the Bag" benefits at-risk children with a weekend and holiday backpack food program. It costs about $250 per year to provide a child with a backpack of food packed by volunteers and discreetly distributed by schools on Fridays. Further information about the program is available by calling 301-334-2510.

Women Golfers Report Results Of Flight Play

The Oakland Ladies' Golf Association hosted flight play at the Oakland Golf Club course last Thursday, Aug. 3.

The winner of the first flight with a low gross of 89 was Adrienne Plitt, with June Bray and Sue O'Neal sharing low net of 73.

The second flight winner of low gross was Sherry Grant with a 94, and low net was shared by Diana Helbig and Marie Dray, each with a 71.

The third-flight winner of low gross was Barbara Frantz with a 103, and low net was a tie between Sue Bredel and Mary Ann Moran.

The top finishers in the fourth flight were Peggy Alexander with a low gross of 110 and Pam Trydahl with a low net with a 72.

Closest-to-the pin winner was Janice Larue, and low putts was shared by Sherry Grant, Diana Helbig, and Barb Frantz, each with 29.

Junior Hunter Field Day Event Set For October 1

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources is partnering with local conservation groups to present a Fall Junior Hunter Field Day from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Western Maryland 4-H Center in Bittinger. According to a DNR spokesperson, this is an opportunity for young people interested in wildlife activities to experience the enjoyment of the great outdoors and learn how to become involved in the management of natural resources.

"Under the guidance of wildlife professionals, this event will provide a safe, fun, and hands-on opportunity for young people to learn about shooting sports, hunting, and the important role hunters play in the conservation and stewardship of Maryland's wildlife," said Clarissa Harris, DNR regional wildlife response manager and coordinator for the western Maryland event.

Youth with an interest in hunting white-tailed deer, trapping, archery, and shooting clay birds will have an opportunity to learn and interact with DNR personnel and local conservationists in a safe, mentored setting, Harris said. Professionals from the Maryland DNR will join representatives of sporting and conservation organizations to provide expertise in natural resources stewardship, wildlife biology, safety, and ethical conduct in the field.

All equipment will be provided, and certified instructors will oversee all shooting activities. A free lunch will be provided to youth and parents/guardians by Evergreen Electrical Company in Grantsville.

This event is open to youth ages 8 to 16. Pre-registration is required and is limited to the first 100 applicants, so Harris recommends early registration. Persons may contact the Wildlife and Heritage Service Cumberland office at 301-777-2136 to request registration information. Information is also available online at: http://www.dnr.state.md.us/wildlife/Education/youth/index.asp.

Rice And Sober Top Finishers In Moonshine 10K

Eighty-six runners and seven walkers completed the annual Moonshine Classic 10-Kilometer Run and 2-Mile Fun Run/Walk, held Saturday at Big Run State Park.

First to complete the double out-and-back 10K course over rolling hills on the park's road system and in warm temperatures was local elite runner Jeremy Rice, 29, Frostburg, with a time of 36:27. The overall second-place finisher was Woody Snoberger, 26, Ridgeley, W.Va., whose time was 37:22.

Snoberger and Rice both compete for the Hagerstown-based Cumberland Valley Athletic Club under Coach Mike Spinnler.

In third place overall was Nathan Whi... Bloomery, W.Va., a standout at Hampshire High School, whose time was 38:03.

The fastest female runner in the 10K was 38-year-old Jen Sober of McHenry, who has been recovering from a calf tear for the past nine weeks. Her time of 41:35 was best among females and 13th best among all runners. Sober will travel to China in September to represent the United States at the World Age Group Triathlon Championships.

Placing second among the female competitors was 18-year-old Julie Gessler of Ellicott City. Her time of 42:18 was good for 15th overall.

The final spot in the female top three was taken by 22-year-old Elizabeth Patron, a former Frostburg State University runner, with a time of 45:30 (21st overall).

The Male Masters winner was 59-year-old Tom Ruekert of Grantsville with a time of 40:14. Female Masters champion was 46-year-old Jane Rossi, who finished in 51:17.

In the 2-Mile Fun Run/Walk, the male champion was 60-year-old Frostburg resident Armond Rossi with a time of 19:20, while 23-year-old Megan Bittinger of Midlothian was the top female walker, recording a time of 29:49.

Members of the Queen City Striders running club provided timing and scoring services for this race. Entertainment for the day's events was provided by Surrender Dorothy.

The Striders note their appreciation to race coordinators Dave Ritchie, Katie Lauder, and Sara Beth James, and to the members and volunteers who assisted with race and finish-line management, registration, timing and scoring of the races, and with the post-race picnic. These included Tom Dawson, Mark Ellsworth, Sara Beth James, Mike Kozier, Katie Lauder, Brian Leiter, Tom Morris, George Nolan, Amy Ritchie, Dave Ritchie, Bob Stephens, and Leslie Warnick.

Sailboat Racing
On Deep Creek Lake

A WET WEEKEND, BUT THE SAILBOAT RACING WENT ON
by Dan Muss

The weather forecasts for Saturday were not encouraging: rain, light wind, and possible thunderstorms. The sailors of the Masters Fleet out of the Turkey Neck club voted with their feet not to go out, and, since I was on race committee duty on Sunday, my boat never left the mooring.

Not sailing on Saturday and with visibility poor from the committee boat on Sunday, I am dependent on the following excellent account of all three races in the Gold Fleet from Bruce Lothrop:

At Deep Creek, sailboat races are held in rain, as long as there isn't any lightning. Friends often ask if it's fun to race in the rain; the answer is 'yes, if you're winning.' On the plus side, rainy weather cuts down on motorboat traffic. Bob Vance was principal race officer (PRO), with Al Riebel assisting on Saturday. They had set a course for a west wind, but were forced to postpone and reset the course for the more southerly breeze. During the postponement, light rains changed to a torrential downpour, and visibility started to become a concern. In about 20 minutes, most of the rain had cleared off.

I was at the helm for the first race, with my wife Stephanie crewing. I chose a fairly risky 'dip' approach for the start. In a 'dip,' you approach the starting line from the course side, and try to find a hole to sneak into. The advantage of the 'dip' is that you approach the line with speed. The disadvantage is that boats below the line are to leeward and so have the right of way; they can force you up over the line, leaving you on the course side of the line at the start. You must then find a way back to the line through the racing fleet, and start behind the other racers.

As I approached the line to windward, Spinnenweber came up to the line, but with my better speed I was able to pass his bow, and dive below the starting line with about 10 seconds to spare. I turned back upwind, and hit the line with speed and momentum for a solid start with clear air. Unfortunately, I was then right behind ace sailor Joanie Palmer and I was in her backwash, so we tacked away to get clear air. We reached the windward mark in the middle of the pack, and turned downwind.

The downwind leg started as a fairly close reach, but Stephanie was able to keep the spinnaker full while I worked the boat to windward of most of the fleet, setting us up as the inside boat with 'room' for the leeward mark rounding. Gauthier gave us room, but once around the mark, he took us on the final beat to the finish. We finished around fifth place and I thought that was one of our better races this season, but my lovely wife was soon to teach me a few things about sailing.

For the second race we had more wind, still from the south, and less drizzle. This time Stephanie took the tiller, with me crewing. As the clock ticked down on the starting horn, Stephanie approached the start conservatively from behind the committee boat, and to leeward of Gauthier. He was barging and was forced to circle around, and start late. With no boats starting to our starboard side, Stephanie was clear to tack to the right side of the course, and sail in clear air.

We reached the windward mark near the front of the fleet, raised our spinnaker, and headed downwind. Again we sailed a reaching course to the leeward mark, and again we made ground on many of our competitors. We rounded the leeward mark to start the second lap, and turned back upwind. We lost ground on the second upwind leg, but gained on the second downwind leg. On the final beat to the finish, Spinnenweber, ahead of us, held to the port tack at the rounding, while we tacked quickly to starboard. The wind had shifted so that we could now reach the finish on one tack from the mark. We were now in a drag race to the finish with Spinnenweber, with us sailing a shorter line. We were able to hold him off and finish third behind Palmer and Corson. That was our best finish of the season so far. I was impressed, but Stephanie would have even more in store for Sunday's races.

As race time approached on Sunday, winds were high and very shifty from the west, with gusts reported above 20 knots. This made for Deep Creek sailing at its most challenging, with hard and sudden shifts that can overpower a boat.

PRO Harry Carpenter set a very long windward-leeward course, twice around. Again Stephanie took the helm, and I took the crew position. About 15 minutes before the start, we were again soaked by sudden heavy rains. By start time the rain stopped, and the heavy winds subsided to something in the range of 8 to 10 knots. We attempted a somewhat risky port-tack pin-end start. This would leave us crossing the fleet without right of way, but Stephanie was committed to sailing the right side of the course, even if we had to duck every other boat in the fleet to get there.

A few seconds prior to the start, Corson reached in from the port end, tacked to starboard, and pushed several boats attempting a pin end start over the line early. This created a small hole for us, and helped our start. We still had to duck several boats on the first tack, but we gained the clear air we wanted on the right side. We worked our way up the right side, while much of the fleet sailed toward Turkey Neck point on the left, hoping to capitalize on a lift that often develops near that point in a west wind. That lift failed to materialize. Instead we found a lift in the middle of the "slot" that carried us on a long tack to round the windward mark in first place, with Skoog, Palmer, and Coraor chasing us.

On the first downwind leg, we rounded the leeward mark alone, still in first, and turned back upwind. We held on for the second upwind leg and rounded the windward mark, still in first. We turned downwind again, and stayed to the middle of the lake in a dead downwind position. Skoog stayed close to the Turkey Neck shore, sailing a less direct course, but with better boat speed. He reached the leeward mark just ahead of us, and turned toward the finish. The race committee had set the finish line a short way above the leeward mark, in a position where it could be reached in one port-tack leg. It appeared that we had no chance to catch John. Just before the finish, however, John inexplicably tacked away from the finish line, and passed the committee boat on the wrong side. We crossed the finish line and logged our first win of the season. We later learned that Skoog had been one of the boats forced over the line early at the start, and had not re-crossed the line so that he had been disqualified.

[Note that Darrell Van Hutten won five of the six Laser races in the Full-Rig fleet, but he was sailing with a radial sail, which was a major handicap; and he came in second to his wife Kris in that other race.]

T. Folk Receives Dr. Of Veterinary Medicine Degree

Grantsville resident Tessa Folk received a doctor of veterinary medicine degree from the Virginia–Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine during the spring 2011 commencement ceremony.

Prior to graduation, Folk received the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (ACVIM) Certificate of Excellence – small animals. The certificate is an award for a fourth-year, small animal veterinary student who demonstrates a sincere interest, outstanding knowledge, and clinical expertise in veterinary internal medicine who emulates the mission of the ACVIM.

The Virginia Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine is a two-state, three-campus professional school operated by the land-grant universities of Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va., and the University of Maryland at College Park. Its flagship facilities, based at Virginia Tech, include the Veterinary Teaching Hospital, which treats more than 40,000 animals annually.

Other campuses include the Marion duPont Scott Equine Medical Center in Leesburg, Va., and the Avrum Gudelsky Veterinary Center at College Park, home of the Center for Public and Corporate Veterinary Medicine.

The college annually enrolls approximately 500 doctor of veterinary medicine and graduate students, is a leading biomedical and clinical research center, and provides professional continuing education services for veterinarians practicing throughout the two states.

ANNUAL COUNTRY FEST AND AUCTION SLATED AT FAIRGROUNDS – The 17th annual Country Fest and Auction will be held at the Garrett Country Fairgrounds, McHenry, on Saturday, Aug. 27. This one-day family event offers a variety of activities for all ages, including a horseshoeing demonstration, an auction for adults, an aerial candy drop (weather permitting), and a pedal tractor pull for the children. There will be lots of food, including fresh produce, home baked goods, homemade noodles, jams and jellies, made-on-the-premises raised doughnuts and soft pretzels, a chicken BBQ, funnel cakes, and turned ice cream. For early arrivals, there's a varied breakfast menu as well. Other children's activities include pony rides, a petting zoo, miniature horse and cart rides, and a plywood "cow" to milk. Forging, apple cider pressing, chair caning, soap making and quilting will all be happening at Country Fest. The craft booth features many Amish-made wood items. Children gravitate to the Gift Shoppe, and there's an abundance of good books for all ages at the Choice Books tables. The auction begins at 10:30 a.m. and will feature new items such as oak and pine furniture, selected antiques, baskets, framed prints, crafts, and "In-Home Dinner" meal tickets. Families from the sponsoring churches invite guests to join them in their home for a home-cooked meal. The quilt auction begins at 1:30, with 15 full, queen, or king sized quilts to be auctioned, as well as an equal number of smaller quilted items. The quilts are machine pieced and hand-quilted locally. All quilts will be on display until 1 p.m. when they will be taken down for auction. Last year's top quilt sold for $1,750, with an overall average of $952 raised per quilt. Also on display will be a one-of-a-kind locally designed Civil War quilt, "Lest We Forget." This quilt be sold at the 2012 auction. Good News, a singing group of seven from Myerstown, Pa., will be providing gospel music beginning at 10 am and periodically throughout the day. The Country Fest is sponsored by the Bittinger and Pillar of Life Mennonite churches. Proceeds benefit the Christian education of members' children, and the Christian Aid Ministries, a Mennonite relief agency. Admission and parking are free. For more information and schedule of activities, persons may go to www.countryfest.org or call 301-616-3268.

"Healthy Eating On A Budget" Workshop Slated

Garrett County Community Action in conjunction with the University of Maryland Extension Service will present a "Healthy Eating on a Budget" workshop on Wednesday, Aug. 17, beginning at 6 p.m. in the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland.

Abbi Kifer, food supplement nutrition educator from the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, will present ideas for healthy eating and will prepare recipes using inexpensive yet healthy ingredients.

"Unemployment, the cost of fuel, and food prices are still high while wages remain stagnant. Individuals, couples, and families are struggling to make ends meet and to put healthy food on the table," said a spokesperson for GCCAC. "Recent reports have even suggested that only the wealthy can afford to eat healthy food regularly."

Garrett County Community Action and the University of Maryland Extension Office want to empower families to change that. The workshop will help one identify and prepare frugal healthy food choices and provide some recipes to keep oneself and one's family healthy while saving money. There will also be refreshments and door prizes.

For further information, or to sign up to attend, persons may contact GCCAC at 301-334-9431, ext. 149.

Class Slated For Child Caretakers

Garrett College will hold a one-day class in emergency preparedness for child care providers at the Southern Outreach Center in Oakland on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Space in this class is limited, and students are required to register in advance by calling 301-334-8304 or 301-387-3136.

• 2 p.m. – Brant Mine Hike. Guests can join a guided hike with the naturalist to the historic Brant Mine. Hikers will see the remnants of a coal mine that was operated in the 1920s, as well as possibly some wildlife along the way.

Tuesday, Aug. 16

• 8 a.m. – Let's Go Birding. This may be early, but it is the best time to hear and spot songbirds. Guests are invited to join the naturalist for a walk around the park and learn how to identify many different species. Experienced and beginner birders are welcome. Those attending should bring binoculars. The group will meet at the Discovery Center.

• 1 p.m. – Flutterbys and Flowers. Guests will walk around the Discovery Center with the naturalist to learn the many species of wildflowers and butterflies found in the area. The group will learn about the native plants these butterflies need and ways their habitat can be improved. Guests will also discover edible and medicinal values of the plants discussed.

Wednesday, Aug. 17

• 11 a.m. – Amphibian Adaptation. Guests can come over to the Discovery Center to learn about amphibians and how they survive in their environment. The group will hear stories, make a craft, and see and touch resident animals.

• 1 to 3 p.m. – Fire Tower Open. Hikers may take the fire trails to the tower and see scenic views of Deep Creek Lake. The cost is $2 per person.

• 1 p.m. – Wildlife Investigation. This self-guided program allows guests to become detectives in the natural world, seeing and learning about clues left behind by nature. Fill out the worksheet and win a prize.

Thursday, Aug. 18

• 10:30 a.m. – Canoe with the Naturalist. Guests can visit Meadow Mtn. Cove and learn about the creatures of Garrett County's wetlands. The naturalists will cover basic canoeing skills. The cost is $10/adult and $5 for children ages 12 and under. Attendees must pre-register, as space is limited. The group will meet at the Discovery Center. (Approx. 2 hrs.)

• 2 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Guests are invited to the aviary to see and learn about birds of prey. The birds will be perched, which will provide photo opportunities, so guests should bring cameras. A naturalist will be available to answer questions.

NEW GERMANY STATE PARK

The following activities have been scheduled at New Germany State Park, located at 349 Headquarters Lane, Grantsville. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. Further information can be obtained by calling the park office at 301-895-5453, sending an e-mail to park.newgermany@dnr.state.md.us, or by visiting the web site at www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/newgermany.asp.

Saturday, Aug. 13

• 8:30 a.m. – Bird Hike. The park naturalist will lead a peaceful, early-morning walk to observe and listen to the many different birds along the way. Tips on how to identify some common birds found in the park will be given. Hikers should bring their own binoculars and dress for the weather (hiking boots recommended). Meet at the new Nature Center, next to the Lake House.

• 11 a.m. – Nature Sleuth. Hikers will put their detective skills to the test, and discover some of the many clues animals leave behind in the woods. Following a short hike, participants can make a plaster cast of an animal track to take home. Meet at the new Nature Center.

• 7:30 p.m. – Smokey Bear & Friends. Maryland forest ranger Randy Kamp will give a talk about forest history and management in Maryland. His special guest will be Smokey Bear. As a surprise to Smokey, there will be a cake and celebration for his 67th birthday. The public is invited to join in. Meet at the Nature Center.

Sunday, Aug. 14

• 2 p.m. – Tree Hike. The park ranger will lead a leisurely walk and teach about some of the trees in the park. The various webs found in the trees will also be discussed. Appropriate footwear recommended. Meet at the Nature Center.

Nature Center open daily, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

WEST AFRICA WAS THE LAST STOP for "travelers" at the Oakland library's Summer Reading Club. This year's theme was "One World, Many Stories. About 70 children sat with rapt attention as professional storyteller Ilene Evans drew them into the folktales and music of the Ashanti culture of West Africa. She welcomed them in Twi, the native language of the Akan people of Ghana, and then told them, "We are going to learn how to greet each other and how to make each other feel welcome when we go to a new place." They sang the welcoming song "Fanga Alafia, Ashe, Ashe," with Evans playing the Mbira and then the African drum. Speaking about the symbolic language present in instruments and other items, she explained, "In African music, symbols are right there in all of the things we touch and play." And then it was time for Evans to share a traditional Ghanaian folktale about Kwaku Ananse the spider – a wise and lovable trickster, shrewd and cunning – from the long-established culture of the Ashanti of Ghana. In this tale, Kwaku is the wise one whom the entire village respects, until greed takes control of him and he steals crops from the shared village garden. Several children and adults acted out the parts of the village chief, elder, and guards, who must figure out why the crops are disappearing. They find Kwaku, who changes into a spider as he climbs a tree to escape, and the village has a feast with his stash of hidden crops. After the story, the children crafted African masks from cardboard and paint, engaged in camel races where they strapped pillows to their backs and walked on all fours, and balanced buckets on their heads while walking. Summer Reading Club 2011 has ended at the Ruth Enlow Library, with a total attendance of 939 children at all branches. A listing of other services and programs at the library is available on the web site at www.relib.net.

Book Discussion Group To Resume Meetings In G'ville

The book discussion group at the Grantsville library will resume on the second Saturday of every month beginning on Sept. 10 and continuing through June 9, 2012.

The group will meet from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and is open to anyone who likes reading and discussing various books in different genres.

The assigned book for the Sept. 10 discussion is The Deep End of the Ocean by Jacquelyn Mitchard.

The group moderator is author, freelance writer, and online writing instructor Sandra Miller-Louden. She can be contacted with any questions at 814-662-1314 or 412-477-4299.

Nomination Forms Available For GC's "Most Beautiful"

Nominations for Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person 2011 are still being accepted. The annual award honors individuals or groups for their unpaid volunteer efforts in the community.

Candidates are evaluated on volunteer efforts or neighborly goodwill that may have previously gone unnoticed, number of years of service, significance to the community, and impact on Garrett County.

Past winners include Debbie Friend, Amelia and Fredolen Wolfe, and George Ferguson.

The deadline for applications is Friday, Aug. 26. Nominations are available online at co.garrett.md.us or by contacting Carol Riley-Alexander, Garrett County commissioners' office, at 301-334-8970 or criley@garrettcounty.org.

Poker Run Event Set To Benefit Victory Camp

The fourth annual poker run to benefit the Victory Junction Gang Camp will be held on Aug. 27.

Registration for the run will begin at 11:30 a.m. at the VFW Post 10077, located along Route 135 in Deer Park. Participants will depart from there at 12:30 p.m. The cost is $20 per person. The best "poker hand" will win a "ride-along with Richard Petty" driving experience.

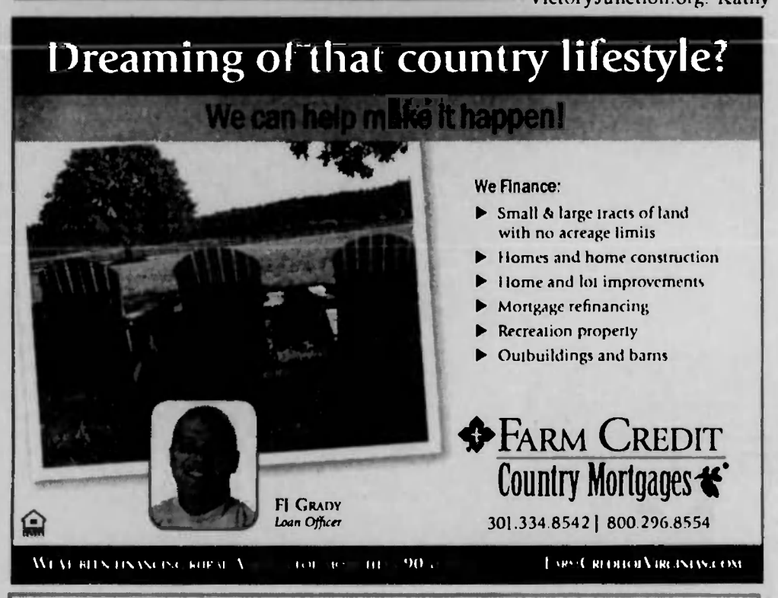
The Victory Junction Gang Camp in Randleton, N.C., opened its doors in June 2004. Patty and Kyle Petty founded the camp in honor and memory of their son Adam, a NASCAR driver. The year-round camp, funded solely by donations, provides a free camping experience for children with chronic medical conditions or serious illnesses. All medical needs are addressed without any charge while the youngsters are at the camp.

The camp is composed of 44 buildings, including the Goody's Body Shop medical center, the Hendrick Motorsports Fuel Stop Dining Hall, the Kyle Petty Water Park, Adam's Race Shop, the Michael Waltrip Operation Marathon Sportscenter, and others. Information on the Camp is available at VictoryJunction.org. Kathy Swartzentruber, an Oakland resident, is a regular volunteer at Victory Junction.

The poker run route will begin at the VFW and go first to the American Legion in Grantsville. With more stops along the way, it will wind back to Oakland, where dinner will be served at the VFW Post 10077. A number of door prizes that have been donated by local merchants will be given away. Items autographed by Kyle Petty will be raffled off.

For more information, persons may call 301-387-4472.

PUPPET MINISTRY TO BE FEATURED – Rush Baptist Church will hold its annual homecoming celebration on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the church, located at 1985 Old Morgantown Road, Friendsville. The morning worship service, slated for 11 a.m., will be led by Karin Tyson and her puppet Herman (pictured) from Chester, Va. Tyson has a ministry called P.A.L.S. for Christ, in which she presents Christian puppet shows, ventriloquism, "gospel wonders," and Bible stories. A covered-dish picnic will follow the service at approximately 12:30 p.m. At 2 p.m., the Keefers will sing, and Tyson and Herman will minister again. "We welcome past and present members and pastors to attend and renew old acquaintances," said a spokesperson. "The public is welcome to attend. Come help us celebrate this joyous occasion."



Annual Wiles, Watkins Family Reunion Slated

The 99th annual Wiles and Watkins family reunion will be held on Sunday, Aug. 21, at Mtn. View Methodist Church, Tunnelton, W.Va. The reunion will begin with a 1 p.m. basket lunch.

A silent auction will be held, as well as a horseshoe tournament. The church is located at the top of Number 4 Road. All family and friends are invited.

R. Harvey Attends Natural Resources Careers Program

Southern High School student Richard Harvey recently attended the 2011 Natural Resources Careers Conference at the Hickory Environmental Education Center near Accident. The event was sponsored by the Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy district boards, which includes the Garrett County Forestry Board, in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service and Allegany College of Maryland.

Twenty-nine high school students from Maryland, Delaware, and Pennsylvania attended the conference. The weeklong program is designed to acquaint students with careers in forestry and natural resources management.

The camp is staffed by forestry students from Allegany College and members of the forestry boards, Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service, private industry, and other natural resource professionals in a variety of disciplines supplement the program. The program consists of a series of lectures and field trips, and hands-on activities to give students a first-hand knowledge of natural resource careers.

The local county forestry boards coordinate student selection and scholarships. Students are selected for the camp based on their letters of recommendation, involvement and interest in natural resource issues and careers, and interview with board members.

For more information about the annual conference, persons may visit marylandforestryboards.org/nrcc.cfm or call the Maryland Forest Service's Mt. Nebo office at 301-334-3296.

SWANTON

DINNER CANCELED

There will be no second Saturday dinner held at the Swanton Community Center this month because it is Fair week.

PICNIC

Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church will hold its Sunday school picnic on Sunday, Aug. 21, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Pleasant Valley 4-H Center. All are welcome to bring a covered dish to share. There will be singing until the pastor arrives for the worship service.

PERSONALS

Mary June Harvey recently celebrated her 90th birthday with friends and family. The celebration began at Swanton Otterbein U.M.C. with an introduction, exchange of recollection, and singing. The celebration continued at the Swanton Community Center for cake and punch.

Mary June was born on July 22, 1921, to the late Ray and Beatrice (McRobie) Custer. She was married to Ellis "Buss" Harvey for 58 years before he died in 1998. They had two children, the late Richard Harvey and Sandy Schofield. Richard's wife Betty was present for the celebration, as well as Sandy and her husband Brian. All seven grandchildren were present, along with 13 of her 16 great-grandchildren, her 2-year-old great-great-granddaughter, and a number of nieces and nephews. A time of fellowship was enjoyed by family, friends, and neighbors. A sincere thanks goes to all who came, as well as to those who sent cards and good wishes.

Recent visitors of Melvin, Dotty, and Andrew Beckman were Cathie, Rosie, Biggie Ruzzi, and their friends. Mary Shreve also stopped by one evening.

Lewis Lohr is now home from the hospital and is reportedly doing well.

RECOGNIZED FOR 60 YEARS OF SERVICE – Local resident Phyllis Trickett has been recognized by the Maryland Chapter of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs (BPW) and the Garrett County Commission for Women for 60 years of service to the association. She was presented an award and applauded for her efforts, accomplishments, and dedication. "For decades Phyllis Trickett has poured energy, compassion, time, and intelligence into enhancing the quality of life for the people of her Garrett County community," stated a spokesperson. A former business owner, the Mtn. Lake Park resident worked to achieve the goals of BPW's Garrett County chapter, which include enabling women to sustain themselves economically. In addition, she contributed to personal development programs for members such as mentoring, leadership, and training. During her years with BPW, Trickett was elected to serve as president of both the state and the county chapters. Joanne Harsh, fellow member of BPW and the Commission for Women in Garrett County, praised Trickett for her groundbreaking work in establishing the Commission for Women in Garrett County. "Phyllis helped found our chapter of the Commission and earned the support of the Garrett County commissioners," said Harsh. "Through this group the Women's Hall of Fame was also set up to recognize the accomplishments of women in Garrett County." Garrett County resident Donna McClintock Fost has worked side-by-side with Trickett in BPW and other organizations for many years. 'Phyllis is just an amazing woman," Fost said, praising her colleague and friend. "She works tirelessly to help others find the means to improve their lives. In addition to her work with and on behalf of business women, Trickett has been a stalwart champion of the Dove Center, Garrett County's resource for domestic violence and sexual abuse. As a member of the board of directors of the Dove Center, Trickett put tremendous efforts into making her vision for the center a reality, noted Fost. "Phyllis envisioned the Dove Center as providing a shelter for victims of violence and abuse," she said. "With the center now celebrating its 20th anniversary, that dream is becoming a reality." In Trickett's honor, a room in the new Garrett County Dove Center will be funded by the Commission for Women and the BPW. From left are Suzanne Nicolas, Women's Commission chair and Garrett BPW member; Caressa Ledford, Women's Commission; Trickett; Beverly Beard, Women's Commission; Katharine Lee, Women's Commission and BPW; and Harsh.

REUNIONS

The Friend family reunion was held last Sunday at the Swanton Community Center with 25 in attendance. Jack Cornwell, Highview, W.Va., played and sang songs. The next reunion is Aug. 5, 2012.

Along the boardwalk and over the dunes, suddenly the sea appears in all its glory. Hidden until you are almost on top of it, it is always there waiting. Our Creator is always there waiting, too, even though we may become tired and discouraged because the path is not always clear. Learn more of God's path for you at your house of worship this week. He can lead you to a life of beauty and peace; He will help you find your way.

Asking for Help

Nobody wants to be a burden on others, and asking for others' help sometimes requires us to swallow our pride, since asking for help is tantamount to admitting that we are helpless, dependent creatures. But, we should keep in mind that allowing others to help us actually helps those who offer their assistance, not only because they will feel a lot better for doing a good deed, but also because they will be building social capital. That is, through the reciprocal giving and receiving of aid, we are all made more likely to help each other. So, we should not be too proud to ask for help, and also we should remember that when we are helping others, we also help ourselves. As the saying goes, when you light a lamp for somebody else it will also brighten your own path. The good we do comes back to us in a multitude of ways, so we should not deprive our fellow man of this wellspring of goodness. When it comes to helping others, it isn't a zero sum game, whereby if we share with others there is less for us to enjoy. On the contrar

In about the same degree as you are helpful, you will be happy.

Kathy Bates set to deliver more of the 'Law'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Kathy Bates

Q: Will "Harry's Law," starring Kathy Bates, be returning to TV? –Mary Ann Raines, Edgewater, Md.

A: It already has, since NBC has added repeats of the first-season episodes back into its Monday lineup, offering evidence why Bates is a current Emmy nominee for the show (for outstanding lead actress in a drama series). The program begins new episodes in a Wednesday slot Sept. 21, and some casting changes will be evident.

Brittany Snow has left the series, and Mark Valley ("Human Target") – who previously worked with "Harry's Law" executive producer David E. Kelley on "Boston Legal" – will become a new co-star, as will Tony Award winner Karen Olivo ("West Side Story"). And Christopher McDonald is being upped to co-star status in his continuing role as Tommy Jefferson.

Q: Who was the actor who played Jane Rizzoli's love interest in the season premiere of "Rizzoli & Isles"? What else has he appeared in? –Mary Dobinski, Grand Junction, Colo.

A: He's British-born Chris Vance, who starred a couple of summers ago in the Fox series "Mental." He's also had roles on such series as "Dexter," "Burn Notice" and "Prison Break," and in Australia – where he found a lot of work before coming to America – he was featured in the shows "All Saints," "The Secret Life of Us" and "Stingers."

Q: Did ABC really cancel "V"? –Colleen Ritchie, Daytona Beach, Fla.

A: Yes, it really did. From the start, the ratings were less than the network desired from the reboot of the 1980s sci-fi miniseries – and it wasn't an inexpensive show to make, undoubtedly adding to the decision to discontinue it after two seasons. "V" purists should be happy to know that the second and final round will be available Oct. 18 on DVD and Blu-ray.

Q: A few years ago, there was a sitcom on WGN called "Corner Gas." I am wondering if it is available on DVD. –Dean Daily, Milwaukee

A: You actually can find a whole bunch of the Canadian-made comedy on disc. Though it had a relatively brief run in the United States, it lasted for some time north of the border ... so no less than its entire six seasons are available. The show ended production in 2008, but you can shop the Internet for the existing episodes.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was noted psychiatrist and sleep researcher William C. Dement who made the following sage observation: "Dreaming permits each and every one of us to be quietly and safely insane every night of our lives."
• For reasons that aren't entirely clear in the record at hand, it's illegal to wear a hat while dancing in Fargo, N.D.
• Despite the fact that the English language is very large in terms of the number of words available to those who can use them, it seems that much of our writing is made up of only a few words. In a study once conducted by lexicogrnpher G.H. McKnight, it was found that approximately one-quarter of all the words in any given sample of writing in English is one of the following nine: and, be, have, it, of, the, to, will and you.
• Some species of squid can swim up to 35 mph.
• If you're an avid hiker, you might want to keep in mind that the most dangerous trail in America, according to Backpacker magazine, is located in Canyonlands National Park in Utah. The trail known as The Maze earned this distinction thanks to numerous dead-end canyons, few sources of water and temperatures that soar to over 100 degrees F. in summer
• When the eggs of the Darwin frog hatch and the tadpoles emerge, the babies are swallowed by a male frog. They're not victims of cannibalism, however; the father keeps the tadpoles in his vocal sac for two months. Once they've matured and become tiny frogs, the young ones are coughed up and have to fend for themselves.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Aug. 18, 1590, John White, the governor of the Roanoke Island colony in present-day North Carolina, returns from a supply trip to England to find no trace of the 100 colonists he left behind. The only clue to their disappearance was the word "CROATOAN" carved into the palisade around the settlement.
• On Aug. 17, 1877, William "Billy the Kid" Bonney kills his first man, an Arizona blacksmith. Just how many men Billy the Kid killed is uncertain. He reportedly once claimed he had killed 21 men, "one for every year of my life."
• On Aug. 15, 1914, the Panama Canal, the American-built waterway across the Isthmus of Panama connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, is inaugurated. U.S. engineers moved nearly 240 million cubic yards of earth and spent close to $400 million in constructing the 40-mile-long canal.
• On Aug. 21, 1920, Daphne Milne, wife of English writer A.A. Milne, gives birth to a son, Christopher Robin Milne. When Christopher Robin received a stuffed bear as a present, his father began writing a series of stories about the bear. Christopher Robin was immortalized in A.A. Milne's books "Winnie-the-Pooh" and "The House at Pooh Corner."
• On Aug. 16, 1948, baseball legend George Herman "Babe" Ruth dies from cancer in New York City. For two days, tens of thousands of fans stood in line to pay their last respects. Ruth hit a record 60 home runs in the 1927 season and led the Yankees to seven pennants.
• On Aug. 19, 1960, in the USSR, captured American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers is sentenced to 10 years imprisonment for his confessed espionage. Only 18 months into his sentence, the Soviets released him in exchange for Rudolf Abel, a senior KGB spy who was caught and convicted in the United States five years earlier.
• On Aug. 20, 1989, Lyle and Erik Menendez shoot their parents, Jose and Kitty, to death in the den of the family's Beverly Hills, Calif., home. Police were finally tipped off to the brothers by the girlfriend of Erik's psychotherapist, who'd taped Erik's confession in counseling sessions.

Collecting by Larry Cox

Q: Several years ago, my wife purchased a frame in an Ohio antique shop. Behind a butterfly print, there was a chalk portrait signed by Princess Eugenia E. de Kactwra, dated Aug. 10, 1966, New Orleans. We have it stored in a safety deposit box and would like to know more about the artist, since I have some people wanting to purchase the picture -- Charles, Port Orange, Fla.
A: This answer is a little involved, so stay with me.
During the 1960s, I was a flower child and lived in the French Quarter of New Orleans. Jackson Square was a perfect gathering place for dozens of interesting characters, including Janie the Duck Girl (who was followed by a pet duck everywhere she went), Heavenly Hilda (an over-the-hill street singer I always suspected was a man), Billy Blotto (a two-fisted drinker always in an alcoholic stupor) and -- last but not least -- the Polish Princess, a bird-like woman who could be found most afternoons on the Square doing chalk portraits for tourists.
I suspect the picture you have is by this artist and might not be as valuable as you think. To find out for certain, I suggest you contact the Art Dealers Association of America, 575 Madison Ave., New York, NY 10022. Donna Carlson is the group's director, and she might be able to recoomend a member who can help you. This won't necessarily be a free service, but I think it is always a good idea to get a professional opinion when in doubt about a collectible. My big question is, whatever happened to Janie the Duck Girl?

Q: I have a small child's ring that I think probably came from a cereal box. It is plastic, silver in color, and has a design that features an image of the boxer, Gene Tunney. Does it have any value? -- Roger, Peoria, Ill.
A: Cereal premiums have always been popular with collectors. Since the brand was known for promoting sports figures, your ring might have come from a box of Wheaties. After checking with several experts, we came to the conclusion that your ring is likely worth in the $15 to $25 range depending, of course, on condition.

Apps. Available For Tucker Community Foundation Grants

Applications are currently available for the Tucker Community Foundation 2011 fall grant cycle. The foundation offers three grant programs: Mini-grants, Run For It grants, and fall grants.

Mini-grants are available at any time during the year and are intended for projects costing $500 or less. Run For It grant awards are distributed to causes represented by individuals and/or teams that run or walk to compete for grant awards. The fall grant cycle is for requests exceeding $500 that will benefit non-profit organizations, community projects, and groups performing charitable work within Barbour, Grant, Mineral, Preston, Pocahontas, Randolph and Tucker (W.Va.) counties, and Garrett County.

The deadline to apply for fall grants is Friday, Sept. 16. Applications can be mailed, or delivered to the foundation office. Those mailed must be postmarked by the deadline date. The office is temporarily located at 60 Cheat Valley Highway, Parsons, W.Va. Before Sept. 1, the office will move back to its former location on the second floor of the Tucker County Board of Education Annex at 501 Chestnut Street, Parsons.

Grants will be awarded in support of the arts, parks and recreation, animal welfare, health, libraries and literacy programs, churches, educational programs, emergency services, youth, education, historic preservation, senior citizens, and social investment (general charitable purposes). To view a complete list of endowed grant funds or to download an application, persons should visit www.tuckerfoundation.net.

Funding for designated and competitive grants are provided by endowed funds, which are established by donors to benefit local causes and managed by the foundation. Pass-through donations, Kep and Alice Smith Trust income, and additional unrestricted funds also provide funding.

"TCF should be able to support a broad base of charitable activity this year," stated executive director Robert Burns. "Of particular note to Tucker County applicants, there are grant funds available for school geography projects (Walburn Fund), school music programs (Swartz Fund), recreation projects in the Davis and Thomas areas (Rubenstein/Schilansky Fund), and public garden (or garden club) beautification projects (John, Kathleen & Sharon Syrian/Donald T. Goss Fund)."

EARLY FARMSTEAD PRESENTATION SLATED – Fred Will is scheduled to present a program on farmsteads in the 18th and 19th centuries in Somerset County, Pa., on Monday, Aug. 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the Folk Meeting House in Springs, Pa. A resident of Somerset County, Will is a local farm historian. He serves on the Somerset Historical Society board of directors and has demonstrated coopering at local festivals. His presentation will include photos and early Somerset County farmsteads. Will's past research has included the Barn Star and Split Barn projects for the historical society. Since 2002, he has documented more than 200 barns and collected more than 2,000 photos, such as the one above of an early farmstead belonging to Jacob Kinsinger, Daniel J. Otto, and Simon J. Maust in Springs. Admission to the program is free and open to the public. It is sponsored by the Springs Historical Society. The Folk Meeting House is located at 1711 Springs Roads. For more information, persons may call 814-442-4594 or visit springspa.org.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

A LITTLE RADIOACTIVITY IS GOOD FOR YOU

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Some people claim that nuclear radiation in small quantities is not harmful. That sounds to me like a good way to get a quick case of cancer. Isn't it better to be safe and avoid all radioactivity?

A. I mentioned in a recent column that the "Linear No Threshold" (LNT) hypothesis is subject to debate. That debate is exactly what your question is all about.

The LNT hypothesis says that any radiation is bad, and there is no minimum level that is devoid of risk for causing cancer later in life. That is, there is "no threshold."

The opposing side of the debate favors a concept known as hormesis. The assertion is that a certain amount of radiation is actually beneficial and improves your health.

This notion has been around for at least a century, since radioactivity was discovered around 1895. The warm baths at Berkeley Springs, W.Va., were heated by radioactive decay occurring in the rock surrounding the underground springs, and for decades it was considered a trip to a "health spa." Similar places were established in Europe and elsewhere. The desirability of a dose of radiation was eventually tarnished by assorted pitchmen selling gimmicks that had no discernable effect. Moreover, the warmth of the baths dwindled over time and the popularity diminished.

After World War II an assortment of applications of ionizing radiation sprang up. Beyond dental X-rays, there were X-ray machines in shoe stores to examine children's feet, there were mobile chest X-ray units visiting shopping malls, and you could buy a radioactive dime in a cardboard mounting to carry in your pocket. All of these produced a low-level dose of radiation. There has never been any scientific evidence of anyone being harmed by such small exposures.

Cosmic rays and natural background radioactivity are always present, and life isn't risk-free. We all receive a radiation dose of about 3 milliSieverts per year (mSv/yr) [4.5 mSv/yr at higher altitudes like Denver]. A chest X-ray amounts to 0.1 mSv, equivalent to 10 days of background radiation. A CT scan of the chest might be 7 mSv, about two years' worth of background.

In 1958 Congress passed the "Delaney amendment," which sought to reduce cancer by eliminating from food every trace of any chemical that increased risk. Starting with data from high doses given to laboratory rats, regulators just linearly extrapolated the data to zero, and presumed there was no safe minimal amount – linearly proportional, with no threshold. Before long that LNT hypothesis became the standard assumption for all other types of risk factors, too. Radioactivity was right atop the list of things suspected of causing cancer.

The eventual ascendancy of the LNT hypothesis put an end to all those casual applications of ionizing radiation. With LNT backed by the authority of government, shoe stores and others discontinued using X-ray machines for fear of getting sued by someone with cancer. By today, some people are reluctant to get a needed CT scan even in old age, for fear that it will induce cancer.

The public's fear of radiation is best illustrated by the worry about radon, which began in the 1980s. It was known that smoking causes lung cancer, but there were some unexplained cases of lung cancer among non-smokers; it was also noted that a few nonsmoking uranium miners contracted cancer. In the absence of any explanation, the EPA speculated that radon might be a cause of lung cancer, and soon it became "common knowledge" that "radon is the second-leading cause of lung cancer." An entire industry of radon measurement and mitigation sprang up to address this new danger. Before long the Federal Housing Authority (FHA) would refuse to grant a mortgage on a house that contained radon exceeding 4 picoCuries per liter (a very tiny amount).

In that same time frame, Professor Bernard L. Cohen of the University of Pittsburgh was collecting scientific measurements about radon in homes, and found the exact opposite of the result anticipated on the basis of the LNT hypothesis. (The newsletter "Access to Energy" quips, "The EPA made an error: It hired a first-rate scientist and an honest man.") What Cohen discovered was the long-forgotten phenomenon of hormesis. People getting a mild radiation dose from radon were actually less prone to cancer than people getting only background radiation. The observed data gave a result diametrically opposed to the theory based on the LNT hypothesis.

Hardly anybody paid any attention to Professor Cohen, and the radon-remediation industry kept right on prospering, driven by provisions in real estate contracts.

Subsequently (2004), a study emerged that once again revealed the merits of hormesis. It seems that in 1983 in Taipei, Taiwan, some apartment buildings were built using recycled steel that was contaminated with radioactive cobalt-60, so the inhabitants were inadvertently getting a slight dose of radiation all the time they lived there. This condition was discovered in the 1990s, and eventually local authorities figured out that about 10,000 people were affected. That's certainly a big enough number to assure statistical validity of findings.

Their average dose was about 40 mSv/yr, a dozen times the natural background. The foremost public-health question was "How many people died from cancer because of this excess radiation?" The mortality of these apartment dwellers was compared with the general population in Taiwan, and the astonishing result was that the irradiated folks were much less susceptible to cancer: 116 cancer deaths per 100,000 people for the general public, and only 3.5/100,000 for those living with higher radiation. After statistical adjustments, that meant a 20-fold decrease in cancer risk. (The reader seeking details can find all this in the Journal of American Physicians and Surgeons 9, #1, Spring 2004, pp 6-10.)

Other studies likewise found hormesis taking place: When mice were deliberately irradiated to produce lung cancer, the minimum came when the dose was 250 mSv/yr. In Canada it was found that breast cancer dropped by 1/3 for women who had received a dose of 150 mSv/yr, but rebounded with much greater dosage. When a wide assortment of studies of health effects of radiation were combined, the outcome suggested that the optimum dose of radiation (to maximize the benefits of hormesis) is somewhere around 100 mSv/yr – spread out gradually over the year, not all at once!

The bottom line for the ordinary citizen is "Relax, and don't worry about X-rays or occasional radiation." For the homeowner with radon, 100 mSv/yr works out to about 30 pCi/L – a number far bigger than in almost any home. More important: Where radiation is concerned, the LNT hypothesis should be discontinued as a fixed axiom of government policy and regulation.

4-H Club News

GARRETT HOOFPRINTS

by Brianna LeMay, reporter

The Garrett Hoofprints 4-H Club held its monthly meeting August 8 at a 4-H member's barn in Accident. There were 12 members in attendance and one guest. President Kaitlyn Hanek called the meeting to order. Abbi Kline led the Pledge of Allegiance and Christine Welch led the 4-H Pledge. Abbi Kline took roll call by asking each member to name his/her favorite dog breed. Christine Welch gave the treasurer's report.

President Hanek reminded the group of some of the horse events scheduled next week at the fair. They include the horse show on Sunday, Aug. 14, at 10 a.m., the Showmanship Contest on Monday, Aug. 15, in the evening, the Halter Show on Wednesday, Aug. 17, and the Dirty Pony Contest on Saturday, Aug. 20, at noon.

The members also discussed putting a float in the fair parade scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 18, at 6:30 p.m.

Members were encouraged to assist with the next 4-H Horse Show, which is scheduled for Sept. 18 beginning at 9 a.m. at the fairgrounds. A sign-up sheet will be e-mailed to members, as well as posted at the horse barn next week during the fair.

A discussion was held about the Horsebowl for 2012, and members were encouraged to get the word out to other 4-H members interested in participating.

Abbi Kline gave a report on the horse Secretariat. Gertrude Tesar gave a demonstration on horse judging. Kaitlyn Hanek and Kelsey VanSickle gave a demonstration on horsemanship.

Members were reminded of the opportunity to give a demonstration at the fair and to sign up at the Extension Office.

The next Garrett Hoofprints meeting will be held on Oct. 9 at 2 p.m., with the location to be determined.

W.Va. Man Sentenced To One Year On CDS Possession Charge

A West Virginia man was sentenced to one year with six months suspended after being found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert on a controlled dangerous substance possession of marijuana charge.

Geoffrey Allen Reams, 29, was also ordered to complete three years of supervised probation upon his release, which will be monitored by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation. Reams was reportedly stopped on Sand Flat Road by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in February. A search of the vehicle revealed an amount of marijuana.

In other district court news, Michael William Salmon, 18 (residence unknown), was found guilty on a theft less than $1,000 charge and sentenced to 18 months. He was given credit for 27 days served, and the rest of the sentence was suspended. He was placed on one year of supervised probation and ordered to pay restitution of $60 to the victim in the case. He reportedly broke into a Grantsville concession stand and stole approximately $160 worth of food and beverages. He was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in June. When arrested, he returned what was left of the food.

David Clyde Ridings, 45, Oakland, was found guilty on a second-degree assault charge and sentenced to one year with 11 months and six days suspended. He was given credit for 24 days of time served. He was also placed on two years of supervised probation. Ridings reportedly physically threatened an adult male at a Water Street, Oakland, residence. He was not prosecuted on a disturbing the peace charge.

Jeremiah Ray Reckner, 21, Friendsville, was found guilty on a second-degree escape charge. He was charged in April after he reportedly failed to report to the Garrett County Jail to serve a seven-weekend sentence which was imposed on him in March. He was sentenced to 30 days.

PHIL DIRT AND THE DOZERS will present their Surfs Up Beach Boys Tribute during the Garrett County Fair on Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 7 and 9 p.m. Other entertainment scheduled during fair week includes the Fabulous Hubcaps, Monday, Aug. 15, 7 and 9 p.m.; Jimmy B, Tuesday, Aug. 16, 1:30 and 5 p.m., and Thursday, Aug. 18, 5 p.m.; Irv Ullery Country Gospel Band, Thursday, 7 and 9 p.m.; Travis Minnick, Friday, Aug. 19, 5 p.m., and Saturday, Aug. 20, 5 p.m.; Two Slick Guys (magicians), Friday, 8 p.m.; Charlie Kenney, Saturday, Aug. 20, 7 and 9 p.m. A complete schedule of fair activities is available at garrettcountyfair.org.

Matthew Lucas Best, 29, Joppa, was found guilty on an alcohol beverage/intoxication endangerment charge stemming from an incident investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in July. He was reportedly involved in a domestic dispute with several adult females at a Stever Mine Road residence. Best was reportedly intoxicated and tried to take his 7-month-old child away from its mother by physical force. He was sentenced to 90 days with 60 suspended. He was granted seven days for time served. He was also placed on 18 months of supervised probation. Best was not prosecuted on a disturbing the peace charge.

Michael Sean McConnell, 21, Swanton, was found guilty on CDS possession of paraphernalia and driving while impaired charges that stemmed from a March traffic stop by Maryland State Police. He was sentenced to 30 days suspended and two years of supervised probation. He was also fined $250 for the first charge and $500 for the second, of which $300 was suspended. He was stopped on Rt. 219 south after a state trooper reportedly observed his vehicle cross the centerline several times. McConnell failed field sobriety tests, and upon his arrest, he was found to be in possession of a prescription bottle containing marijuana. He was not prosecuted on driving under the influence, DUI per se, and possession of marijuana.

Prentice Bay Bryant, 29, Maryland, was found guilty on a DWI charge stemming from a traffic stop in March by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. Bryant was fined $242 and sentenced to 30 days suspended and 18 months of unsupervised probation. She not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

Shawn Allen Streets, 20, Grantsville, was given a stet on a theft less than $1,000 value charge. He reportedly stole a pistol from a ex-girlfriend's home in June. The conditions of his stet are that he obey all laws and have no contact with the victim. He was not prosecuted on a first-degree burglary charge.

Vana Sue Gank, 27, Oakland, was not prosecuted on an accessory after the statute charge stemming from an incident in May. She reportedly gave a ride to Alisa Marie Shafer, 31, Friendsville, not knowing that Shafer had just escaped from the Garrett County Jail prior to Gank picking her up. Her vehicle was stopped on Fingerboard Road by members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Garrett Bureau of Investigation.

Darwin D. Hunter, 43, Hazelton, W.Va., was not prosecuted on three counts of first-degree assault, three counts of second-degree assault, and numerous driving violations. He was arrested in June by Maryland State Police after he reportedly followed a vehicle containing two adults and one juvenile and rear-ended the vehicle with his own. The incident occurred on Blooming Rose Road, Friendsville.

Assessments For GED Classes Set At Oakland Ctr.

The Garrett College Southern Outreach Center (SOC) in Oakland has scheduled two sessions for assessment for those interested in enrolling in fall GED preparation classes.

The first assessment is slated for Tuesday, Aug. 23, starting at 10 a.m. The second session will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 30, also at 10 a.m. Both will be held at the SOC, located in the former armory in Oakland.

Anyone interested in participating in either of these sessions is asked to register by calling 301-334-8304 after Tuesday, Aug. 16.

Local Student Earns Degree

Jodi Roberson of Mtn. Lake Park was recently awarded a bachelor's degree in nursing from Kaplan University (online).

Roberson's accomplishment was celebrated during a graduation ceremony on Saturday, Aug. 6, at the Arie Crown Theater in Chicago, Ill.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

This coming Saturday will be the August Bittinger Fire Department chicken barbecue, beginning at 3:30 p.m. and continuing until they run out. A complete dinner includes half a chicken, baked beans, coleslaw, a roll, and a piece of homemade cake. Not a bad deal for 8 bucks. No, it's a great deal.

My hummingbirds have a full feeder, but lately they are quite enthusiastic about taking a taste of nectar from the tiny orange flowers of jewelweed, or touch-me-nots. But since the flower is so small, it does not have enough liquid for this hot weather.

Even if most days our temperature is in the high 80s or low 90s, it is still better than the about 100-degree weather in Texas. Or in North Carolina, where Steve and Ellen Schlosnagle told me it would be unlivable without air-conditioning.

I saw an old friend, Mike Flynn, who moved there after living for a year or so in New Mexico. But he made the long drive to pay his final respects to Stan Steyer. He told me he used to work with Stan when he was a kid living in Garrett County. When I asked him when that was, he said it was when he was 28 years old. I guess that seems like a kid when you are now 60 years old.

I got a surprise visit from my college boyfriend Flip's sister Maynette and her husband Freeman. Maynette was kind enough to track me down, even if she didn't know my married name. But she asked at the Exxon in McHenry, and they knew me. She also ran into my cousin Courtney Englar.

Unfortunately, there were several sightings of some vicious fishers. One was at the top of Peat Moss Road, and Louis Detrick saw three on the Russell and Mary Brenneman farm. Sheila Southerly heard that they were released here by the DNR. We don't need them, but wherever they were trapped, the people are no doubt pleased to see them gone. My niece Emma's yellow lab Buddy is recovering nicely from his nasty wound from his encounter with one of them.

My new blue tick hound Jackson has settled in well here. I think he will be a good watch dog. He has a good loud bark.

NEW PASTOR INSTALLED – Marantha Assembly of God along Springs Road in Grantsville recently welcomed its new pastor, Rev. Donald A. DeMars, his wife Teresa, and their 10 children ages 8 to 25. Pastor Don and Teresa, above, met at Valley Forge Christian College, were married in 1980, and began ministering shortly thereafter. Pastor Don invites all to come and worship at Maranatha on Sundays at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Bible study and Kids Bible Club are held on Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. For information, transportation, or prayer requests, persons may call 301-895-5300. "Your needs are important to us," a church spokesperson said.

I was sad to see that the Bittinger Post Office will be among those selected for closing. It is not ridiculously far to McHenry or Accident, but it is just something that was always a part of Bittinger, and I wish it could continue as that.

The second week of August has always been the time for the Garrett County Fair, but for some reason it is a week later. I don't know why. I always thought of it as a sign that summer was over and it was almost time to go back to school. In fact, Caitlin and Mere went back to West Virginia University yesterday, Aug. 10. I dreaded that. It was so nice to have them in and out every day. But they are very busy with their summer jobs. Mere started as a waitress at what used to be the Silver Tree, now called Dutch's.

I want to clarify something. I am not a "reverse racist." I am only anti-racist. I do have negative feelings about any white person who believes that they are superior to anyone belonging to another race. I am disgusted at how our early settlers treated our Native Americans. I am equally disgusted about slavery.

I heard something on Sunday evening that I had not heard for a long time. There were thousands of little creatures humming and singing like I used to hear on hot summer nights when I stayed with my cousins in Cumberland.

I once read a novel by Robert Heinlein called Stranger in a Strange Land. And that title is pretty much where many Americans are now. Can anyone in mainstream America understand everything that is going on? The political circumstances are growing more and more divided and extreme. And now campaigns are mostly about attacking the other party or position as incompetent and pointing America in the wrong direction.

Many powerful forces control our economy and the stock market. Can anyone really understand the ups and downs of it? I think oftentimes the stock market rises significantly when oil prices go higher. But that is not good for average Americans. And who knows what is going on with those rating agencies? Our labor market behaves so strangely, while corporations enjoy profits and shed jobs at an alarming rate. We are in the middle of a global economy. The motives of China also seem mysterious to us.

It is wonderful to hear a really soaking rainfall, because we really do need rain. I am sad to say that the Rock Lodge spring was not flowing when I passed it Tuesday. Most of my life, I always depended on seeing water gushing from the pipe.

I can't believe that another gunman invaded Virginia Tech University after the mass slaughter there in 2007.

It is widely known that violent crimes often spike during very hot weather. In addition, most people experience a feeling of emotional turmoil and overall high anxiety in this kind of weather.

I think it is very hollow when many Americans praise our military personnel when they are far away from the often life/death situation. Yet many business owners are reluctant to bother to take advantage of the significant skills they gained in serving our country. Hundreds of thousands of returning veterans are unable to find a decent job. So the patriotism that is often bragged about seems mysteriously absent in the business world.

The only way to make the private business sector move in a constructive way for our nation is to give them more tax incentives to hire veterans, for example. That shows that something is dreadfully rotten in our national culture.

I know God the Father told Adam and Eve to "be fruitful and multiply." But that was when the population was two. It is a far different world now. As fast as the world population is growing, sooner or later, the world will experience a major shortage of food. So why are some so against even using birth control? I understand why they oppose abortion.

This Saturday, I faced a big challenge: the viewing of the body of my long-time friend, Stan Steyer, who often shared rides with me back and forth to College Park. He broke his neck when he was using an inverse machine that turns you upside down. I don't know why it dropped him. But since that accident over two years ago, he was completely paralyzed, but his wife Sally and their son were able to care for him at home. Since the accident there was really no hope that he could recover.

Another friend of his, Mike Filzan, came up from North Carolina to pay his respects. He dropped by to see me and said, "Maybe it is a blessed release," but not for the closest people in his life. Even if Sally and his son's lives might get easier after his passing, nothing can fill the hole left by the loss of a beloved figure in anyone's life.

It was almost equally difficult for me to return to the funeral home where I paid my last visit to the late Pam Ashby, who was killed tragically a number of years ago in January when her family was on the way to make funeral arrangements for their recently deceased mother.

I also remember a lovely summer evening in perhaps 1969. The meeting of the 4-H Club was over, and a bunch of us, including Pam and her sister Sherry and her longtime sweetheart, Bob Crone, and my brother Rodney and I loaded into the hot pink Cadillac convertible driven by Robert Butch Hesson and cruised around Oakland. Well, three of the kids are now dead: Pam, her brother-in-law Bob Crone, and Butch Hesson. All played important

Gowers To Celebrate 50th Anniversary

William "Bill" and Maxine (Dillsworth) Gower, Pleasant Valley, will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The couple were married on Aug. 12, 1961, in Oakland.

William is the son of the late Herbert and Catherine (Jones) Gower. Maxine is the daughter of the late Leonard and Hazel (Ark) Dillsworth and stepmother Mae (Huhn) Dillsworth.

They have two sons and daughters-in-law – Ray and Debbie Gower, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Bob and Paula Gower, Oakland – and three grandchildren, all of Oakland.

In honor of their parents, Ray, Bob, and their families will hold an open house on Saturday, Aug. 20, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Ray and Debbie's house in Terra Alta.

"Come and celebrate this blessed day with us," a family member said.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Asher Glade Church of the Brethren will host its annual ice cream social this Saturday, Aug. 13, beginning at 4 p.m. An auction will begin at 6 p.m. The public is welcome.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Revival services will be held at Asher Glade Church of the Brethren from Monday, Aug. 29, through Friday, Sept. 2, at 7 p.m. each evening. Kevin Staggs will be the guest speaker, and special music will be provided nightly. The public is welcome to attend.

The West Marva District men's fellowship banquet will be held on Saturday, Aug. 20, at Sunnyside Church of the Brethren.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Bible study is held every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. at the church.

The women of the church will be going to the Casselman Inn for lunch on Thursday, Aug. 25. They will meet at the church at 11 a.m. Those interested should contact Cathy Williams.

RUSH BAPTIST CHURCH

Rush Baptist Church will have its annual homecoming celebration on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the church on 1985 Old Morgantown Rd., Friendsville. The morning worship service will be led by Karin Tyson and Herman from Chester, Va. Karin has a puppet ministry called P.A.L.S. for Christ, through which she does Christian puppet shows, ventriloquism, gospel wonders, and Bible stories. The morning worship service begins at 11 a.m. A covered dish picnic will follow at around 12:30 p.m. The Keefers will sing, and Karin and Herman will minister again at 2 p.m. Past and present members as well as pastors are welcome to attend and renew old acquaintanees. The general public is welcome to attend as well.

WOW NEWS

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 will hold its annual awards banquet on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Bittinger fire hall beginning at 6 p.m. Entertainment will be provided, and door prizes will be awarded. The cost of the dinner for members is $5, and guests are welcome to attend for $11. Those attending should call 301-746-5331 for reservations by Sept. 5.

IN HONOR AND REMEMBRANCE

Emptiness and sorrow filled the nation's heart on Sept. 11, 2001, a day that will forever be embedded in the minds of Americans. WOW members organize annual honor and remembrance ceremonies, giving members, family, and friends a chance to grieve over the lives lost that tragic day and to pay respect to the heroes who responded.

Ceremonies are held every year on Sept. 11 and have evolved into a public forum to thank local firefighters, police officers, emergency medical technicians, and members of the military.

Woodmen of the World invite all to attend the honor and remembrance ceremony on Sunday, Sept. 11, at Friendsville Community Park at 6:30 p.m. Ricky Howsare will be performing patriotic music along with hymns.

The public is invited.

TOWN NEWS

The next mayor and town council meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 23. A public hearing will be held before the council meeting at 6:45 p.m. for any public input into the adoption of Ordinance 2011-2: Amendment to the Tree Maintenance/Tree Protection Ordinance. This ordinance allows an individual who is a business owner/operator who lives within a three-mile radius of town to be a member of the tree committee. The complete amended ordinance can be seen in the town hall at 313 Chestnut Street, on the town hall door, or in the post office.

The mayor and town council will have a public hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 6, beginning at 6:30 p.m. to get public input on selling of town-owned property on Gravel Hill.

I myself dodged a deadly bullet when an aneurism burst in 1994. And then Stan's long-time partner in their construction company, Stone Wall Construction, Andrew McGowan, died a few years later from a brain tumor. Bob Crone lived with some devastating health damage from his time in the Vietnam War.

I don't know why I continue to torture myself by watching this never ending skid of the Pirates. I think they have a nine-game losing streak. Well, I guess I am not the only one whose hope springs eternal. Anyway, this weekend when they played San Diego, several hundred fans were in the stadium.

Sadly, we are at a similar place in the war in Afghanistan as we were in Vietnam in the late 1960s. Both, at the beginning, fit well into our overall national goals. Both were ill-planned and poorly thought out, because our enemies were not clearly identified. The Vietnam War was part of a larger effort to defeat communism, and we entered Afghanistan as part of a response to the Sept. 11 events.

But it rapidly expanded from simply defeating al-Qaeda into a widespread fight against most of the Afghan people, or at least our primary target was the Taliban, who have quite a bit of support among the general population of Afghanistan. So it caused many civilian casualties. Both lasted for longer than we expected. And in both cases, that caused severe war-weariness. In both, we discovered that it is much harder to get out with our American dignity intact.

This is such a challenging time in American history that we need a leader like we now have: with an open mind, good will to all kinds of people, and the ability to absorb and apply some very complex information. I believe he has a very deep concern for America, and that he will be able to heal our deeply divided nation.

It is sadly the most divided political period of my lifetime.

Maryland's AAA Rating From S&P Is Unchanged

Standard & Poor's has issued a report dated Aug. 8 titled State And Local Government Ratings are Not Directly Constrained by that of the U.S. Sovereign.

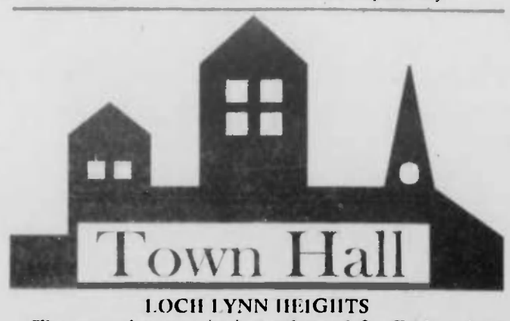
"There is no action on Maryland's rating," said a Standard & Poor's Maryland analyst.

In the report, S&P states, "A minority of state and local obligors rated by Standard & Poor's have achieved the highest long-term rating of AAA. We expect that many of these obligors, particularly those with relatively low levels of funding interdependencies with the federal government or those that, in our view, are likely to manage declines in federal funding without weakening their credit profile, should be able to retain ratings above the U.S. sovereign rating..."

A spokesperson for the state treasurer's office said the office has been and will continue to be in contact with all three rating agencies to emphasize the qualitative evaluation factors that should be considered by the rating agencies (e.g., a history of prudent financial management, a highly educated workforce, a strong, diverse economy, a Constitutionally dedicated tax for bond debt service, and a fiscal condition that is better than most states) while it assesses the impact of federal government actions.

"We are pleased to see that Standard & Poor's is looking at the states individually, and we believe that Maryland's prudent fiscal management will be viewed positively by the rating agencies as they review the states," said Treasurer Nancy Kopp.

The treasurer noted that there was very strong investor demand for Maryland's general obligation bonds in the bond sale on July 27, as demonstrated by the fact that the true interest cost was among the lowest since 1988. These bonds closed on August 5. Series A, totaling $71.7 million, was purchased by retail investors, primarily Maryland citizens. Series B, totaling $418.3 million, was purchased by Bank of America Merrill Lynch which had the winning bid of seven bids. The state also received eight and nine bids on Series C and Series D, respectively.



LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

The annual town picnic is planned for Friday, Aug. 26, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the pavilion located along Roanoke Ave. Corn, hot dogs, and sodas will be provided. Residents are asked to bring a covered dish and spend the evening getting reacquainted with neighbors.

Residents are reminded that Zoning Permits are required for most construction projects. They are to contact the town hall to inquire about any new projects.

Garage/Yard Sale Signs: The ordinance adopted by the council regarding the signs is posted on the bulletin board at the town hall. Residents should call 301-334-8339 with questions.

The next regularly scheduled council meeting is Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 6 p.m.

Residents Warned Of Md. Unclaimed Prop. Phone Scam

Comptroller Peter Franchot recently alerted Marylanders to an unclaimed property scam that has been detected in several other states.

People receive a message from the National Association of Unclaimed Property administrative director Jeff Smith, which states that an abandoned package has been found belonging to the recipient. Those who reply to the message are directed to a contact with an international phone number that is then charged to their phone bill.

Franchot urges anyone who receives this message to contact his office at 1-800-782-7383. The agency's complete unclaimed property records are available at www.marylandtaxes.com or www.missingmoney.com.

State Checkoff Program Receives Record Support

At the final count of votes, the Maryland Grain Checkoff Program referendum passed with an unprecedented margin of 97.6%, the highest margin in its 20-year history.

Try our Want Ads. They Pay.

Voter turnout matched that of the last vote in 2006, even though farmer numbers statewide have decreased. Eligible voters are those financially engaged in the growing of grain as a landowner, tenant, or sharecropper

Under state law, a referendum is required every five years to reaffirm support for the checkoff program. The vote was held in county extension offices on Friday, July 29, or by previous absentee ballot, with the official counting of the votes taking place on Aug. 2 at the quarterly meeting of the Maryland Grain Producers Association.

"We are very pleased that Maryland grain producers are in such strong support of the Checkoff Program," stated Jason Scott, president of the Maryland Grain Producers Association and a grain grower whose farm is in Wicomico County. "Projects funded through the checkoff program provide science-based answers to our local growing conditions to improve farm practices and improve the environment. Projects expand uses of grain and improve the market for our state's grain industry. Farmers recognize the success of this program and how it improves the efficiency and profitability on their farms."

The mandatory checkoff states that a farmer must pay an assessment of one-half of 1 percent (.5%) to be collected on the net value of each bushel of grain sold. The checkoff is deducted at the first point of sale on all grain, with the exception of soybeans and sorghum, which are under national checkoff programs. Any farmer who does not wish to participate in the program can receive a full or partial refund upon written request. The assessment can also be put toward membership in the Maryland Grain Producers Association. For membership details, persons are invited to telephone Lynne Hoot at 410-956-5771 or go online to www.marylandgrain.com.

The Maryland Grain Checkoff Program is administered by the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board, a 20-member board representing grain producers from six regions throughout the state. Funding is used for education, research, and market development. The Checkoff Program will now continue for another five years, beginning Oct. 1, 2011.

FSA REMINDS PRODUCERS OF FARM STORAGE FACILITY LOAN PROGRAM

Preston County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) executive director Eric McCartney reminds producers that the Farm Storage Facility Loan (FSFL) program allows producers of eligible commodities to obtain low-interest financing to build or upgrade farm storage and handling facilities.

The new maximum principal amount of a loan through FSFL is $500,000. Participants are now required to provide a down payment of 15 percent, with Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) providing a loan for the remaining 85 percent of the net cost of the eligible storage facility and permanent drying and handling equipment. New loan terms of 7, 10, or 12 years are available depending on the amount of the loan. Interest rates for each term rate may be different and are based on the rate which CCC borrows from the U.S. Treasury Department.

Payments are available in the form of a partial disbursement and the remaining final disbursement. The partial disbursement will be available after a portion of the construction has been completed. The final fund disbursement will be made when all construction is completed. The maximum amount of the partial disbursement will be 50 percent of the projected and approved total loan amount.

Applications for FSFL must be submitted to the FSA county office that maintains the farm's records. An FSFL must be approved before any site preparation or construction can begin.

The following commodities are eligible for farm storage facility loans:

- Corn, grain sorghum, rice, soybeans, oats, peanuts, wheat, barley or minor oilseeds harvested as whole grain
- Corn, grain sorghum, wheat, oats or barley harvested as other than whole grain
- Pulse crops – lentils, small chickpeas and dry peas
- Hay
- Renewable biomass
- Fruits (including nuts) and vegetables – cold storage facilities

For more information about a Farm Storage Facility Loan, persons are invited to visit the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, telephone 304-329-1923, or visit the FSA web site at www.fsa.usda.gov.

MARKETING ASSISTANCE LOANS AVAILABLE THROUGH FSA

McCartney also reminds producers that Marketing Assistance Loans (MALs) are available for those who share in the risk of producing the crop.

To be eligible, a producer must maintain continual beneficial interest in the crop from harvest through the earlier of the date the loan is repaid or Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) takes title to the commodity. Beneficial interest means retaining the ability to make decisions about the commodity; responsibility for loss or damage to the commodity; and title to the commodity. Once beneficial interest in a commodity is lost, the commodity is ineligible for loan – even if the producer regains beneficial interest.

MAL eligibility also requires compliance with conservation and wetland protection requirements, beneficial interest requirements, acreage reporting, and ensuring that the commodity meets CCC minimum grade and quality standards. For commodities to be eligible, they must have been produced by an eligible producer, be in existence and in a storable condition, and be merchantable for food, feed, or other uses as determined by CCC. The quality of the commodity in farm storage must be maintained throughout the term of the loan.

Producers do not have to participate in the Direct and Counter-Cyclical and/or ACRE programs to be eligible for MAL.

Violating provisions of a marketing assistance loan may trigger administrative actions, such as assessing liquidated damages, calling the loan, and denial of future farm-stored loans. The most common violations are removing or disposing of a commodity being used as loan collateral without prior authorization, and providing an incorrect quantity certification.

To obtain a Marketing Assistance Loan, persons may visit the Farm Service Agency office in Kingwood.

Thank You!

I would like to extend a thank-you to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the wonderful care I received during my recent hospitalization. I would like to recognize my physicians for the special attention and concern. Dr. Tuel - orthopedic surgeon and Dr. Goralski - family physician. During my stay I received excellent care from the ICU staff. I would especially like to mention nurse Mike Browning for his care and attention to detail. Thanks to the lovely staff of the third floor. Lastly and importantly the staff of the sub-acute unit. I could not ask for a more caring, attentive and skilled staff. The therapy team was beyond expectation. I appreciate all the efforts of the hospital making my re-entry a huge success.

GETTING READY FOR FAIR WEEK – Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club members met Monday at their pavilion at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. They have been busy cleaning up and preparing for the fair, scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 13, through Saturday, Aug. 20. The club will serve barbecued chicken dinners all week and traditionally serves more than 2,000 meals each year during fair week. Proceeds from the dinners go toward the purchase of eyeglasses for the needy and assisting various local organizations, including Little League Baseball and Scouts.

Computer Classes Slated In Sept. At Grantsville Center

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division has scheduled two computer courses in September at the Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville: "Social Media" and "Security for the Home Computer"

"Social Media" is slated for Tuesdays, Sept. 13 and 20, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Social media is the term applied to computer technologies that turn communication into interactive dialogue. This can be used for personal and business purposes.

In this class, students can become familiar with several of its popular forms and how to use them by exploring Facebook, YouTube, Twitter, Wikipedia, and MySpace.

"Security for the Home Computer" is set for Wednesdays, Sept. 21 and 28, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

The course will provide information on the security risks of home computing and Internet access. It will include methods of recognizing and preventing computer viruses as well as a review of basic concepts and techniques of information security.

In addition to the above mentioned classes, coming in September to the center are the following personal interest courses: "Secrets of Better Photography," "Advanced Portrait Painting," "Writing Children's Books," "Finding Your Way with GPS," "Spiritualism," "Functional Foods for Optimal Health," and "Creating Tiered Cakes."

For additional information on these courses, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, by calling 301-895-4700 or via e-mail at terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for these courses, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

214 Pritts Road, Swanton, MD 21561

Under and by virtue of a Judgment of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, passed on February 2, 2011, in the proceedings No. 11-C-10-11370, Civil Action in said Court, wherein Marla Dawn Sines is the Plaintiff and James Alvin Sines is the Defendant, the undersigned, being authorized and directed to sell the property hereinafter described, does hereby give notice that on at the Alder Street entrance of the Garrett County Court House, Oakland, Maryland, I will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder the following property, all of that piece or parcel of land situate in Election District 18 Garrett County, Maryland, containing 60,112 square feet, more or less, believed to be improved by a 1,512 sq. ft residence, known as 214 Pritts Rd., Swanton, MD, being the same as conveyed in deed from Albert & Stephanie Winner dated September 3, 1991, and recorded in Liber 569, Folio 678, respectively, among the Land Records of Garrett County Maryland. The land is Parcel 222 on Tax Map 67.

Friday August 26, 2011,
AT THE HOUR OF 3:00 P.M.

Terms of Sale: Deposit of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) shall be paid at sale, balance at settlement, which shall be within fifteen days after final ratification of sale, time being of the essence. Both payments shall be cash, certified or cashier's check. The Trustee makes no representations and/or warranty whatsoever regarding the title or any other matter with respect to the property either express or implied, including but not limited to: the nature, condition, quality and quantity of the land, suitability of use and/or purpose, description of the property and/or improvements, if any. The Property will be sold subject to all easements, conditions, liens, restrictions, rights of redemption, covenants, encumbrances and agreements of record affecting the same, and such state of facts that an accurate survey or physical inspection of the Property might disclose. The Property will be sold subject to all existing building, zoning, wetland, and environmental problems and or violations which may exist on or with respect to the Property, if any. Purchaser at the sale shall assume the risk of loss with respect to the Property as of the time of sale. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property. Taxes, and any other payable public charges and assessments will be adjusted to the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. All costs of conveyance and settlement, including incidental settlement costs, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes, shall be paid by Purchaser. Time is of the essence as to Purchaser. In the event the Purchaser fails to settle as required, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available, Substitute Trustee may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of Purchaser. In such event, Purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney fees, and all other charges due. In the event that Trustee is unable to convey marketable title, the sale is null and void and Purchaser is not entitled to any legal or equitable remedy other than the return of the deposit, without interest and any and all other claims of the Purchaser are hereby released. Other terms and conditions may be announced at the sale. The information contained herein is offered for informational purposes only, it is Purchaser's obligation to obtain an independent investigation of the Property. The Trustee does not make any representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information and Purchaser holds them harmless from same. The Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Assignee Sale of Valuable Property
N/S Route 135, Mt. Lake Park, Maryland

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage from Stony Brook Homes, LLC, unto Homer Liston and Mary Mae Liston, husband and wife, dated April 30, 2008, and recorded in Liber 1368, Folio 0149 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; the hold of the indebtedness secured by the Mortgage having been assigned unto Robert O. Kazary, Esquire, by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the land Records of the County aforesaid in Liber 1594, folio 0385, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby the undersigned Assignee will offer for sale at public auction:

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND
ON THE COURT HOUSE STEPS
TUESDAY, AUGUST 23, 2011, AT 9:30 AM

ALL that lot or parcel of ground and the improvements thereon situate in Garrett County, Maryland, and more fully described in the aforesaid Mortgage, containing 49,658 square feet; Maryland Highway, N/S Route 135, Mt. Lake Park, MD. The property will be sold in an "as-is" condition and subject to the conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any with no warranty as to the description of the improvements.

Terms of sale: A deposit of $10,000.00 (Ten Thousand Dollars) will be required for the property, at the time of sale, such deposit to be in cash, cashier's check, certified check, or in other form as the Assignee may determine acceptable in his sole discretion. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland. If payment of the balance does not take place within ten (10) days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Mortgage Note from the date of sale to the date of settlement in the event that the property is purchased by someone other than the note holder. Taxes and water rent to be adjusted to the date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis including the city taxes to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be born by the purchaser. If the Assignee is unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sold remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit of the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit this sale shall be void and of no affect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Assignee. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after sale.

PROGRAM POLICY
TITLE VI, CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital program has agreed to comply with the provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and all requirements imposed pursuant thereto, to the end that no person shall, on the basis of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination in the provisions of any care or services.

Specifically, the above includes (but is not limited to) the following characteristics:

1. Client care will be provided on a nondiscriminatory basis; all clients will be admitted and receive care without regard to race, color, or national origin.
2. All clients will be assigned to services without regard to race, color, or national origin.
3. When applicable, clients will not be asked if they are willing or desire to share a room with a person of another race.
4. Employees will be assigned to client services without regard to race, color, or national origin of either the client or employee.
5. Staff privileges will not be denied to professionally qualified personnel on the basis of race, color, or national origin of either the client or employee.
6. All facilities of this program will be utilized without regard to race, color, or national origin.
7. All staff, employees, and contractors will be informed of NONDISCRIMINATORY practices and individual responsibilities.

The nondiscriminatory policy of this facility applies to clients, physicians, contractors, and responsible facility employees. Under no circumstances will the application of the policy result in the segregation or re-segregation of buildings, wings, floors, or rooms for the reason of race, color, or national origin. 8/4-11(2)

There shall be no abatement of interest for any reason. Deposit not required if mortgagee is purchaser. Assignee reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to extend the time of settlement at his discretion. Property is sold in "AS IS" condition. The Assignee makes no representations and/or warranty whatsoever regarding the title or any other matter with respect to the property, either express or implied, including but not limited to: the nature, condition, quality and quantity of the land, suitability of use and/or purpose, description of the property and/or improvements, if any. The Property will be sold subject to all easements, conditions, liens, restrictions, rights of redemption, covenants, encumberences and agreements of record affecting the same, and such state of facts that an accurate survey or physical inspection of the Property might disclose. The Property will be sold subject to all existing building, zoning, wetland, and environmental problems and or violations which may exist on or with respect to the Property, if any. Purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss with respect to the Property as of the time of sale. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property. Taxes, and similar public charges and assessments will be adjusted to the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for all unpaid and/or current sewer costs, including transfer fees. All costs of conveyance and settlement, including incidental settlement costs, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes, shall be paid by Purchaser. Time is of the essence as to Purchaser. In the event the Purchaser fails to settle as required, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available, Assignee may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of Purchaser. In such event, Purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of re-sale, reasonable attorney fees, and all other charges due. In the event that Assignee is unable to convey marketable title, or, in the event the Mortgagor entered into a repayment plan, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to sale, or if for any other reason, Assignee did not have the right to sell the property, the sale is null and void and Purchaser is not entitled to any legal or equitable remedy, other than the return of the deposit, without interest and any and all other claims of the Purchaser are hereby released. Other terms and conditions may be announced at the sale. The information contained herein is offered for informational purposes only. It is Purchaser's obligation to obtain an independent investigation of the Property. The Note Holder and Assignee do not make any representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information and Purchaser holds them harmless from same.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION

General Permit for Discharges from Tanks, Pipes and Other Liquid Containment Structures at Facilities Other than Oil Terminals

General Discharge Permit No. 11HT (NPDES No. MDG67) applies to discharges from structures that contain or convey liquids at facilities other than oil terminals in the state of Maryland. The Department proposes to reissue State/NPDES (National Pollution Discharge Elimination System) General Permit for Discharges from Tanks, Pipes and Other Liquid Containment Structures at Facilities other than Oil Terminals with revisions to the previously issued permit (No. 06HT) as summarized below.

The benzene limit for treated tank bottom wastewater from petroleum storage tanks to surface water was updated to the current state water quality criteria of 22 µg/L.

For discharges associated with the disinfection of pipes, pipelines and tanks, the Department proposes to only authorize disinfection agents based on bromide or chloride.

The Department proposes to change the requirements for transfer of authorization under this permit from 'non-transferable to a person' to 'non-transferable to a change in location.' This ensures the Department is not authorizing a discharge at a new location without appropriate review through submission of a new application.

The required notice of intent (application) now requires more complete information relevant to the permit conditions. Also required is the addition of a site map illustrating discharge locations.

The permit requires development (or modification) of a Pollution Prevention Plan (PPP) prior to obtaining coverage under this permit. The previous permit required potable water systems to develop a PPP within 6 months of coverage under this permit.

Potable water systems who are adding any significant structural additions (i.e., distribution storage tanks) covered under this permit will notify the Department of such changes as well as notify any affected storm sewer system authority 30 days prior to the flushing seasons (typically Spring and Fall).

The permit includes a narrative condition prohibiting discharges containing visible oil sheen, floating solids or persistent foam.

The previous permit required temperature monitoring during July, August and September; this permit renewal expands the applicable months to include May, June and October.

The permit eliminates the requirement to monitor for any existing material (aside from oil & grease) as the Department has never found need to require submission of such information and it could be misconstrued that residual material is acceptable in the discharge, which is not authorized.

The permit identifies specific requirements for discharges resulting in the draining or flushing of fire control systems, and untreated "water" in excess of 10,000 gallons per day as a monthly average from water storage or distribution systems. These requirements include prevention of erosion and eliminating temperature variation beyond ambient conditions after a mixing zone.

The permit requires potable water systems where mechanical cleaning occurs to meet a numeric discharge limit for total suspended solids (TSS) of 60 mg/L.

The permit requires quarterly submission of Discharge Monitoring Reports (DMRs), a reduction in frequency from the previous permit which required monthly submissions.

The permit removes the eligible discharge of 'wastewater from pipeline infiltration' as no one had previously applied for this discharge nor is there a record of its intended purpose.

Finally the permit includes several clarifications on the types of eligible discharges authorized by the permit and updates various standard permit conditions. The updated standard permit conditions include, but are not limited to: requirements to obtain coverage under an individual permit, as necessary; termination of coverage under a permit; continuation of an expired general permit; the definitions for super chlorination, potable water, disinfectant, estimated flow, impaired water, and total maximum daily load (TMDL); notice of intent (application) requirements; submission of notifications once registered under the permit; reporting laboratory performing analysis; facility operation and maintenance; and permit modification.

The Department will hold a public hearing concerning the tentative determination on Wednesday, August 31, 2011, at 10 a.m. in the Aqua Conference Room at MDE, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, MD 21230.

Any hearing impaired person may request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Tyrone Hill, Office of Fair Practices, at 410-537-3964 at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date. TTY users should contact the Maryland Relay Service at 1 800 201-7165.

The draft permit is available on MDE's website (www.mde.state.md.us) and can be found at the Wastewater Permits website http://www.mde.state.md.us/waterpermits under "Water Applications and Other Forms" then "Hydrostatic Testing of Tanks ", or by searching "tanks.aspx" in the right hand corner search engine through the comment period. Any questions regarding this tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, should be directed to Shannon McDonald at the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, at smcdonald@mde.state.md.us, by telephone at 410-537-3323 between the hours from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Copies of the document may be obtained at a cost of $0.36 per page. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will also be considered in the preparation of a final determination if received by Shannon McDonald at the above address, on or before Wednesday, September 6, 2011. 8/4-11(2)

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS ENGINEERING SERVICES

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland is seeking proposals from interested firms for the engineering, inspection, and construction management services necessary for the B & O Museum Renovation Project. The scope of the project will include the review of funding agency requirements, establishment of detailed specifications for the project in accordance with the B & O Museum Committee and the Town of Oakland, and overall project construction management. Services would also require preparation of bid documents, review and certification of bids, inspection and management of the proposed repairs/renovations, equipment installation and construction for the project.

Engineering Proposal Packages for the proposed project may be obtained at Oakland City Hall, 15 South Third Street, during normal office hours. A pre-proposal review meeting will be held on August 10, 2011 at 2:30 p.m. at the Oakland Train Station, 117 E. Liberty Street, Oakland, MD 21550. Sealed proposals marked "B & O Museum Renovation Project" must be submitted to Oakland City Hall by 10:00 a.m. on August 15, 2011. The Town reserves the right to reject any and or all proposals. Questions may be directed to Oakland City Hall at 301-334-2691. FOE.

MAKING IT HAPPEN – Maney Gale and Fred Learey, pictured, have been instrumental in creating the "I Can Swim" program that will be available to all kindergarten-age children in Garrett County at no charge to families when the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Center opens in September. Learey, director of the Garrett College Foundation, is working to establish sustainable funding sources for the program that was co-designed by Gale, program coordinator for Continuing Education & Workforce Development at GC. See story for details.

"I Can Swim" Program Coming To Garrett College CARC Pool

by Peggy Santamaria

When the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Center (CARC) opens in September, the "I Can Swim" program will be offered to all Garrett County kindergarten-age children at no charge to their families.

For Garrett College president Dr. Richard MacLennan this is a priority program for the CARC.

Dr. MacLennan met with the newly elected Garrett County Board of Commissioners last December to discuss the CARC. At that time he described his vision of providing this type of community programming.

"Working with the Garrett County Board of Education, the college developed the 'I Can Swim' program," he said. "We wanted to make a clear statement that the facility and its programs are here to serve our community."

One of the desired outcomes of the "I Can Swim" initiative is that the families of children involved continue to enjoy the CARC fitness activities, according to Dr. MacLennan.

"Long-term goals include a decrease in childhood obesity and higher levels of academic achievement," he said.

Details of the CARC "I Can Swim" program were hammered out by Maney Gale, program coordinator of the Continuing Education & Workforce Development Division of Garrett College, and Patrick Damon, principal of Kitzmiller Elementary and former kindergarten teacher.

"We designed 'I Can Swim' to align with the Garrett County Board of Education curriculum," said Gale. "The children will earn physical education credit for the time spent at the CARC."

The kindergarten students' curriculum will include swimming, water safety, nutrition, and reading, Gale said.

"I Can Swim" will be held during school hours and will coincide with the "College & Me" series in which the fifth graders of Garrett County schools participate annually at Garrett College.

Transportation will be simplified by dovetailing the "College & Me" and the "I Can Swim" programs. When the fifth-graders at a designated elementary school board the bus to travel to the college, the kindergarten children will come too, Gale said.

"The younger ones would take the swimming classes while the older ones participate in the 'College & Me' activities," she explained.

Children completing the "I Can Swim" curriculum will receive a certificate and be eligible for a discount on a one-year family membership in the CARC.

The Garrett College Foundation has secured the initial funding for the "I Can Swim" program.

"The Foundation is working with a committee to develop a 'Sponsor a Swimmer' program so that it can be a sustainable program," said Fred Learey, executive director of the foundation, adding, "We hope the community will support this program and help make it successful."

For information on CARC and the "I Can Swim" program, persons may contact Maney Gale at 301-387-3786. For information on the Garrett College Foundation, persons may telephone 301-387-3100.

LEARNING MORE THAN BASEBALL were the over 100 area children who recently participated in the Badges for Baseball camp at Garrett College. Sponsored by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in partnership with Garrett College, and the Cal Ripkin Sr. Foundation, the campers learned lessons of life and law in addition to batting and pitching. Local deputies served as coaches. Pictured above with the campers and his K-9 companion Branco is Deputy First Class Bryson Meyers, himself a former collegiate player. One presentation on law enforcement tools was made by DFC Curtis O'Neal. Pictured from left below are Hannah Gillispie, Abby Wilson, DFC O'Neal, Rachel Duggan, Shawn Markwood, Patrick Duggan, Jacob Wilson, and Jacki Markwood. Hannah, Jacki, Patrick, and Shawn, all students at Southern High School, participated as assistant coaches' helpers and earned service learning hours. Abby, Rachel, and Jacob participated as campers.

Garrett Campus Hosts "Badges For Baseball" Camp For Over 100 Youth

by Peggy Santamaria

Buses carrying 108 boys and girls from the Garrett County area rolled onto the Garrett College campus on July 18. Ranging in age from 8 to 11, the youngsters arrived toting baseball gloves and looking forward to the week-long "Badges for Baseball" camp.

The camp and transportation were made possible through a partnership between the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and Garrett College, and the funding came through the Cal Ripken Sr. Foundation.

"Badges for Baseball," the signature program of the foundation, was created in collaboration with the U.S. Department of Justice. The concept behind the camp is to enhance the relationship between law enforcement and youth, using baseball as the tool. Law enforcement officers become the coaches, and focus on teaching teamwork, goal-setting, and other positive behaviors that can be used both on and off the field.

Garrett County sheriff's deputy Dan Duggan explained that the camp offers kids more than just the opportunity to learn to play ball.

"This program also teaches 'The Ripken Way,'" he said. "Each morning after the kids arrive, we have a speaker. Today the topic was 'Respect.' He asked the campers why they should respect him. After they gave several answers, he pointed out that he deserved respect because he is a human being and that every human being deserves respect."

Local deputies, some of whom had played ball in college, volunteered for coaching jobs under Garrett College head baseball coach Eric Hallenbeck.

"Eric really knows how to coach and how to move groups of kids around. He does a great job with them," Duggan said.

Other camp volunteers were Southern High School students earning service learning hours. They served as official camp photographers and helped with daily organization.

The young baseball players said they had really enjoyed the experience.

"I thought it was really great. We learned about good sportsmanship and to always give it your best," said 10-year-old Hayden McLaughlin of Oakland.

Emaleigh Gale, a 10-year-old who lives in Accident, said she had "a super time" at the Badges for Baseball camp.

"The part I liked the best was having the competitions at the end of the week. That was fun. The coaches were all very nice and helpful. We also got new T-shirts," she said.

Oakland resident Skyler Sines, age 9, said he agreed with Hayden that it was a great camp.

"I liked hitting and throwing," he said. "The coaches were good and I made some new friends."

Competitions at the end of the week were followed by an award ceremony and distribution of official black and orange Cal Ripken Sr. T-shirts with the numeral 7 on the back. Coach Hallenbeck was presented an award of thanks for all he did to make the Badges for Baseball camp possible.

OUR TOWN THEATRE PRESENTING "FACE OFF UNLIMITED" – Our Town Theatre will host a comedy performance by Face Off Unlimited. The three-man touring show will present A Whole 'Nother Level! on Friday, Aug. 26, 8 p.m., at the theatre in Oakland. "Completely unscripted and based on audience suggestions, three master improvisers fuse together live music, poetry, physical comedy, and performance art," a spokesperson said. "Face Off sets out to prove that all things, no matter how seemingly different, are all connected in this non-stop comedy thrill ride." The show has toured colleges and universities along the East Coast and received rave reviews, the spokesperson noted. The Huffington Post called it "a can't-miss act" of the 2011 Chicago Improv Festival. The actors recently headlined at the Queens Fringe Festival. New York Times said the troupe is "really funny," and CBS News New York said seeing the show is "one of the best things to do in NYC." The trio – Joe Tex, Jay Painter, and Alexander L. Hill – have been seen on TruTV, MTV, and Funny or Die, as well as off-Broadway. Last month Face Off performed as part of the opening of the West Virginia Governor's School of the Arts. Hill is originally from Oakland, and is the son of Richard and Melodee Hill. The show at OTT will be free to the public, with donations accepted. A pre-show "happy hour" will be held from 7 to 8, with beer and wine for sale by the glass. All guests must be 18 years or older. Reservations are required by calling 301-334-1739 or can be made online at www.ourtowntheatre.org. The trio will move on to Davis and Elkins College for a show on Saturday. Both Painter and Hill are D&E alumni. More information about Face Off Unlimited can be found at faceoff-unlimited.com.

SO MANY CHOICES TO MAKE – Thanks to cooperative (and generally sunny) weather, as well as the efforts of the event's sponsors, participants, and vendors, the Garrett County Agriculture Fair continues to offer an array of exhibits, food, rides, and games for patrons of all ages. Above is young fairgoer Jackson Doyle of Salisbury, Pa., who, undeterred by hands already full, scans a kiddie-pool sized sea of rubber ducklings in hope of choosing a winner. The fair continues through Saturday, Aug. 20, at the fairgrounds in McHenry. Photo by Barb Law.

State's Attorney Will Not Pursue Escape Charges

Charges against two men implicated in Deandre Kelly's escape from the county jail in January were not prosecuted by State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch during recent Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings.

Richard Demoan Hall Jr., 27, Frederick, and Eric Mandrell Nibbins, 27, Washington, D.C., were both indicted by the March 2011 grand jury with one count of conspiracy to commit first degree escape, first degree escape, two counts of first degree assault, two counts of second degree assault, and use of a handgun in the commission of a felony/crime of violence.

Five drug-related charges against Hall were also not prosecuted by the state's attorney: possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) with intent to distribute, conspiracy to possess CDS with intent to distribute, CDS distribute with a firearm, and two counts of possession of marijuana.

The drug charges stem from a traffic stop conducted by Maryland State Police on eastbound I-68 near Friendsville on Jan. 22. Hall and Kelly were passengers in a car driven by 27-year-old Frostburg area resident Amber Lynn James, who was stopped for traveling 83 mph in a 65 mph zone.

After she and Hall were removed from the vehicle for a K-9 scan to be conducted, Kelly fled in the vehicle and was chased by troopers. The 29-year-old was apprehended after he wrecked the car in the Friendsville area. Troopers found marijuana, drug paraphernalia, and a handgun inside the car, according to court records.

James, Hall, and Kelly were charged and arrested by MSP officers. Because of injuries sustained in the accident, Kelly was first taken by ambulance to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment. He was then transported to the Garrett County Jail, where he was fingerprinted and officers learned that he was wanted by the U.S. Marshal's Service,

Maryland Crime Rate Now Lowest Level Since 1975

Governor Martin O'Malley announced yesterday that total crime in Maryland is at its lowest level since 1975. According to 2010 year-end crime data compiled by the Maryland State Police and submitted to the FBI for use in the national crime statistics report, total crime in Maryland was down 5.1 percent – its lowest level since modern crime tracking began in 1975.

Additionally, violent crime decreased 6 percent and property crime was down 4.9 percent. Currently both the violent crime and property crime rates (per 100,000 people) are the lowest ever on record in Maryland. Since 2006, total crime in Maryland has decreased 12 percent and violent crime has decreased 17 percent.

Among violent crimes, homicides dropped 3.2 percent in 2010, with 14 fewer people murdered last year in Maryland than during the year before. The data for 2010 also

Algae Growth At Broadford Lake Prompts GCHD Swim Advisory

Persons are advised to avoid swimming at Broadford Lake in Mtn. Lake Park today because of the growth of blue-green algae, according to Steve Sherrard of the Environmental Health Division of the Garrett County Health Department.

This is an advisory, not a posting of a complete closing. If persons opt to swim in the water, they should follow certain precautions outlined below.

Blooms of algae, called microcystis aeruginosa, have been observed in Broadford Lake, the officials reported. These blooms appear as a greenish substance floating on the water's surface. Sherrard said the algae thrives in hot weather, which the county has experienced this month. While a few cold nights appeared to have stopped the growth, a tester from the health department went out this morning and spotted the algae again on the surface.

Persons should not swim in the water where these blooms are visible. They should not drink, swallow, or inhale the water. Pets should be kept away from the water.

If water contact occurs, persons should be sure to wash off with fresh water.

According to a press release from the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the following have been reported where blue-green algae blooms are present in recreational waters:

Contact with water may cause either irritation or allergic reactions of the skin.

Swallowing water may cause stomach cramps, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, or fever.

Inhalation of water droplets may cause respiratory symptoms.

Very young children, by accidentally swallowing water, may be at higher risk.

Pets are susceptible to serious harm from drinking the water, the report states.

If any persons experience illness and suspect it to be from swimming in Broadford Lake, they should contact the health department at 301-344-7760.

The other concern raised to the local health department has to do with the water treatment plant. Oakland residents' water comes from Broadford Lake, after it goes through the treatment system.

Sherrard said tests taken this week showed no toxins or algae cells in the treated water. There were some cells evident at the intake of the plant, but after treatment there were none.

The town of Oakland purchased a special testing kit for this particular bacteria, Sherrard said, and has been aware of the situation since it arose last week. The advisory at the lake was posted last Friday.

Test results received Tuesday from the MDE lab showed a cell count of 3,920. Sherrard said it takes hundreds of thousands of cells to make the toxin level high enough for serious concern.

Test results received yesterday were excellent, with an extremely low count. But when the officials went to the lake this morning, more of the algae were seen, and the advisory remained posted. Updates of the health department's advisories will be broadcast on the local radio stations, and posted on The Republican newspaper's Facebook page.

Board Of Ed. Announces New Personnel Hires

Grantsville Man Arrested On Assault Charges

Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested a local man at a Grantsville residence early Tuesday morning following a complaint.

Deputies responded to a Bill Beitzel Road home at approximately 1 a.m. Jason Ray Beitzel, 27, was found sitting inside his residence armed with a rifle. He reportedly exited his residence still armed and failed to comply with deputies' orders to put down the firearm. Beitzel allegedly continued toward the deputies in an aggressive manner holding the rifle, which contained a live round. He had to be taken into custody by minimal force after refusing to comply with their orders.

He was charged with first-degree assault, second-degree assault, and reckless endangerment. No injuries were sustained during the incident. Beitzel was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for mental evaluation before being taken to the Garrett County Jail to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner and further evaluation by medical personnel.

Info Sought On July Burglary Of Concession Stand

The Garrett Bureau of Investigation is seeking information concerning a burglary that reportedly occurred during the evening hours of July 16.

Unknown suspect(s) reportedly forced entry into the concession stand at Broadford Lake Park and removed $350 worth of property and caused approximately $100 in damage to the buildings. Anyone with information on this crime or any crime may leave an anonymous tip at www.garrettcountycrimesolvers.org or call the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911.

Tipsters may be eligible for a reward of up to $300. Anyone who has sent a tip online at the above-mentioned web site is reminded to check his/her crime ID number at the site, as recent rewards have been authorized to certain tipsters.

CIVIC CLUB'S PUBLICITY BOOK WINS FIRST IN NATION – Multiple hours of researching, designing, cutting, pasting, and other creative activity paid off in a big way for the GFWC (General Federation of Women's Clubs) Civic Club of Oakland this year, as the organization's publicity book, which records all the activities, news releases, invitations, programs, and other club events for an entire year (2010), was deemed to be the very best such book in the country. The book won the state of Maryland contest in June, and then this month was announced as the national winner. Members of the local club recently traveled to Washington, D.C., to the national headquarters to receive the award. The honor is timely, as the club has launched into a celebration of its 100th year of existence, having been founded in 1911. A series of events celebrating that milestone will take place this fall. More information will be published as these celebrations near. Pictured above at the D.C. event this month, from left, are Kris Yusko and Judi Schiff, both local members; Josephine Miller, state president; Carlene Garner, national GFWC president; Betty Ellington, local member and book compiler; Barbara Frantz, local president; and Ellen Fritz, local member and book compiler.

Hospice Slates Training Classes For Volunteers

Hospice of Garrett County Inc. will sponsor training classes for patient care volunteers beginning Sept. 6 and continuing through Oct. 11. Classes will be held on Tuesdays from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Hospice office.

There is a need for patient care volunteers who will provide companionship to terminally ill patients and respite to their families, a spokesperson said. The volunteers may be asked to sit with the patients, run errands, or help with meals or housekeeping needs. Volunteers are also needed for bereavement after-care. The Hospice bereavement team stays in touch with the family for one year after the death of a loved one. They do mailings, home visits, and maintain a relationship with the family by telephone.

The classes will begin with Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice, presenting an overview of the organization. Debbie Workman, volunteer coordinator, will present a session about working with the volunteer coordinator.

The program on Sept. 13 will feature Cheryl Scheffel, director of clinical services, who will speak about confidentiality, HIPAA and patient privacy, documentation, universal precautions, infection control and safety, signs and symptoms of approaching death, personal care, and sexual abuse.

Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich, MSW, will speak on Sept. 20 about family dynamics, stress management, and listening skills.

On Sept. 27, Shirley Fitzwater, a banker, will speak about legal and financial planning, and Pastor Randy Richardson, Hospice chaplain, will discuss the spiritual aspects of Hospice.

For the Oct. 4 session, class members will tour the Newman Funeral Home in Oakland and be able to talk with funeral directors.

The final class, on Oct. 11, will feature Audrey Kennedy, physical therapist, who will show volunteers proper transfer skills, and Millie O'Haver, bereavement director, who will speak about grief counseling skills.

"Hospice extends an invitation to you to become a part of the Hospice team," Butscher said. "You will find working with the terminally ill and their families to be very rewarding. Keep in mind that doing good for others is doing good for yourself."

"MOUNTAIN MAN PIGOUT" SET AS FUNDRAISER FOR CINDY'S FUND – Cindy's Fund and Archie's Barbeque will host a Mountain Man Food Competition Pigout on Saturday, Sept. 24, at the McHenry restaurant, located along Rt. 219. The first person to eat the entire platter of food in an hour with no bathroom breaks will win various prizes, according to Sandy Bell of Cindy's Fund. The restaurant has offered this food competition for some time, Bell said, and out of approximately 72 challengers, only two have succeeded in eating the entire platter. The platter contains an Archie's deluxe sandwich, one half barbecued chicken, an order of baby back ribs, four pieces of corn bread, two small sides, and a 16-ounce drink. Jonny Rock will provide music for the event. Registration forms can be picked up at any branch of First United Bank, or at Archie's. Pictured above in the front row, from left, are Pam Taylor (Cindy's Fund), Debbie Archer (Archie's), and Bell. In the back, from left, are Kevin Archer, Anthony Archer, and Asa Archer, all of the restaurant.

MSP Seeking Info On Theft From Unlocked Vehicle

Maryland State Police are investigating a reported theft from a vehicle at a Mountain Village West apartment complex on Pysell Road, McHenry.

Unknown suspect(s) reportedly entered an unlocked vehicle and stole loose change and a set of car keys. MSP reminds residents to lock unattended vehicles at all times, place valuables out of sight, and to not leave car keys in the ignition.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to contact the McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101.

Mt. Zion UM Church To Host Homecoming

Trail Dedication Set At Jennings Randolph Lake

The dedication of the Jennings Randolph Lakeside Trail will take place Saturday, Aug. 20, in the picnic area behind the comfort station and playground equipment. The ceremony will start at 1 p.m. and the public is invited to attend. Light refreshments will be available immediately following the dedication ceremony.

The Lakeside Trail is the latest completed project of the Friends of Jennings Randolph Lake, a non-profit volunteer organization. The trail is just short of a mile long and took approximately 400 volunteer man-hours to complete. The trail averages six feet wide, parallels the lake shoreline, is easy walking, and provides a shady, pleasant walk to the Shaw Beach, a spokesperson said.

Costs and volunteers were supplied by the Friends of Jennings Randolph Lake. Anyone interested in learning more about the volunteer organization can obtain information at Saturday's event. Applications to join will also be available.

Foundations To Sponsor Seminar On Philanthropy

Five local charitable foundations, including the Garrett College Foundation, will present a seminar titled "Estate Planning for 2011 and Beyond" on Thursday, Oct. 6, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Cumberland Country Club. The other four particpants are the Allegany College of Maryland Foundation, the Community Trust Foundation, the Frostburg State University Foundation, and the Western Maryland Health System Foundation.

The seminar will provide accountants, attorneys, financial advisors, insurance agents, trust officers, estate planners, and others with an understanding of and familiarity with basic charitable-giving concepts, as well as estate-planning and gift-planning issues and techniques. Discussions will include the uncertain situation of federal estate, gift, and generation-skipping taxation and recent case law developments.

The instructor will be Arthur Werner, J.D., M.S. (taxation), a shareholder in the law firm of Werner & Rocca, P.C. The firm's areas of expertise include business, tax, financial, and estate planning. In addition, Werner is an adjunct professor of taxation in the Master of Science in Taxation program at Philadelphia University.

Werner has presented more than 500 seminars to certified public accountants and financial planners over the past decade. He has been rated a top speaker and discussion leader by numerous CPA organizations.

The cost of the course is $35. To register and/or to obtain more information, persons may contact Rebecca L. Ruppert, ACM director of professional development, at 301-784-5338 or via e-mail at rruppert@allegany.edu. The deadline for registration is Sept. 26.

This course is coordinated by the Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants. Eight continuing professional education (CPE) credits will be offered through MACPA, and contact completion hour certificates will be offered through the Allegany College of Maryland Center for Continuing Education. CPE credit and completion hour certificates will also be awarded to residents of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The course is also being submitted to the Maryland Insurance Administration for credit, as well as to the CFP (Certified Financial Planner) Board of Standards Inc. for eight hours.

Escape Charges

Washington, D.C.

On Jan. 23, Kelly alledgedly assaulted two GC Jail officers, showed them what appeared to be a handgun, and forced them to release an exit door. Federal marshals apprehended Kelly on May 2 in Bedford, Va. His cases are pending.

James was recently sentenced to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail for conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute marijuana.

In addition to Nibbins and Hall, the grand jury also indicted Chiquita Annette Richardson, 27, Alexandria, Va., Dionte Pierre Coley, 29, Cumberland, and Robert Leslie Marshall, 27, College Park, on charges related to Kelly's escape.

Richardson pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit an escape in the first degree and was sentenced to four years in the Division of Corrections. Investigators with the GC Sheriff's Office and U.S. Marshal's Service determined she provided transportation to Kelly following his escape.

Coley was sentenced to three years in the Division of Corrections. Investigators determined that Coley was also involved in arranging transportation for Kelly.

Marshall recently received an 18-month jail sentence for his role in the escape. He has a sentence modification hearing scheduled in GC Circuit Court on Aug. 29.

Amanda Sue Lambert, 24, Cumberland, and Jamal Antonie Kelly, 26, College Park, also face charges related to Deandre Kelly's escape. Their cases are pending in Garrett County Circuit Court.

SAVAGE VOLUNTEERS
Deep Creek Lake State Park, along with Garrett & Allegany counties, to host the 5th Annual "TRI-TO-WIN" SavageMan Triathlon Festival,
September 17, & 18, 2011

What is the SavageMan Triathlon Festival?

In a triathlon, athletes swim, bike and run. This western Maryland crown jewel charity event is known internationally as "The World's Most Beautiful and Most Savage Triathlon" and draws world-class athletes, including this year 6x Ironman World Champion Dave Scott!

The most critical ingredient in staging a successful triathlon is the active participation of enthusiastic, energetic and committed volunteers. Please consider volunteering in this "world-class" event and volunteer in one of many valuable roles to support both the "Savage" Athletes and advance the race charity's mission to fight melanoma skin cancer to benefit everyone!

Volunteer positions, in key race road positions, are available very near where you live, or at Deep Creek Lake State Park and the surrounding area. If you would like to help during this year's "TRI-TO-WIN" SavageMan Triathlon Festival, visit our web page and see full volunteer descriptions online at www.savagmantri.org/volunteers.html

For more information, contact us via email at: volunteers@savagemantri.org or call our Volunteer Coordinators: Suzanne Nicolas at 301-387-3250 or Dick Zimmerman at 240-405-4700.

All race proceeds go directly to the race organizer and host, the Joanna M. Nicolay Melanoma Foundation. Learn more about the Foundation: www.melanomaresource.org

REWARD:
In exchange for several hours of service, volunteers receive SavageMan volunteer shirt, hat, invitation to post-race party at DCL State Park, and FUN!

No More Fighting Sioux...

There was another victory this week for the most ardent fans of "political correctness," as the president of the University of North Dakota reluctantly announced this week that the university has agreed to change the name of its athletic mascot, the Fighting Sioux. With pressure from the NCAA, the state board of higher education ruled that the school had a year to remove the Fighting Sioux name and image.

When the campaign to change the names of mascots that were "deemed hostile or abusive toward Native Americans" began a number of years ago, the 90-year-old university dug in its heels, and the state legislature actually passed a law this year ordering the school to continue using the name. However, because the university is now facing NCAA sanctions if it continues to use the Native American mascot, the governor asked the legislature to change the law.

The university is truly in a jam because some of its most faithful – and wealthy – alumni donors have pledged to discontinue their monetary support; however, the institution will also lose large sums of money if NCAA sanctions are initiated. So it is the proverbial rock and a hard place for the university, which has seven national hockey titles to its credit, and can ill afford the sanctions.

Many other universities threw in the towel on this issue, some nearly four decades ago. The Stanford Indians became the Cardinals in 1972, and the St. John's Red Men became the Red Storm in the mid-'90s, while others, like the University of North Dakota, balked.

Interestingly, the Florida State Seminoles, the University of Utah Utes, and the Central Michigan University Chippewas are not being forced to change their mascot names because each obtained permission from their respective namesake tribes to stay the course. But the Fighting Sioux were denied such an endorsement from the Tribal Council of the Standing Rock Sioux.

It seems a stretch to deem the name Fighting Sioux as in any way "hostile" or "abusive in terms of race, ethnicity, or national origin," as the NCAA's regulation reads. In fact, one could make a strong case that it honors the members of the Sioux tribe rather than degrades them. It certainly keeps the name of the tribe alive and in use, which in a sense commemorates it.

And what about the Washington Redskins? While no ill will toward this particular team is intended here, it seems that the term "redskins" is considerably more "abusive" to our Native Americans, much the same that "blackskins" would be to African Americans.

Perhaps someone from the NCAA leadership will see this column today and provide some reasonable explanation.

To the Editor:

The National Independent Automobile Dealers Association supports the Motor Vehicle Owners' Right to Repair Act (HR 1449), and strongly urges Congress to pass this important piece of legislation on behalf of its over 20,000 members and the motoring public.

As a national trade association representing independent automobile dealers, we believe that all vehicle service and repair information should be made available to consumers and all facilities that sell vehicles or pursue repair opportunities, and should not be restricted to just those who are affiliated with a manufacturer.

Consumers benefit from competition and are at a disadvantage when local auto repair facilities are denied ready access to non-proprietary service information and tools needed to properly maintain today's highly sophisticated motor vehicles. The Right to Repair Act ensures that car companies provide full access at a reasonable cost to all service information, tools, computer codes, and safety-related bulletins needed to repair motor vehicles so that our members' customers and all motorists can have their vehicles serviced at the repair shop of their choice.

We encourage you to join us and visit www.righttorepair.org to send a letter to each of your congressional representatives, urging them to support the Right to Repair Act.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

The hot topic at the lake is water levels, another issue which shows the "crazy" financial structure.

Who benefits from water releases? What are the costs? Are those benefiting paying the costs? Who benefits?

Brookfield Renewal Power, a Canadian corporation, owns the dam, sells power on the grid, and operates under an MDE permit. No one seems to know how much Brookfield makes from its Deep Creek hydro operations.

The others benefiting are Youghiogheny users, white-water rafters, trout fishermen, and others enjoying this wonderful watershed.

What are the costs?

The power company may withdraw seven feet annually. By early August, the withdrawals impact recreational uses, even though Maryland law defines the "highest purpose" of the lake as recreational use.

Withdrawal pulls sediment and nutrients into the lake from the 50-plus tributaries. Coves become more shallow and the lake bottom "flattens" because of hydrological dynamics of water out-flows. More shallow, nutrient-laden waters support SAV growth and algal blooms.

How does one quantify these losses? What is the cost to the property owner who reports her grandchildren don't come to the lake now because of the mud and grasses?

The 2011 operating permit adjustments resulted in higher water levels in June and July, causing shoreline erosion from boat wakes and winds. How much sediment washed into the lake? What is the cost in terms of recreational losses and removal of just this sediment? Who is paying?

One hard figure is the reduction in tax revenues from lake property owners who have appealed their assessment because of decline in recreational use.

Are those benefiting from water releases paying the costs? No. The beneficiaries are not paying the costs, but on the other hand, no one has figured the costs and asked that they pay. Instead, lake people are absorbing losses, but increasingly less willing to be quiet. Down the road, the state is pushing for a tax district so current property owners can pay for sediment removal.

We have urged county officials to undertake a cost-benefit analysis of water withdrawals. Hard data are needed for an informed debate. Without real numbers, a case cannot be made that those who benefit from the withdrawal should pay the costs, and that state policy allowing documented reduction in recreational use must be remedied immediately.

To the Editor:

Re "Notes from Bittinger" by Joan Sussman Glotfelty, next to last paragraph of her column dated Aug. 11.

I am glad your leader has an open mind, good will toward all kinds of people, and the ability to absorb and apply some very complex information.

My questions are:

When is he going to put America back to work (unemployment still over 9%)?

When is he going to do something about the housing crises?

When is he going to do something about inflation?

When is he to do something about the millions of illegal aliens?

When is he going to come up with a budget we can all live with?

Etc.?

It is all well and good he is "a good guy," but when is he going to be an effective leader?

It is very sad that the president, House, and Senate think more of their political party than they do of this country. What they all need to do is forget which party they belong to and start working as a team to bring this wonderful country back to where it should be.

This poor country has, in the last 2½years, gone to hell in a hand basket, and as far as I see it just continues spiraling downward.

Sincerely,
Joan L. Mellotte

To the Editor:

As the national economy struggles to regain its footing, I wanted to share a bit of thanks and good news for Mountain Maryland and Garrett County.

FireFly Farms started the manufacture of hand-crafted goat's milk cheeses nearly a decade ago as Maryland's first goat cheese manufacturer. The company has since won 44 national and international awards of excellence for its goat's milk cheeses. During these years, we learned a lot and got lucky when it mattered. We spent these years working tirelessly to build our distribution capacity and our brand so that one day it might serve as yet another attraction to Deep Creek Lake and our region. Today, our cheeses are known from Philadelphia (Pa.) to Charlotte (N.C.) and from Morgantown (W.Va.) to Maryland's Eastern Shore. We are pleased and proud to be channeling consumer dollars from these urban centers to local businesses, farms, and families.

Despite the national rancor over our path out of this economic mess, at FireFly Farms, we believe that economic recovery begins at home with vibrant local economies built on strong local partnerships and businesses that "vote" with their dollars. We are proud to be part of a recovering local food economy with a Mid-Atlantic consumer base that votes with their dollars for vibrant and sustainable local food systems, and with our own dollars we are voting for Garrett County and Mountain Maryland.

After purchasing our new building over two years ago, we are pleased and proud to have relocated our creamery to Accident, and we look forward to the opening of our flagship retail store and visitor's center in October. The American Cheese Society has recently made October "American Cheese Month." With its opening, FireFly Farms will celebrate this month of American Cheese as well as the Autumn Glory Festival. As we make this important transition, we wish to also thank and acknowledge the incredible support we've received from our community.

Among you all, our special thanks go to the Accident Town Council and all of our new Accident neigh-

Harriet Tubman Ctr. On Eastern Shore Receives Funding

Gov. Martin O'Malley announced on Tuesday that the U.S. Department of Transportation has awarded the state of Maryland $8.5 million in Federal Transportation Enhancement Program funding for construction of the Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad Visitors Center in Dorchester County. This is the final funding component necessary for the $21 million project to move forward.

According to the governor's office, construction is estimated to support as many as 225 local jobs in all facets of the construction industry over the course of a year. In addition, Harriet Tubman State Park, the site of the center, will directly support 10 full-time employees as well as spinoff jobs related to hospitality, tour guides and recreational activities. Upon completion of the center, visitation to the park is anticipated to grow to more than 200,000 annually, with an anticipated long-term economic impact of $20 million annually.

"Once complete, the Visitors Center will honor one of our nation's great and courageous heroes," said O'Malley. "Like Marylanders today, Harriet Tubman understood that we progress as a people not on the weakness, but on the strength of our neighbors. This Visitors Center is a step forward in promoting Maryland's critical role in the fight for freedom, in recognizing the efforts of a remarkable Marylander, and for creating new jobs on the Eastern Shore. Together, we can educate and share the story of how Tubman and those like her changed the course of American history, bending the arc toward justice."

The long-awaited Visitors Center, 10 miles south of Cambridge on Maryland's Eastern Shore, is the key component of an effort to create a Scenic Byway and National Historical Park honoring Maryland native Harriet Ross Tubman.

"This historic endeavor is extremely important to Eastern Shore residents and is of local, regional, national, and international significance," the governor noted in a press release.

Groundbreaking for the center will take place next year, with the center slated for completion in 2013, 100 years after Tubman's death.

The project has been made possible by collaboration at the federal, state, and local levels. The Maryland Departments of Natural Resources, Business and Economic Development, Transportation via the State Highway Administration, and General Services are all project partners.

Sen. Barbara Mikulski played a critical role in obtaining nearly $1 million in Housing and Urban Development grants for the project. Sen. Ben Cardin is currently pursuing a National Historic Park designation that would create a National Park Service unit comprising significant lands in Dorchester, Caroline, and Talbot counties.

"Harriet Tubman was a courageous fighter who delivered 300 slaves to freedom on the Underground Railroad and was tireless in her commitment to fight for those who could not fight themselves," Mikulski said. "I am proud to support federal dollars that will help honor her memory. If there is no struggle, there is no progress. Harriet Tubman knew that, and so do I. Her legacy continues to inspire me and I am proud to fight every day for the freedom and equality she dedicated her life to."

"Harriet Tubman left a remarkable legacy for Maryland, and I commend the state for moving forward with funding to complete the Harriet Tubman Visitors Center," said Cardin, who has introduced legislation to create a National Historical Park on the Eastern Shore in her name. "The Visitors Center will attract thousands of visitors a year to Dorchester County and the Eastern Shore, and they will learn about her life and her courage as a 'conductor' on the Underground Railroad. The Visitors Center also will help preserve the important historical significance of her life and times on the Eastern Shore."

The center will provide a year-round exhibit exploring Tubman's birthplace and early life in Dorchester County, and her successful efforts to help slaves secure freedom. The facility also will provide information about the federally designated Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad Byway, which winds from Maryland north to Ontario, Canada.

"We're looking forward to the Harriet Tubman Underground Railroad Center, which will add to the great tourism and culture of Dorchester County," said Donald Pinder, president of the Harriet Tubman Organization, which has worked for many years to bring this project to fruition. "The story of Harriet Tubman is an international story about freedom, which is one of the most important words in our vocabulary right now."

Adorable Adoptables

MANY PETS IN NEED OF HOMES – Lots of dogs are available for adoption this week at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. They include a male black Lab (above left) that picked up as a stray last week along George Washington Highway and three owner give-ups: a medium size female "Heinz 57" (above right), a male hound mix (below left), and a male beagle (below right). Several cats are in need of homes as well. "Last week's declawed white/tabby that was picked up in McHenry still has not been reclaimed," said GC Humane Society spokesperson. "Also in need of homes are a nice orange tabby and BoBo, a white male. No dogs were adopted last week, but several went to rescue via HART, along with dozens of kittens. More dogs and cats have been brought in, making the shelter once again almost filled to capacity. Please consider your living situation, salary, and the animal's lifespan before you adopt a pet of any kind. Numerous calls have come in concerning flea infestations or animals with fleas. Please treat your pets with flea medication to avoid itching or illness due to fleas/ticks." For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the county-operated facility is open Monday through Friday. Photos courtesy of the GC Humane Society, a nonprofit, volunteer organization.

BRIDE ENDOWMENT PROJECT COLLECTS – The Ridgeview Valley Bridal Endowment Project collected $950 for the Landon's Library Trust Fund. These charity proceeds have come from rentals of the Barn at Ridgeview for wedding ceremonies and receptions. The most recent couple to plan their reception at the barn in order to fund Landon's Library was Kassondra Broadwater and Kraig Margroff. According to a spokesperson, Landon's Library is a Christian, non-profit organization which was established in honor of Landon Bryant Boal in order to promote reading and bonding among parents and their children. Pictured is Peter Versteegen (left) of Ridgeview Valley and Brian Boal of Landon's Library.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It is almost unbelievable how the temperatures have dropped here in Bittinger. After so long a spell with very unusually hot weather, now it feels like nice autumn.

I see that out of Florida came three siblings who first robbed a bank there using automatic weapons. The leader of the trio of nuts said, "I am proud to be a redneck." Most rednecks are not always armed to their teeth with machine guns. They said they are "on a mission," but they did not say what kind of mission. They apparently are going across the South, stealing fresh cars as they go. The last one had Texas license plates.

Happy news from Afghanistan – something that is pretty rare. Our military tracked down the Taliban's forces who shot down our helicopters resulting in a dreadful loss of American lives. It seems like a perfect time to announce an immediate USA exit from that war. We got the creeps that caused such severe pain to our military, and Afghanistan is simply an ungovernable place. We need to stop attempting to change it into a reasonable nation. The cost in human capital to America has been too great, because Navy Seals are as good as any Americans can get. And, simply, it is too costly in dollars when we have such a huge deficit.

I don't know how it happened, but a recent column said that it was my grandfather Charlie Buckle who was the orphaned Native American baby But it was his grandfather who was pure Shawnee. I don't know how that error happened. But here is the correction. I think that means that I am 1/16th or 1/32nd Native American. But it is enough to make me very sensitive about how America disgracefully threatened them.

I can't believe that there is controversy about whether Sesame Street's Bert and Ernie are just friends or perhaps have a more intimate relationship. This has gone way too far, and it is stupid. They are puppets, with no kind of sex lives. Some search for any possible homosexual aspect in everything. That shows paranoia in the searchers. Any kind of phobia is an irrational fear of something, and that includes homophobia.

It really doesn't make sense that I paid so much in federal taxes, but many billionaires and millionaires paid zero. That is because of the loopholes that they can take advantage of, but lower income people can't. It's a disgrace! Why do I pay more income tax than Warren Buffet? I guess because people like him can hire many lobbyists.

Alec Baldwin, the actor, desires to get into New York City politics. And because he believes that he needs to get an education about the issues he would confront, like infrastructure, immigrants, and economics, he is working toward a master's degree in public policy. So we can't expect Alec on a ballot for several years, because being the mayor of the Big Apple is extremely complicated.

There are many examples in history when our federal government did something that was very good for many Americans. The Great Depression would not have ended so quickly without the New Deal. There were also job programs that built some nationally important public works, like the Hoover Dam, Golden Gate Bridge, and many big infrastructures that are useful for Americans. There are also many flood-control systems in various parts of the nation, and it was the federal government that built the American interstate highway system, the essential spine of our transportation system depended upon by all Americans.

There was significant progress to clean up a very polluted nation. There were several places that had such deadly pollution that they were unfit for human life, like the Love Canal in New York. They performed emergency rescue and rebuilding efforts at places that were deeply damaged by either man-made or natural disasters. And they put the first men on the moon, which was of symbolic importance, but also created many new industries.

Without our federal government, our rural area would not have electricity available to the residents as all those power lines are part of the Rural Electrification Administration's initiative. In fact, all the power grids were the product of federal, not private, energy corporations.

One of the first federal government nationwide programs was when Teddy Roosevelt created our wonderful national parks, drawing thousands of international tourists to America.

The only true "trickling down" from the wealthy to ordinary Americans is through agencies like the Department of Education, where funds trickle down to state government and then to local school systems like our own. Many school districts are forced to charge all kinds of fees for things, like high-level classes necessary for college-bound students because of states' budget cutting.

Many state governments were saved by federal assistance. So when Congress cut the budget of the Department of Education, the cuts trickled down to Garrett County schools. Some parents can afford the various fees, but others cannot. Thus the futures of students from lower income families are compromised.

A little hot news about the Pirates. Neil Walker seems to be attempting to grow a beard. Sometimes baseball players will try almost anything to get out of a losing streak. I am looking for any other signs of facial hair.

Apparently, the Bucs won the first game in this series with the San Francisco Giants, but it started too late in the evening for me to try to watch it. They lost the second game.

Garrett Jones also had some growth on his face, and well as Ryan Ludwig, who looked somewhat hairy around his chin. Of course, many guys in their 20s can't grow anything too convincing as far as beards go. It's hard to believe that is why the Pirates were finally able to score some runs, but something has changed.

I can't believe my eyes. McClachen also has some hair on his face. I don't approve of that. He is too much of a pretty boy for that. The relief pitcher Lincoln also appears to have some scrufly growth on his chin. It seems very strange. But they played like before the All-Star break. After that, everything fell apart. I heard that often a player keeps a hot streak going by not changing anything – not even washing their socks.

This weekend, the Pirates will face their major rival, the Brewers.

The All-Star closing pitcher definitely has a beard. And the final score was 7 to 4! I can't believe it, especially against last year's World Championship team. But the Pirates won this three-game series, 2-1.

It seems to me that marketing people try desperately to create new sporting events. But there really is an event called the Redneck Olympics. That diminishes the real Olympics. It is monster trucks. Are they in the same league as marathons, the 100 meter, or equestrian events? Those all date back to when the Greek equestrian Olympic movement started. No event that involves motor vehicles should be called an Olympic sport. How about rodeo events like steer wrestling, bronco, or bull riding? Those appeal to the redneck crowds, or at least they should. But apparently, the only events they really love are those with roaring motors. I'm sure their concession stands mainly feature lots of beer and all kinds of fried foods.

I just saw the largest cricket I ever saw. I once read a very funny poem by John Thumber about a cricket enjoying getting drunk. If you just spill a bit of wine on the floor and a cricket drinks it, it will behave that way. But I don't have any alcoholic beverages around.

I am plugging along to get everything straight regarding my new dog Jackson. He is at the veterinarian's to get neutered and get his shots. I will put in an underground electric dog fence, because since he is a hound, he will probably want to run. He has a bad habit. Since he is not yet out of the puppy stage, he likes to chew on things. Unfortunately, he chewed two important books.

One friend told me that when her dog was young, he chewed up a dozen pairs of shoes. The books are easier to replace than that many pairs of shoes. I hope I can find a worn-out shoe to give him, and I will bear in mind that I can't leave any books on the floor.

We had a few unfortunate events. First, our pickup was broken down a few weeks ago, but at last we got it back. Then Mere and Caitlin loaded up several weeks' worth of trash, and on the way to the dump, the truck acted like it was breaking down, so they came back. Perhaps it was too hasty, but I arranged to get it towed to Garrett Automotive. The tow truck came very quickly, so the girls had to just throw the trash in the middle of the lawn. Then Jackson arrived, and he broke several bags and scattered the trash around.

We're kind of stuck right now. I still don't know whether the truck is repairable, or if it will be too expensive to be worth it. Both my brother Rodney and my sister Carol weren't happy about it. All the scattered trash is re-bagged, but so far there is no vehicle to load it into. I'm about as stressed as possible right now. There must be some neighbor who regularly takes their trash to the green boxes. If so, please stop here and take mine along. I hate to call around and beg for help. So if you can do that for me, I will be indebted to you forever.

It is ridiculous to spend a huge amount on end-of-life care, causing possibly more suffering. My mother chose not to go into the hospital when it seemed she was close to death. She was home surrounded by loved ones, from old friends to the army of her grandchildren, and of course, her own children. We smothered her with endless love and attention, and she had no interest in prolonging her life.

The day she finally passed over, my girls and I heard her say, "I thought I almost passed over twice." Then with a cheery grin, she said, "But maybe three is the charm."

Yes, that was a very painful moment when she got her wish. Three was the charm, but at least it was what she wanted.

Well, it looks like we are in for a major storm. I was just on the phone with Mike Voelkel and it was there then. He warned me that it was heading toward me. But that is a special charm in my neck of the woods: frequent and powerful thunderstorms. I'm not sure charm is the right word, but they do make our lives more exciting or special. They definitely break the dull, daily routine.

My new dog Jackson is just as afraid of thunder as my dear old Boo was. Right now, he is on the couch, as close to me as possible.

Mike also told me he heard about a new research study. A person or perhaps two were in a waiting room, and when a door opened, if a person entered, their heart rate and blood pressure went way up. It was exactly the opposite if a dog entered.

I know they add value to human lives. There was never a time during my childhood and teen years that we did not have a beloved family dog around my house. I even had a large golden retriever in Manhattan. He was a stray, and my kind-hearted neighbor Yaffa saved him from a life on the street. He was an adorable dog. Yes, there were the duties of taking him on walks to do his business, and about that time there was a new law in New York City that you had to pick up after your dog. Sometimes, it required going out after dark, and I did his walk in a very small park one block south of my apartment. There was one guy who often hung around there, selling, "Loose joints... one dollar." He told me that I shouldn't be afraid, because he was always there, and he would look after me.

When I found out that Monday night would be the first football game, the most important message for me was that summer is over, and now we are in the last month of decent weather. Too often, winter comes here in October. I used to feel that when fair week came, that meant that the school year would start very soon... too soon.

Someone kindly sent me another version of Roberto Clemente's biography, as well as a movie about him. Thank you! But so far, I can't watch the movie, because he is such a major figure to me that I often descend into tears when I focus on him.

I was happy to see Serena Williams return to her regular excellent form in tennis after a very long lay-off (over a year) due to some serious injury. I like her style of tennis – the power game. Today, she smashed three aces in a tournament game and won. That makes two in a row.

I like her because, like me, she is a bit larger than average, petite females – not fatter than average, but with a larger frame and more muscles than most girlish gals.

It is unbelievable that Aug. 17 is the 25th birthday of my first baby, Claire. Those 25 years just flew. I wish I could relive every minute I spent with my beautiful baby. It is so hard for me to be so far away from her and to see her so rarely.

She was born on Sunday at the end of fair week. What fun the fair was with her, like when she easily won the baby crawling race. A few years later, she entered her hermit crabs in the pet show. Those little crabs are very charming. And I remember her first ride on the Merry-Go-Round.

I believe the Big Apple is the greatest city in America, and in the top two or three worldwide. The first city I ever visited was Pittsburgh while on various field trips to some of its great museums and to see a screening of 2001 A Space Odyssey, a great classic science fiction film in which a computer gets a mind of its own. It attracted the interest of the guys in the Science Club, including my brother Rodney, so they rented a school bus.

Of course, I often visited Washington, D.C., during the first half of my life, especially the really outstanding museums around the Mall.

In eighth grade, the Northern High Marching Band got an invitation to be part of a major parade, the School Boys Parade. It was a very big deal. Also, while I was a student at the University of Maryland, I had many wonderful adventures in D.C. I saw several plays at the Kennedy Center and the Arena Stage. Also at the Kennedy Center, a group of four University of Maryland students attended an amazing performance of Pink Floyd at their peak of popularity.

Then I was privileged to win a trip to Chicago for the National 4-H Conference as the Maryland horse project state winner. I went out in a very cold downtown Chicago to visit a really fine art museum. It is on my list of the top five worldwide, along with the Prado in Madrid, Spain, and the truly breathtaking Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam. Wow! As breathtakingly beautiful as photograph reproductions of those great paintings are, to see them in person is beyond words.

Other great European cities I explored were Paris and Zurich, Switzerland, which was less than 30 miles from the European home of the Glotfelty family in a small town along the Rhine River.

Really, major cities are not as scary a place as many Garrett Countians think they are. You do not have to have a lot of money to spend. It would be nice to have a thousand dollars of spending money in Manhattan, but it is still possible to have a good time with very little money. Within about six blocks of my apartment, there were all kinds of international restaurants. The were very inexpensive, but had wonderful food and atmosphere.

I can't believe it is already 10:30 p.m. I already had a very long day, since I awoke at 3 a.m. with the most dreadful pain in my left (bad) hand. I am used to bad pain in my left leg, but this is different.

Altar flowers at Emmanuel were given by Gary and Sharon Buckel in memory of Joe and Rose Buckel on the 66th anniversary of their wedding.

Rev. Marjorie Lauver was a recent supply pastor at all three churches of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish while Pastor and Cindy Richardson were on vacation.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Governor Notes Record Cover Crop Enrollment

Surrounded by fields of soybeans, Governor Martin O'Malley joined Maryland Department of Agriculture Secretary Buddy Hance, agricultural leaders, local farmers, and elected officials on Monday to announce record cover crop acreage by Maryland farmers.

"We are working with Maryland's farmers to protect family farms and agriculture jobs, and to keep family farming profitable," said O'Malley. "Today's announcement is great news for our farmers, who continue to take strong conservation actions to diversify their farming operations and use new and innovative ways to protect the Chesapeake Bay. Together, we are creating jobs and supporting rural economies, improving our quality of life, and securing the future of Maryland agriculture and our environment for generations to come."

Governor O'Malley announced that Maryland has approved a record 550,000 acres of winter grains to date in the Cover Crop Program, which were requested by a record 1,767 farmers – 206 of which were new to the program this year. This record acreage represents 155 percent of the Phase I Watershed Implementation Plan goals for cover crops. Cover crops are one of the most cost-effective means of helping to restore the Chesapeake Bay.

Cover crops are planted in the fall after the autumn harvest to help farmers control soil erosion and reduce the amount of nutrients washing into the bay over the winter. Once established, cover crops recycle unused plant nutrients remaining in the soil from the previous summer crop, protect fields against wind and water erosion, and help improve the soil for the next year's crop. Maryland's Cover Crop Program provides farmers with grants to plant cover crops on their fields immediately following the summer crop harvest

"Not only is Maryland's cover crop program a very attractive and flexible program, it has the potential to do more for the bay than ever before," said Hance. "Maryland farmers are on track to exceed the Phase I Watershed Implementation Plan milestone for cover crops with record number of approved acres. We commend and thank all farmers who, together, have enrolled more than half a million acres of small grain crops that protect our soil and water by taking up any left over nutrients and preventing soil erosion over the winter."

Neighboring Allegany County had the largest percentage of eligible farmland enrolled – 702 of 800 acres, or 88%. The county with the most acreage enrolled was Queen Anne's with 63,838 acres.

The Arts

JENNY WILSON TRIO CONCERT SET – The Jenny Wilson Trio, considered by many as the area's top jazz group, will be in concert at the Preston Community Arts Center, 123 S. Price Street, Kingwood, W.Va., on Saturday, Aug. 27, at 7:30 p.m. Based in Morgantown, the trio consists of Jenny and Nathan Wilson and their son Evan Lintz. Jenny Wilson, who has studied flute and piano since age 6, has a master's degree in jazz pedagogy from West Virginia University and a bachelor of music degree in flute performance from the University of Southern Maine. She has been a featured artist at the Jazz No Jazz Festival in Zurich, Switzerland, and has performed at the Unterfahrt Jazz Club in Munich and the West Virginia Jazz Society in Bridgeport. Nathan Wilson, a native of Chevy Chase, has played with many bands in the Pittsburgh region, including the Nixon Clocks. He recently appeared on NBC Television's America's Got Talent with the Squonk Opera, of which he is a regular member. Evan Lintz will be a freshman at WVU this fall as a pre-speech pathology and audiology major. He was a finalist in the Guitar Center Drum-Offs for two years and has studied percussion at the Northwestern University High School Music Institute. Admission cost to the Aug. 27 concert is $10 per person. For more information, persons may call 304-329-6336.

Arts Council To Host Open House At Gallery Shop

The Garrett County Arts Council will host a reception/open house on Thursday, Aug. 25, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Gallery Shop, located along Alder Street in downtown Oakland.

New members and people with an interest in the programs of the arts council are encouraged to stop by to meet the board of directors, staff, and other members. An exhibit of pottery by Lynn Lais will be the featured exhibit in the Backroom Gallery. Light refreshments will be served.

"Membership support is crucial to the operation of GCAC," said Karen Reckner, executive director. "This is an opportunity for the organization to say 'thank you' to those that have become supporters in 2011. Membership donations help provide funds for the Gallery Shop, workshops, artist studio tours, the publication of Ginseng, and art education programs in our public schools."

In addition to membership support, the Garrett County Arts Council receives funding from Garrett County government and the Maryland State Arts Council. For additional information, persons may call the office at 301-334-6580 or visit www.garrettarts.com.

Art Workshop In "Spritzilism" Set

Award-winning artist Judith Becker will lead a workshop in a method which she developed and trademarked as "Spritzilism." This mixed media creative process combines pressed botanicals and watercolor paints.

This one-day instructional session is offered by the Garrett College Northern Outreach Center (NOC) in Grantsville on Monday, Sept. 12, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Becker derived the name Spritzilism from her method of diluting watercolor in spray bottles and then "spritzing" or spraying color on top of wild plants which she has pressed down on paper.

"The plants become templates," Becker said. "I put the plant down, spray over the plant, let it dry, put down another plant, spray another color, and repeat for six or seven layers. When I'm satisfied, I take off all the plants and I'm left with layers of colors where the plants were. Then I go over the painting with watercolor paint or colored pencil to bring out the details."

Becker, a resident of Alpine Lake, Terra Alta, W.Va., is an art teacher and practicing artist. She is a member of Tamarack Artisans of Beckley, W.Va., the Garrett County Arts Council, and the West Virginia Watercolor Society. She conducts art workshops and exhibits, and sells her work at shows and galleries throughout West Virginia, Virginia, and Maryland.

For more information on this course, persons may contact NOC program coordinator Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Anyone interested in registering for this course, may contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Shafer & Shafer To Be Next In MPA Lineup

Music at Penn Alps will present young soprano Sarah Shafer, pictured, on Saturday, Aug. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall at Penn Alps.

Shafer studies at the Curtis Institute of Music with Joan Patenaude-Yarnell. She graduated from the voice program at Curtis with a bachelor of music degree, where she performed in more than 15 opera theater productions. She performed the Hermit Songs with pianist Mikael Eliasen at Curtis and the Library of Congress as part of Curtis's Barber Centenary Celebration.

She has appeared as a soloist with the Quad City Symphony, Richmond Symphony Orchestra, the Boca Raton Symphonia and Master Chorale of South Florida, Pennsylvania Centre Chamber Orchestra, and the Concordia Singers of the Nittany Valley Children's Choir.

Shafer recently attended the Mozart and Handel residency as a part of the Aix-en-Provence Music Festival. She has sung at the Marlboro Music Festival, where she worked with Martin Isepp and Benita Valente; and at Songfest in Malibu, Calif., where she was awarded the prestigious Craig Smith and Marc and Eva Stern fellowships.

Pianist Timothy Shafer has performed extensively throughout the U.S., South America and Asia, performing and teaching. He holds degrees in piano performance from Oberlin Conservatory and Indiana University, and has received numerous awards from those schools. He is professor of piano and piano pedagogy at Penn State University, and is co-author of a class piano text published by Prentice-Hall.

The program will feature Handel's "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" from Gloria; works by Schubert and Strauss; selections from Hermit Songs by Samuel Barber; the "Una Voce Poco Fa" from Il Barbiere di Siviglia by Rossini; and "No Word from Tom" from The Rake's Progress by Stravinsky.

After the concert, all are invited for refreshments and an opportunity to meet the artists. Ticket prices are $12 for adults. Students and children under 19 years of age are admitted free of charge. As seating is limited, it is recommended that guests arrive no later than 7:20 p.m.

Music at Penn Alps is supported in part by grants from the Naylor Family Trust, administered by the Community Trust Foundation of Western Maryland. This Saturday's performance is sponsored by the Sincell Publishing Company.

E. Bender To Teach Advanced Portrait Painting Course

Edna Bender, local artist and instructor, will teach a course in advanced portrait painting for the Garrett College Northern Outreach Center (NOC) in Grantsville. The classes are slated for Wednesdays, beginning on Sept. 7, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and continuing for a total of four consecutive sessions.

Bender designed this course to help participants enhance painting techniques and use of oil colors specific to producing portraits. Students will use photos of friends or relatives as subjects of their paintings.

A materials list will be provided upon registration. In order to register for this course, students must have taken a prior portrait painting course with Bender.

For more information on this course, persons may contact NOC program coordinator Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Anyone interested in registering for this course may contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Garrett College Offering Course On Pin Weaving

MICHELLE UMLAUF

Classes in pin weaving will be offered by the Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division (CEWD) on the McHenry campus on Thursdays, Sept. 8-Oct. 13 (excluding Set. 29), from 6 to 8 p.m.

"Sew a Fabulous Pin Weaving Wall Hanging" is the title of the course, which will be presented by Michelle Umlauf, who is a certified Sulky thread teacher and a licensed Martha Pullen Company instructor.

Pin weaving uses foam core or cardboard in lieu of a traditional loom. Pins hold the warp threads, and the weaving can run in any direction, using thread, yarn, fibers, beads, or fabric strips.

"This will be a licensed Sulky class," said Connie Meyers, program director for the CEWD. "It will combine the creative machine arts technique of pin weaving and incorporate traditional and modern sewing techniques."

The project that will be completed during the classes is a wall hanging measuring approximately 12 inches by 14 inches.

The cost of materials is included in the fee for this class. For more information about the fee and to register, persons may call 301-387-3069.

To Teach Photo Techniques Class

Photographer Jimmy Hook will teach a four-session course titled "Secrets of Better Photography" through the Garrett College Northern Outreach Center (NOC) in Grantsville. Classes are scheduled for Tuesdays, Sept. 6–27, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

According to NOC program coordinator Terry Beachy, the course is designed for both film and digital photographers. Hook will offer information on techniques for taking better photographs through understanding the basic technology that all cameras use and methods for controlling exposure and lighting.

Topics of the course will include exploring strategies for taking quality portrait, landscape, macro, and still life photographs; applying options available in camera equipment; and controlling and using light to maximum advantage.

Hook owns Hook Photography, which specializes in weddings, portraits, and modern design. He noted that his goal as an instructor is to provide the tools to take pictures correctly

For more information on this course, persons may contact Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Anyone interested in registering for this course, may contact Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Md. Crime

show reductions in robbery (-7.9%), aggravated assault (-5.6%), burglary (-0.6%), larceny/theft (-5.7%), and motor vehicle theft (-8.1%).

"The most important responsibilities we have in government are to create jobs and protect the public's safety," said Governor O'Malley. "Working together with state and local law enforcement, with our partners and neighbors in communities across Maryland, we have helped drive crime down to its lowest level in recorded history. As we continue to make our streets safer, we improve the quality of life for our residents and businesses."

Sixteen jurisdictions reported reductions in total crime, with three reporting double-digit reductions between 2009 and 2010. Seventeen jurisdictions noted specific reductions in violent crime (murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault), with eight reporting double-digit decreases. Fifteen jurisdictions noted specific reductions in property crime (breaking and entering, larceny/theft, and motor vehicle theft), with three jurisdictions reporting reductions of 10 percent or more.

The declines in crime come at a time when state and local law enforcement agencies are intensifying their use of technology and information sharing. As a result, more criminals are being taken off the streets of Maryland communities.

License plate reader technology is now being used by law enforcement across the state, and the goal is to network as many jurisdictions as possible to increase information sharing about stolen or suspicious vehicles. The law enforcement Dashboard allows police officers instant access to information from 100 different databases as they investigate crimes.

"The additional tools available to law enforcement and the sharing of pertinent information in partnership with our allied police departments help us all to continue the trend in crime reduction," said Colonel Marcus L. Brown, superintendent of the Maryland State Police. "As a result, the people of Maryland are safer in their homes and neighborhoods."

DNA hits resulted in the arrests of 290 murderers, rapists, robbers, and burglars since 2007. Cross-border collaboration through the Violence Prevention Initiative allowed the Division of Parole and Probation to share live arrest data with the District of Columbia and Virginia. In 2010, Maryland received 2,434 electronic arrest hit notices from its partner probation agencies in Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Law enforcement has also been able to reduce the number of guns in Maryland neighborhoods through multi-agency task forces designed to track down violent criminals and remove them and their weapons from the streets.

In Loving Memory of Charles "Junior" Martin
Jan. 23 1917 ~ August 24, 2001

Those we love don't go away,
They walk beside us every day,
Unseen, unheard, but always near,
Still loved, still missed and very dear.
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal,
Love leaves a memory no one can steal.
Your love will live on in our hearts forever and the hearts of those you touched.
Today you stand in God's bright light,
Watching over us day and night.
In our hearts you will remain until the day we meet again...
It's been 10 years and we still miss you more than you can imagine.

Your loving family,
Olive,
Peggy, Linda, Shirley and Sheila and grandchildren

Parker, Friendsville's Stough Win Singles Titles In Western Md. Event

Collin Parker of Olney and Friendsville resident Cara Stough were the male and female open singles champions in the 90th annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships.

The tournament was begun on the historic red clay courts of the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club on Thursday, Aug. 4, but because of rainy conditions had to be concluded on the Ridgeview Tennis Club courts near Morgantown, W.Va., on Sunday, Aug. 7.

David DeGrafft, tournament referee, certified that 70 players from Colorado, Florida, Massachusetts, Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia participated in one or more of 14 divisions of competition.

Parker returned to the tournament this year to win the men's open singles championships, as he cruised over Kenneth Holzapfel, Hagerstown, in the title match, 6-1, 6-1.

Stough, a former standout for the Northern High School Huskies, captured the women's singles open championship by defeating Jana Palmer, Williamsport, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, in the final match.

In the men's 35 singles title match, Bradley Chase, Ellicott City, topped Jeffrey Fowle, Frederick, 6-1, 6-1.

Ken Barnes, LaPlata, prevailed in the men's 45 singles over Mark Panepinto, Wheeling, in a hard-fought title match, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Two nationally ranked players met in the finals of the men's 55 singles championship, in which Willaim Moldoch, Severna Park, ranked #21, defeated Cumberland native Rick Workmen, Clearwater, Fla., ranked #18, 6-4, 6-2.

Glenn Workman, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., prevailed in the men's 80 singles by topping Doyle Royal, Bethesda, in the championship match, 6-2, 6-2. At the age of 93, Royal was the oldest participant in the tournament. He also holds the distinction of having participated in the most Western Maryland championships.

Two new participants, Thomas Hoesman, Ellicott City, and Joseph Labate, Baltimore, won the men's open doubles title by defeating the team of Scott Dorsey and Alexander Fagar, both of Wheeling, in the final, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

In the women's open doubles title match, Julie Edwards and Christi Spencer both of Westminster, were declared winners after a round-robin format.

William Kamenoff, Annapolis, and Steve Dustin, Gambrills, defeated the team of John Dorsey and David Pauley, both of Wheeling, in the men's 45 doubles championship, 6-3, 6-3.

In the men's 55 doubles, the brother team of Mike Barnes, Westminster, and Chuck Barnes, Lusby, won over John Dorsey and Rick Vorhees, Charleston, W.Va., 6-0, 3-6, 6-2.

Kent Parker, Morgantown, teamed with Hugh Cole in the men's 70 doubles and defeated the team of Dave DeGrafft, Mtn. Lake Park, and Jack Fraser, Clarksburg, W.Va., in the final match, 7-5, 6-3.

In the mixed open doubles championship match, the father-daughter team of Sean and Colleen O'Neil, Jefferson, won over the husband-wife team of Patti and Joe Meyer, Waynesboro, Pa., 6-3, 6-4.

The tournament was visited by Kyle Hoffman, who is the newly appointed tennis service representative in West Virginia for the United States Tennis Association, Mid-Atlantic Section.

"The tournament committee on behalf of the Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club expresses sincere appreciation to the Pepsi Corporation and Oakland Oil Company for their continuing sponsorship," said referee DeGrafft. "Again this year,the Burdock Funeral Home was gracious in providing tents for use throughout the the tourrnament.

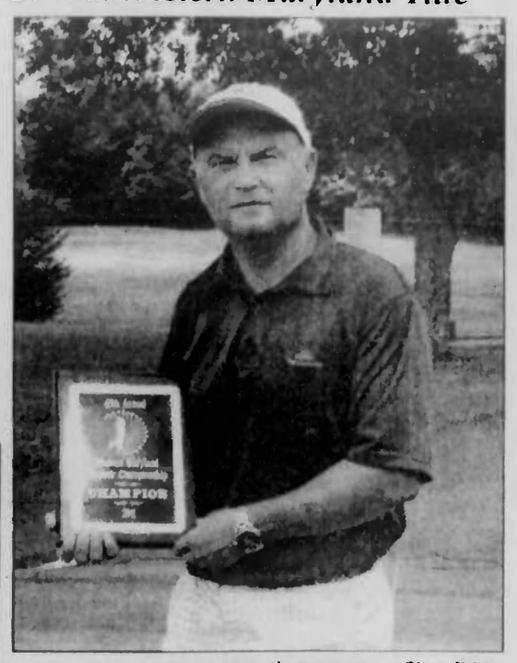
DeGrafft also expressed appreciation to Jack Jones for the preparation of the court surfaces for the tournament.

"So many of the players commented on the outstanding condition of the clay courts," he said, "and thanks for that goes to Jack Jones, who keeps them in such great shape not only for the tournament, but all season long.

"We also received the excellent cooperation of the mayor, town council, and residents of Mountain Lake Park, before and during the tournament," DeGrafft continued. "The success for this historic tournament is dependent upon the efforts of numerous volunteers who assist with preparations for and or host various social events. Again this year, their efforts proved successful."

In addition to DeGrafft, other members of the tournament committee were: William Tritt, tournament director; Kathie Smith, tournament secretary; Barbara Chesley, assistant secretary; Patrice Tritt, awards chairperson, and Mimi DeGrafft, assistant awards person.

Howson Edges Enslen In Playoff To Win Western Maryland Title



It took a sudden-death playoff to determine the winner of the 48th annual Western Maryland Amateur Tournament on the Oakland Golf Club course this past weekend, but it took only one hole of that playoff for John Howson of Sparks, pictured above, to unseat last year's champion Jeremy Enslen of Uniontown, Pa.

Howson's birdie on the first playoff hole gave him the victory, as he and Enslen had each finished the regulation three rounds with a score of 211. It was his first Western Maryland Amateur title, as he topped 89 other competitors.

Enslen shot a 3-over-par 74 in Friday's opening round and followed with a blistering 5-under-par 66 on Saturday to take a 3-shot lead going into the final round. Howson shot an even par 71 on Friday and 1-over 72 on Saturday to share second place going into the last day with David Jamison (72-71), Westernport's Eric Johnson (70-73), former champion Slug Armstrong (70-73) of Frostburg, and former Northern High School standout Austin Doerr (72-71) of McHenry, who also played for the Garrett College Lakers.

Jamison ended up third with a score of 214, followed by Johnson and Doerr with 221s, and Armstrong in sixth place with a 222.

Howson's final round of 68 and Enslen's final round of 71 on Sunday put the two in the playoff.

The flight winners were Daryl Walters and Jonathan Claiborne of Oakland, Brian Glotfelty, McHenry, and Evan Friend and Todd Pratt of Oakland.

Friend, who is a member of the Southern High School golf team, carded a hole-in-one on #13 in the final round.

The Senior Division winners were Bucky Butts (platinum), Slug Armstrong (gold), and Randy Scott (silver).

Doerr was the top finisher for the Oakland Golf Club.

RAM GOLFER ACES AT AMATEUR TOURNEY – Sixteen-year-old Southern High School junior and Ram golf team member Evan Friend recently sunk a hole-in-one during the Western Maryland Amateur Tournament held at the Oakland Golf Club. The perfect stroke came on the 14th hole (a par three) on the third day of competition. Friend used an 8-iron to make his 160-yard tee shot, sinking his hole-in-one on the final hole of the round. Friend, who finished the third round with a score of 76, earned the fourth flight by one stroke. He is a junior and in his third year on the Southern High golf team.

Trapper Education Class Offered At Sportsman's Club

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources will conduct a trapper education class on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24, starting at 6 p.m. at the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club in Grantsville. It will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday,

"A participant who successfully completes the course and earns a passing grade on the exam will receive a certificate of trapper education and be eligible to obtain a furbearer permit, which entitles him to trap in Maryland," said Clarissa Harris, DNR regional wildlife response manager for western Maryland.

Interested participants must register and pay a $5 cash fee for the course manual and student workbook at one of the following locations by Friday, Sept. 16.

Mt. Nebo Wildlife & Heritage Office, 1728 Kings Run Road, Oakland, and the Cumberland Wildlife & Heritage Office, 3 Pershing St., Room 110, Cumberland, MD 21502. Respective telephone numbers are 301-334-4255 and 301-777-2136.

The trapper education workbook must be completed and brought to the class for instructor review. The two-day course will consist of short classroom sessions, followed by a field session that will demonstrate proper trap handling and setting. A written test will be given at the end of the course.

For more information, persons may contact either the Mt. Nebo or Cumberland office via the telephone numbers above.

Sober Winner In Strides For Health And Fitness 5K

Jennifer Sober of MeHenry sueeessfully defended her title in the fifth annual Strides for Health and Fitness 5-kilometer run held Saturday in Cumberland.

Sober, 38, recorded a time of 19:20, giving her a pace of 6:14 per mile and an eighth-place finish overall among 132 runners.

The fastest runner in the event for the third straight year was Dan DeWitt, Frostburg, who recorded a time of 15:54, well ahead of second-plaee finisher Woody Snoberger of Ridgeley, W.Va., who finished in 17:01.

Sober will represent the United States next month in China, where she will vie in the World Age Group Triathlon Championships, to be held on the course that was used in the 2008 Olympics.

Finishing second among the female runners was 16-year-old Katie Jan, a standout on the Frankfort High School team, who recorded a time of 22:20.

Other Garrett County runners who placed among the top 20 overall finishers were Nick Valentino of Aeeident, who was 13th with a time of 20:12, and Andrew Yoder, Grantsville, who placed 14th in 20:24.

Proceeds from the raee benefit a scholarship for students interested in physieal therapy or oeeupational therapy.

Five Local Sluggers Named To All-Area Baseball Team

Five members of the Northern and Southern high school baseball squads have made the All-Area First Team. Corey Helbig, Calvin Hilliard, and Ryan Bennett are the Southern High players on the list, while Northern High is represented by Steven Holtschneider and Cody Rodeheaver.

Helbig earned honors last year as the area's leading hitter, and nearly replieated that feat this year as a senior, coming just one hit shy of another .500 plus hitting season.

Helbig recorded 21 hits in 43 at-bats for an average of .488, or fourth highest in the area. He scored 17 runs and had six doubles, four home runs, and 20 RBI.

As a junior, Helbig batted .615. In his two years on the all-area team he went 53 for 95 (.557), with nine homers and 41 RBI total.

Hilliard, who was named to the first team as an outfielder, batted .394 this year (13 for 33), and totaled 16 runs scored. He hit one double and one home run and had 10 RBI.

The all-area title is nothing new for Hilliard, as he was also named to the all-area basketball team.

Bennett repeated as the first-team's designated hitter, after batting .439 (18 for 41).

Bennett led the area in home runs, with seven, and RBI, with 26. He also had two doubles and a perfect slugging pereentage.

In his two all-area seasons, Bennett batted .428 (39 for 91), tallying 13 home runs and 53 RBI.

Northern's Holtsehneider was a unanimous first-team pick as an infielder, after finishing the season as the area's third everall hitter. Holtschneider produced a .491 batting average (28 for 57), scored 18 runs, and had five doubles, one home run, and 19 RBI.

He was also among the area's elite pitchers with a 5-4 record and 76 strikeouts in 59 innings—an average of more than nine strikeouts per game.

Rodeheaver, a junior, was selected to the All-Area First-Team as an infielder. He ranked among the area's top 10 in batting average, doubles, home runs, and runs batted in.

Rodeheaver hit .460 (29 for 63) with 20 runs scored, seven doubles, three homers, and 28 RBI (second best in the area). He was also 5-1 with one save as a piteher with 33 strikeouts in 34 innings.

The loeal players named to the All-Area Second Team were: Patriek Sines, junior, infielder, Northern High; and Jake Bosley, senior, outfielder, Northern High.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

by Dan Muss

When my wife Carol and I came to Deep Creek Lake in 1983 to race a Flying Seot, we finished last in the Challenger Fleet. But after a few seasons we began to work our way up and, after winning for a while, we were encouraged to move up to the Championship Fleet. It then took an act of God for us to plaee, and with arthritis ruining my knees Carol began to worry about survival. Then Ted Rissell (my infamous nemesis) lost his crew, Kathy Rubel, who was pregnant with her first child, and Marilyn Filemyr lost her skipper husband to pancreatie cancer. We made the switch; Marilyn erewed for me and Carol erewed for Nemesis... I mean Rissell. Since Marilyn was never afraid of my sailing ability, she earned the sobriquet "Fearless," and Carol went on to erew for Ted Rissell, who still beats me regularly.

There have always been two raees going on, the race against the fleet and the raee with Rissell. But Marilyn Filemyr has retired; the crew does all the work in a raeing sailboat and it got to be too much for her. So now Carol and I are back together. I have new knees, and we really enjoyed sailing together last weekend. There was some uncertainty around the club about how this was going to work... but it has!

As we left the mooring on Saturday, there was a lovely 5-10-knot breeze, but as the race went on the air got lighter and lighter. The PRO was Frank Meehan, with John Frank assisting, and they had set a windward-leeward course two times around in front of the Turkey Neck Club. By the time we started around the second time, the air got so light we were barely moving. I thought to myself, "Why haven't they shortened the course to once around?" I was to get the answer later.

In the Gold Fleet, David Tuel, with Carrie Dodd up, had a great start right in the middle of the line and kept to the left side of the eourse. They were seeond around the windward mark after Corson. But he got stuck in a hole going down to the leeward mark and Tuel passed him. They stayed in the lead for the rest of the race; in fact, they did a "horizon job" on the rest of their fleet. The wind died after Tuel erossed the finish line and he was at the dock by the time the seeond place boat had finished! That was the reason the PRO did not shorten the raee – the first boat had already rounded the last mark.

And Bertsch in the Silver and Gregory in the Masters were so far ahead of the rest of their respective fleets that the committee eould not shorten their eourses either. The Challengers were spared; they only had to go around once. With the air lightening and the first raee taking so long, the PRO postponed the seeond raee to Sunday.

Winds were light again Sunday, now from the west. Tom and Heidi Kammer served as raee committee, and set a windward-leeward one-lap course, with the hope of running two races back-to-back. Bruce Lothrop gives us the following report of the Gold Fleet raeing.

"For the first race, the pin was favored for a port tack start. As the timer counted down to the start, I approached the line from the race course side. About 30 seconds prior to the start, I found a spaee in the line near the pin end, and "dipped" into it. The gun sounded, and we turned in to the wind.

"Seott Parry had been lining up a risky port tack, using the hole I had just taken. Parry was left with few options, and his bow struck our stern quarter just after the start. Bumps happen in racing. Parry acknowledged the foul, took a penalty, and later apologized. No damage was done, and there were no hard feelings.

"Meanwhile, Melanie Dunham found the front line spot on the pin end of the line, and took an early lead. Dave Mahan, with our son Connor crewing, started in the second rank, but quickly found clear air on port tack. As the mass of the fleet moved up the left side of the eourse, battling eaeh other for clear air, Mahan moved freely up the right side alone, and rounded the windward mark well ahead, with Dunham in seeond, and David Meehan and Vanee giving ehase. We rounded toward the baek of the pack. A one-lap raee offers few ehances to reeover from a poor first leg.

"Dunham has outstanding downwind speed, and passed Mahan on the downwind leg. We were able to make up some ground downwind. We turned upwind, and began making our way to the finish on the right side of the course. As we approached the finish, the wind lightened and turned more to the south. That lifted our port tack course so that we had a clear line to the finish. My crew, my wife Stephanie, and I positioned ourselves earefully to balance our boat, held perfectly still, and, very tensely, eased our way past much of the fleet.

"I like to say that racing sailboats in light air is like playing chess against a lunatie who turns the board around at a whim. The board had just turned quickly to our favor. As we approached the line, the wind turned back to the west. The board turned back, and much of our advantage evaporated as quickly as it had materialized. We managed to capitalize on our luek enough to hold an advantage on a few boats, most notably frequent Gold Fleet champ Bruce Spinnenweber."

Health Department Launches Designer Cup Challenge

The Designer's Cup Challenge is a unique breast cancer awareness project sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department to mark National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, which is October.

Garrett County residents are invited to decorate bras as entries in this contest.

"The creations of 'bra art' should serve as a tribute to women's wellness," a spokesperson said, "as well as to women who have been a source of inspiration and support for breast cancer awareness, screening,and treatment." (See accompanying photo of last year's entries.)

All entries for this year must be received by 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 23. The competition is open to anyone who lives or works in Garrett County.

Entries should be decorated with a breast cancer awareness theme, and should be a "tasteful tribute to those who have had breast cancer," the spokesperson said. Some of the design guidelines follow:

The bra can be hand painted, dyed, pieced with fabric and or decorated with trim, feathers, sequins, jewels, shells, or other items.

No original bra fabric should be visible. Decorations must cover front, sides, and inside, as well as the straps.

Designs must be original, and created and named in good taste.

Each entry should include a narrative explaining the inspiration for the entry (100 words or fewer) on a separate sheet of paper.

Additional guidelines can be found at www.garretthealth.org or by calling 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

The entry with the most votes during judging will receive a prize. All acceptable entries will be displayed at various community events.

The health department's breast and cervical cancer screening program pays for eligible women to obtain their breast exams, mammograms, and Pap tests with their own participating provider. The program is open to Garrett County women ages 40-64 who are uninsured or underinsured, and who fall within the income guidelines.

Persons interested in the program should call Sharon Rounds, RN, at 301-334-7692 or 301-895-3111.

GCHD LAUNCHES "DESIGNER'S CUP CHALLENGE" – Once again the Garrett County Health Department will challenge the public in a unique design contest. The Designer's Cup Challenge" is a breast cancer awareness project sponsored by the health department in recognition of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, which is October. As a tribute to women's wellness, and to women who have been a source of inspiration and support for breast cancer awareness, screening, and treatment, contestants are invited to design "bra art." Several of last year's entries are pictured above. All entries for this year's contest must be received by 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 23. The competition is open to anyone who lives or works in Garrett County. See story for guidelines and other details.

QDMA BANQUET SCHEDULED – The Quality Deer Management Association will be holding its second annual banquet on Saturday, Aug. 27, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. Doors will open at 5 p.m. and a baked steak dinner will be served. There will be several firearms and many other hunting and outdoor items being raffled at the banquet, and there will also be a silent auction. Quality deer management will be discussed at both a local and national level. For tickets and/or additional information, persons may telephone Carl Lee at 301-387-4010. The Quality Deer Management Association is a non-profit organization with over 50,000 members nationwide.

Tryouts For '11

times for these tryouts are set at 2 p.m. for 14U and 4 p.m. for 16U/18U.

Age groups are determined by a player's age as of Jan. 1, 2012. Registration is required and will begin 30 minutes prior to each tryout start time. Players need to attend both tryout dates for their age group and will also need to bring a copy of their birth certificate.

Additional information is available by contacting Duane Miller at 301-697-9604, Dave Llewellyn at 240-727-8742, or Fred Rounds at 301-707-4446.

Birding Trip To Dolly Sods Set For Sept. 10

The Potomac Valley Audubon Society will sponsor a bird watching trip to the Dolly Sods Wilderness area of the Monongahela National Forest (W.Va.) on Saturday, Sept. 10.

The trip is free and open to anyone who is interested, regardless of their birding skills. Participants will be expected to furnish their own transportation and arrange their own accommodations.

The trip will be led by local birding expert Matt Orsie. It will consist of a morning of birding focused on fall warblers, a visit to the Allegheny Front Migration Observatory to view bird banding in progress, and an afternoon of hawk watching.

The banding station at the observatory has operated annually since 1958. More than 230,000 birds have been banded over that time. The bulk of these birds have been members of the wood warbler family. There will be an opportunity to see many species up close.

Loaner binoculars will be available. Participants should bring along water and a lunch.

The trip leader will most likely be spending the night of Friday, Sept. 9, at the Hermitage Inn in Petersburg, W.Va. The inn's telephone number is 304-257-1711.

Participants planning to stay in Petersburg should meet with Orsie in the lobby of the Hermitage Inn at 6 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 10.

Those staying elsewhere or driving to the area that morning should meet the trip group at 7 a.m. at the parking lot of the South Prong Trail in the Dolly Sods Wilderness. The parking lot is along Fire Road 19.

For more information one may contact Orsie at wvbirder@comcast.net or at 304-261-5602.

Information about accommodations in the area can be found at the following web sites: www.canaanresort.com (for Canaan Valley State Park lodgings); www.wvlogcabins.com (for log cabins in the area); and www.bbonline.com/wv/Petersburg.html (for bed and breakfasts near Petersburg).

EAGLE SCOUT BUILDS RECYCLING CENTER – A new recycling center is now available for campers and cabin guests at New Germany State Park, thanks to 17-year-old Boy Scout Sean Truly, who chose to design and construct the center as his Eagle Scout project. "The recycling center is a wonderful addition to the park," said Ranger Elena Bode. "We're delighted that Sean chose to complete his Eagle project here at New Germany." Sean, along with help from a team of volunteers and fellow Scouts from Troop 24 of Frostburg, built the recycling center, making him eligible to achieve the rank of Eagle Scout – the highest rank attainable in the Boy Scouts of America. The recycling center is located near the maintenance shop and allows space for recycling aluminum cans, newspaper, plastic, and glass. Those who contributed to the project include Ray Kiddy, Steve Shaw, Jim Williams, Ross Kiddy, Garrett Kiddy, Luke Skidmore, Brandon Blank, Tommy Hughes, Heath Bice, Daniel Jones, Frankie Haupt, Frostburg American Legion Farrady Post 24, Frostburg American Legion Auxiliary Unit 24, Bill Miller Equipment, LaVale Lowe's, and Sean's family. Pa. Historical Group Releases Civil War Book Old Petersburg-Addison (Pa.) Historical Society members have written a book to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the beginning of the Civil War.

Remembering was written to memorialize and honor the patriotism and dedication of those who answered President Lincoln's call to service, according to a society spokesperson.

The publication contains factual historical, and genealogical, content for readers interested in the war, ancestral connections, and/or learning more about this time in American history.

To purchase Remembering, persons may contact the Old Petersburg-Addison Historical Society Inc., P.O. Box 82, Addison, PA 15411.

"Finding Your Way With GPS" Slated At Northern Center

A one-day class titled "Finding Your Way With GPS" will be offered by the Garrett College Northern Outreach Center (NOC) in Grantsville on Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. The session, led by Anthony (Amo) Oliverio, will be held at the NOC and Big Run State Park near the Savage River Reservoir.

The class, which is designed for those who enjoy the outdoors, will teach the basics of GPS (Global Positioning System) technology using a combination of classroom discussion, hands-on activities, and field exercises.

Topics to be covered include an overview of how GPS works using the Garmin Etrex, how to determine personal position using GPS, how to mark waypoints, and how to navigate in unfamiliar territory.

This hands-on course will begin at the NOC with a two- hour morning lecture and then continue at Big Run State Park, where students will use GPS receivers to mark waypoints and navigate to various locations around the park.

Oliverio has a bachelor's degree in wildlife and fisheries from Frostburg State University and is currently a lab instructor at Garrett College.

The course will be held rain or shine, and no transportation will be provided to the park. Training will not be provided on personal GPS units.

For more information on this course, persons may contact NOC program coordinator Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Anyone interested in registering for this course may contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Homeschoolers Prog. To Resume At Two Libraries

The Ruth Enlow Library will resume its HomeSchoolers Program series every month during the school year beginning in September at the Oakland and Accident locations.

HomeSchoolers meet at the Oakland library from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. on the first and third Friday of each month. The Accident program is held on the third Thursday of each month from 1 to 2 p.m.

Programs are free and open to all ages and the public. No registration is required, but a courtesy call to the library is requested.

The Oakland program begins on Friday, Sept. 2, with a presentation about "ham" radio operation by Mark and Denise Moynahan. The series in Accident begins on Thursday, Sept. 15, with a program about reptiles and amphibians by a Deep Creek Discovery Center representative.

A schedule of program topics is available on the library's web site at relib.net, and printed handouts will be available in early September at the Oakland and Accident libraries.

For questions about the Oakland programs, persons may contact Keela at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or keela@relib.net. Information about the Accident programs is available by contacting Jessi at 301-746-8792 or jessi@relib.net.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

LIGHT SCATTERING

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Since clouds are just made of extremely tiny droplets of water, far apart, how come we can't see through them?

A. As a general principle, "seeing" anything involves the interaction among light waves, whatever it is you're looking at, and your eyes. Sometimes you don't see exactly what is there. In the case of seeing clouds, the most important factor is how rays of light interact with very tiny water droplets.

Something big enough to see, such as a raindrop or snowflake, has a diameter of about a millimeter, contains over 10^{19} water molecules, and has a mass of half a milligram. But the tiny droplets that first condense from water vapor en route to cloud formation are a thousand times smaller (about one micron in diameter), containing "only" about 30 billion molecules. Such droplets have mass a billion times smaller, less than 10^{-12} grams. The air currents that sweep them around are huge forces compared to the gentle pull of gravity, and they don't fall as raindrops do.

Here I have imagined a droplet about one micron across, but actual droplets can be of all different sizes, from as big as 10 microns way down to a handful of molecules. Nothing of this entire size-range is big enough to see. Only when a whole lot of droplets accumulate in roughly one place do we use the word "cloud." The spacing between droplets is surely greater than 100 times the diameter of any of them, and so the words "far apart" are applicable. Up close, you can see right through the air containing them.

Now think about some other big numbers. The density of water is 1,000 kilograms per cubic meter (kg/m^3), and ordinary air has a density of 1.2 kg/m^3. In a spherical region about one kilometer across, the mass of all that air is 6×10^8 kg. If only 1% of those molecules are H_2O, that amounts to 6 million kilograms of water in that region. If 10% of that water vapor condensed into droplets (same size as above), you'd have about 10^{21} droplets. Can you still see through that? Maybe so, maybe not.

This is where the properties of light waves become important. Light doesn't always just go in straight lines. When radiation of a certain wavelength comes near an object whose size is somewhat comparable to that wavelength, scattering takes place. The light bounces off in some random direction. Radio waves scatter around buildings, microwaves bounce around inside an oven, and visible light (with wavelengths around half a micron) scatters off micron-sized objects – for example, tiny water droplets.

The light rays don't have to bend very much, just a few degrees in angle, but when there are 10^{21} chances to scatter as light crosses a kilometer, the net result can be that a considerable amount of light bounces away. The light that finally reaches your eyes is not what first entered that region, but is a collection of assorted rays, arriving from different directions. It looks white, and we call that a "cloud."

Of course, if you should be inside the cloud (which is exactly what "fog" really is), then you're able to see some finite distance, depending on the number of droplets close at hand – the "thickness" of the fog. ("You can't see your hand in front of your face" is an exaggeration that never happens.) If you're driving through fog, and you switch on your car's bright lights, it gets worse. The reason is that more input light means more scattered light, some of which randomly comes right back at you and makes it harder to distinguish the road ahead.

There are other familiar forms of light scattering. The particles composing smoke at a barbecue are around a micron in size; so is the haze or smog of a city seen from a distant hillside.

Conversely, a "clear day" is one with low humidity – few water droplets – and therefore light from a very distant object travels unimpeded all the way to your eyes, without scattering. The incredible photographs of the distant universe sent back by the Hubble space telescope are possible because it is looking outward from an orbit completely above the Earth's atmosphere, completely free of light scattering.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublican-news.com.

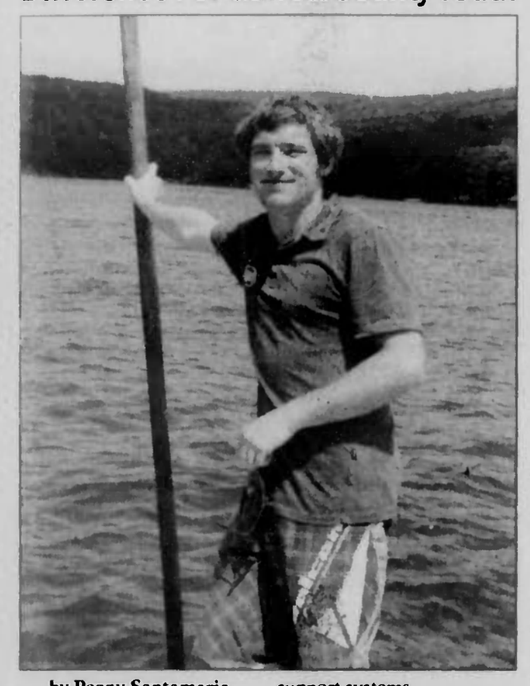
Community Partnerships Making A Difference For Garrett County Youth



by Peggy Santamaria

As Patrick DiGioia prepares to start his final year at Frostburg State University, he reflects on the education and experiences that helped him find the direction for his life. Currently he is pursuing his bachelor's degree in earth science and plans to go on for a master's degree in geology, which is his admitted first love.

Born and reared in Garrett County, DiGioia is a graduate of Southern High School and went on to receive an associate's degree at Garrett College before transferring to FSU.

Before starting high school, DiGioia, who was facing some stumbling blocks resulting from attention deficit disorder, was offered a guiding hand through a program known as TAY (Transitional Age Youth). TAY is offered by a partnership between Garrett College, the Garrett County Board of Education, and the Garrett County Core Service Agency (GCCSA). The program targets boys and girls who are facing challenges in staying on course for a successful future.

So at age 13, DiGioia had the opportunity be part of a unique program that would help shape his future interests and in attaining his goals.

"The TAY program influenced the direction of my life," he said. "Many of the activities I enjoy, such as kayaking, started with TAY."

The skills, including map and compass reading, have stayed with DiGioia and continue to form him. He is presently working two summer jobs, one at High Mountain Sports and the other on the Deep Creek Wintersports Team. Both are reflective of his love of adventure sports.

Across the state of Maryland, TAY programs target youth age 18 and older. But in Garrett County, the TAY program is unique because intervention is at age 13.

This early intercession approach was created in large part by Diana Bolla, who is on staff with GCCSA. She pointed out that if children at age 13 are identified as exhibiting behavior that could be considered "at-risk," then it made more sense to begin working with them immediately rather than waiting five more years.

Bolla saw that the extensive natural resources of Garrett County would provide a perfect staging area for developing programs to assist youth who demonstrate the need for more than traditional support systems.

At-risk youth are those identified as exhibiting academic, behavioral, and/or emotional problems of varying degrees. They have also demonstrated the need for assistance in setting and obtaining goals to move toward a successful future.

Garrett County's TAY program is offered through the Garrett College Adventure-Sports Institute. The mission is to develop economically and socially successful and responsible young leaders through meaningful outdoor adventure sports experiences and mentoring. Garrett faculty member Scott Richardson coordinates the program.

"We work with a group of about 15 TAY kids, and they have 38 program days a year," Richardson explained. "They learn rafting, skiing, and other adventure sports as a way to develop self-esteem and discipline. They also learn to work with peers and staff members."

He added that the TAY staff includes counselors who are Garrett College student interns in the therapeutic recreation program.

Fred Polce, director of the GCCSA, says he is more than satisfied with the Garrett County Transitional Age Youth program, and credits Diana Bolla for having the foresight to create it for eighth grade students and to use Garrett County's natural resources.

"It is a very strong partnership that we have with the college, "said Polce. "They do a fine job. Our program is effective, and the state is very pleased with the results we've shown."

Dr. Getty First Off The Starting Block To "Sponsor A Swimmer"

by Peggy Santamaria

Motivated by a strong personal belief in the importance of water safety and knowing how to swim, Dr. Albert Getty has donated $1,000 to the Garrett College Foundation to support the "I Can Swim" program, which will be offered without charge to Garrett County's kindergarten-age children when the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Complex (CARC) opens is September.

Fred Learey, executive director of the GC Foundation, explained that a campaign called "Sponsor a Swimmer" has been launched to ensure the sustainability of "I Can Swim."

"Dr. Getty's very generous donation will sponsor 10 children in this program," Learey said. "We hope that other businesses and individuals will see the importance of this program and also contribute."

Dr. Getty, an Oakland dentist, noted that he did not learn to swim effectively until he took a mandatory swim class at Syracuse University in 1971.

"Since then, I have become a confident swimmer and have developed a commitment to stressing the importance of swimming to all people, especially the young," he said.

Unlike her husband, Gail Getty learned to swim very early in life, and has been both a lifeguard and a certified water safety instructor.

"She taught our children to swim at a young age also, and has our grandchildren in the water as often as possible," Dr. Getty said.

An affinity for water may, in fact, be a family trait. Dr. Getty described some of the water-related activities and accomplishments of his children.

"My daughter Abbie has been a lifeguard and has recently entered triathlon racing," he said. "My older son Adam spent 10 years as an Air Force para-rescueman. He is qualified in SCUBA and underwater rescue operations. My other son, Joel, was a competitive diver in college, and is also SCUBA certified. He has competed in various triathlons, including the SavageMan race, and is the world record holder in the "Triplesprint500™ Triathlon for Sprinters."

Getty underscored the fact that his children, having learned to swim at such a young age, have gone on to enjoy the water, and to not fear but respect it.

"Everyone does a huge favor to their children to see that they learn to swim, not only for the enjoyment, but for the likelihood that one day they may save their own life, or that of another," he concluded.

Anyone wishing to learn more about the "Sponsor a Swimmer" fund may telephone the office of the Garrett College Foundation at 301-387-3131. To learn more about the CARC and "I Can Swim," persons may call 301-387-3786.

SPONSORING A SWIMMER – 10 of them, that is – is Oakland dentist Dr. Albert Getty, pictured right, who has donated $1,000 to the "Sponsor a Swimmer" fund held by the Garrett College Foundation. Donations to the fund will be used to support the "I Can Swim" program that will be offered at the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Complex when it opens in September. "I Can Swim" will be available free of charge to all kindergarten-age children in Garrett County. Accepting the donation above is Fred Learey, executive director of the GC Foundation. IT'S JAIL & BAIL TIME – The Monday night crew of Jail & Bail for Hospice is pictured above as they turn in their pledge checks for 2011. The group expressed their thanks for those who have supported them this year, including Accident Post 208, American Legion; Grantsville Sqdn. 214, SAL; Grantsville Lions Club; agents of Long & Foster; members of McHenry Lions Club; and friends at the Garrett County Fair. Pictured from left are Lynn "Sourdough" Patton, John "Dogface" Braskey, Brenda Butscher, George "Lucky" Edwards, and Ed "Rooster" King.

STATE PARK TO CELEBRATE EAST AFRICAN CULTURE – A presentation on the culture and traditions of East Africa will take place at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 27, at New Germany State Park. The program will be presented by Sterla Ndaga, chief park manager of Rubondo Island National Park in Tanzania, Africa (pictured above). "We have been very fortunate to have the opportunity to work with Sterla this summer," said Ranger Erin Thomas of New Germany State Park. "She is extremely talented, and we have enjoyed sharing ideas with her." Ndaga is currently employed as a seasonal naturalist at New Germany while she works toward her degree in wildlife biology at Frostburg State University. She will discuss Tanzanian culture and traditions, and how they relate to the area's conservation practices. The event is free and will be held at the New Germany Lake House. Participants will also have the opportunity to sample traditional African food. For more information, persons should call 301-895-5453 or e-mail park-new-germany@dnr.state.md.us.

Local Author To Teach Course On Writing For Children

Denise Moynahan, published author and illustrator, will teach a course on writing books for children. This course will be offered through the Garrett College Northern Outreach Center (NOC) in Grantsville on four consecutive Wednesdays, beginning September 7, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Students will be introduced to basic writing structures and techniques as applied to children's fiction and non-fiction. The sessions will include lectures with examples and supporting materials, as well as class writing projects. Students will be asked to actively participate in discussions and critiques.

Moynahan noted that her goals for the students include knowing how to identify and write for a particular genre and how to find sources for inspiration. She will also emphasize creating characters, producing vivid scenes and settings, and methods for getting a reader "hooked." Students will complete at least one short story during the course.

Moynahan received her bachelor of fine ars degree in illustration from the Rhode Island School of Design and studied writing for children and teenagers with the Institute of Children's Literature. She and her husband now live on top of Backbone Mountain, where she got her inspiration to write and illustrate the children's book The Great Cavern of the Winds: Tales from Backbone Mountain, published by Overmountain Press. She has also written and illustrated a fantasy book, in verse, for each of her 10 grandchildren.

For information on the course one may contact Terry Beachy, program coordinator for the NOC, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu. To register for these courses, persons may contact the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069.

Crellin UBC To Host Guest Speaker At Summer Revival

The Crellin United Brethren Church has scheduled summer revival services for Aug. 28 through Sept. 2. These services, to be held at 10:45 a.m. on Sunday (Aug. 28) and at 7 p.m. every following evening, will feature Rev Dan Frederick of Ulysses, Ky

Frederick, who owns and operates Frederick Ministries, has traveled and performed with gospel groups throughout the country and has received the Denman Award for evangelism. He began his evangelistic work in 1998.

"His ministry is dedicated to the salvation of the soul and fulfilling the commission to go and make disciples," stated a spokesperson.

"Frederick Ministries is a non-profit ministry that welcomes the opportunity to serve wherever they are sent and they are trusting God to use their talents in music, their technique in teaching and preaching the Gospel to the salvation of the lost soul and reviving of the saint."

Crellin United Brethren Church is located about 5 miles west of Oakland on Route 39. Those interested in further information may contact the church at 301-334-1870. For more information about Frederick Ministries one may visit www.frederickministries.org.

Wherever you are, whatever you thirst for, when your spirit is parched, God can refresh you with His mercy and love. Our Heavenly Father promises, "The poor and needy search for water... their tongues are parched with thirst. But I the Lord will answer them...I will make rivers flow on barren heights, and springs within the valleys." (Isaiah 41:17-18) Visit His House this week and revive your thirst for God who is good.

Rallying Help

There is an old Chinese proverb which says, in effect, that one person cannot easily feed twelve hungry people, but twelve people can easily feed one hungry person. By each of the twelve giving one spoonful of rice to the hungry person, he or she will be well-fed. Sometimes a person needs help and a single person can come to their aid, but sometimes we need to "raise a barn" and thus require the help of a larger group. Rallying the help of a larger group can be difficult because it may require us to ask many individuals for help, but on the other hand, it doesn't require us to ask a whole lot of any single person. Ten people may be ready and willing to each give $10.00 apiece in order to help someone pay their electric bill whereas one person may be hard-pressed to come up with the $100.00 needed. Most cultures have sayings to express these communal efforts, such as the African proverb "It takes a village to raise a child." Remember, no man is an island, and though we might be reluctant to ask for help, we all need it from time to time.

"In everything I did, I showed you that by this kind of hard work we must help the weak, remembering the words the Lord Jesus himself said: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

R.S.V. Acts 20:35

Why Fishburne and 'CSI' have said goodbye

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Laurence Fishburne

Q: Can you tell me why they are replacing Laurence Fishburne with Ted Danson on "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation"? –Jack Frazee, Grove City, Ohio

A: Fishburne's contract for the CBS crime drama was up after the past season, and the announcement of his exit indicated it was his decision not to return. That forced the show's producers to start looking for another leading man, and though both Fishburne and William Petersen had come to "CSI" from the movie and stage worlds, the series went with a familiar television face in recruiting Danson. He starts his run with the 12th season premiere on Sept. 21.

Q: In the Hallmark Channel movie "A Valentine's Date," who played the female judge, and where have we seen her before? –June Hocking, Ilion, N.Y.

A: It was Catherine Hicks, undoubtedly best known for the 11 seasons she spent playing the wife and mother on the WB Network/CW series "7th Heaven." She also had series runs on the daytime serial "Ryan's Hope," an adaptation of the movie "The Bad News Bears" and the mystery series "Tucker's Witch."

As for feature films, Hicks played the mom in the original "Child's Play" thriller that introduced the homicidal doll Chucky, and she was the present-day ally of the Enterprise crew in "Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home."

Q: Is "Merlin" going to return to Syfy? And if so, when? –Dee Brown, Palm Coast, Fla.

A: Yes, a fourth season of the saga is coming to Syfy. The most the network is saying about when it will start is "2012." Colin Morgan will be back in the title role, and Nathaniel Parker ("Stardust") will be added to the cast.

Q: For the last few weeks, Cenk Uygnr has been missing from MSNBC with no explanation. Can you please find out what happened to him? –Judy Vollrath, Racine, Wis.

A: He left the network after being offered a different on-air position. Uygur declined it, then spoke out quite openly about his belief that he was being demoted because of his challenging approach to politicians. Uygur continues to practice his style of interviewing and commentary as a blogger and on the Internet and radio show titled "The Young Turks."

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was American ventriloquist and comedian Willie Tyler who made the following sage observation: "The reason lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place is that the same place isn't there the second time."

•Many people believe that the Gutenberg Bible, which came from the presses of Johannes Gutenberg in the 1450s, is the first example of a printed book, but that's not true; it's the first book printed using movable type. The oldest known printed book is actually the "Diamond Sutra," which was printed in China more than 550 years before the Gutenberg Bible.

• In many Middle Eastern cultures, it is traditional to celebrate a wedding with five events. The first is the engagement party, during which the bride-to-be changes clothes several times. When the bride and groom sign the marriage contract there is another party, again with numerous changes of clothing hy the bride. The day hefore the wedding there is a henna party, during which the bride and others are painted with elahorate designs that are thought to ward off evil spirits. The reception takes place after the wedding, and guests are often given five almond pieces, each piece symbolizing one of the sacred wedding wishes: health, happiness, wealth, longevity and fertility. Seven days after the wedding is the final celehratory event, known as sabaa, which is for women only and is analogous to the wedding shower we have in the West.

• The town of North Pole, Alaska, is actually 1,700 miles south of the planet's geographical North Pole.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Aug. 23, 1814, during the war of 1812, first lady Dolley Madison abandoned the couple's personal belongings to save the full-length portrait of former president George Washington from desecration by vengeful British soldiers. The next night, British troops burned the White House.

• On Aug. 24, 1875, Captain Matthew Webh of Great Britain becomes the first man to successfully swim the English Channel without assistance. Webb reached shore in 21 hours and 45 minutes. In 1883, Webb attempted to swim the Niagara River, and drowned in 10 minutes. His body was found four days later.

• On Aug. 28, 1917, President Woodrow Wilson is picketed by woman suffragists in front of the White House, who demand that he support an amendment to the Constitution that would guarantee women the right to vote. Wilson had a history of lukewarm support for women's suffrage even, though he was a former teacher at a women's college and the father of two daughters.

• On Aug. 26, 1939, television station W2XBS in New York City broadcasts a doubleheader between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds from Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. It was the first Major League Baschall gaine ever aired on television.

• On Aug. 25, 1944, after more than four years of Nazi occupation, Paris is liberated by the French 2nd Armored Division and the U.S. 4th Infantry Division. Gerinan General Dietrich von Choltitz defied an order by Adolf Hitler to blow up Paris' landmarks and burn the city to the ground hefore its liberation.

• On Aug. 27, 1967, Brian Epstein, manager of the Beatles, is found dead of an accidental drug overdose in his Sussex, England, home. The world might never have heard of the Beatles were it not for Epstein. Just a few months after being hired he got them their first recording contract with Parlophone Records.

• On Aug. 29, 1982, Swedish-horn actress and three-time Academy Award winner Ingrid Bergman dies of cancer in London on her 67th birthday. Bergman was best known for her role as Ilsa Lund in "Casablanca."

Q: I have an American Flyer train set manufactured during the 1945-1969 period. I bought this set new and only used it a few times. I would like to find a collector so I can sell it. -- John, Springfield, Pa.

A: There are several excellent price guides that document the values of prewar and postwar Lionel, American Flyer, Buddy "L," Marx, Ives, Kusan and AMT model trains. One of the better references is "O'Brien's Collecting Toy Trains: Identification and Price Guide" edited by David Doyle and published by Krause. This hook features more than 1,200 photos in full color and more than 6,000 listings and up-to-date prices. This should help you determine the values of your train set. The American Flyer Collectors Club also might be helpful. The address is P.O. Box 13269, Pittsburgh, PA 15243.

Q: I have a broadsheet of "Ahraham Lincoln's Saloon License," which has heen in my family for a number of years. I am enclosing a picture of it and wonder what it might he worth. -- Linda, Flagler Beach, Fla.

A: Your poster was a premium, puhlished and distributed hy the Minnesota Beer Wholesalers Association, prohably during the 1930s or '40s. Although it is interesting, it is, of course, a reprint and not an original, but nevertheless a heer collectihle. I suggest you contact Ritchie Dubreuil at the Florida chapter of the Beer Collectors Club of America, 5550 Vanderipe Road, Sarasota, FL 34241.

Q. My husband was a cartoonist assistant for many years. I have some original Sunday pages and quite a collection of comic art, and need some advice. For example, I have a "Flash Gordon" original Sunday page by Mac Raboy and an original Sunday page of "Mark Trail" by Ed Dodd. Can you help me find the right outlet for these items? -- Ann, Orlando, Fla.

A: You might begin by contacting the National Cartoonist Society, Columbus Circle Station, P.O. Box 20267, New York, NY 10023.

Identifying Marks

When learning how to identify birds, ask yourself: Does the bird have black or white wing bars? How many? Is there a stripe over the eye? Does it cling like a woodpecker or perch like a cardinal? Is the tail cocked like a mockingbird's?

A new dehumidifier can save you $20 a year in energy costs.
Replacing an old dehumidifier with an ENERGY STAR® qualified dehumidifier can save you about $20 per year, or more than $220 over its lifetime. These dehumidifiers are more efficient than conventional models, so they use about 15% less energy. In fact, the energy you save over its lifetime could power an ENERGY STAR qualified refrigerator for five months.
For information about energy-efficient products and conservation tips, visit energysaveMD.com or call 1-877-928-8928.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

Bear Creek Church of the Brethren will hold an ice cream social on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 5 to 6.30 p.m. at the church. The menu will consist of hamburgers, hot dogs, sloppy joes, baked beans, corn on the cob, potato salad, homemade ice-cream, cake, and beverages. Donations will be appreciated. The church is located on 1088 Brethren Church Road behind Accident Elementary School. The public is invited to attend.

ACCIDENT LUTHERAN PARISH SUMMER PICNIC

The Accident Lutheran Parish will hold a summer picnic on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Accident Community Park west pavilion beginning at 3 p.m. There will be pulled pork sandwiches, munchies, and ice-cream bars, as well as games for children and adults. The public is invited to attend. Entertainment will be provided by Irv Ullery's Country Gospel Band.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Revival services will be held at Asher Glade Church of the Brethren from Monday, Aug. 29, through Friday, Sept. 2, at 7 p.m. each evening. Kevin Staggs will be the guest speaker, and special music will be provided nightly. The public is welcome to attend.

The West Marva District men's fellowship banquet will be held this Saturday, Aug. 20, at Sunnyside Church of the Brethren.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Bible study is held every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. at the church.

The women of the church will go to the Casselman Inn for lunch on Thursday, Aug. 25. They will meet at the church at 11 a.m. Those interested should contact Cathy Williams.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Holy Communion will be held during regular morning worship at Grace Lutheran this Sunday, Aug. 21, at 9.45 a.m.

RUSH BAPTIST CHURCH

Rush Baptist Church will have its annual homecoming celebration on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the church at 1985 Old Morgantown Rd., Friendsville. The morning worship service will be led by Karin Tyson and Herman from Chester, Va. Karin has a puppet ministry called P.A.L.S. for Christ, through which she does Christian puppet shows, ventriloquism, gospel wonders, and Bible stories.

The morning worship service begins at 11 a.m. A covered dish picnic will follow after the worship service at 12:30, then the Keefers will sing and Ms. Karin and Herman will minister again at 2 p.m. Past and present members and pastors are welcome to attend to renew old acquaintances. The public is invited.

Annual Model Train Show Set In Rowlesburg

The Rowlesburg Model Train Show, this year renamed the Northern West Virginia Model Train Show, will be held over the Labor Day weekend, beginning Saturday, Sept. 3, in Rowlesburg.

The Tourism Commission announces that the Mon Valley Railroad Historical Society of West Virginia is a new partner and co-sponsor of the train show, which features the largest model train display in northern West Virginia.

The displays consist of thousands of model train pieces and dozens of working trains, from antiques to modern locomotives, all running at once. Free ice cream will be given each of the three days to the first 50 children age 12 and under who attend. There will also be a "Kids' Hour" each day at 2 p.m. during which the model train clubs will allow children to "run the railroad."

Mark Phillips of Frederick, Md., will have his newly acquired road caboose to take attendees for rides around town.

Nationally recognized author Fran Cannon Slayton will return as the kick-off speaker. She will read from her book When the Whistle Blows and conduct a book signing. Copies will be available for purchase. Her presentation and book signing will be held in the Ambulance Building at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

The largest model railroad bridge collection in the United States, now on loan from the Baltimore and Ohio Museum, will also be on display in the Szilagyi Center all three days. The 10 bridges were originally created for the 1927 Centenary in Baltimore to celebrate the B&O's 100th anniversary. These works have not been seen together as a collection since 1927.

This show is designed for people of all ages and interests. Hobbyists will have the opportunity to buy, sell and trade. Vendors' tables will be set up inside and out at the Ambulance Building, depending on weather. All enthusiasts are invited to bring static displays and photos to be included this year in the show.

Also on display at the Ambulance Building will be a collection of locomotives created by renowned model maker Mel Thornburg, made especially for the B&O Railroad to display in depots and department stores at Christmas.

The show will also feature food and beverages for purchase, live entertainment, and tours of Cannon Hill and the Civil War battle sites in and around Rowlesburg.

For more information about the show, persons may contact Tim Weaver, Rowlesburg tourism commissioner, at wtcweaver@yahoo.com, or Rich Henderson of the Mon Valley Railroad Historical Society at trainman430@comcast.net. Weaver's telephone number is 978-270-3847.

AURORA/EGLON

CLOTHING GIVE-AWAY

The third annual clothes give-away will be held on Saturday, Aug. 20, at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, south of town on Rt. 24. The event will be held 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be free clothing, including shoes, as well as hot dogs, cookies, drinks, and popsicles, plus a cake walk. Puppets will also be visiting from 10 a.m. to noon. Games and face painting will be offered all day. There will also be gift drawings from Melanie's, Donna Jean's Restaurant, Deerwood, the Intersection, Eglon Farm Service, and Avon.

BLOOD DRIVE

An American Red Cross bloodmobile will be set up on Thursday, Aug. 25, from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Union Ambulance squad hall. They are especially looking for donors with Type "O" blood.

REUNIONS

The 102nd Harsh family reunion will be held on Sunday, Aug. 28, at Farmer's Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run. Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish to share. Entertainment will be provided by Chet Roth and Friends. Family and friends are encouraged to bring photos, stories, and memories to share.

The Gnegy family will meet for its annual reunion at the home of Dale and Mary Jane Gnegy, Gnegy Church Road, on Sunday, Aug. 28. The covered dish meal will begin at 1 p.m. and will be followed by a brief business meeting.

UNION SENIORS MEET

Union District Senior Citizens had 28 members in attendance at the August dinner held at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Grace Bachtel was the leader for devotions, and Sidney Murphy, director of the Preston County Seniors, was a guest at the meeting. It was announced that the group will meet on Sept. 7 at 8:30 a.m. to travel to Kingwood for the annual countywide picnic. Those in need of more information may contact Janice Tackett.

There will be no shopping trip this month. Those with food vouchers to buy local foods are encouraged to use them as soon as possible. The number received next year depends on the amount used this year.

There is help for seniors age 55 and older who need more income. Those interested should contact the Kingwood office. There is also a one-time fund offered through the Kingwood office for help with electricity or fuel payments.

Janice Tackett dismissed the group to play bingo, closing with "A Modern Day."

MOVIE NIGHT

Soul Surfer will be shown at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, on Sunday, Aug. 21, at 6 p.m.

This is a story of a teen surfer, Bethany Hamilton, who lost her arm in a shark attack. She overcomes all odds to become a champion surfer. All are welcome to attend the movie. A time of fellowship and refreshments will follow. Those attending are asked to bring a snack to share.

PERSONAL

David Walker is recuperating at Ruby Memorial Hospital following open heart surgery. He is hoping to return to his Aurora home this week.

Jerry Hauser came home to Cash Valley from Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Another infection developed that altered his healing process.

Dan Liston, Stemple Ridge, remains in critical condition at Ruby Memorial after being admitted last week.

Janet Judy, Horse Shoe Run, was a patient last week at a Morgantown hospital, where she had several stents placed. She has since returned home.

Lois Beckman reports that she is now feeling better each day as she recovers from heart surgery.

Preston County History Day To Be Celebrated

Preston County History Day will be celebrated on Sunday, Aug. 21, at historical sites in Arthurdale, Kingwood, Rowlesburg, Terra Alta, and Tunnelton.

"Bring the family to learn about the history in your back yard," said Deb Miller, Arthurdale Heritage Inc.

Admission is charged at some sites. The times and locations are as follows:

• Arthurdale Heritage, a five-building complex representing the New Deal's first subsistence homestead project, noon–4 p.m., along Rt. 92.

• James McGrew House, 1831 Kingwood home built by the prominent businessman involved in the formation of West Virginia, 1–3 p.m., along Rt. 7.

• Westbrook's Esso, Kingwood, showing the full-service gas station of yesteryear and an antique truck, 1–3 p.m., on the corner of Price and West High streets.

• Szilagyi Center, Rowlesburg, featuring the World War II Museum, Preston County Sports Museum, B&O bridges exhibit, cafe, and shops, 11 a.m.–5 p.m., along Rt. 72.

• Terra Alta History House with three floors of Preston County history, exhibits, photos, and genealogy records, 1:30–4:30 p.m., 109 East Washington Street.

• Tunnelton Train Depot Museum, a 1913 brick train station once operated by the B&O Railroad, 1–3 p.m., Boswell Street.

A printable map of all locations is available at arthurdaleheritage.org.

The final Preston County History Day for 2011 will be observed on Sunday Sept. 18, Miller noted.

4-H Club News

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS
Jonathan Blamble, reporter

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club met at the Farmer's Wildlife Club on Aug. 8 for a family picnic, at which 13 members turned in completed projects for grading.

Following the meal, the business meeting was conducted by president Haley Rocha. Devotions were given by the recreation committee using the theme "With God All Things Are Possible." Sierra Evans led the pledges.

Haley Rocha reported on Alpha II, state camp, and County Older Camp. Savannah Arnett reported on County Younger Camp. Savannah also reported on the club's project at the Smallest Church.

The club is continuing collection of pop tabs, Box Tops for Education, and Campbell labels for other organizations.

The Buckwheat Festival premium books are available, and registration deadlines were noted, as well as project exhibit requirements. The club plans to have a lamb dressing team.

For the September meeting, the club plans to go on a project tour to various members' homes. A committee was chosen to plan this event.

Livestock record guides, and secretary's and treasurer's books are due to the leader by Oct. 5.

"Popular Myths" Study Scheduled At Local Center

Aldersgate Evangelical Center in Cranesville is sponsoring a four-week study titled "Popular Myths of the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries." The public is invited.

Lead by Rev. Mike Daniels, classes will begin on Thursday, Aug. 25, at 6:30 p.m. and will continue each Thursday through Sept. 15.

There may be a minimal cost for materials. For more information, persons may call Pastor Ross Glotfelty at 301-616-9378.

Brush Up on Your Investment Education

You don't need to have young children to be keenly aware that we've reached that "back-to-school" time of year. Whether you're shopping for school supplies or not, you may want to take a cue from this season to think about getting a little more education yourself – specifically, investment education.

Many people find the language of investing to be confusing, but with a little effort, you can learn important concepts and principles. And the more you know about investing, the better off you'll be because, in the investment world as in other areas of life, knowledge is power.

So take just a few minutes to read more on these basic investment concepts:

• Growth — You purchase some types of investments with the hope that their value will rise over time. Of course, over the short term, the prices of growth-oriented investments can and will fluctuate, sometimes substantially, and the preservation of your principal is not guaranteed.

• Income — When you invest in income-oriented or fixed-income vehicles, you receive income in the form of interest payments. The market value of fixed-income investments can also fluctuate, but if you hold them until maturity, you can generally expect to receive the original principal value.

• Investment risk — When most people talk about investment risk, they are usually referring to the possibility of losing money — and that is indeed an ever-present risk. But all investments carry some type of risk. When you invest in fixed-income investments, for example, you may incur interest rate risk — the risk that the value of your investment will drop if interest rates rise. Or you may encounter purchasing power risk — the risk that your rate of return may not keep up with inflation.

• Risk tolerance — Generally speaking, your risk tolerance refers to what type of investor you are. If you're an aggressive investor, you may be willing to accept greater risk in exchange for potentially higher returns, whereas if you're a conservative investor, you'll take lower returns if you can receive greater preservation of principal.

• Time horizon — Your investment strategy will be partially based on your time horizon — the number of years in which you plan to invest. Your time horizon will likely stretch into your retirement years.

• Diversification — Diversification is an important factor in investment success. By spreading your investment dollars among an array of investment vehicles, you can help reduce the impact of volatility on your portfolio, although diversification, by itself, can't guarantee a profit or protect against loss.

While far from exhaustive, this list of investment terms can help you gain a clearer understanding of the "nuts and bolts" of investing — and perhaps encourage you to further your investment "education."

Weather History

Aug. 19, 1788 - A small but powerful hurricane inflicted great havoc upon forests along a narrow track from New Jersey to Maine. A similar storm track today would cause extreme disaster in the now populated area.

Aug. 20, 1910 - The "big blow up" of forest fires finally came to an end in Idaho. A record dry August fueled 1,736 fires which burned three million acres and destroyed six billion board feet of timber. The fires claimed the lives of 85 people, 78 of whom were fire fighters.

Criminal Cases Heard Recently In District Court

Several criminal cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court, presided over by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert.

Jeremiah Ray Reckner, 21, Friendsville, was found guilty on a driving on a revoked license charge that stemmed from an April traffic stop by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. He was sentenced to 90 days with 60 suspended and placed on 18 months of supervised probation, to be monitored by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation. He was not prosecuted on additional driving citations.

Ricky Scott Moats Jr., 26, Friendsville, was found guilty on a possession of marijuana charge and sentenced to 60 days with 56 suspended. He was also placed on 18 months of supervised probation and fined $1,000, of which $600 was suspended. He was not prosecuted on a possession of paraphernalia charge. Moats was stopped by Maryland State Police in May, and was reportedly found to be in possession of a bag of marijuana.

Daniel Dean Sarver, 46, Frostburg, was found guilty on a possession of marijuana charge stemming from a traffic stop in July 2010 by MSP, during which a smoking pipe was found on his person. He was sentenced to 45 days suspended and placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation. He was also fined $200, which was suspended. Sarver was not prosecuted on a possession of paraphernalia charge.

Kenzie Craig Alexander, 31, Terra Alta, W.Va., was found guilty on a possession of paraphernalia charge and was fined $250. He was not prosecuted on a possession of marijuana charge. When Alexander was arrested on a warrant in September 2008, he reportedly had a smoking device in his pocket.

John Charles Ferrell, 48, McHenry, was given a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict on an obstruction and hindering charge stemming from an April domestic dispute that occurred along Close Road, McHenry. He was sentenced to 30 days suspended and six months of unsupervised probation. He was also fined $250 and ordered to pay restitution to Maryland State Police in the amount of $245. He reportedly damaged MSP property during the course of the arrest. He was not prosecuted on disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, malicious destruction of property $500 value, and failure to obey a lawful order charges.

William Carroll Rager, 48, Friendsville, was given a stet verdict on a second-degree assault charge stemming from a domestic dispute in March. Garrett County sheriff's deputies investigated the incident, which occurred at an Oak Street, Friendsville, home. Rager was ordered to have no violent contact with the victim in the case.

Tabatha Marie Mack, 30, Hopewell, Va., was given a stet verdict on a malicious destruction of property $500 value charge, which stemmed from a domestic dispute that occurred at a Pysell Road, McHenry, residence in July. Maryland State Police were the arresting officers.

Carl Devin Sliger, 20, Terra Alta, was not prosecuted on a theft $1,000 to $10,000 charge stemming from an incident in June. It was reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office that Sliger had stolen a four-wheeler from an Oakland residence.

DUI/DWI

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent District Court proceedings, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Amanda Elizabeth Perry, 25, W.Va., was found guilty on a DUI per se charge stemming from a traffic stop in June by MSP. She was sentenced to one year with 11 months and 20 days suspended. She will serve five consecutive weekends at the Garrett County Jail. Perry was also fined $1,000, of which $700 was suspended, and placed on three years of supervised probation. She was not prosecuted on DWI, DUI, DWI while transporting a minor, and DUI while transporting a minor charges.

William Nicholas Shelton, 22, W.Va., was given a PBJ on a DUI charge that stemmed from a traffic stop by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in June. He was sentenced to 60 days suspended and fined $1,000 with $500 suspended. He was also placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation. Shelton was not prosecuted on a DWI charge.

Matthew Harman White, 21, Md., was given a PBJ on a DUI per se charge stemming from a May traffic stop by GC sheriff's deputies. He was fined $1,000 with $750 suspended and sentenced to 45 days suspended. He was also placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DWI charges.

Library E-News To Be Available In September

The Ruth Enlow Library is adding Shelf Talk – library news delivered by e-mail – to its existing offering of NextReads™ newsletters. Published on a monthly basis and written by local library staff, Shelf Talk will contain a list of events at all branches, staff picks and reviews, a featured online resource, and technical notes on a specific topic.

The first introductory issue will be distributed on Thursday, Sept. 1, to all existing NextReads subscribers. After that, anyone wishing to receive the newsletter should subscribe by clicking the NextReads icon on the library's home page at www.relib.net. New subscribers can set up an account and check all newsletters they'd like to receive. Existing subscribers can click Manage Accounts and add Shelf Talk to their list of newsletters.

NextReads™ is a free service. No library card is necessary – just an e-mail address – for patrons or visitors to subscribe to different subject and genre newsletters, including titles for kids, "tweens," and teens.

The newsletters cover topics ranging from biography and memoir to fantasy to New York Times bestsellers. They are sent on a regular basis and include up to 12 book titles, along with brief descriptions written by NextReads librarians. Subscribers can link directly to the library catalog from books of interest in the newsletters and place a hold or request a title immediately.

NextReads™ is a service from the creators of NoveList®, an online resource that helps readers learn more about books and authors through feature articles and book discussion guides. NoveList also is available to Ruth Enlow patrons in the Research/Literature section of the library's web site.

For questions about Shelf Talk or the NextReads newsletter service, persons may contact the main library at 301-334-3996 or any local branch.

A listing of services and programs at the Ruth Enlow Library is available on the web site at www.relib.net.

214 Pritts Road, Swanton, MD 21561

Under and by virtue of a Judgment of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, passed on February 2, 2011, in the proceedings No. 11-C-10-11370, Civil Action in said Court, wherein Maria Dawn Sines is the Plaintiff and James Alvin Sines is the Defendant, the undersigned, being authorized and directed to sell the property hereinafter described, does hereby give notice that on at the Alder Street entrance of the Garrett County Court House, Oakland, Maryland, I will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder the following property, all of that piece or parcel of land situate in Election District 18 Garrett County, Maryland, containing 60,112 square feet, more or less, believed to be improved by a 1,512 sq. ft residence, known as 214 Pritts Rd., Swanton, MD, being the same as conveyed in deed from Albert & Stephanie Winner dated September 3, 1991, and recorded in Liber 569, Folio 678, respectively, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. The land is Parcel 222 on Tax Map 67.

Friday, August 26, 2011

Terms of Sale: Deposit of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) shall be paid at sale, balance at settlement, which shall be within fifteen days after final ratification of sale, time being of the essence. Both payments shall be cash, certified or cashier's check. The Trustee makes no representations and/or warranty whatsoever regarding the title or any other matter with respect to the property, either express or Implied, including but not limited to: the nature, condition, quality and quantity of the land, suitability of use and/or purpose, description of the property and/or improvements, if any. The Property will be sold subject to all easements, conditions, liens, restrictions, rights of redemption, covenants, encumbrances and agreements of record affecting the same, and such state of facts that an accurate survey or physical inspection of the Property might disclose. The Property will be sold subject to all existing building, zoning, wetland, and environmental problems and or violations which may exist on or with respect to the Property, if any. Purchaser at the sale shall assume the risk of loss with respect to the Property as of the time of sale. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining possession of the property. Taxes, and any other payable public charges and assessments will be adjusted to the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. All costs of conveyance and settlement, including incidental settlement costs, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes, shall be paid by Purchaser. Time is of the essence as to Purchaser. In the event the Purchaser fails to settle as required, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available, Substitute Trustee may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and expense of Purchaser. In such event, Purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney fees, and all other charges due. In the event that Trustee is unable to convey marketable title, the sale is null and void and Purchaser is not entitled to any legal or equitable remedy, other than the return of the deposit, without interest and any and all other claims of the Purchaser are hereby released. Other terms and conditions may be announced at the sale. The information contained herein is offered for informational purposes only. It is Purchaser's obligation to obtain an independent investigation of the Property. The Trustee does not make any representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of this information and Purchaser holds them harmless from same. The Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PROPOSED TAX RATE INCREASE FOR RECORDATION TAX

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, at 4:05 p.m., in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider increasing the rate of the Recordation Tax.

The provisions of Section 12-103(b) of the Tax-Property Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (the "State Code") grant to the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland (the "Board"), the power to set, by law, a recordation tax rate in Garrett County. The current tax rate set for the recordation tax, pursuant to the provisions of Section 37.055 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Garrett County, Maryland (the "County Code"), the same being Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of the State of Maryland, is $3.50 for each $500.00 or fraction of $500.00 of consideration payable for the principal amount of the debt secured for an instrument of writing as defined in the State Code.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, in order to determine if the proposed change is necessary for the existing and future health, safety, and welfare of the public in general.

By Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland
R. Lamont Pagenhardt
8/18 County Administrator

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING MCHENRY WATER SYSTEM WATER CONNECTION AND USER FEES AND CONNECTION AND AMORTIZATION POLICY

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a Public Hearing on Saturday, August 27, 2011, at 9:00 a.m., at Garrett College located at 687 Mosser Road, McHenry, Maryland, in the Auditorium, Room 715 of the Fine Arts Building, to consider changes to the water connection and user fees and the connection and amortization policy for the McHenry Water System.

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on August 27, 2011, on the necessity or advisability of the proposed policy and rate change.

By Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland
R. Lamont Pagenhardt
8/11-18(2) County Administrator

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PROPOSED LEGISLATION FOR TAX RATE INCREASE FOR COUNTY TRANSFER TAX

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, at 4:20 p.m., in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider requesting legislation to enact a tax rate increase for County Transfer Tax.

The provisions of Section 37.002 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Garrett County, Maryland (the "County Code"), the same being Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, authorize the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland (the "Board"), to impose a County transfer tax on an instrument of writing that conveys title to or a leasehold interest in real property. Pursuant to the provisions of the County Code, the tax rate may not exceed one percent (1%). The current County transfer rate is one percent (1%).

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, in order to determine if the proposed change is necessary for the existing and future health, safety, and welfare of the public in general.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PROPOSED LEGISLATION FOR TAX RATE INCREASE FOR HOTEL RENTAL TAX

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, at 4:15 p.m., in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider requesting legislation to authorize a tax rate increase for Hotel Rental Tax.

The provisions of Article 24, Section 9-301, et seq., of the Annotated Code of Maryland, (the "State Code") authorize the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland (the "Board"), to impose a tax on a transient charge paid to an establishment that offers sleeping accommodations for compensation located in Garrett County. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 9-304 of the State Code, Garrett County may not set a hotel rental tax rate that exceeds five percent (5%). The current hotel rental tax rate in Garrett County is five percent (5%).

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, in order for the Board to consider requesting legislation to authorize an increase in the tax rate limitations in Garrett County.

By Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland
R. Lamont Pagenhardt
8/18 County Administrator

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING PROPOSED LEGISLATION FOR TAX RATE INCREASE FOR THE RATE OF INTEREST FOR OVERDUE PROPERTY TAXES

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, at 4:25 p.m., in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider requesting legislation to authorize an increase in the Interest rate imposed on overdue property taxes.

The provisions of Section 14-603(b)(1) of the Tax-Property Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland (the "State Code") establish the rate of interest for each month or fraction of a month that a County property tax is overdue in Garrett County. The current rate of interest is one percent (1%).

Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, August 23, 2011, in order to determine if the proposed change is necessary for the existing and future health, safety, and welfare of the public in general.

By Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland
R. Lamont Pagenhardt

PUBLIC NOTICES

INVITATION TO BID
GARRETT COUNTY LANDFILL LATERAL EXPANSION

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will accept sealed bids for the expansion of the Garrett County Landfill located at 3118 Oakland Sang Run Road in Oakland, Maryland. The construction project includes phased construction of Cells 4 and 5. The work includes but is not limited to the following: clearing and grubbing; excavation; installation of clay liner and geomembrane; installation of geocomposite and protective drainage layers; installation of leachate collection/transmission system; and topsoil/vegetative stabilization. A bid bond or certified check in the amount of 5% of the total bid amount shall be submitted with each bid. A performance/payment bond in the full bid amount will be required of the successful contractor. For additional information about this project, visit the Garrett County Purchasing Department web site at www.garrettcounty.org/purchasing/currentbids.aspx.

A Pre-Bid Meeting will be held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, August 31, 2011, in the Commissioners' Public Meeting Room located at 203 South Fourth Street, Room 209 in Oakland, Maryland.

Bid documents and specifications may be obtained in person from the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 203 South Fourth Street, Room 208, Oakland, Maryland 21550. The cost of the bid specifications and drawings is $100.00 per set and is nonrefundable. All out of town contractors must pre-pay for shipping and the cost of the plans. Inquiries may be made by calling 301-334-5003.

Sealed bids must be submitted to the Garrett County Purchasing Department, 203 South Fourth Street, Room 208, Oakland, Maryland 21550, on or before Thursday, September 15, 2011, at 1:30 p.m. (local time). Sealed bids will be publicly opened and read aloud in the Commissioners' Meeting Room at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 15, 2011. All bidders are required to submit three (3) copies of their bid documents at the time of submission. All bids submitted should be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be clearly marked "Garrett County Landfill Lateral Expansion Bid" on the outside of the envelope. Any bids received after the time due will not be considered for award and shall be retained as documentation for the bid file.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, to cancel this invitation to bid and to waive technicalities in any part deemed to be in the best interest of Garrett County.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

Women of the Evangelical Church in America (ELCA) at Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting on Saturday at the church.

The topic for discussion was "Rejoice in the Lord," which was led by Leota Baker.

Following devotions was the business meeting, with Judy Stanton presiding. Tribute to the memory of Verta Durst was made through a gift offering to Women of the ELCA/Churchwide. It was designated for the Health Initiative.

A new series of lessions, titled "To follow and to serve: the Gospel of Mark," will begin with the September meeting.

It was noted that the Women of the ELCA magazine title has been changed from Lutheran Women Today to Gather for Faith and Action.

WOW NEWS

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 will hold its annual awards banquet on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Bittinger fire hall beginning at 6 p.m. Entertainment will be provided, and door prizes will be awarded. The cost of the dinner for members is $5, and guests are welcome. The cost for a guest meal will be $11. Those attending should call 301-746-5331 for reservations by Sept. 5.

IN HONOR AND REMEMBRANCE

WOW members organize an annual Honor and Remembrance Ceremony, giving members, family, and friends a chance to grieve over the lives lost on Sept. 11, 2001, and to pay respect to the heroes who responded.

Ceremonies are held every year on Sept. 11 and have evolved into a public forum to thank local firefighters, police officers, emergency medical technicians, and members of the military.

Woodmen of the World invite all to attend the Honor and Remembrance Ceremony on Sunday, Sept. 11, at the Friendsville Community Park at 6:30 p.m. Ricky Howsare will be performing patriotic music along with hymns.

The public is invited to attend.

TOWN NEWS

The next mayor and town council meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 23. A public hearing will be held at 6:45 p.m. prior to the council meeting for any public input into the adoption of Ordinance 2011-2: Amendment to the Tree Maintenance/Tree Protection Ordinance. This ordinance allows an individual who is a business owner/operator who lives within a three-mile radius of town to be a member of the tree committee. The complete amended ordinance can be seen at the town hall on the town hall door or at the post office.

The mayor and town council will have a public hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 6, beginning at 6:30 p.m. to get public input into the selling of town-owned property on Gravel Hill.

TICKETS ARE ON SALE NOW for the 2011 Christmas Quilt and Pillows Raffle held by the Friend Family Association of America Heritage Museum and Genealogical Library. The quilt, crafted by Leota Friend, is 77" x 70" and beautifully pieced with a border of Christmas bears. Two large Christmas pillows, also crafted by Leota Friend, and two large Christmas pillows crafted by Louella Hinebaugh and Joann Myers, are the additional prizes. The quilt and pillows are on display in the museum/library, which is open Wednesday through Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. and on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. Tickets are $1 or six for $5. The drawing will be held Sunday, Sept. 25, with three tickets selected.

Our loving mother was here but now she's gone.
With her memories we'll carry on.
The sadness we feel, the grief we bear is in our hearts that we will share, all of her love, all of her faith that took her to the pearly gates to be with her Lord to suffer no more.
Jesus was there at the open door

McHenry Water System Hearing Slated Saturday

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will hold a public hearing this Saturday Aug. 27, at 9 a.m. in the Garrett College auditorium to consider changes to the water connection/user fees and the connection/amortization policy for the McHenry Water System.

Interested persons will be heard at the hearing on the necessity or advisability of the proposed policy and rate change.

For more information, persons may call the commissioners' office at 301-334-8970.

Wisp Ski Operation intact, Despite Filing Against Development Group

If Mother Nature cooperates, snowmaking at the Wisp Resort in McHenry will commence in less than 90 days, and skiers and snowboarders will be back on the slopes beginning the day after Thanksgiving, Nov. 25.

That is according to Karen Myers, president of Recreational Industries Inc., who met with reporters this week after it was learned that Branch Banking & Trust (BB&T) Corporation has entered judgments against the Wisp's land development company, called Wisp Resort Development Inc., and various loan guarantors because of lagging payments on loans of over $28 million to fund the new Lodestone Golf Course and home sites atop Marsh Mountain.

The guarantors of the loan, all of which are named in the judgment, are Recreational Industries Inc., DC Development Inc., and Clubs at Wisp Corporation, as well as Myers, Gary Daum, and Steven Richards, owners.

Since the filing in Garrett County Circuit Court last month, rumors have abounded that the Wisp Resort either has been or will be sold because of the current financial situation.

"This is probably the same story that is being told by a lot of other developers around the country," Myers said, noting the continuing lag in the housing market, adding, "The 'illness' [in our operation] is just related to the land development segment of the business."

Meanwhile, Myers described the Wisp Resort as "a vibrant and profitable business" that will begin its 56th season of skiing this fall.

It was in February 2007 that BB&T provided a loan of $23.5 million as a revolving line of credit to fund the construction of the golf course and the Lodestone home sites. Because this type of loan is predicated on sales of home sites to pay down the loan balance and because the lot sales were sluggish, as construction on the golf course neared its end in 2008, an additional $5 million was borrowed "because we believed it was better to have a finished

Commissioners Hold Hearings To Prepare For Fiscal Year 2013

The Garrett County commissioners are already preparing for the Fiscal Year 2013 budget and beyond, though FY 2012 is less than 2 months old. They held five brief public hearings Tuesday afternoon on proposed increases for recordation, admissions and amusement, hotel rental, title/leasehold interest transfers, and overdue property taxes.

"I don't want you to believe that it's a done deal," Commissioner Jim Raley said about raising taxes. "I want you to know that we're here to listen."

About 30 people attended the hearings, primarily members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

Commission chair Gregan Crawford stressed the hearings were mainly to garner information and to prepare for the future, especially the General Assembly session in January 2012. Three of the five taxes would require legislation in order for the commissioners to be able to increase them, if needed, in the future.

"2013 will probably be a far greater challenge to the county, budgetwise, than 2012 was," Crawford said.

He indicated that the county may see a drop in property assessments, there may be a shift in teacher pension obligation from the state to the county, and there will be less state funding for education. He noted that the county's capital projects and employee roster have already been greatly reduced.

"We're trying to plan for the worst, but are hoping for the best," Crawford said. "I don't know whether we're going to change any of the rates or not, but adjusting tax rates is never popular, especially in recessionary times. I'm still not convinced it's the correct pathway at this point. Raising taxes should only be as the last resort."

He added that it is hard to ask people to pay more taxes when the county needs to continue to look internally to see what it can do to raise revenue and trim expenses.

With that in mind, the commissioners will form an Efficiency Task Force to find ways to save money, yet maintain services. (See separate story)

Raley noted that raising taxes would be an "easy approach" to balancing a budget, but it could also have adverse effects on "growing the economy" and "growing the county" The key to that growth, he indicated, is attracting more economic development, visitors, and residents, especially young families with school-age children.

"We have a lot of work to do," Commissioner Bob Gatto said, adding that he looks forward to hearing comments about the proposed tax increases.

The commissioner noted that he has been a small-business employee and owner.

"I know what it takes; I know what you're up against," Gatto told the Chamber of Commerce members about running a business.

Chamber of Commerce president Nicole Christian

State Weighs Elk Reintroduction To Western Maryland

The Maryland Legislative Sportsmen's Foundation (MLSF), the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation (RMEF) have announced the formation of a partnership in order to determine the viability of elk reintroduction to western Maryland.

The partnership plans to make biological, social and economic feasibility assessments, which are estimated to require a minimum of 12 months to complete. The groups state that a thorough evaluation will be completed before any decision is made.

"Elk once roamed Maryland but have been absent since the 1700s," said David Sutherland, MLSF chairman.

"We are pleased to initiate the first steps toward evalu-

Commissioners To Form Task Force To Begin "Lean" Government Plan

The Garrett County commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday to form an Efficiency Task Force that will seek to implement the concept and practices of a "lean" county government.

During their public meeting on Tuesday, Chairman Gregan Crawford spoke about the pending revenue shortfall that Garrett County government is projecting for the next three- to five-year budget cycles.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt presented a statistical and projected revenue/expenditure outline. He noted that the county's budget has decreased from $100 million in recent years down to $73 million. In addition, the county's employee roster has decreased by 20 percent.

Crawford then proposed that the Board of Garrett County Commissioners create the task force.

"Lean seeks continuous improvement within an organization and is facilitated by a systematic approach to identify problems and achieving efficient solutions that in turn create better outcomes for employees and the constituents that they serve," Pagenhardt explained Wednesday in a press release.

Crawford proposed nominating a committee composed of nine members: five from county government and four appointed by the commissioners. He suggested that the committee by appointed and organized by Oct. 1, that its first meeting take place no later than Oct. 21, and that its initial recommendations be presented to the commissioners by Jan. 31, 2012.

"The final size of the task force and target dates are still

SavageMan Set For Sept. 16-18; Volunteers Sought

The fourth annual "Tri-To-Win" SavageMan Triathlon Festival will take place on Sept. 16 to 19, with the starting and finishing point located at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Organizers are currently recruiting volunteers to help with the international race.

The SavageMan Triathlon Festival, a charity event that benefits the Joanna M. Nicolay Melanoma Foundation, has been touted internationally as "the world's most beautiful – and most 'savage' – triathlon." Athletes from around the world are already registered for this year's contest, according to Greg Safko, president of the foundation and lead organizer for the triathlon.

"The most critical ingredient in staging a successful triathlon is the active participation of enthusiastic, energetic and committed volunteers," Safko said. "And our volunteers are tremendously appreciated by all our athletes, professional and amateur alike, who come from around the world to compete in this 'Savage Race to Fight a Savage Cancer.'"

All volunteers will receive a complimentary volunteer T-shirt and cap, and will be invited to the post-race party. Volunteers will be advised as to how to obtain the gifts. Complete information and an application can be found online at www.savagemantri.org/volunteers.html.

Virginia-Centered Earthquake Felt in Garrett County

Mild tremors from a 5.8 magnitude earthquake centered in Virginia were briefly felt on Tuesday afternoon in Garrett County and throughout the local area. There were no reports of serious injuries or damage.

Described by the U.S. Geological Survey as the most powerful earthquake to hit the East Coast in 67 years, the temblor occurred at 1:51 p.m. about 3.7 miles beneath the Earth's surface near Mineral, Va., sending tremors as far north as Montreal, Canada, as far south as Atlanta, Ga., and as far west as Chicago, Ill. Though mild by West Coast standards, easterners not used to earthquakes were unnerved by the event nonetheless, especially considering that the 10th anniversary of 9/11 is less than three weeks away.

As a precautionary measure, the White House, Capitol, and Pentagon in Washington, D.C., were evacuated. The Washington Monument, National Cathedral, Smithsonian Institution's "Castle," and other D.C. buildings were damaged during the temblor.

Locally, the Garrett Coun-

Crime Solvers Investigating Sears Burglary

Detectives with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office are investigating a burglary and theft that occurred at the Sears store located on Pleasant Hills Drive, Oakland.

Unknown suspect(s) reportedly forced entry into the business sometime between Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning. Suspect(s) stole numerous appliances and additional items.

Anyone with information regarding the incident is asked to contact the GCSO at 301-334-1911 or visit the Garrett County Crime Solvers web site at www.garrettcountycrimesolvers.org. Tipsters may remain anonymous and may be eligible for a cash reward.

Child Struck While Attempting To Cross Garrett Hwy.

A 9-year-old female was struck by a vehicle on Garrett Highway early Tuesday morning. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the 7:45 a.m. scene.

Investigation revealed that Dovie Louise Dumire had been traveling south on Garrett Highway just north Kings Run Road, when she lost an unknown article from the bed of her truck. She stopped the vehicle on the southbound shoulder and exited it to search for the lost item. Dumire crossed the highway and began walking north, when for unknown reasons her juvenile daughter attempted to cross as well. The child was struck by a southbound truck driven by James Eber, Grantsville, who was found not at fault.

The child was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of serious injuries. Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Former Southern Standout Up For NCAA Woman Of The Year

One time Southern High School standout Sarah Stephens, who became an All-American at Frostburg State University, is among the top 30 honorees for the 2011 NCAA Woman of the Year Award.

The NCAA Woman of the Year award honors senior student-athletes who have distinguished themselves throughout their collegiate careers in academic achievement, athletic excellence, service, and leadership.

Stephens, a star dual-sport athlete (volleyball and tennis) for FSU, made the top 30 after the NCAA selected her from among 141 conference nominations. She is one of 10 Division III representatives. The 30 finalists are composed of 10 student-athletes from each NCAA division.

In the next round of selections, nine finalists, three from each division, will be chosen from the top 30 by the NCAA Committee on Women's Athletics and all 30 student-athletes will be honored at an awards dinner on Sunday, Oct. 16, in Indianapolis. The NCAA will announce the three finalists in September prior to the awards dinner.

Stephens graduated from FSU with a bachelor's degree in business administration. She achieved a 3.96 cumulative grade-point average and was on the FSU dean's list for eight consecutive semesters. She was also named a College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-American last fall and was inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma Business Honor Society in 2009.

On the volleyball court, Stephens received American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) All-American honorable mention honors.

STEPHENS AMONG NCAA'S TOP 30 WOMEN – In addition to an already distinguished career as a student-athlete, former Southern High School standout and Frostburg State University dual-sport star Sarah Stephens has earned yet another accolade. Stephens was recently selected from among 141 female athletes across three college divisions as a top 30 honoree for the 2011 NCAA Woman of the Year Award. See story for more details.

SNOW WILL BLOW once again this winter at the Wisp Ski Resort, a guarantee expressed this week by Karen Myers, a co-owner of the resort and president of Recreational Industries Inc. She made that promise in spite of the fact that the land development corporation that is responsible for the Lodestone Golf Course and home sites atop Marsh Mountain has been slapped with a judgment from BB&T, the provider of the loan for the project. Myers and the other owners are working with attorneys and consultants to persuade the financial institution to agree to a loan restructuring, but in the meantime she says that it will be business as usual at the Wisp this winter. "We plan to be making snow in less than 90 days," Myers said, "and hope to open the day after Thanksgiving (Nov. 25)." She added that the resort has already sold a record number of season passes for the 2011-12 season and is "enjoying its best summer ever." See story for details. Photo by John McEwen.

Slight Decline In Labor Day Travel Projected

AAA Mid-Atlantic forecasts that 31.5 million Americans will travel 50 miles or more from home during the Labor Day holiday weekend, a 2.4 percent decrease from the 32.3 million people who traveled that weekend one year ago. The Labor Day holiday travel period is defined as Thursday, Sept. 1, to Monday, Sept. 5.

"Americans are curtailing their travel plans for the upcoming Labor Day holiday, reacting to recent economic uncertainty and increasing airfares," said Ragina C. Averella, manager of public and government affairs at AAA Mid-Atlantic. "The decrease in the number of expected travelers is a result of a mixed economic outlook, consumer uncertainty regarding the overall economy, and recent downturns in economic factors that affect discretionary income, which is particularly relevant to the travel and tourism industry."

Real disposable income is up just 1.3 percent, which is being offset by the travel price index rising 6.7 percent since last year, primarily because of rising transportation costs. The housing market remains depressed, with new and existing home prices down 2.4 percent and 3.4 percent, respectively.

Roadway Travel Numbers Unchanged

Approximately 27.3 million people (87 percent of holiday travelers) plan to take to the nation's roadways over the Labor Day holiday weekend. This estimate is basically unchanged, reflecting a half percent increase, compared to the 27.2 million travelers who traveled the roadways over last year's holiday. However, the percentage share of holiday travelers choosing auto increases by 3 percent compared to last year's 84 percent. Automobile travel remains the dominant mode of holiday transportation.

"While automobile travel is expected to remain essentially steady compared to that of last year's holiday, if recent declines in gas prices continue through Labor Day, there is the potential for an uptick in last-minute holiday weekend travel," said Averella.

Air Travel Expected to Decrease

Nearly 2.5 million travelers (8 percent of holiday travelers) will fly during the Labor Day holiday weekend, a 1.9 percent decrease from the 2010 number. Rising fuel costs, combined with steady air travel demand, have resulted in rising airfares over the past few months.

According to AAA's Leisure Travel Index, Labor Day airfares are expected to be 13 percent higher than last year's, with an average lowest round-trip rate of $202 for the top 40 U.S. air routes. Increasing airfares and fees are factors contributing to the decline in air travel, the first expected decline for a major travel holiday in 2011 as forecast by AAA.

Other Modes Expected to Decrease Sharply

Other modes of travel (trains, watercraft, multimodal travel) will make up the remaining 5 percent of total person-trips (1.7 million travelers), down from the 2010 share of 8 percent.

Travel via these modes is extremely volatile from year to year, with 2011's 34 percent decline in expected travelers falling well within historical averages. These modes are more highly utilized by those within lower income brackets, and as such, are highly sensitive to changes in disposable income, as well as the travelers' confidence in the economy and their finances. Consumer confidence in the economy has been trending downward in recent months, and according to a survey of traveler intentions, the share of travelers from the lower income bracket is expected to decline from 41 percent in 2010 to 37 percent in 2011. This combination of factors has resulted in the steep decline in travel via these modes forecast for this holiday period.

Hotel Rates Up, Rental Car Rates Down

Hotel rates for AAA Three Diamond lodgings are expected to increase 6 percent from one year ago, with travelers spending an average of $148 per night compared to an average of $139 last year. Travelers planning to stay at AAA Two Diamond hotels can expect to pay 8 percent more at an average cost of $110 per night. Weekend daily car rental rates will average $43, a 7 percent decrease from one year ago.

Distance Down Slightly; Spending Largely Unchanged

According to a survey of traveler intentions, the average distance traveled by Americans during the Labor Day holiday weekend is expected to be 608 miles, only slightly less than last year's average travel distance of 635 miles.

Median spending is expected to be $702, largely unchanged from $697 last year. Fuel and transportation costs combine to consume the largest share of holiday spending (27 percent), followed by accommodations (22 percent), food and beverages (21 percent), shopping (13 percent), entertainment and recreation (12 percent), and other costs (5 percent).

No Impact From Gasoline Prices

A consistent story throughout the year has been the significant increase in gas prices. As of Tuesday, the national average price for regular unleaded gasoline is $3.57 per gallon, around 86 cents higher than it was one year ago.

Down nearly 10 percent from their May peak, gas prices will have less of an impact on Labor Day holiday travelers than prices had on Memorial Day and Independence Day holiday travelers, during which 42 percent and 44 percent of travelers, respectively, stated gas prices would impact travel plans.

Seventy-one percent of intended Labor Day holiday travelers said gasoline prices would not impact their travel plans. For the remaining 29 percent who said gas prices would impact their travel plans, 20 percent plan to economize in other areas, while the remaining 9 percent are divided between changing their mode of travel and taking shorter trips.

AAA's projections are based on economic forecasting and research by IHS Global Insight. The Boston-based economic research and consulting firm teamed with AAA in 2009 to jointly analyze travel trends during the major holidays. AAA has been reporting on holiday travel trends for more than two decades.

AAA Mid-Atlantic is based in Wilmington, Del., and serves nearly 4 million members in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

GC Man Sentenced For Possession Of Psilocin, Marijuana

A 56-year-old Oakland area man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court on Tuesday to possession-not marijuana (psilocin) and to possession of marijuana. Judge Daniel Moylan (retired) accepted David Bruce Martin's plea and then held a sentencing hearing.

Moylan withheld the imposition of any sentence and fine and placed Martin on three years of probation.

Martin was arrested and charged by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in February when they observed Martin and another man, Jason Xander, in the parking lot of a McHenry business acting suspiciously. Searches of both men's vehicle led to the recovery of one-half ounce of psilocybin mushrooms and a small plastic bag with marijuana.

Xander had previously pleaded guilty in GC District Court and was also placed on probation.

Two Injured In Minor Motor Vehicle Accidents

Two vehicles accidents with injuries were investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last week. The following incidents are unrelated.

Deputies were dispatched to the intersection of Third and Oak streets last Wednesday morning for an accident involving three vehicles and a utility trailer. Investigation revealed that Richard Allen Eggleston was traveling west on Oak Street, when he failed to stop at the stop light. A second vehicle, driven by Vesta Valetta Liller, was making a left turn from Third Street onto Oak Street, when she collided with the trailer being pulled by Eggleston's vehicle.

Liller's vehicle continued through the intersection and collided head-on with a pickup truck being driven by William Charles Lansberry II. Lansberry was prepared to make a left onto Third Street when his vehicle was struck. Liller was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of possible injuries. Eggleston was cited for failure to stop at a stop light and displaying an expired registration on his trailer. No other injuries were reported.

In a separate incident, deputies responded to Gorman Road on Saturday afternoon for a reported two-vehicle accident. Investigation revealed that Joshua White, 24, Fredericktown, Pa., had been traveling south on Gorman Road, when he attempted to pass a vehicle operated by John Britton, 69, Nutter Fort, W.Va. Britton was attempting a left turn into a private driveway and collided with White's vehicle. Britton was taken by Southern Rescue Squad to GCMH. Gorman Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the 2 p.m. scene. White was charged with driving left of roadway center in overtaking and passing when unsafe.

Two Men Arrested Following Reports Of Disturbances

Garrett County sheriff's deputies investigated two incidents last week following reports of disturbances. The following are unrelated.

Deputies arrested a Baltimore man after receiving a complaint of a disorderly suspect at the Garrett County Fairgrounds last Friday. Investigation revealed that John Glen Wiland Jr., 23, was acting in a disorderly manner and disturbing the public peace, which led to charges for such. He was transported to the Garrett County Jail to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

In a separate incident, deputies responded to a Sciota Street, Loch Lynn, residence for a violation of a protective order. Investigation revealed that Cody Broadwater, Loch Lynn, was at the residence of a victim who has a protective order against him. He was placed under arrest without incident and transported to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Leo Beachy Film Nominated For Emmy Awards

WQED-TV's "Leo Beachy: A Legacy Nearly Lost" has been nominated for two Mid-Atlantic Emmy awards in the categories of Outstanding Historic/Culture Feature (David Solomon, writer/producer; Paul Ruggieri, photographer/editor) and Outstanding Program Writer (Solomon).

The nominated work is a follow-up to a previously acclaimed WQED (Pittsburgh, Pa.) story on Beachy's life. The National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences will announce this year's Emmy winners on Sept. 24 at a ceremony in Philadelphia, Pa.

Beachy was a teacher turned photographer in the early 1900s who took pictures of life in the Appalachian region of western Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

After his death in 1927, most of Beachy's glass plate negatives were destroyed. Decades later, some of the plates "found their way back" to his niece, Maxine Beachy Broadwater of Grantsville. And so began her tireless efforts to preserve the negatives and share the historic images.

Solomon and Ruggieri first told the Beachy story in a short 2008 "OnQ" feature. The story was a viewer favorite, won a 2008 Mid-Atlantic Emmy Award, and caught the attention of the Naylor Foundation, which in turn awarded the Garrett County Historical Society a $40,000 grant to preserve the priceless negatives and make them available worldwide for educational purposes.

In 2011, Solomon and Ruggieri expanded the 2008 story into documentary form on the WQED program Experience, showing the intricacy of the preservation process and revealing newly printed photos.

Included in the updated story are interviews with Broadwater, photo archivist Chris Schwer, Grantsville resident Mabel Stanton, Grantsville pharmacist Gerald Beachy, and Bob Boal, president of the Garrett County Historical Society. The new segment resulted in the two Emmy nominations this month.

Experience is a ½ hour documentary series that airs on WQED on Mondays at 7:30 p.m. "Leo Beachy: A Legacy Nearly Lost" is scheduled for rebroadcast on Monday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Experience will return on Mondays at 7:30 this fall, with encore broadcasts on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. Additional episode information, links, and past episodes, including "Leo Beachy: A Legacy Nearly Lost" of Experience may be found online at wqed.org/experience. For updates on the series viewers may "like" the show's fan page on Facebook.

GEARING UP TO PIG OUT – These three apparently hungry guys are pictured at a practice session for the Sept. 24 Mountain Man Food Competition Pigout at Archie's Barbeque, located along Rt. 219 in McHenry. The contest will benefit Cindy's Fund, a local non-profit organization dedicated to assisting local people ill with cancer. The winner will be the first person to eat an Archie's deluxe sandwich, one-half barbecued chicken, an order of baby back ribs, four pieces of corn bread, two small sides, and a 16-ounce drink. There will be various prizes awarded, according to Sandy Bell of Cindy's Fund. Jonny Rock will provide music for the event. Registration forms can be picked up at any branch of First United Bank, or at Archie's. Forms can also be downloaded at www.cindysfund.org or archiesbbq.com. This team of "hungry piggies," sponsored by the First United Bank & Trust, are, from left, Greg Tanner, Billy Bittinger, and Eric Nutter.

E. Gregg Named Recipient Of County United Way Award

County United Way Inc. will host the annual Community Caring Awards and Campaign Kick-off honoring local individuals and businesses on Wednesday, Aug. 31, at the Lane Center at Frostburg State University.

"Come celebrate these outstanding individuals and businesses who have proved, above and beyond, their commitment to United Way," stated Pam Jan, president of the board of directors of County United Way.

Former commissioner Ernie Gregg was named a Garrett County award recipient. He is the immediate past chair of the executive committee and board. Garrett Partnership for Children and Families was recognized for being a pioneer organization in collaborating to provide community impact services with other organizations. Other award recipients were from Allegany County and Hampshire and Mineral counties in West Virginia.

In order for an individual to be nominated for this award, the person must reside in the home county and demonstrate a long-time commitment to volunteering and donating to the United Way and/or community partners. The business must meet the same criteria, in addition to encouraging workers to support the United Way by suggesting volunteer opportunities and/or conducting an employee campaign for contributions through payroll deduction.

Music for the event will be provided by the Mountain Ridge Jazz Band, under the direction of David Kauffman. The meal includes a menu prepared by Aramark. Awards were designed by Simon Pearce.

Persons are encouraged to call County United Way at 301-722-2700 as soon as possible for reservations.

Cases In GC Jail Escape Dismissed In Circuit Court

State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch issued a press release this week about cases related to an escape from the Garrett County Jail in January. Welch has dismissed the pending Circuit Court cases against Jamal Antoine Kelly, 26, College Park; Christopher Dyson Green, 23, Philadelphia, Pa., Amanda Sue Lambert, 24, Cumberland; and Deandre Kelly, 29, Washington, D.C.

Deandre Kelly was charged with escape and the other three were charged with conspiring to effect that escape. All were charged with related assault charges. This follows the dismissal earlier this month of drug charges against D. Kelly and Richard Demon Hall Jr., 27, Frederick, and conspiracy to escape and assault charges against Hall and Eric Mandrell Nibbins, 27, Alexandria, Va.

In dismissing the cases, Welch announced that Jamal Kelly, Hall, Lambert, Green, and Nibbins have been charged by the United States Attorney's Office with assisting D. Kelly with his escape from the Garrett County Jail. Additional charges involving the original drug offenses against Hall and Deandre Kelly are pending the completion of D. Kelly's sentencing for a prior drug conviction.

Welch explained that these cases are better suited for federal prosecution for multiple reasons.

"The evidence implicating some of the defendants was developed by the U.S. marshals and will require witnesses from multiple jurisdiction," she said. "The federal evidentiary rules will allow convictions with evidence not available in state courts; and sentences imposed in the federal system are not subject to parole, and defendants do not have their incarceration periods reduced by 'good time' or any other credits received in the system."

The state's attorney noted that she consulted with GC sheriff Rob Corley and local investigators prior to finalizing her decision.

"The sheriff and his staff fully concur," Welch said.

Accident Awarded CDBG Funding For New Water Well

Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) Secretary Raymond A. Skinner announced Friday that Accident was among 16 municipalities and counties throughout the state to receive Community Development block grants (CDBG).

Accident will use its $295,000 grant for construction of a new water well to replace the current source, which has tested positive for unhealthy levels of arsenic.

"Part of the foundation for great communities is a basic infrastructure, like water and sewer service, road improvements, and central buildings and resources," Skinner said. "The CDBG program supports those kinds of projects, and it also can be used to encourage housing rehabilitation and homeownership, making it an extremely versatile tool to revitalize Maryland's cities and towns."

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development oversees the program, and Congress allocates funds to the program annually. Maryland's CDBG program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development.

Approximately $6.2 million was awarded to the Maryland towns and counties for state fiscal year 2012. In addition to Accident, Frostburg was awarded $500,000 for sanitary and storm sewer lines, and Lonaconing received $265,000 to install emergency generators at the water treatment plants.

ating elk reintroduction in western Maryland."

The Sportsmen's Foundation will contract with a professional consulting group to conduct a formal survey of public opinion on the question of returning elk to Maryland. DNR will oversee development of the survey — which will include outreach to farmers and other stakeholders who may be impacted by a return of the species — and assist with analysis of the results. In addition, the agency will conduct an assessment of potential elk habitat in the state's western end.

"As with all of our ecological programs, science and informed public input will be our guide," said John Griffin, DNR secretary.

"Consensus from our experts and all impacted stakeholders will be a prerequisite to any decision."

"There is no higher calling in conservation than restoring an extirpated game species to healthy, hunt-ready populations," said David Allen, president and CEO of the Montana-based Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation.

"Far western Maryland offers ideal habitat for elk, but we all agree that citizens must be supportive. That is why this partnership, the first step for gauging support in Maryland, is so important."

ty Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management, The Republican newspaper, and various agencies were flooded with calls from persons concerned about the unusual event.

Second-floor office workers at The Republican's Oakland office and numerous other local residents reported experiencing a strange, slight shaking feeling that lasted several seconds. But numerous others, especially those outside and on ground-floor levels, were unaware that anything unusual had occurred.

An apparent 4.5-magnitude aftershock occurred at 1:08 a.m. near Mineral this morning, the U.S. Geological Survey reported. Residents in Baltimore and Washington, D.C., reported feeling slight tremors from the event.

Should aftershocks be felt in the local region, the Garrett County Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management requests that residents not call 9-1-1 unless they have a true emergency.

A Perspective View...

How strange it was in our newsroom Tuesday afternoon when, shghtlv before 2 p.m., our building began to sway. It took each of us about five seconds to ascertain whether or not we were simply having our own little dizzy spells, and then we turned to each other and said things hke, "Do you feel that?" "Why is the building moving?" "Good grief, I think we're having an earthquake!"

For many of us U.S. easterners, this may well have been a once-in-a-lifetime experience, at least here on our own turf where earthquakes almost never occur. The quakes and tremors are so frequent on the West Coast that folks who live there probably barely notice them. It was a fascinating, relatively exciting, experience to us first-timers.

And speaking of the Californians et al. in the U.S. segment of the Ring of Fire, some of them got a kick out of making fun of us and our reaction to Tuesday's event. Someone there took a photo of an upset plastic lawn chair, with the caption noting the "damage" wrought by the quake. This is not unlike how those of us in Garrett County react when we hear that some location down south receives four inches of snow, causing absolute panic.

However, even though there was little or no damage in the great majority of the 22-state area that experienced Tuesday's quake, it was an entirely different story for those living at or near the epicenter in Virginia. It happens that a relative of one of our employees lives in Kents Store, Va., which is located almost right on top the epicenter. The following is a Facebook entry written last night by Debbie Goode Dessent, one of the estimated 1,100 people who live there:

"We might live in a small town, but when our schools and churches are reduced to rubble, it hurts! So please show some compassion. It might have only been a little 5.8 earthquake by the standards set by those in California, but it was enough to damage our only high school, several churches, and numerous homes and businesses, all beyond repair. Our kids ran out of the schools in a panic, leaving all of the personal belongings behind, things that they still have not been able to retrieve. It was much more than a toppled yogurt container and lawn chair."

Debbie puts things into perspective well, and her words may help us Garrett Countians remember this winter to not make fun when a small town in Georgia or Alabama gets even a few inches of the white stuff.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor

About one year ago meetings were held with the three present commissioners who promised a change in the regime of Garrett County. They promised not only a change, but the beginning of conservative and fiscal responsibility – that is, they promised to begin to care about us, the taxpayers.

Well, they have not only succumbed to the continuation of the past administration, but are spending as much, and now, proposing new and increased taxes.

It is time to recall the three commissioners because they have not had the fortitude to actually take control of the county government. The status quo exists.

Let us seek to remove them before they continue to ignore our demands and their promises, and take us farther down the road to poverty.

Thomas F. Doyle
Oakland

To the Editor:

From August 19 to 21, my husband, friends, family, and I had the privilege to join over 2,800 other Americans to participate in the America's 911 Foundation ride, commemorating the 10th anniversary of the September 11, 2001, attack. Each rider carried a card bearing the name of one person who lost his/her life that day.

The main purpose of this memorial ride is to express support to our valued first responders, to honor those who lost their lives that fateful day, and to ensure that we never forget. I say it was a privilege because a ride such as this could not be organized if it were not for the freedoms afforded us by the Constitution of the United States of America.

I cannot begin to estimate the number of people who assembled along the route, waving flags, clapping, and cheering us on with overwhelming enthusiasm in support of this history-making ride. Fire and rescue personnel saluted our group as companies parked their equipment on some of the crossover roads and along the route displaying the American flag while blowing their sirens and flashing their lights. Some motorists waiting for us to pass showed their support by waving and taking pictures. The emotion felt on both sides brought tears to many eyes.

It has taken hundreds of hours by volunteers to plan and coordinate this memorial ride. I read some of the controversial articles from newspapers of the towns affected by the ride and want to thank all those involved who made things happen. I want to thank everyone who showed support for this event, and encourage them to to so in the future.

To those who felt annoyed at having to wait because the interstate was closed or had to alter their travel route because of us, I encourage you to type "September 11 video" into your Internet search, select one of the web sites, and watch again as the Twin Towers fall. Listen to the commentators describe the scenes that day from New York, the Pentagon, and Shanksville. Try to remember where you were and what you were doing, and be thankful it was not one of your loved ones who is no longer here because of it.

Further information concerning this event may be found online at americas-911ride.org.

Geraldine Teats Accident

To the Editor:

Here we go again. When you are down and struggling to get by, it seems that that is when you get kicked in the stomach. Of course, I will now explain my statement.

As many know, we had three businesses in 1997 here at our Alderson Street Complex in Loch Lynn – Keller-Stonebraker Real Estate, U-Haul, and Stuff & Things, which was our ministry thrift shop. With the present economy we are now only running our ministry thrift shop three days a week.

Just yesterday we received a phone call from the code enforcement officer of Garrett County, who told us that we now have 30 days to remove our storage that has been here for over 15 years. He had many other little picky complaints.

Small-business friendly? Not at all.

If forced to do as requested, we will have to close our shop and not be able, as we have been in the past, to help hundreds of families and college students get the items they need. We will also have no source of income.

Are there more Garrett County taxpayers out there who are also being harassed by this most recent threat to make money? Contact us, please. Enough is enough. Our plate is full, and the stress level is at the breaking point.

Sincerely,
Pastor Sidney Nazelrod

P.S. Thanks to all who supported our Hospice "Jail & Bail" Night at the fair.

To the Editor:

My wife told me to take two weeks off and then quit writing. Maybe she's right.

However, I do not resort to name calling, and besides, the editor won't allow it.

Mr. Kauffman, I carefully chose my words when I stated that I think you are "a small-minded homophobe." It was my well-reasoned and informed opinion of you from reading your letters.

To reinforce my comment description of "small-minded," you wrote on 08/19/10 "Shame on the progressives' for gradually eroding our religious and civil liberties through the indoctrination of our young people at the institutions of higher learning."

How does being educated somehow reduce our religious freedom or civil liberties? Are you serious? We could save a lot of taxpayer money if we close Garrett County's "higher-learning" facilities.

In three of the six letters you have written, you include a reference to gay and lesbian lifestyle to reinforce some other point you are enraged about. I think the fanatical way you repeatedly address this issue is homophobic. Here are some quotes from your letters.

12/30/10 – "We are being railroaded into accepting the gay and lesbian lifestyles as normal, healthy relationships, when they are anything but." (Who is railroading you?)

1/13/2011 – "The term 'alternative lifestyle,' by the way, is merely a fancy term for sin." (Your fancy term, not Jesus')

7/28/2011 – "No God-fearing, pure-hearted person can look at today's open display and flaunting of lifestyles, which are an abomination in the eyes of God, and declare it to be progressive." (The abomination is in your eyes.)

None of the letter writers addressed the main issue: The Bible has been misused many times to give some sort of higher moral authority and to reinforce one's narrow view of the world.

Jesus used many parables on how to be a good Christian. If you believe He was the Savior and had only a short time on the earth, don't you think He would have included at least one parable on same-sex if it were important to Him?

Think about it this way: Kauffman, 3; Jesus, 0.

Each week over 130 pastors advertise their church services in this paper. I wonder where they stand on this issue.

Barry Krewson
retired carpenter

P.S. Remember, you are part of the problem or part of the solution!

To the Editor:

With all the fuss over Barry Krewson's letters (Aug. 11 issue), I thought it time to say I enjoy writings from the "carpenter's pencil."

I'm equally thrilled with the note that Krewson's favorite Tea Party sign reads "Get a brain, you morons."

The irony is that the Koch brothers are speaking of their followers, the tens of thousands of Americans all across the country earning $30,000 a year or less who are voting against their own self-interests when they follow the Tea Party propaganda.

Follow the Tea Party propaganda to its logical conclusion, and in 20 years the 'strict construction" of the Constitution, championed by the right-wing Republicans, will mean once again only wealthy white male landowners can vote, and blacks will only count as two-fifths of whites.

Sincerely yours,
Douglas Scott Arey

golf course than a partially finished golf course," Myers explained.

The course was completed in 2009 and play began on all 18 holes in the summer of 2010, and it has received rave reviews from golfers since then.

Myers said that because only 20 of the 60 prepared lots available for purchase in the Lodestone subdivision have sold, Wisp Resort Development has been unable to abide by its loan repayment schedule.

Late last year, BB&T told the Wisp owners that the loan must now be amortized over a 10-year period of time, and required principal payments of $3 million each year, regardless of whether any real estate sales took place.

The Wisp owners then asked for approval for price reductions for a select group of home sites with hopes that it would stimulate sales. The request was approved by BB&T, but sales remained stagnant. A request for yet another price reduction was denied by BB&T, according to Myers.

"We have repeatedly asked for their (BB&T's) cooperation in restructuring the loan, but all requests seem to have fallen on deaf ears," she said.

She said that the Wisp has a team of consultants and attorneys that is working with the Wisp owners to evaluate all options, and is also in communication with BB&T officials with hopes of getting the company to refinance and/or restructure the loan.

Myers acknowledged that various elected officials are also involved, including the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, which has written letters to BB&T noting the profound economic significance of the Wisp Resort to Garrett County, and encouraging the company to agree to consider a restructuring/refinancing plan. State and federal lawmakers have also been asked to provide similar endorsement.

Myers said that the owners are also pursuing potential investors in the Lodestone project, and feels confident that once the housing crisis ends, it will become profitable.

"I am by nature, like most developers, an optimistic person," said Myers, who has been involved in Garrett County development for over 35 years. Prior to the purchase of the Wisp operation by Myers and her partners, she was the owner of Long & Foster Realty, and has been involved in many other successful ventures.

"The good news is that all other facets of our business enterprises are doing well," Myers said. "We ended last ski season slightly ahead of the 2009-10 season, and we are having a banner year so far this year."

That was confirmed by Wisp Resort general manager and COO Tim Prather, who

Maryland Records Its Lowest Infant Mortality Rate

Maryland has recorded a drop in the infant mortality rate for the second consecutive year. This year's statistic is the lowest rate recorded for the state. Governor Martin O'Malley recently led a group of Maryland officials in announcing the new findings.

Reducing infant mortality has been singled out by the O'Malley-Brown administration as one of its "15 strategic goals to improve the quality of life in Maryland."

The number of deaths suffered by newborns in the state have historically been above the national average. In 2009, the infant mortality rate fell to 7.2 deaths per 1,000 births, a 10 percent reduction in the overall infant mortality rate compared with the previous year, according to data from the Maryland Vital Statistics Administration.

The 2010 data recently released show that the infant mortality rate has fallen again to 6.7, or a 7 percent decrease from 2009.

"The Talmud says that 'to save one life, it is as if you had saved the world,'" stated Gov. O'Malley.

"In our state, where there is no such thing as a spare Marylander, we lost 45 fewer infants in 2010 than we lost in 2009. But the loss of one young life is one too many Our work continues."

A press release from the governor's office suggests a significant racial disparity in infant mortality. According to the National Vital Statistics System and also the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) Vital Statistics Administration, African-American infants have a higher infant mortality rate than infants of European descent. This issue is not endemic to Maryland, but mirrored throughout the country.

Over the past decade in Maryland, an African-American infant has been three times more likely to die in the first year of life than a white infant.

"Eliminating health disparities such as those associated with infant mortality is a top priority for our administration," said Lt. Governor Anthony Brown.

"The improvements we have announced are a sign of progress in that effort. But there is still much work to be done.

"We must strengthen our resolve and intensify our efforts to work toward a day when every infant born in Maryland has an equal chance to survive and thrive."

Broad public health initiatives, led by DHMH, have been under way across the state to improve birth outcomes. The jurisdictions with the highest infant mortality rates have been targeted, including Baltimore City, and Prince George's, Somerset and Dorchester counties.

"In Baltimore City, we have made significant progress in reducing the infant mortality rate, but there is more work to be done," said Baltimore City mayor Stephanie Rawlings-Blake.

"We must continue our efforts to educate pregnant women, new parents, and infant caretakers."

Baltimore City and Prince George's County account for 42 percent of all infant deaths in Maryland. In 2009, the greatest improvement was seen in Prince George's County In 2010, Baltimore had the largest decrease in infant deaths.

"Sustained progress against infant mortality requires a number of efforts and improvements over many years," stated Dr. Joshua Sharfstein, DHMH secretary under consideration by the board of commissioners," Pagenhardt said.

"We are updating our strategy to do everything we can to improve birth outcomes."

Commissioners Bob Gatto and Jim Raley agreed with Crawford's proposal, and Pagenhardt will proceed with the appointment process once the commissioners have finalized the details.

During Tuesday's meeting, Crawford and the other commissioners expressed their appreciation to county employees, who continue to provide "quality public service with less personnel and financial resources." The officials also noted that county government must continually strive to "improve the taxpayers' return on investment."

Special Events.

The births of six babies were announced this week, four girls and two boys.

A son, Garrett Ryan, was born to Steven L. and Larah E. (Friend) Savage on July 10 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Adriane Lynn, was born to Ben and Renee (Shaffer) Lantz, Oakland, on July 28 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Aubrey Paugh, was born to Ashley Biser, Oakland, and Randy Paugh, Terra Alta, W.Va., on Aug. 11 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Raelynn Michael Smith-Pritt, was born to Melinda Smith and Brandon Pritt, Oakland, on Aug. 11 at Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va. The maternal grandparents are Mike and Shawn Smith, and the paternal grandparents are Mike and Stefanie Pritt, all of Oakland.

positions are available. Some of these include the setup crew, which will work each day from Thursday, Sept. 15, through the end of the weekend event. (Persons may choose a day to work, or be there each morning.) Volunteers are needed for course marking, parking guides, packet pick-up, body marking of the athletes, transition area guides, course support for all three legs of the race, finish line support, Westernport Wall success tracking, a teardown crew on Sunday, and a clean-up crew on Monday.

Volunteering roles that require training, special equipment, certifications, or specific skills are photographers, medical personnel, kayakers, lifeguards, bikers, and videographers, among others.

All race proceeds go to the melanoma foundation, named in honor of the late Joanna M. Nicolay. Her daughter, Denise Nicolay Safko, said the volunteers touch many lives.

"Not only are they and the community supporting the athletes, they are proving a way for many of the participants to honor someone whom they've lost, or who is battling cancer," she said. "It is really an inspiration to me."

For more information about the organization, persons may visit www.melanomaresource.org.

"All who volunteer are guaranteed to have a positive effect on the quality and overall experience for all triathletes," Greg Safko said. "Volunteers are encouraged to have fun, as well as encourage and motivate the SavageMan triathletes."

EVELYN P. CLARK

Evelyn Pauline Clark, 99, Oakland, passed away Sunday, Aug. 14, 2011, at Oakland Nursing & Rehab Center.

Born Feb. 4, 1912, in Sang Run, she was a daughter of the late John T. and Rebecca Jane (Thomas) DeWitt. She was also preceded in death by two husbands, Cecil Wilt and Alvy E. Clark; four sisters, Mary Shaffer, Ethel DeWitt, Sylvia DeWitt, and Della Welch; two brothers, Roy and Willard DeWitt; two nieces, Geraldine (Shaffer) O'Haver and Jean (Shaffer) Collins, five nephews, James Kenneth Shaffer, Dale "Bud" Shaffer, Kenneth "Fuzz" Shaffer, James White, and James L. "Jim" McBee Jr. Evelyn was the last survivor of her immediate family

At the time of Evelyn's death, she was the oldest member of the Crellin United Brethren in Christ Church. For many years, Evelyn received certificates for perfect attendance at Sunday school. Evelyn remained faithful in her church attendance until she developed some health issues in 2008.

Evelyn enjoyed sharing photographs and historical information of the Kendall Lumber Company, Stanley Coal Company, and Kray Coal Company during their early years of operation in Crellin. Evelyn moved to Crellin with her family when she was 3 years old. She truly enjoyed sharing stories of her life in Crellin with her family and friends. Evelyn's family were very important to her, and nothing delighted her more than visits from family members.

She is survived by two nieces, Cosette Harman and Patricia McBee, both of Oakland, two nephews, Allan DeWitt, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Clifford Welch, Oakland, and several great-nieces and great-nephews.

The family would like to express their appreciation to the caregivers of Tender Loving Home Care and Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center for the wonderful care they provided for our dear Aunt Evelyn.

A memorial service will be held on Friday, Aug. 26, at 3 p.m. at Crellin United Brethen in Christ Church, 65 Otterbein St., Crellin, with pastors Edsel C. Calhoun Jr. and Michael A. Mudge officiating.

Interment was previously held in the Hoyes Cemetery.

Online condolences may be made to the family at www.burdockfuneralhome.com.

EUGENE SMITH

Mr. Eugene "Pappy" Smith, 87, Frostburg, formerly of Crellin and Swanton, passed away peacefully surrounded by his children on Wednesday, Aug. 24, 1011, at the Frostburg Village Nursing Home.

Born Dec. 27, 1923, in Frostburg, he was a son of the late William and Christina (Walker) Smith. He was preceded in death by his first wife of 48 years, Christine Marie (McCloud) Smith, and three sons, Roger Smith, Eugene Smith Jr., and George Smith. He was the last surviving child of Wilham and Christina Smith.

Mr. Smith served in the 87th Batallion Seabees from 1943 to 1945. Upon his return from the Navy, he married Christine McCloud, and together they had six children. Mr. Smith worked in the coal mines, retiring in 1979 from Reliable Coal in Kingwood, W.Va. After his retirement, he took up woodworking, and took great pride in his many works, including cedar hope chests, wishing wells, gun cabinets, and many other unique items. He became quite well known for his craftsmanship. He enjoyed watching and talking about sports, namely football.

He is survived his second wife, Catherine Alberta (Hare-Wilt) Smith, Frostburg; three children, Sylvia May Guthrie and husband Marvin, Mtn. Lake Park, Timothy Smith and wife Sharon, Pleasant Valley, and Gerald Owen Smith and wife Patricia, Swanton; 16 grandchildren, Quintin, Norman, and Dino Guthrie, Sonya Hinebaugh, Christie Guthrie, Tammy Smith, Rebecca Anderson, Jeffrey Smith, Connie Shugars, Shawn and William Smith, Shannon Baker, Adam and Gregory Smith, Melissa Bittinger, and Jennifer Smith; 35 great-grandchildren, and six great-great-grandchildren.

Pap was a very special man. All who knew him adopted him as their "pap." He was a very devoted husband, father, and grandfather, and he will be sorely missed. The family would like to thank the passionate staff at the Frostburg Village Nursing Home for the tremendous care they gave Pap in his final days.

Friends will be received at David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland, on Friday from 6 to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m.

A funeral service will be conducted at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 28, at Blaine Full Gospel Church, with the Rev. Dewayne Frederick officiating.

Interment will be held in the Kalbaugh Cemetery.

Online condolences may be made to the family at www.burdockfuneralhome.com.

Shepherd Of Hills Book Club To Discuss The Help

A monthly book club sponsored by Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church will meet in the back room of Perkins Restaurant, McHenry, on Thursday, Sept. 1, at 7 p.m. Any persons interested in selecting, reading, and discussing a new book each month are invited. The discussion on Sept. 1 will be of the novel The Help by Kathryn Stockett. The movie based on the novel is presently being shown in movie theaters.

"Three ordinary women are about to take one extraordinary step. Seemingly as different from one another as can be, these women will nonetheless come together for a clandestine project that will put them all at risk," said author Kathryn Stockett.

The book club meets at Perkins Restaurant on the first Thursday of each month. For further information about the book club, persons may contact Judy McCaughey at 301-387-3225. The Shepherd of the Hills web site is www.shepherdofthehillslutheran.org.

MSP Seeking Info On Firearms Stolen From Bloomington

Maryland State Police are seeking information regarding the theft of two firearms that were taken from a Bloomington home last week.

Sometime between Aug. 13 and Aug. 15, an unknown suspect(s) removed a TC Hunter/Encore muzzleloader with stainless steel barrel and camouflage stock (serial #PF76085) and a Mossberg 20-gauge shotgun (serial #R227213) from the Hampshire Ave. home.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Cpl. V. Upole, MSP McHenry Barrack, at 301-387-1101.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

Bear Creek Church of the Brethren will hold an ice cream social on Saturday, Aug. 27, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the church. The menu will consist of hamburgers, hot dogs, sloppy joes, baked beans, corn on the cob, potato salad, homemade ice cream, cake, and beverages. Donations will be appreciated. The church is located at 1088 Brethren Church Road behind Accident Elementary School. The public is invited to attend.

ACCIDENT LUTHERAN PARISH SUMMER PICNIC

The Accident Lutheran Parish will hold a summer picnic on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Accident Community Park west pavilion beginning at 3 p.m. There will be pulled pork sandwiches, munchies, and ice cream bars, as well as games for children and adults. The public is invited to attend. Entertainment will be provided by Irv Ullery's Country Gospel Band.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Revival services will be held at Asher Glade Church of the Brethren from Monday, Aug. 29, through Friday, Sept. 2, at 7 p.m. each evening. Kevin Staggs will be the guest speaker, and special music will be provided nightly. The public is welcome to attend.

The West Marva District men's fellowship banquet will be held this Saturday, Aug. 20, at Sunnyside Church of the Brethren.

RUSH BAPTIST CHURCH

Rush Baptist Church will have its annual homecoming celebration on Sunday, Aug. 28, at the church at 1985 Old Morgantown Rd., Friendsville. The morning worship service will be led by Karin Tyson and Herman from Chester, Va. Karin has a puppet ministry called P.A.L.S. for Christ, through which she does Christian puppet shows, ventriloquism, gospel wonders, and Bible stories.

The morning worship service begins at 11 a.m. A covered dish picnic will follow after the worship service at 12:30, then the Keefers will sing and Ms. Karin and Herman will minister again at 2 p.m. Past and present members and pastors are welcome to attend to renew old acquaintances. The public is invited.

THE WISHING WELL

By Lucretia Sines

WOW NEWS

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 will hold its annual awards banquet on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Bittinger fire hall beginning at 6 p.m. Entertainment will be provided, and door prizes will be awarded. The cost of the dinner for members is $5, and guests are welcome. The cost for a guest meal will be $11. Those planning to attend should call 301-746-5331 for reservations by Sept. 5.

FRIEND FAMILY ASSOCIATION

The Friend Family Association of America Heritage Museum and Genealogical Library Headquarters Committee will again present Storytelling this Sunday, Aug. 28, beginning at 2 p.m. This week's guest speaker is Alice Eary, co-author of Garrett County Schools of Yesteryear, which was co-authored by Jean Grose. Her subject will be the "Friendsville Schools of Yesteryear." Guests are invited to come learn about the one room school houses in the area. The FFAA Headquarters is located in the old First National Bank of Friendsville building on the corner of First Avenue and Maple Street.

Tickets are now on sale for the 2011 Christmas Quilt and Pillows Raffle. There are three chances to win. The quilt was crafted by Leota Friend, and is size 77" x 70" beautifully pieced, bordered with Christmas bears. The other prizes are two large Christmas pillows crafted by Leota Friend and two large Christmas pillows crafted by Louella Hinebaugh and Joann Myers. The quilt and pillows are on display in the museum/library, which is open Wednesday through Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. Tickets are on sale now for $1 or 6/$5. The drawing date is Sunday, Sept. 25.

IN HONOR AND REMEMBRANCE

WOW members organize an annual Honor and Remembrance Ceremony, giving members, family, and friends a chance to grieve over the lives lost on Sept. 11, 2001, and to pay respect to the heroes who responded.

Ceremonies are held every year on Sept. 11 and have evolved into a public forum to thank local firefighters, police officers, emergency medical technicians, and members of the military.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE
by Lucretia Sines

It is a beautiful day following the first earthquake of my entire life (all 50-something years) and I am still excited that I experienced one, although small as it was. I find it funny the things that ran through my mind when I was getting shook in my upstairs office where I do medical transcription.

My first thought was "What the heck is the dog up to downstairs?" (He is a pretty big dog but not that big!) Then I kind of looked at the stair steps waiting for a "herd" of something to make it to the top. (Not even thinking that maybe I did not want whatever it was making the house shake like that to even come upstairs.)Then I thought "Oh my gosh, the air-conditioner is going to blow!" I had just turned it on prior to beginning my typing so I went in the other room and the air-conditioner was okay, but I turned it off anyway.

The glass in the gun cabinet was still rattling and I was still wondering in the back of my mind "an earthquake? No way." I started downstairs wondering if maybe my first floor had caved in or something. It was fine. I looked outside, and the dog was looking up at the sky. Weird. I looked out the front door to see if there was any havoc in the streets. None.

My daughter next door did not feel anything and thought I was crazy. (She was ready to call the nursing home and tell them to get my room ready). I was very happy to hear that it was indeed an earthquake and that I am not totally losing it yet. Like I said, the funny things you think of when it is your first earthquake.

Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports

Eric M. McCartney, County Executive Director
Preston County FSA Office
157 Plaza CT., Suite 13, Kingwood, WV 26537-1793

NONINSURED CROP DISASTER ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The Preston County Farm Service Agency reminds farmers of the provisions for the 2012 Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP). NAP is intended to provide coverage equivalent to the catastrophic level of crop insurance for crops not insurable in the county. NAP is like catastrophic crop insurance in that the first 50 percent of the farmer's loss is not eligible for payment. The payment rate is 55 percent of the crop's average market price. Benefits are limited to $100,000 per crop year for each participant.

NAP covers all noninsurable, commercially grown crops produced for food and fiber. Any acreage of forage intended to be mechanically harvested but grazed instead must be appraised before grazing. The 2008 Farm Bill stipulates that for farmers to maintain eligibility in many of the supplemental disaster assistance programs, all noninsurable crops produced on the farm must be covered by NAP

Following are the NAP application closing dates for 2011 crops:

Sept. 1 – aquaculture, mushrooms, Christmas trees, ornamental nursery, floriculture, strawberries, ginseng, and turfgrass sod.

Sept. 30 – barley, triticale, garlic, wheat, and rye.

Nov. 20 – apples, nectarines, blueberries, peaches, cranberries, pears, cherries, plums, and grapes.

Dec. 1 – honey and maple sap.

March 15, 2012 – alfalfa, grass, clover, mixed forage, and all other annual crops.

The non-refundable NAP service fee is $250 per crop, per county. Fees are capped at $750 per county, not to exceed $1,875 for farmers with interests in multiple counties. Producers who qualify as limited resource may have the NAP service fee waived.

For any covered crops that suffer damage or loss, producers must file a timely notice of loss. For prevented planting claims, this would be 15 calendar days after the final planting date of the crop. For low-yield claims and allowable value loss, a timely report would be the earlier of 15 calendar days after the damaging weather or natural disaster, or the date loss of the crop becomes apparent.

If a producer is eligible to receive NAP payments and benefits under any other program administered by the secretary of agriculture for the same crop loss, the producer must choose whether to receive NAP payments or benefits under any other program. A producer is not eligible for NAP benefits and an insurance indemnity.

For further information on the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program and the requirements in the 2008 Farm Bill, persons are invited to visit the Farm Service Agency office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, telephone 304-329-1923, or send an e-mail to Eric.Mccartney@wv.usda.gov.

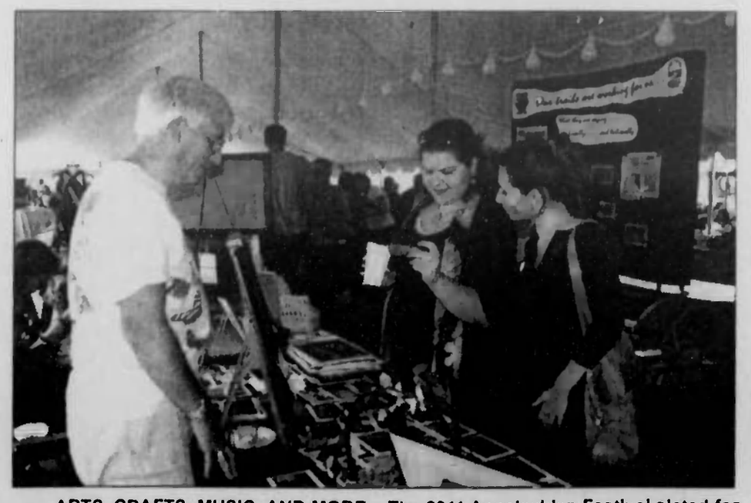
The Arts



ARTS, CRAFTS, MUSIC, AND MORE – The 2011 Appalachian Festival slated for Sept. 16–17 at Frostburg State University will feature numerous artisans and musicians, as well as several workshops. The event is free to the public with the exception of the Saturday evening performance of traditional Irish band Buffalo in the Clouds. The fest begins at 2 p.m. Friday with a forum focused on the conflicts of local mining and gas drilling. See story for details and schedule.

FSU Appalachian Festival To Feature Music, Crafts, Workshops

The public is invited to Frostburg State University's 2011 Appalachian Festival on Friday, Sept. 16, and Saturday, Sept. 17. Now in its sixth year, the free event brings together performers and craftspeople to celebrate the history, music, artistic offerings and food of western Maryland and the surrounding areas.

The renowned Irish band Buffalo in the Castle will perform at the historic Palace Theatre in downtown Frostburg during the Saturday evening capstone concert that culminates the weekend.

The festival will kick off Friday at 2 p.m. on the upper quad at FSU with "Buildmg Sustainable Communities Through Community Engagement and Activism," an informative symposium focusing on contemporary conflicts created by surface mining and natural gas drilling. The event will feature speakers from the Keeper of the Mountains Foundation and CitizenShale, as well as a musical performance by Jay Smar. Participants will demonstrate how regional residents are coming together to ensure that their communities emphasize long-term cultural and environmental sustainability over short-term profit.

Following the symposium, an Appalachian Film Festival featuring the The Wild and Wonderful Whites of West Virginia will cap off Friday's activities at 7:30 p.m. in Frostburg's Palace Theatre. The legendary family is as well-known for their wild, excessive criminal ways as they are for their famous mountain-dancing members, including Jesco White, the star of the cult classic documentary, Dancing Outlaw. Exploring the comic and tragic sides of life on the other side of the law, this stylish, fast-paced family portrait exposes the powerful forces of corruption, poverty, and West Virginia's environmentally and culturally devastating coal-mining culture that helped shape the White family, a dying breed of outlaws preserving a dying form of dance. After the film, Jacob Young, the director of Dancing Outlaw, will moderate a critical discussion.

Saturday activities begin with the Frostburg Rotary Club pancake breakfast from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. at St. Michael's Church in Frostburg. Starting at 10 a.m. are daylong presentations, workshops, arts and crafts demonstrations, live music, Appalachian dance, environmental talks, and various children's activities on FSU's upper quad.

Two stages will feature music highlighting the area's bluegrass, old-time, Irish and Scottish music traditions. Performers will include the Garrett Highlands Pipes & Drums, Mountain Therapy, Sparky and Rhonda Rucker, the Sugar Foot Stompers, the Blue Shades, the Barnstormers and the RockCandy Cloggers, the Lickety Split Banjo Boys, and Bear Hill Bluegrass on the Compton Stage. The Frostburg Arion Band, Jason Twigg and Fritz Kessler, Loretta Hummel & Friends, Twang!, Jeff Thomas and Andi Hearn, Ken Kolodner, Michael and Carrie Kline, Jeffrey Scott, Amy Fabbri and Amanda Barger, the Time Travelers, Ed and Kathleen Myers. and the Ruckers will all perform on the Sowers Stage.

In addition to the music, there will be a singing workshop, storytellers, dance demonstrations, an overview of fiddling traditions and the early banjo, and a reading and book signing with local author Rory Shane Riggs. There will also be talks on medicinal roots, mountaintop removal, Marcellus shale and eminent domain, and the Cherokee Trail of Tears, as well as Scales to Tales, an up-close view of the region's wildlife.

Members of Buffalo in the Castle will present "Foreign Sounds Rendered Familiar" at 2 p.m. in which they will explore the historic and dynamic connections between American old-time music and traditional music.

Children will have their own hands-on area of crafts and activities to keep them entertained, including Horn's Punch and Judy Show.

Artists and artisans will exhibit lace, baskets, portrait art, nature photography, woodcrafts, pottery, coverlets, braided rugs, herbal products, jewelry, stained glass, fiber arts, stuffed animals and chair bottoming.

Other groups, such as the Western Maryland Chapter of the Archeological Society, Western Maryland Adventures and the Nature Conservancy, will also have booths.

The festival will culminate with the 8 p.m. Saturday night performance of Buffalo in the Castle. Button accordion master Mairtin O'Connor and Desi Wilkinson, one of Ireland's leading exponents of the traditional Irish flute, provide the group's anchors for Irish traditional music, while Frank Hall, a top-notch fiddler and clogger, and clawhammer banjo player Lena Ullman supply a "hearty serving of American old-time music." Tickets are available at Mountain City Traditional Arts and Main Street Books, Frostburg, for $15 in advance or $18 at the door. Tickets for students and those 17 and under are $8.

To learn more about the FSU Appalachian Festival, persons may visit www.frostburg.edu/events/afestival, look for it on Facebook, or e-mail krogersthomas@frostburg.edu.

The FSU Appalachian Festival is supported in part with funding from WFWM, the event's official media sponsor, the Maryland Traditions Program of the Maryland State Arts Council, the FSU Foundation, Culture Ireland, the Allegany Arts Council, the Sierra Student Coalition, Learning Green Living Green, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Those requesting accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office should call 301-687-4102 or use a voice relay operator at 1-800-735-2258.

A PLACE OF REMEMBRANCE
by Allison Blais and Lynn Rasic
C. 20. ., National Geographic Books, $19.95; 224 Pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Throughout your life, there are many mile markers: the first time you saw the Beatles on TV, the birth of your first child, the day Kennedy was killed, your grandmother's funeral, a big move to a new house. Without a doubt, there was life before all these... but things were definitely different afterward.

So where were you when the Challenger fell? When Katrina roared ashore? Where were you on September 11, 2001?

Chances are, memories of that day are indelible: You can recall the weather, the time, words said in shock. In the new book A Place of Remembrance, you'll see how an entire nation's consciousness can literally be cast in stone.

With their iconic tridents and their eye-stretching half-mile height, it's easy to think that the World Trade Center towers were made for the new millennium. But by the turn of the century, the towers had already been a familiar part of the New York skyline for over 30 years.

Initially conceived by New York business leaders eager to improve lower Manhattan's business status, it was hoped that the World Trade Center would "stimulate commerce through the area's ports." Backed by David Rockefeller, the Port Authority chose Michigan architect Minoru Yamasaki to design what would become then the world's tallest building. Excavation began in August 1966.

Finished, the World Trade Center boasted seven buildings and its own ZIP code, spread over 16 acres of Manhattan real estate. From street level to the tip of the TV mast, the North Tower stretched over 1,700 feet skyward.

And it all came down in minutes.

In the aftermath of the towers' destruction, the Pentagon attack, and the downing of Flight 93 in a Pennsylvania field, it was immediately understood that there would be a memorial. Plans were not without contention, particularly on the display and order of individual victims' names.

Still, a consensus was reached, an architect was chosen, and the memorial now stands: one "survivor tree" amid 416 perfect oaks on eight acres of land, over 8,000 tons of steel, nearly 500,000 gallons of water, and the names of 2,982 dead.

One breeze past a shelf in a bookstore or library these days, and you'll see a plethora of publications to mark the 10th anniversary of the day America was attacked and the Twin Towers fell. But this one is a little different.

Coming from the National Geographic people, A Place of Remembrance takes a more overall look at the towers themselves and the memorial that replaces them. I was, in fact, fascinated by the stats and facts in this book, all things that seem to be brushed aside in recollections of events a decade gone. Yes, you'll read about September 11, 2001, but that's not the focus. This is, after all, the "official book of the National September 11 Memorial."

I think if you want to reflect on that day 10 years ago, but you're also ready to look forward, this is a book to find. For you, A Place of Remembrance will definitely leave its mark.

Final 2011 MPA Concert: Carney & Family Trio

To wrap up its 2011 season, Music at Penn Alps will present the Carney & Family String Trio, featuring Laurie Carney, violin; Dariusz Skoraczewski, cello; and Jon Carney, viola.

Laurie Carney, violin, is a founding member of the American String Quartet. Her father was a trumpeter and educator, her mother a pianist, and her three siblings all violinists. She began her studies at home, and at the age of 8 became the youngest violinist ever admitted to the Preparatory Division of the Juilliard School. At 15 she was the youngest to be accepted into Juilliard's college division.

Ms. Carney studied with Dorothy DeLay and received both bachelor's and master's degrees in music from Juilliard. Currently a professor of violin at the Manhattan School of Music and on the string and chamber music faculty of Aspen Music School, she has held teaching positions at the Mannes College of Music, Peabody Conservatory, the University of Nebraska, and the Shepherd School of Music at Rice University.

Dariusz Skoraczewski, cello, has performed in many concert halls in America and Europe. As a soloist he performed with numerous orchestras in the USA, including the Montgomery Symphony, Alexandria Symphony, Arlington Philharmonic, Lancaster Symphony, and the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra. In November 2005 he gave his Carnegie Hall debut. The cellist is also a member of the Monument Piano Trio.

Skoraczewski is a laureate of various international competitions such as the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, the Leonard Rose Competition in Washington, D.C., and the Rostropovich Competition in Paris.

Jon Carney, viola, comes from a musical family with all six members having graduated from the Juilliard School. After completing his studies with Ivan Galamian and Christine Dethier, he was awarded a Leverhulme Fellowship to continue his studies in London at the Royal College of Music. He has toured internationally as concertmaster and soloist with numerous ensembles, and became concertmaster of the Royal Philharmonic in 199. Carney is passionate about music education and currently serves as artistic advisor for the Maryland Classic Youth Orchestras. He is an artist-in-residence at the Baltimore School for the Arts and serves on its board of directors.

The program for the evening will include the Trio in G major for violin, viola, and cello by Beethoven and Mozart's Divertimento for violin, viola, and cello, K. 563.

After the concert, all guests are invited for refreshments and an opportunity to meet the artists. Ticket prices are $12 for adults. Students and children under 19 years of age are admitted free of charge. As seating is limited, it is recommended that guests arrive no later than 7:20 p.m.

Music at Penn Alps is supported in part by grants from the Naylor Family Trust, administered by the Community Trust Foundation of Western Maryland. This Saturday's performance is sponsored by Steiner Murphy Pipe Organ Company and underwritten by Dave and Irene Eyer.

FSU Cultural Events Series Lineup Is Announced; Shows Begin Aug. 31

The Frostburg State University Cultural Events Series has announced its 34th season of performing arts events. The 2011-12 season includes music, dance, and multi-disciplinary events with artists from the United States and abroad.

Tri-state residents can choose from affordable events presented as part of two performance series. The Main Stage Series presents artists in a traditional theatrical setting while a new series, "Live! at StarScape," offers club-style seating and a more intimate atmosphere, a spokesperson said.

The season will be kicked off with two free outdoor performances from the musical performers of Pittsburgh's Squonk Opera. In Astro-rama, the Squonkers offer an exploration of science and belief as they attempt to contact life on distant planets. Performing outside, the artists will soar high above the audience in cherry pickers and scissor lifts, and will compose a musical message from Earth. As the program concludes, a 45-foot radio dish will be tilted to the night sky, transmitting a message from the human race, a spokesperson said.

The free performances begin at 9 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 31, and Thursday, Sept. 1, on FSU's Upper Quad in front of the Compton Science Center. Audience members are encouraged to bring blankets or lawn chairs.

Songstress Bettye LaVette will come to Frostburg on Friday, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. as part of Live! at StarScape in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall.

"The voice of this Grammy nominee exudes power and emotional vitality, and her tour-de-force performances display a range that is disarming in its intensity," a spokesperson said. Rolling Stone magazine said "LaVette's nuanced singing evokes prime Tina Turner with even more command."

FSU's Family Weekend will highlight the Chinese Acrobats of Hebei, performing Saturday, Sept. 24, at 8 p.m. in the Cordts Physical Education Center Arena.

"These disciplined and athletic artists offer a spectacular and colorful performance of traditional Chinese feats, including hoop diving, hand balance, chair stacking, foot juggling, plate spinning, the Chinese Poles, and the always-delightful Lion Dance," the spokesperson said.

Appearing as part of Live! at StarScape, the SFJazz Collective will perform Saturday, Oct. 8. The group will present a tribute to pop music icon Stevie Wonder. SFJazz Collective is an ensemble featuring MacArthur Genius Grant winner Miguel Zenón on alto sax and flute; Guggenheim fellow Edward Simon on piano; Grammy Award-nominated vibraphonist Stefon Harris; and leading jazz masters Mark Turner on tenor saxophone, Avishai Cohen on trumpet, Robin Eubanks on trombone, Matt Penman on bass, and Eric Harland on drums. The performance begins at 8 p.m. in Manicur Assembly Hall.

SQUONK OPERA TO OPEN FSU SERIES WITH FREE PERFORMANCES – Pittsburgh's Squonk Opera will present the opening act of the 2011-2012 Frostburg State University Cultural Events Series. In Squonk's program Astro-rama, the Squonkers offer an exploration of science and belief as they attempt to contact life on distant planets. Performing outside, the artists will soar high above the audience in cherry pickers and scissor lifts, and will compose a musical message from Earth, a spokesperson said. See story for more details, and information about the entire series. The performances of Squonk, which are free, begin at 9 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 31, and Thursday, Sept. 1, on FSU's Upper Quad in front of the Compton Science Center. Audience members are encouraged to bring blankets or lawn chairs.

Series Lineup

The Paul Taylor Dance Company will take the stage of the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre on Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m. Taylor, whom Time magazine acknowledged as "the reigning master of modern dance," has choreographed 134 works since 1954 and, at the age of 81, is continuing his art. His dancers will dance three of Taylor's works from the company's repertoire: "Lines of Loss," "Mercuric Tidings," and "Oh, You Kid!"

The live music and dance of Spain's Andalusian gypsies will be presented at FSU on Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. Compagñia Flamenca José Porcel will appear in Gypsy Fire, along with some of Spain's finest musicians and flamenco dancers, the spokesperson said. The production will be presented in Manicur Assembly Hall.

SINGER LAVETTE TO BE AT FSU – Songstress Bettye LaVette will come to Frostburg on Friday, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. as part of Live! at StarScape in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall. "The voice of this Grammy nominee exudes power and emotional vitality, and her tour-de-force performances display a range that is disarming in its intensity," a spokesperson said. Rolling Stone magazine said "LaVette's nuanced singing evokes prime Tina Turner with even more command." See story for details.

December marks the return of Tomaseen Foley's A Celtic Christmas, which celebrates the holiday season with a performance that combines storytelling, traditional dance, and live music. Joining Foley onstage will be a cast of artists performing in the Celtic tradition, including Irish dancers Marcus Donnelly and Marianne Knight, steel-string guitar master William Coulter and Brian Bigley on uilleann pipes, whistles, and flute. The show will be presented on Thursday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

On Saturday, Feb. 11, at 8 p.m., jazz vocalist René Marie will perform in Cumberland's Windsor Hall as part of Live! at StarScape. Marie will present elements of jazz, soul, blues, and gospel. Her latest album, Voice of My Beautiful Country, is a "revolutionary yet personal patriotism that soars in traditional favorites reinvented as gospel/jazz mash-ups.

The performance of Marie's Black Lace Freudian Slip also features Kevin Bales on piano, Kevin Hamilton on bass, and Quentin Baxter on drums.

Tony Award-nominee John Tartaglia's "ImaginOcean," a black-light puppet show for the family, is next in the lineup. The show follows the adventures of three fish friends, Tank, Bubbles, and Dorsel, who set out on a treasure hunt.

"While in search of clues, they sing, dance and finally discover the best treasure of all: friendship," the spokesperson said. "ImaginOcean" will be offered on Thursday, March 8, at 7 p.m. in Manicur Assembly Hall.

The Women of Ireland will celebrate St. Patrick's Day at FSU on Wednesday, March 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Manicur Assembly Hall. The live concert features vocalists Denise Brennan, Michelle Lally and Ingrid Madsen, fiddler Zoe Conway and dancer Siobhán Manson, all accompanied by a host of dancers and musicians.

Ending the season as part of Live! at StarScape will be the Ravi Coltrane Quartet on Saturday, April 21, at 8 p.m. in Manicur Assembly Hall. Coltrane is the son of jazz legend John Coltrane. The Grammy-nominated saxophonist, bandleader, record producer, and composer has worked as a sideman with many jazz luminaries, recorded albums for himself and others, overseen jazz reissues, and founded the independent record label, RKM. Down Beat called him "a modernist who has absorbed a wealth of jazz, [and] those influences are couched so well, resulting in a unique sound, best described as 'elusive beauty'"

Tickets, including ticket packages and discounts, are available for all CES performances: a Build Your Own Series package for those planning to attend several events throughout the year; Corporate Nights offering group pricing, priority seating and personalized service, and Group Sales with special rates for purchases of 15 or more tickets for a single performance. Tickets may be ordered by calling 1-866-849-9237 or 301-687-3137 or by visiting ces.frostburg.edu.

The Cultural Events Series is partially supported by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council. Funding for MSAC is also provided by the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. CES is sponsored in part by the Allegany Arts Council with funds from MSAC.

Adorable Adoptables

READY FOR NEW HOMES this week are a male orange tabby, a white cat named BoBo who is already neutered and "vetted," and a 5-year-old setter-collie who was given up by his owners because they had to move. "He is already vetted and house trained and is good with kids," said a Garrett County Humane Society spokesperson. "Lots of dogs at the Garrett County Animal Shelter still need homes. Last week, one was reclaimed and none were adopted. Several were taken to rescues by HART, along with a couple dozen kittens. If you are looking for a new pet, please come to the shelter and meet all the nice homeless animals that are here." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the county-operated facility is open Monday through Friday. Photos courtesy of the GC Humane Society, an nonprofit organization.

Ski Operation

said that, despite the fact that this past March had poor conditions for skiing and snowboarding, a goal of a record 200,000 ski visits fell just short, with 195,000 visits.

"We are also having our best summer ever, and we have already sold a record number of season passes for this coming winter," he said.

Prather said that gross revenue for the resort in 2005 was approximately $9 million, with a net revenue of $1.5 million.

"This year we are on track to reach $16 million in gross revenue, and a net of approximately $5 million," he said.

When asked about job figures at the Wisp, Prather acknowledged that there have been only slight reductions in the number of employees, and most of them have come through attrition.

"Just like every business, we have had to do some reorganizing and some belt-tightening, and we have become more efficient because of it," he said. "However, we still employ about 650 people during the winter season and approximately 225 during the summer."

Myers and Prather assured that the coming ski season was not in jeopardy, regardless of what happens concerning the judgment filed by BB&T.

Murder Mystery Dinner/Dessert Theater Re-Set

The Preston Community Arts Center's presentation of Jewel of the Cheat River, a mystery dinner/dessert theater production, has been postponed until September 16 and 17.

Sunshine the clown will be played by JoAnn Peterson, who also wrote and directs the show. The rest of the cast consists of Raji the snake charmer, played by Tom Peterson, Neal Hyde, the maniacal, jealous knife thrower who will be an audience member and his flirtatious wife Angelique, played by Sarah Hollier; Joyce Ennis as Leah Ness, the snarling cat trainer, and Doug Riley as Julius Delvecchio, the domineering ring master.

Peterson said that portions of the murder mystery were filmed several years ago on the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad by Fox News and aired as a weekend getaway.

There are two choices for attending: dinner and show for $25, and dessert and show for $15. The show starts at 7:30 p.m. Dinner reservations must be made by September 12, but dessert and show reservations will be taken until the show sells out. Persons may make reservations by calling 304-329-6336.

Center To Host Open Mic Night

The Preston Community Arts Center, located at 123 S. Price Street in Kingwood, W.Va., will resume Open Mic Night, sponsored by Subway of Kingwood, on Wednesday evenings after its summer hiatus. Sign-up will be at 7:30 p.m. for those who want to perform, and live music will start at 8 p.m. There will be no admission charged.

The arts center is located in the old hardware store across from the courthouse in Kingwood.

Rams Team Takes First Place In Three Straight Golf Tournaments

The Southern High School golf team took the win last Thursday in a five-school golf match played at the Cumberland Country Club. The team then made back-to-back first place finishes in tournaments held at Fore Sisters Golf Club on Monday, and at Tuesday's Southern Invitational held at the Oakland Golf Club.

In each outing, Southern was led by Evan Friend, who finished each tournament with top-individual honors.

In Thursday's contest, the Ram team posted a score of 194 in its first place finish, while Friend tied for lowest individual score (43) with rival Matt Landes.

Frankfort High School took second place at 197, Keyser High third – a stroke behind, Northern High was fourth at 204, and Bishop Walsh came in fifth with a score of 208.

Other notable singles play was delivered by Northern's Jeff Bittinger, who led the Huskies with a score of 45. Emily Courtney had Frankfort's best score with 47, and Brandon Murray led Bishop Walsh at 48.

Frankfort's Blake Barker had a 48, and Billy Gindlesberger of Southern and Brady Benton of Northern had 49s. Bishop Walsh's Lucas McGill and Keyser's Aaron Tasker both posted a 51.

At Fore Sisters, in the tournament hosted by Allegany High School on Monday, Southern tied for the top spot with the squad from Mountain Ridge, after both groups shot a 196.

Northern High School finished third at 200, in the match which featured seven local teams. The Huskies were followed by Fort Hill at 208, Frankfort at 209, Keyser at 210, and Allegany at 223.

Friend fired a hard-earned 42 and was the low medalist. Team low scorers were Brandon Markwood for Mountain Ridge, Ryan Hutchinson for Frankfort, Brian Lutton for Fort Hill, Landes for Keyser, Benton and Dakota Fazenbaker for Northern, and Keegan Ott for Allegany.

Friend would again win top honors with a round of 76 in Tuesday's Southern Invitational, leading the Rams to an outright victory at home.

Fort Hill's Nick Meneghini was second with an 83, and Ram Gindlesberger was third with an 85. Preston High's Jacob Nichols, Southern's Ian Brantner and Allegany's Devin Storey tied for fifth place.

Fort Hill finished second in the seven-team event with a team score of 361. Northern was third with 374 and Mountain Ridge fourth with 377. Next were Bishop Walsh with 403, Allegany with 418, and Preston with 427.

Southern hosts Frankfort, Fort Hill, Mountain Ridge, and Tucker County today at 4 p.m. at the Oakland Golf Club.

Golf Results For Oakland Men's Groups Reported

Charlie's Angels, the senior men's group at the Oakland Golf Club, hosted members from Alpine Lake on August 16 for a 4-man team tournament.

Winning first place by just one stroke was the team of Tom Broadwater, Barry Krewson, Howard Witte, and Don Savage. Finishing second was the team of Jim Hetrick, Bob Moran, Sam Barrow, and Mike Bennington, while Bill Freeman, Skip Creamer, Dean Durst, and Terry Donahue took third-place honors.

The group also celebrated the 85th birthday of Charlie's Angels member Charlie McIntyre.

The Angels played a 3-man team shamble format on Tuesday. The first-place team in the gross division was that of Jim Hetrick, Rudy Cvetnick, and Frank Damon, and second place was won by Butch Conrad, Gary Dixon, and Bill Freeman.

In the net division, the team of Paul Sines, Bill Salter, and Don Wilkinson won in a card playoff over Tom Broadwater, Sam Barrow, and Charlie McIntyre. The closest-to-pin prize on hole #6 was won by McIntyre.

The Men's League of the Oakland Golf Club played a 2-man team best ball event last Wednesday. The team of Kurt Lear and Steve Richards won first place, recording a 9-hole net total of 26. Bill Weissgerber and Bill Springer won second place with a net score of 30.

The closest-to-pin winners were Weissgerber and Darryl Simpkins, and Kurt Lear had an even-par 35 for the lowest gross score.

Players are invited to contact the Oakland Golf Club Pro Shop at 301-334-3883 for information and details about upcoming leagues and tournaments.

Test-Drive Event To Raise Funds For SHS Athletics

Shaffer Ford Sales will sponsor its first Test Drive Day at its Oakland business location on Saturday, Sept. 17. The fundraising event – to benefit Southern High School – will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Shaffer Ford invites participants to test drive a new Ford vehicle. For every car test driven, the Ford Motor Company has offered to donate $20 to the SHS Athletic Department.

Various Ram athletic squads are scheduled to participate in the planned activities. The event is billed to feature fun, food, and entertainment.

Season Passes To Rams' Games May Now Be Purchased

The Southern High School Athletic Department is offering adult season passes that will grant admission into all sporting events for the 2011-12 school year, according to Matt Redinger, athletic director.

The passes may be purchased for $120 each. To purchase tickets and/or to obtain more information, persons may telephone Joy Thrasher at 240-321-4550.

GOLF CLUB CHAMPIONS CROWNED FOR 2011 SEASON – The 2011 Oakland Golf Club Championships were held last weekend on the club course, using a two-day, stroke-play format. The Ladies Club champion, with a two-day total score of 185, was June Bray, pictured left. She recorded a 96 on Saturday, and an 89 in the final round Sunday. Second place went to Sherry Grant, who finished with a 188. Pictured center is Senior Men's Club champion Red Guthrie, who carded a 78 on Saturday and an 80 on Sunday for a 158 total. Pictured right is Matt Skidmore, who recorded a 1-under-par 70 to take a 4-shot lead after the opening day, and carded a 75 on Sunday to win the Men's Club title with a score of 145. Just two strokes back was runner-up Jason Finch, who had rounds of 74 and 73. The Flight 1 Gross Division winner was Bob Finch, and the Net Division winner was Bill Fredlock. Flight 2 Gross Division was won by Guthrie, and the Net Division was won by Dish Cogley. Pin prizes were won by Jerry House, Bob Finch, and Guthrie.

Sailboat Racing

AN ENIGMA
by Dan Muss

When my wife Carol and I started to rig our boat on Saturday morning, we found that our port guy hook had been mashed down so that the spinnaker line was trapped inside. I immediately concluded that, at a time when there was no wind to keep the boats lined up, a big wake had thrown the moored sailboats together and, somehow, a neighbor boat's gunnel had mashed the guy hook. (When the spinnaker is deployed, the spinnaker pole is resting against the windward clew of the spinnaker; that line, the guy, is brought back to the windward gunnel and hooked. The hook has a J-shaped rod, and the U-shape of the hook is completed by a rubber finger so that the spinnaker guy can easily be slipped in and out.) But that theory quickly came into question when we saw that the starboard guy hook was mashed down in the same way!

We then thought that it might be vandalism. We learned later that a similar thing had happened to the Thagard boat, but only on one side. On the other hand, if the conditions of no wind and motorboat wake were exactly right, it's conceivable that both boats suffered similar damage... but the Thagard boat also lost its transom plug and was almost sunk. But if it was vandalism, why only to two boats in a mooring field of 45 sailboats?

The experienced race committee for Saturday was the Wolffe clan, with Tom as PRO, assisted by dad, Frank and nephew Josh Bullock. And experience won out, as they got off two races in very difficult conditions. At race time the wind came up... and the wind died; it came up...and so forth. After a short postponement for lunch, they called the racers out and set short triangular courses for both the Lasers and Flying Scots out in front of the Turkey Neck club for the SW wind.

On the first windward leg, Anderson and I took a long tack into the Turkey Neck shore, which paid off with better wind. On the downwind leg, with both spinnaker lines hooked, we flew the spinnaker without our pole and then took it down before the jibe mark since that leg was almost a beam reach. That worked well the first time, but on the second downwind the wind swung south and we decided to wing the jib rather than fly our compromised spinnaker. We could not catch Anderson, but the second-place finish was not bad.

In the Gold Fleet, Spinnenweber won the start and broke away early. Mahan was pushed up over the starting line early, but had room to drop back quickly, over the starting line, and begin racing. The wind faded, and the fleet moved up on Spinnenweber. Mahan sailed to the right side on the lifted port tack, and reached the windward mark near the front of the pack. The course to the jibe mark was a fairly close reach, so Mahan elected to continue without his spinnaker. Schaefer was able keep his chute full, and eased past Mahan to reach the jibe mark first.

The fleet jibed onto port tack at the second mark, and turned downwind. Mahan put the spinnaker up on the downwind leg, while his grandson Connor took the tiller. Light-wind expert Gregory sneaked past Mahan, as did Coraor. Mahan turned back upwind, and again stayed to the favored right side and worked back up into the fleet before reaching the windward mark. Mahan left the spinnaker on the deck for the second downwind sections, giving up power, but gaining flexibility to sail at the best angles in strange shifts. As the wind shifted briefly to the NW during the downwind leg, Mahan again gained ground before turning upwind toward the finish. The wind faded again, and the dash to the finish deteriorated into a slow, tense crawl, with sailors trying to detect small breaths of air before their competitors, and turn the smallest puff into some slight advantage. Gregory took it, with Spinnenweber second, while Mahan eked out third place.

As the Silver, Masters, and Challenger fleets closed on the finish, the winds filled back in, and shifted a bit to the west. To make up for the delay in starting the first race, the race committee chose to start a second race back-to-back. The course layout would be the same, but the second race would be one time around, rather than two.

At the Gold Fleet start, the shift west made the pin the favored end of the starting line. In a short race there is little time to recover from errors, so boats that start well tend to finish well. Mahan defended his place on the line well, and accelerated quickly away from the pack at the gun. He found space to tack to port to reach the right side. It was Schaefer, Spinnenweber, Gregory, and Mahan around the windward mark. Again Mahan declined to fly a spinnaker, and still made ground on the leaders. He worked his way past Spinnenweber and Schaefer, leaving only Gregory ahead. Mahan and Gregory rounded the final mark, and set out for the finish. Mahan gave chase, but Gregory is a master of light-air sailing and his crew daughter Allison Felix, is an expert in her own right. The pair defended their position to take the win, with Mahan following in second.

Sunday morning brought rain and brisk west winds. We race in the rain on Deep Creek, but not when there's lightening. PRO Jon Skoog delayed the races until the rain and thunder were past. Skoog set a triangular course in the slot, but had the boats rounding to starboard. (The preferred rounding is to port because then the rounding boats are on starboard tack with right-of-way, minimizing "altercations.")

With the wind shifting south, most of the Gold Fleet fought for space at the favored pin. Stephanie Mahan Lothrop took a risky port tack approach to the line, but being a few seconds late, giving her a hole to start in. Despite being late, she capitalized on the windward position and eased to the front quickly. Stephanie rounded the windward mark first, with Gregory and Mahan close behind. The top six boats rounded the windward mark as the wind faded, while the remainder of the fleet was left beating in light air. On the second beat it was Gregory, Schaefer, and Lothrop. At the last leeward mark, Lothrop got an inside overlap and passed Schaefer. Gregory, sailing with his daughter, Allison Felix, won again for a perfect weekend.

Many thanks to my Gold Fleet "stringer" Bruce Lothrop for his excellent reporting.

GC REPRESENTATIVE MEETS MASCOT – Ethan Tice, who attended the Ruth Enlow Library's Summer Reading Club in Grantsville, was Garrett County's representative at last Wednesday's Baltimore Orioles game. The son of Daniel and Darla Tice, Ethan is pictured with the team's mascot. A statewide supporter of Summer Reading Club, the team donated tickets to home games on Aug. 10 and 11, and acknowledged representatives from all participating Maryland Public Library systems. The Summer Reading Club, "One World, Many Stories," has ended at the Ruth Enlow Library, with a total system-wide attendance of 939 children, a 20 percent increase over last year's numbers, according to a library spokeswoman. "The library wishes to thank the Friends of Ruth Enlow Library and all other presenters, supporters, and volunteers who helped to make the Summer Reading Club a success," she said. "Without such help, this popular and valuable program would not be possible." The Summer Reading Club is a yearly, cooperative project between the local Maryland Public Libraries and the Maryland State Department of Education's Division of Library Development and Services. A listing of Ruth Enlow Library programs and services can be found at rellb.net.

Second Annual Youth Football, Special Olympics Match-Up Set

For the second year, a unique collaboration between the Special Olympics and the Oakland Youth Football League will culminate in a flag football game between the Oakland Rams and the a Special Olympics team involving both Allegany and Garrett county youth. The game is slated for Sunday, Sept. 4, at 4 p.m. It will take place at the Southern High School athletic field.

The match-up was held last year as well, and was deemed a great success for both teams. This year the collaborators hope to have a larger crowd, and have planned a number of fund-raisers throughout the game, with the proceeds to benefit both Special Olympics and the local league.

This match-up also allows the Special Olympics team to become eligible to play in the state flag football games, which are held later in the fall. The team must play a specific number of contests in order to attain eligibility.

Anthony Andrews, the coach of the Oakland Rams (both Division I and II) said the game last year was a great experience for his team.

"Last year's game was definitely a highlight of the entire last season," Andrews said. "In fact, the kids have been talking about it from the beginning of this season."

Andrews said he told his team to hold back a little last year, so as not to overrun the Special Olympians.

"But I'll tell you what," he said, "those kids are no slouches. The very first play of the game, there was a long pass and a touchdown, just like that."

Darrin Bosley, the flag football coach, spoke highly of the crowd support last year.

"Our kids love an audience, and last year the crowd was great," Bosley said. "We hope to have an even larger crowd this year."

Bosley noted that there is an early game that afternoon, and he is encouraging the crowd to just stay for the Special Olympics-Rams match-up.

Andrews and his organization are planning a number of fundraising activities throughout the game, with raffles and other events. Several local businesses have donated prizes for these contests, and all audience members may take part in any or all of the events.

Andrews said all proceeds will be split evenly between the youth league and Special Olympics.

Bosley noted that any special player is welcome to come take part in the game that day.

"Sure, they can just show up to play," he said. "I have players ranging in age from 12 to 32. Everyone is welcome."

The game will be played with seven-player teams, he noted.

The public is encouraged to attend the game. For more information, persons may contact Bosley at 301-759-2732.

Hunter Safety Course Planned For 4-H Camp

A Maryland Hunter Safety class will be offered in a weekend format on Sept. 10 and 11 at the 4-H camp on Rt. 495 near Bittinger.

Instruction for hunter safety will be provided on Saturday and Sunday with the option to spend the night at the camp. The weekend at the camp will involve outdoor activities such as canoeing, a campfire, wildlife identification, an owl banding demonstration, and hiking.

The cost will be $25 for those receiving hunter safety certification. This includes the training, four meals, and lodging. Additional family members not receiving certification are welcome at the cost of $20.

A daytime-only option is also available for those not wishing to stay overnight at a cost of $15 (which in-

Benefit Open/Race Slated Saturday At Savage River Lodge

Garrett Trails and Garrett County STEPS to Better Health will be the beneficiaries of funds raised by the Garrett Open/Recovery Race, set for this Saturday, Aug. 27, at Savage River Lodge near Finzel. Registration begins at 8 a.m., with the race scheduled for 9 a.m.

The race will feature two events: a 5-kilometer (3.1 mile) run and a 1-mile "fun hike." The 5K run will take place on hiking/cross-country ski trails. This looped course will be through hardwood forests and glades and along the banks of the headwaters of Savage River. The fun hike is for persons choosing to take a more leisurely trail walk.

Participants will receive a commemorative T-shirt and hand towel, while supplies last. A $50 cash prize and complimentary rafting pass at Adventure Sports Center International will be awarded to the top male and female runners.

The top three male and female runners in each of seven different age groups will receive a commemorative running hat. The top three male and female walkers will also receive awards.

Refreshments will be available at the end of the race for all participants.

The Garrett Open/Recovery Race, held annually on the last Saturday of August, was initially conceived to raise awareness of individuals who are in recovery from an addiction, while promoting the use of the many forest trails that are located in Garrett County. Past venues for the event have been the Fork Run trail on Marsh Mountain, Kendall Camp Trail along the upper Yough River, and the Herrington Manor hiking trails.

As the event has grown the proceeds have been dedicated to Garrett Trails and GC STEPS to Better Health in order to advance their causes.

A spokesman for Garrett Trails stated that this event is unique because it is a trail race and is ideal for training for cross country. At one time there were very few trail races outside of high school and cross country events. Trail races are usually more challenging and offer participants the opportunity to spend time in the forest, the spokesman noted.

Sponsors for this year's race include High Mountain Sports, Railey Realty, Team One, Garrett College's Adventuresports Institute, Garrett County Center for Behavioral Health, Gosnell Inc., the Adventure Sports Center International, and Savage River Lodge.

The race will be timed by Queen City Striders. The event will begin on Mt. Aetna Road, which is approximately nine miles from Frostburg and is accessed by taking Exit #29 off I-68, then taking Frostburg Road south for 2.6 miles to Mt. Aetna Road.

The race application and a course map are available on the Garrett Trails web site at www.garretttrails.org.

For more information or to register for the race, persons may call race director Bob Stephens at 301-616-6300.

Hold Hearings

said members had formed a work group to discuss the proposed tax increases. Group members included Nancy Railey of Railey Mountain Lake Vacations, Karen Myers of Wisp Resort, and Paul Durham, Garrett County Board of Realtors representative.

The members compiled/analyzed data on the current tax rates and how they affect their businesses. They also looked at tax rates in other areas of the country. They presented some of their findings to the commissioners on Tuesday.

"After a lot of discussion, we determined that, while we have the analysis and the comparisons, what we really need is more information from you all – from the county," Christian told the commissioners.

Specifically, she indicated, what that means to the economy, second-homer market, and tourism.

"We do want to keep an open mind, and make sure we have a good understanding of the situation," Christian said. "Therefore, the chamber has chosen at this time not to take a position, and, instead, we are favoring an approach that would involve more discussion on potential increases of the aforementioned taxes."

She added the chamber would also like to know why these five rates were chosen and how revenue from the proposed increases would be used.

"As Garrett County slowly crawls out of this Great Recession, as it has now been termed, it would behoove us to be extremely careful not to impair the industries – tourism and second homes – that are really providing our economic progress," Christian said.

Funland amusement park owner Tom Kuhn echoed her sentiments.

"It looks like we're trying to choke the goose that's trying to lay us the golden egg, or at least, maybe, the silver egg," Kuhn said about raising recreation related taxes.

Railey noted that second-home vacation rental is key to the local tourism industry.

"Approximately 800, or 20 percent, of our 4,000 second homes are vacation rentals," she said. "This is equivalent to having a subsidized 4,000-room motel in our county These homes bring six to nine times direct dollar going into our community, versus a second home that is not rented. For every dollar spent on lodging, a dollar is spent locally on restaurants, shops, etc."

She asked the commissioners to review all potential revenue streams, such as cable television franchise fees and agriculture rates for large land owners who do not farm.

"While increasing the accommodations tax will bring more money to the county, it will not benefit and may hurt our efforts to bring more visitors to the county," she said.

Myers noted the Wisp's two primary competitors – Seven Springs and Whitetail – are able to retain their full ticket prices, as Pennsylvania has no sales or admission/amusement taxes on chair lift tickets. These companies, therefore, can reinvest more money in their resorts in order to drive more business, she noted.

"If you have 150,000 tickets at $59, then $381,000 (taxes) is lost revenue to Wisp that could be used toward profitability and reinvestment into the resort facilities," Myers said.

She added that Wisp has made a conscious effort to hold pricing on lift tickets since the very beginning of the recession to be competitive, while being sensitive to the economy.

"Additional admission and amusement taxes will only cut further into the private sector pocketbook because this economy does not permit commensurate price increases," Myers said. "We do not feel we can risk a price increase while trying to survive and compete in this economy"

Durham said the second-home market has been a blessing to Garrett County.

"The wave of development in the past 10–12 years – county government grew accustomed to the revenue that produced," he said.

But, he noted, that revenue stream has changed, some assessment have gone down, and the real estate market has become a very competitive and difficult business.

"Approximately one-third of Board of Realtors membership have hung up their licenses," he said.

He likened it to one-third of the county's employees losing their jobs or a coal mine decreasing production and 30 percent of the workers losing their jobs.

"We feel we need to learn more about what you're up against, especially going into Fiscal Year '13 and budget preparation and what's driving your demand for more revenue," Durham told the commissioners.

He noted that county governments typically "go after" real estate money/taxes because they generate a lot of revenue. Durham said his board would like to discuss the proposed increases further. Members would like to know if other options have been considered, and, if so, why they are not being pursued.

At the conclusion of the public hearings, Crawford thanked the chamber members for their efforts to compile the data and providing it to the county.

"We will definitely keep the dialogue open," he said. "It's taxpayers' money, and we have to be conscience of where it comes from and how it's spent."

The commissioners will hold the record open on the proposed tax increases for 30 days (from Aug. 23). Written comments may be e-mailed, sent by U.S. mail, or dropped off at the commissioners' office at the courthouse.

The commissioners' next scheduled public meeting is Tuesday, Sept. 13, beginning at 9 a.m.

Pennsylvania Man Sentenced To 18 Months On Conspiracy Theft Charge

Judge Leonard J. Eiswert recently sentenced a Pennsylvania man to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail on theft charges. Shane Matthew Oester, 32, Salisbury, was found guilty in a District Court hearing on theft less $500 value and conspiracy theft less $500 value charges that stem from an incident investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in January 2010.

Oester reportedly stole and forged two checks from a family member's closed bank account. The checks were written out to an adult female in the amounts of $170 and $180. He was not prosecuted on two counts of forging a private document and two counts of theft less than $500 value charges.

In other court news, Kenneth Allen McRobie, 30, Oakland, was found guilty on a fourth-degree burglary charge that stemmed from an incident investigated by GC sheriff's deputies in June. He was reportedly seen breaking into the Long Branch Saloon and then fled the scene. McRobie was sentenced to 18 months, with 16 months and 11 days suspended, and he was given 49 days for time served. He was also placed on three years of supervised probation to be monitored by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation. He was not prosecuted on a malicious destruction of property $500 value charge.

Roger Harold Wakefield, 19, McHenry, was found guilty on a conspiracy theft less than $1,000 value charge stemming from an incident in December 2010, during which the Loch Lynn Service Station was burglarized. He was reportedly one of three suspects involved in the theft of approximately $300 worth of cigarettes. The door of the business was also damaged during the break-in. Wakefield was sentenced to one year with 11 months and 20 days suspended, and was ordered to serve five consecutive weekends in the Garrett County Jail. He was also placed on two years of supervised probation and ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $172 to the station owners. He was not prosecuted on second-degree burglary, conspiracy to commit second-degree burglary, theft less $1,000 value, malicious destruction of property $500 value, and conspiracy to commit malicious destruction of property $500 value charges.

Ashley Jane Friend, 24, Oakland, was found guilty on a CDS possession not marijuana charge stemming from a search and seizure executed by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force at a Mtn. Lake Park apartment in April. She was reportedly found to have several Hydrocodone pills in her pocket during the search. She was sentenced to six months suspended and placed on one year of supervised probation. She was also fined $42.50. Friend was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge.

Stephan R. Seighman, 35, Oakland, was found guilty on a possession of marijuana charge and sentenced to 90 days suspended. He was also placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation and fined $92.50. When Seighman was arrested on a warrant by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in April, he reportedly was found to be in possession of two pipes with marijuana residue, two small bags of marijuana, and a set of digital scales. He was not prosecuted on a possession of paraphernalia charge.

Terry Wayne Sharpless, 49, Swanton, was found guilty on a possession of marijuana charge and sentenced to 60 days with 58 suspended. He was ordered to serve one weekend in the Garrett County Jail, as well as pay $200 of a $500 fine. He was placed on one year of supervised probation. Numerous marijuana pipes, seeds, and plants were reportedly found during a July search and seizure warrant executed by the Narcotics

SMOKEY TURNS 67 – A birthday party was recently held in honor of Smokey Bear's 67th birthday at New Germany State Park. See story for details.

Local State Park Celebrates Smokey Bear's Birthday

New Germany State Park recently held a birthday party for the U.S. Forest Service's iconic mascot Smokey Bear. In honor of Smokey's 67th year, guests of all ages participated in a fire-safety education program at the park.

"Smokey Bear enjoyed meeting everyone who came out for his birthday and even presented each person with a special gift," said Randy Kamp, Maryland forest ranger.

"Everyone who attended was very involved, but a special thanks goes out to the children. They were extremely attentive and knowledgeable."

Kamp spoke with visitors about wildfire prevention and the history of the Forest Service. Following the program, visitors were invited to share a birthday cake with Smokey.

For more information on upcoming programs at New Germany State Park, one may contact 301-895-5453 or park-new-germany@dnr.state.md.us.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service responds to an average of 660 wildfires that burn 3,600 acres annually. Nearly all wildfires in Maryland are started by people. Debris or open-air burning is the leading cause of wildfires in the state and accounts for over 30 percent of wildfire starts.

For complete information on the open-air burning regulations persons may visit the web site dnr.maryland.gov/forests/fire/.

Man Arrested On DUI, DWI Charges

A McHenry man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges following a traffic stop early Saturday morning.

Deputies stopped Nathan Richard Resh, 29, for a moving violation at approximately 2 a.m. on Sang Run Road. Deputies conducted field sobriety tests, which were not completed to their satisfaction. Resh was charged with driving under the influence, DUI per se, driving while impaired, and additional traffic violations. He was released pending trial.

VBS PARTICIPANTS LEARN ABOUT RESPONSIBILITY – Twenty-two children and multiple volunteers recently participated in "All Creatures Great and Small" Vacation Bible School at St. John's Lutheran Church, Meadow Mountain. The children learned that each person is responsible to care for one another and all the animals of God's creation. The children and their families collected and donated collars, blankets, treats, and toys to help the animals at the Garrett County Animal Shelter be more comfortable. In addition, $154 was collected for "It's In the Bag," a ministry that benefits needy children with nutritious foods when school is not in session. Correction To VFW Poker Run Article

Last week's edition of The Republican featured information about the upcoming VFW Post 10077 poker run, which will benefit the Victory Junction Gang Camp For Kids.

It was printed that the event would take place on Sunday, Aug. 27, when in fact August 27 is this Saturday.

Notes from Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Sunday was painful enough for me, because Meredith and Caitlin went back to West Virginia University. But then, almost unbelievably, the Pirates' all-star closeout pitcher blew the most important game with the Cincinnati Reds. If they had not lost that one, and were able to turn their luck with the Brewers during Monday's doubleheader, they would have regained a piece of first place in the National Central Division. But in the first game, he allowed two runs in the eighth inning.

They had a fairly brief rain delay before the game, and that storm traveled south. At about 7 p.m., we got a full downpour. That was all right with me, since a couple of weeks ago Rock Lodge spring was not flowing. That means that the ground supply is not adequate.

I bet Caitlin $10 that Gadhafi would be out of power by the time she started graduate school, which has apparently happened.

I knew someone from New Jersey who was the heir to the fortune derived from Mercedes Benz. He was the most generous wealthy person I ever knew. And he was simply a "lovely man," as my friend Bobby said about him. She used to work for him.

I also knew a woman whose ownership of a small hunter show horse facility was probably for tax usage, perhaps as a loss of income. Those kind of hobby businesses were very popular loopholes, since they reduced taxes and got them involved with an appeal for business. And best of all, they did not need to earn a profit. Just the opposite: the lower the profit, the better, in terms of taxation.

Those kind of businesses should be potential sources for jobs for those who are newly college graduated, but unemployed. I held several jobs in hobby businesses. There are many small farms that call themselves a horse farm. But they are only to sink some big checks from the highly profitable endeavors of the main source of income of a household.

And then there are many large horse shows that allegedly run as a fundraising event for some fancy hospitals or attractive non-profits. Then the check qualifies as a big charity donation.

Even so, those people were not inclined to pay me any better, even if I was among the elite of grooms nationally. One former employer, owner of a leading jumper, said he noticed a distinct decline in the performance of his mount, especially in national important events. He said that he thought I was a good luck charm. There was not anything lucky about me. I simply did my job at the highest level possible. I especially gave my attention to the mental and emotional well-being of the horses under my charge. I learned that in my experiences with my Little Joe.

But even most elite show horses led a vastly miserable life compared to the one Joey was blessed to have. They are locked alone in a 12-by-12-foot "prison" with very little to pay attention to or be interested in. They are under a very strict schedule.

At 8 p.m. after a beautiful day, the temperature dropped sharply enough that I needed to find a jacket and close the front door.

I wish Caitlin and Meredith did not have to work every evening, especially this week, the last week before they go back to Morgantown. Going back to college was far less pleasant than going back to elementary or high school for me.

Caitlin is filled with anticipation to begin graduate school, and a new part-time job of her graduate assistanceship. And Meredith is beginning her junior year! My junior year was pretty good. I am glad they live only two houses apart on the same street in Morgantown.

My day started out very badly, since I woke up much later than usual and felt I needed to go to the bathroom. But I couldn't make my brain work. It was similar to my experience in ICU when I was in a drug-induced coma to keep me still so the pressure did not rise in my brain. But that was almost a two-week struggle to make my brain work. And it was very traumatic for me. I don't think anyone who hasn't had that same kind of experience can possibly understand. In fact, I am still trying to process all those scary experiences into something that makes real sense.

It seems a very good time for katydids, an insect that is fatter than a grasshopper and either bright lime green or bright pink. But so far, I've just had a green one in my house. I have not seen a pink one for many years.

A few weeks ago, the Steelers lost their first pre-season game for the first time in six years. Steeler quarterback Big Ben Roethlisberger is a newly married man. We will see how marriage affects his playing skills. Maybe his bride will share some insight on how to escape being sacked.

One in five American children are living in poverty. No doubt, a whole bunch of them are living in Texas, because most jobs bragged about by Governor Perry are minimum-wage jobs. Does anyone seriously believe that one can provide a decent living for a family on that?

We can't just jump-start our economy. It is not a battery that is dead or weak. There are much deeper serious problems that we are not able to repair by a quick fix. Nothing is changing in the un-American attitude that is deeply set in the world of American Big Business.

The members of Congress got an unpleasant surprise when they rushed back home for the summer. They were met by some very angry people at the town meeting. So they started to charge people to meet with them. They only met with and heard the views of people who were very rich and could easily pay to meet with their Congress people.

It was worth getting up at 6 a.m. to hear a piece of really good news. If you can remember the theme song of the Jefferson's TV series: Moving on Up, that is what is going on in Gadhafi's palace in Libya. It is moving time for the dreadful, repressive dictator, but they are not moving into any apartment. They are likely moving into a villa in Venezuela.

I was unable to watch the last Steeler game, but it turned out great for Steeler Nation. The final score over the Philadelphia Eagles was 24-14.

I believe this coming Sunday, Aug. 28, we will see the true example of the American exception. That day is when the Martin Luther King Jr. memorial will be dedicated – a monument to the fact that it is possible to repair injustice and transform society without the need for violent rebellion, like was seen in so many other parts of the world.

Yes, it is true that the Civil Rights movement for African Americans sadly involved many deaths. But King chose to bring about social change by peaceful restraint – a peaceful revolution. What a wonderful thing that is. Yes, too much blood was shed by martyrs for the cause. Sadly, that included eight little girls who were innocently attending Sunday School at a church where a bomb was placed by some hateful, evil individuals.

I hope all remember what President Reagan said about deficits not really mattering very much.

Adventist School Offers Education To Area Students

Registration is currently open for students at the Mountaintop Adventist School near Oakland.

A spokesperson noted that the school seeks to provide students with a high quality education within a Christian framework.

Instruction is provided for students from pre-K through 10th grade, and small class sizes of one to five allow education to be tailored to fit individual needs.

The Mountaintop Adventist School is accredited and the curriculum follows the criteria of the Columbia Union Department of Education. Some of the areas of study are computer technology, the Bible, and Spanish. Students will be given opportunities to advance independently.

The school will offer a free hot lunch program of home-cooked meals provided by church members on a daily basis.

Tuition payment plans are available.

Garrett College Now Preparing To Celebrate 40th Anniversary

by Peggy Santamaria

Garrett College will begin celebrating its 40th anniversary next month. Among the highlights of the celebration will be the grand opening of the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Complex (CARC) slated for Saturday, Oct. 22, beginning at 10:30 a.m. There will also be a welcome reception for all Garrett College alumni, along with other events.

To help mark its 40th year, the college community will highlight accomplishments and successes of a number of individuals who got their start at Garrett College.

"We would like to tell some of the stories of students who took that first step toward the future by enrolling in Garrett College," said Ann Wellham, dean of marketing and enrollment management. "Some of these students came here directly from high school, while others came to GC as adults to begin moving in a new direction in their lives. We are asking former students to tell us about their experiences so we can share them with others.

"We are also asking people to recommend others who attended GC and have made a positive impact on the community," Wellham added.

Individuals who submit stories about their GC experiences or names and accomplishments of others who attended GC will be entered into a drawing for a chance to win prizes. To share a personal story or recommend a person to be recognized, persons are invited to go online to www.garrettcollege.edu/mygc/ and enter the information.

More details on the festivities marking the Garrett College 40th anniversary will be released in the near future.

GC Library Offers Wide Variety Of Resources To The Community

by Peggy Santamaria

Residents and visitors to Garrett County are often surprised to learn that the Garrett College Library is open to the public. According to library director Dana Shimrock, when people from the community come in for the first time they often say how delighted they were to learn they could use this facility.

"We really enjoy having community members and summer residents come in and use our library," said Shimrock. "These folks usually have more time to take advantage of areas of the collection that our regular students are often too busy to fully appreciate. Talking about books, audiobooks, and films with this group is very rewarding for our library staff. We enjoy the role they play in helping to fulfill our mission of providing lifelong learning opportunities to our community."

Visitors to the college library have access to over 28,000 books, audio books, DVDs, and magazines for education or personal enjoyment, plus a reading area flooded with natural light beside a brick fireplace.

Non-student library users most often cite the collections of audio books and films on DVD as the reasons they enjoy the library. Ellen Shcaffer, cataloging/systems librarian, explained that the GC video section differs somewhat from the average video outlet.

"The selection at the college encompasses a larger number of international award-winning films and foreign language films than most other local sources would have available," she noted.

A devotee of the GC Library is Friendsville resident Ina Hicks.

"I don't watch television, but I do have a DVD player," she said. "So I make regular trips to Garrett College to take advantage of the assortment of films. It is possible to find some unique titles that would be hard to find elsewhere."

For Jean Falter, the GC Library is a dependable resource for entertainment and information.

"Where I live, the television reception is not good, but I am close to the college so I can just stop in and find something in the DVD section that is different from what is available elsewhere," Falter said. "I really think the college library is a great resource – a gold mine. What makes it really wonderful is the staff at the college. They are so helpful and so nice."

Jessie Harris agrees with Hicks and Falter on the benefits of the college library.

"This library is a great asset for the community," she said. "The setting is wonderful and the staff is extremely helpful. Plus, I can read the daily Washington Post."

Hours of operation for the Garrett College Library vary according to the academic year. When classes are in session, the library is open seven days a week with evening hours. During vacation times, the operating schedule will differ, so visitors are encouraged to call the library in advance to verify hours. Information about the library is available by calling 301-387-3009 or by visiting www.garrettcollege.edu.

Volunteering By Businesses Is Good For Bottom Line, Study Concludes

The Planning Committee for the 2011 annual Garrett County Volunteer Fair recently met to discuss the benefits of corporate volunteering, the strategy of businesses partnering with non-profit organizations for mutual benefit.

The fair, which will be held on Thursday, Sept. 22, 3–5 p.m., in the gymnasium of Garrett College, will offer businesses an opportunity to explore the possibility of starting a corporate volunteering initiative.

Organizations that will be present at the Volunteer Fair include the Adventure Sports Center International, Deep Creek Lake Art & Wine Festival–American Red Cross, Diakon Adult Day Services at Mountain Glade, the Dove Center, Garrett County Arts Council, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Garrett Mentors Inc., Girl Scouts Black Diamond Council, HART for Animals, Hospice of Garrett County Inc., and the Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers Inc. An updated list of organizations can be found at www.garrettcollege.edu/volunteer.

Judy Carbone, chair of the Volunteer Fair Planning Committee and director of Advising, Career, and Transfer Services at GC, referenced a 2005 study conducted by Boston College's Center for Corporate Citizenship (www.bcccc.net).

"The study demonstrated that 84 percent of corporate executives reported increased bottom line benefits after implementing a company volunteering program," Carbone said. "The types of programs varied by the size, product or service, and operating budget of the business, but all programs were more than just simply giving corporate donations to non-profits."

Carbone also enumerated some examples of company volunteering programs, which included paid time off each year for employees to engage in volunteer activities, weekend or evening group volunteer projects arranged by the company, a specific non-profit organization "adopted" by a company, collection of goods and money from employees, and regularly held volunteering days.

Carbone outlined some of the reported benefits to businesses that adopt volunteer programs:

• Increased recruitment of talented new employees by offering a low cost employee benefit. The 2007 Volunteer IMPACT study by Deloitte & Touche USA showed that 62 percent of 18–26-year-olds preferred to work for a company that offered opportunities for volunteering.

• Exposure to new, potential customers. Companies that volunteer have increased visibility in the community and a positive reputation for being involved. Additionally, new business niches and product ideas often result from this increased exposure.

• Improved morale and retention of key employees. A paper published in 2006 by the Points of Light Foundation and the Volunteer Center National Network showed a direct correlation between company volunteering and increased employee loyalty, satisfaction with their jobs, and longevity with the company.

• Strengthened employee teamwork skills and utilization of teams. The same 2006 study cited a Barclay Banks survey in which 58 percent of managers reported that their teams worked better, and 61 percent of employees reported that their teamwork skills improved after being involved in company sponsored volunteer projects that had employees volunteering in teams.

"If each non-profit organization at the Volunteer Fair would have one or two businesses willing to promote their employees volunteering for the organization, both the citizens of Garrett County and the business itself would be the better for it . . . all because of volunteering," Carbone concluded.

For more information on the Garrett County Volunteer Fair, persons my visit www.garrettcollege.edu/volunteer or contact Carbone at 301-387-3046 or judy.carbone@garrettcollege.edu.

Boredom

The phenomenon of boredom suggests that we find our existence tedious. If life and existence were inherently good we would probably never have occasion to be bored, or perhaps even to question whether life was good or not. All of us, I suppose, occasionally feel that existential boredom which the French call "ennui," and which reveals dissatisfaction and weariness with life. But, isn't this a contradiction of divine grace, the ungrateful human response to God's gift of life? The Danish philosopher Kierkegaard quipped that "Boredom is the root of all evil" and it is certainly true that idle hands and a bored mind are the devil's playground. But on a deeper level, boredom is really a sin against God, insofar as boredom expresses a lack of appreciation for our very existence. Far better than wallowing in boredom is to take responsibility for our own state of mind, and direct our minds and our actions into something interesting. Is there really nothing in the whole wide world to interest us? We should replace boredom with wonder. And even better than that, we should put ourselves heartily into the most boring tasks and find some way to make them interesting, or at least to offer them up to God as something worthy of Him.

"Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart,as working for the Lord."

Dana Delany is set to offer more 'Proof'

By Jay Bobbin
● Zap2it

Dana Delany

Q: Did the ABC series "Body of Proof" end? –Katie McVey, Garden City, N.Y.

A. Hardly. Dana Delany's medical mystery show premiered quite late last season but quickly established itself as one of the past television year's highest-rated new shows. There was virtually no doubt that it would be renewed for a second year, and that will start Sept. 20.

Q: My wife and I are huge fans of "Band of Brothers" and "Life" star Damian Lewis. What is he currently working on? –Chris O'Donoghue, Milwaukee

A: The London-born actor will be seen in another series soon. He plays one of the central roles in "Homeland," an upcoming terrorism-themed Showtime drama in which he plays a military veteran whose loyalties are questioned by a CIA agent (Claire Danes).

Q: Will no other network – USA, TNT, etc. – pick up "CHAOS"? –James Waller, Palm Coast, Fla.

A: Not as of this writing. All 13 of the episodes purchased by CBS aired, most of them running on Saturdays earlier this summer after the much-touted show – which starred Freddy Rodriguez and Eric Close – had been removed from its Friday slot following its first three airings. Though a lot of shows are being released on DVD these days after brief runs, 20th Century Fox Home Entertainment, which has the rights in this case, hadn't announced any plans for that at the time of this writing.

Q: I would like to know more about Michael Weatherly of "NCIS." –Alysa Waring, Weed, Calif.

A: About to enter his ninth season as Tony DiNozzo on the hit CBS series, Weatherly was born in New York but raised in Fairfield, Conn. His big break came in the ABC daytime serial "Loving," then he first moved into prime time opposite Jennifer Garner in the short-lived Fox series "Significant Others."

After a round of movies that included the acclaimed independent film "The Last Days of Disco," Weatherly starred in Fox's James Cameron-produced "Dark Angel" with Jessica Alba, to whom he was engaged for a time. "NCIS" came his way not long after that.

It's also interesting to note that Weatherly played actor Robert Wagner in the 2004 TV movie "The Mystery of Natalie Wood" ... and now, he works with Wagner, who has the recurring role of DiNozzo's father on "NCIS." Married in the mid-1990s to actress Amelia Heinle, with whom he has a son, Weatherly is now wed to internist Bojana Jankovic.
